ALBANIA - BULGARIA

The Albanian and Bulgarian territories claimed by Greece in peace-table councils occupy strategic sea and mountain situations northwest and northeast of the present Greek boundaries. In the northwest, the Albanian region fronts on the Strait of Otranto, a narrow gateway leading from the Mediterranean to the Adriatic Sea, points out the National Geographic Society. Only about 50 miles across the Adriatic lies the heel of the Italian boot, from which Italian troops were shipped in 1939 to take part in the conquest of Albania.

Much of the fighting between Greek and Italian forces, which followed Italy's last attempt to invade Greece, centered along the border between Greece and Albania.

Part of Ancient Epirus

The disputed Albanian territory is made up largely of the southernmost province, Agrirocastro, plus parts of adjoining districts. About the size of Delaware, this territory is sometimes called Northern, or Albanian Epirus, because of historical connection with the famed Epirus region of ancient Greece. The southern portion of old Epirus is included today in the Greek province of the same name. The present boundary was established after the Turkish-Balkan wars of 1912-13, and in spite of bitter controversy and World War turmoil, subsequently was upheld by European agreement.

Albanian Epirus, like the country north and south of it, is wild and mountainous, with rushing streams and lonely villages perched on steep hillsides. Its inhabitants, roughly estimated at 200,000, make a meager living, chiefly by raising sheep, goats, and cattle.

Its people differ sharply in background and ways of life, and are divided into two main religious groups, Mohammedans and followers of the Greek Orthodox faith.

Bulgaria Has Counter Claim

The Bulgarian territory on Greece's "main list" also is a mountain region, but without a sea coast. It is situated in the eastern reaches of the thickly forested Rhodope mountains, which cover much of southwest Bulgaria and form a crumpled frontier shared by both countries.

Occupying a little more than 4,000 square miles, the Rhodope area sought by Greece amounts to a tenth of Bulgaria's land. It includes a broad mountain barrier with peaks rising well above 6,000 feet.

As in the Albanian region, the people of the Bulgarian Rhodopes are hardy and frugal, living much the same sort of simple, pastoral life, and divided among themselves in historic and religious affiliations.

In the case of Bulgaria, however, the Greek claim is met by a counter claim in the same neighborhood. Having lost its former outlet to the Aegean Sea after World War I, Bulgaria now seeks the return of the broad strip of land between the Rhodopes and the Sea, in the northeasternmost section of Greece.

CHILD STRUCK BY CAR

Burly Berman, 2 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Berman of 18 Forest street, escaped serious injury last Friday forenoon when he was struck by an automobile while playing on Forest street not far from his home.

According to the Police the car involved was a Pontiac, driven by Walter S. Smalley of 37 Woodside road, who said he was driving north on Forest street and approaching a group of children playing around a puddle of water at the catch-basin opposite the residence of Mr. Walter Murphy, 14 Forest street.

As he was about to pass the children, the little Berman boy ran from the side of the street. Smalley swerved his car sharply in an effort to avoid the child, whom he said must have run into the right side of his machine behind the driver's seat.

The boy was taken to the Winchester Hospital and treated by Dr. Harry Benson for contusions and abrasions about the face and head. He was later discharged from the hospital and taken home by his father.

Mrs. Mary Thibault of Hemingway street has had as her guests this week her sister, Rev. Mother St. Hugh of the Convent L'Ardoise, L'Ardoise, Canada. Mother St. Hugh teaches English at the convent.

BERG-ALGER

Miss Joyce Carruth Alger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Alger of Lowell street, Lexington, and Ernest Russell Berg, son of Mrs. Gerda Berg of Dunster Lane, were married Sunday afternoon, June 30, at the Arlington Heights Methodist Church. Baskets of roses and vases of white flowers on the altar made an attractive setting for the ceremony which was performed at 4 o'clock by the Rev. Richard Brog. Mrs. Lily England, organist, played the bridal music.

Given in marriage by her father, Miss Alger had Miss Margaret Barry of Evans as her maid of honor. Miss Phyllis Alger of Lexington, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid.

The bride wore a formal gown of white eyelet with a fingertip veil held in place with a Juliet cap of knotted satin. She carried a white testament with gardenias and ribbon markers.

The honor maid wore a blue satin dress with lace inserts and a tiana of blue net. Her flowers were variegated sweet peas. The bridesmaid wore a dress of blue brocade satin with matching net tiana and carried a garland of sweet peas and roses as her maid.

Edwin Berg of Winchester was best man for his brother and the usher was Norman Carr of Lexington.

After the ceremony a reception was held in the church vestry with the parents of the bride assisting in receiving with the mother of the bridegroom and the members of the bridal party.

After a wedding trip to New Hampshire, Mr. and Mrs. Berg will live at 102 Lowell street, in Lexington.

The bride, a registered nurse, is a graduate of the Symmes Arlington Hospital class of 1946. Mr. Berg is a graduate of Winchester High School and is employed at the Boston Navy Yard. He served three years as a radio man with the Army Air Forces.

DIABETIC BOYS OFF TO CAMP

Last Thursday a group of boys between the ages of 7 and 15 left the Deaconess Hospital by bus to go to camp on Pleasant Lake near New London, N. H. How many youngsters are having the thrill of attending summer camp, but this was a very special group. Every boy was a diabetic and the camp they were going to was Camp Tonawanda which is directed by the owners, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer E. Russell of Medford.

Through its executive board, of which Mrs. Raymond Terhune and Mrs. Arthur Robbins of Winchester are members, the Massachusetts Committee on Social Service of the Unitarian General Alliance have raised the money for this camp.

Members of the Winchester Branch of the Unitarian General Alliance are feeling very proud this week to realize that they have helped to send these boys off to a camp where scientific care and good wholesome fun go together. On May 28 a desert-bridge was held at the Unitarian Church to raise funds for Camp Tonawanda. At that time the amount received through the sale of tickets and generous contributions was $261.50. This year marks the 25th anniversary of the use of insulin in diabetic treatment so this is a fitting and practical observance of this life-giving cause.

AIR TRANSPORT

Some of the men who learned the lessons of the Air Transport Command during the war are helping to expand air freight in the postwar period. Both established lines and newly formed air freight companies are bent on making the most of sky hauling in every quarter of the globe.

One broad field for the cargo flyers' efforts lies in bringing out the mineral and plant wealth from the earth's least accessible regions, the tropical wildernesses and bleak, sub-arctic expanses which always have defied travel at surface level. Such untamed areas are found in the vast mountain forests of New Guinea, in Canada's wilds, in the Amazon basin, in Siberia, and in many parts of "darkest" Africa and southeastern Asia, notes the National Geographic Society.

Gold Flies from New Guinea Wilds Before World War II, the challenge of these areas was being met to a small degree by air transport. Gold was most often the cargo that made air pioneering of these forbidding lands worth while.

An enormously rich gold deposit, discovered on Edie Creek in the thickly forested Morobe Mountains of New Guinea in 1926, started a goldrush that only the airplane could handle. From airfields at the north coast ports of Salamaua and Lae, Guinea Airways, Ltd., flew big dredges and other heavy machinery, piece by piece, inland 40 miles over the matted mountain jungle. By air also went building materials, workers and their families, livestock and everything else needed to set up a gold-mining community. Because of this traffic, Guinea Airways was for many months the largest air-freight service in the world. The resulting town of Wau, far above the malarial swamps of the coast, became a healthful center for thousands of employees of the various mining companies, although ground travel from the coast was next to impossible.

Thus, 400 years after Spanish explorers named it "Isla de Oro" (Isle of Gold), New Guinea began to yield the yellow metal in good volume. For postwar air freight contractors in New Guinea, there may be oil-well machinery and pipes for pipelines to transport Australian prospectors look to these same wild mountains for the petroleum that will make their country independent of oil from afar.

Planes Seek Canadian Gold. Uranium, Radium While cargo planes were being built in New Guinea, Canadian engineers were putting aircraft to work increasingly in pushing their country's frontiers northward into mineral-rich lands. The first big delivery of equipment by air was to the Red Lake development in Western Ontario in 1926.

Beginning in 1928, air freight played a big part in equipping gold mines at Pickle Crow and Central Patricia in northwestern Ontario, both very productive. In 1931 planes equipped with radium ore and silver mining sites in the far northern region of Great Bear Lake. Canadian air freight and express jumped from about 2,400 tons in 1933 to more than 13,000 tons in 1935, mainly because of mining volume.

Canada's progress in mineral discovery with the aid of the plane is stated to be five to ten times as great as before. Air prospecting for evidences of uranium has been recently carried on over vast regions where ground travel is at snail's pace. Planes bring fish from Canada's northern lakes to city markets.

Chicle Journey Starts by Air Most of the world's chicle, chewing gum base, comes from the wild forests of El Peten, northern Guatemala. Chicleos collect it and deliver it by mule-back to one of the many tiny airports that have been carved in the jungle. Small planes pick it up and fly it out to Flores, then to Puerto Barrios on the Caribbean coast in one-tenth of the time and at one-third of the cost of ground transport. There are enough rubber trees in the Amazon basin of South

WANTED: By Tool Owners Union

ONE MILLION THRIFTY AMERICANS

--Today's "Forgotten Man"

To Assert THEIR Bargaining Rights in Strikes, Shortages and Inflation

"Carrying the Message of A NEW FREEDOM to Millions"

Solely by membership contributions, Tool Owners Union has already reached millions through page ads in

New York HERALD-TRIBUNE, May 13
New York TIMES, May 20
Boston HERALD-TRAVELER, May 27
New York SUN, June 3
Philadelphia EAGLE, June 3
Chicago TRIBUNE, June 10
Philadelphia INQUIRER, June 10
Baltimore SUN, June 17

By those ads we are well advanced toward our goal, a thousand local chapters and a million members before Fall—the minimum for effective national action. Reprints available at 25 for $1—100 for $2.50.

As I said in a recent full-page advertisement: "The human right of bargaining belongs quite as much to the 50 million thrifty tool owners, whose savings provide the mechanical energy of production, as it does to labor union leaders whose members provide the muscular energy of production." It is time to assert that right.

RESPONSE IS HEAVY

Hundreds of letters arrive daily at TOU National Headquarters—a continuous fast since May 13. 73% of the subscriptions are for $1.00, Regular Membership, showing that the "grass roots"—those for whom the Union was formed and for whom it will act—are strongly in favor of action.

ACTION WILL BE TAKEN

Final work is now in process on the formation of the National Advisory Committee. It will be strong and effective in composition; the names of its members will be announced shortly.

Although the program of action is ready, its effectiveness awaits the Fall goal of a thousand local chapters and a million members.

TO ALL THRIFTY WINCHESTER PEOPLE:

For information as to our principles and planned action. Talk to our members. Join now! Obtain reprints of the Tool Owners Ads and send them to friends and acquaintances throughout the country. Talk about TOU principles. Grow with us.

ANNUAL CONTRIBUTIONS FOR

Regular Members ..... $1.00 Contributing Members .. $5.00 Supporting Members ... $10.00 Sustaining Members ... $50.00 Subscribing Members ... $100.00

To Fifty Million Thrifty Americans:

"The right of Bargaining belongs quite as much to the 50 million whose savings provide the tools of production as it does to the labor unions whose members provide the muscular energy of production. IT MUST BE PRESERVED FOR BOTH"

PRINCIPLES FOR ACTION

WHEREAS,—Tools of production are the very foundation of America's strength and material welfare; and

WHEREAS,—without these tools, workers could produce barely enough to exist; and

WHEREAS,—these tools come into being, are renewed and added to only through the thrift and self-denial of some fifty million individuals; and

WHEREAS,—the fundamental human right of bargaining belongs to the tool OWNERS (who provide the mechanical energy of production) quite as much as it belongs to the tool USERS (who provide the human energy of production); and

WHEREAS,—it has for many years been the persistent policy of government to violate this right and to discriminate against these fifty million unorganized tool owners in order to attract the political support of the leaders of organized tool users; and

WHEREAS,—this government policy has undermined the fundamental human right of the tool owners to receive payments for the use and renewal of the tools, has discouraged additions to the tools, and has obstructed the growth of production to the detriment of all; therefore

Be It Resolved

1. That the fifty million tool owners organize for the purpose of regaining equality before the law, reasserting their fundamental human right to enjoy the fruits of their labor and self-denial, and re-establishing their position as the primary source of the workers' productivity and prosperity; and
2. That for the attainment of these objectives, the organized tool-owners engage in such action as is appropriate to the protection and advancement of their interests; and
3. That such action be applied to all political parties alike and that the fundamental soundness and fairness of the tool owners' position be impressed upon all candidates regardless of their political affiliations; and
4. That such action is in the primary interest of the nation, of the people in general and of the workers in particular.

WHAT TO DO ABOUT IT?

In our country's urgent need, Tool Owners Union wants immediately a minimum of one million thrifty Americans—today's "forgotten men and women"—to join with us in protecting their bargaining rights and ours; to put an end to senseless strikes that multiply shortages and breed ruinous inflation. Use the coupon below. With a million members minimum, our Union can act to influence and support Congress to end this turmoil, violence and shortages that must otherwise bring us into even more acute want and suffering, if not into dictatorship. Send the coupon for your T. O. card.

Already thousands from every state—from the large cities, New York, Boston, Philadelphia and Chicago, and from hundreds of smaller cities—have answered this call to action. Now is the time to combat pressure groups and show them that there is some one more powerful than any one, and that is everyone of us, acting together. Make your contribution according to your fighting determination to set this country right once more. Send it to the national treasurer. Let's assert our rights and get our America back again.

Through error the name of Jack Filler was left out of last week's resume of the high school baseball season. Filler did the bulk of the catching for Winchester this year, taking over when Bobby Wilson got hurt and catching all but the last two games. The name was omitted through the dropping of a line in making corrections and is regretted by the Star for Filler deserves plenty of credit.

Police Headquarters had a young guest for about three hours Monday when a small, light haired "lost boy" was brought in by one of the clerks at Hevey's Pharmacy where the youngster had put in an appearance without escort. For a while the "young feller" was just a bit unhappy, but under the persistent persuasion of Chief Rogers and Clerk Mary McGoff, both of whom have a "way" with children, his tears changed to smiles, and buoyed by ice cream cones, he settled down to enjoy "life with the Chief".

The latter claims he was sorry to be rid of his young guest, but the latter's mother finally called for him, but we couldn't see whether his tongue was in his cheek when he told us so or not.

A motorist came into Headquarters during the hours of Sunday morning seeking the assistance of the authorities in locating his car which he had parked, so far as he could recall, somewhere in Arlington, Melford, Somerville, Stoneham, Woburn or Winchester, he couldn't remember where. The heat had made his memory fuzzy, but he felt sure it was what he had taken to fortify himself against the heat. The Police sent out a broadcast, and the Melford Police came up with the missing car Tuesday morning. They would not however, tell where they found it!

WINCHESTER MARINE CHANGES NAME

Searle Martin Now Stephen Albert Crandall

Searle A. Martin, who formerly lived at 24 Westley street has now changed his name to Stephen Albert Crandall to perpetuate the memory of a former Marine buddy who lost his life in the fighting at Guadalcanal.

In court at Fall River last Saturday, Martin told Judge Walter A. Briggs that while serving in the Marines he and Stephen Albert Crandall became "buddies". They made a pact that in the event either was killed, the survivor should do everything possible to perpetuate his memory.

Both boys were in the fighting at Guadalcanal, Searle being wounded and Stephen, killed.

While he was recovering from his wounds in the hospital and awaiting to be sent home after five long years service, Searle decided that the best way to perpetuate his "buddy's" memory was to take his name. As he petitioned the court for the legal right to do so he was accompanied by his wife, the former Caroline E. Kobl of Brooklyn, N. Y. They make their home in Attleboro where the ex-Marine is now a silversmith.

Judge Briggs granted the young man's strange request and after the proper papers had been filled out Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Albert Crandall left the court together, bound for the Cape and a vacation.

The former Searle Martin was born in Dorchester July 3, 1920. He came to Winchester as a child and graduated from Winchester High School. After completing his schooling he enlisted in the Marines, leaving town for boot camp after the famous hurricane of 1938.

LIQUOR RETURNED TO DRUGGISTS

At the District Court in Woburn last Saturday Justice Alford Sartorelli ordered the Winchester Police to return the more than 100 cases of liquor which were taken from three of the town's drug-stores during raids conducted by local and State police on June 7.

On June 19 owners of the drug-stores were found guilty in Woburn court of selling liquor illegally and of maintaining a liquor nuisance. They were fined $300 each on the sale charge and given a suspended sentence of three months on the nuisance charge.

Assistant District Attorney Ephraim Martin, who conducted the case for the prosecution, contended that the contraband seized at the time of the raid should be forfeited.

Defense counsel, Leo F. Garvey argued that several days had elapsed between the date of the last illegal sale and the date of confiscation, further contending that the government had failed to prove that the liquor seized was part of that sold on June 1.

He further argued that the warrant under which the police searched the drug-stores and seized the liquor did not set forth that the defendants had "sold" liquor, but had merely "kept and exposed" it, which he contended they had a right to do.

After a lengthy interrogation of both lawyers Justice Sartorelli took a short recess to examine the law. When he returned to the bench he ordered the liquor to be returned to the drug-stores.

The Police spent a busy forenoon Monday carrying out the order.

ALLEN-KELLY

At St. Patrick's Church in Watertown on Sunday afternoon, June 30, Miss Mary Margaret Kelly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Kelly of Westminister avenue, Watertown, became the bride of Reginald A. Allen of Kirk street, son of Mr. J. Allen. Rev. Fr. Spillane performed the 4 o'clock ceremony, for which the altar was attractively decorated with mixed flowers.

Miss Kelly was given in marriage by her father. She wore a gown of traditional white, having a bodice of satin and a net skirt extending to form a train. Her matching veil was fingertip-length and she carried a bouquet of white roses centered with an orchid.

Mrs. Patrick Joyce of Winchester, sister of the bridegroom, was matron of honor, wearing a blue tulle dress with matching sweetheart hat of net and carrying American Beauty roses.

Miss Rita and Miss Doris Sutherland, cousins of the bride, were bridesmaids. They wore identical gowns like that of the matron of honor in rose. Their sweetheart hats matched their gowns and they too carried American Beauties.

Patrick J. Joyce of Winchester was best man for his brother-in-law, and two brothers of the bridegroom, Walter Murphy and Sherwood Murphy, both of Winchester, were ushers.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the Hotel Brookline. Upon their return from a wedding trip through Maine and Canada Mr. and Mrs. Allen will live at 78 Westminister avenue in Watertown. Mr. Allen has been associated with the Gulf Oil Company for the past 20 years.

HEARING HELD ON NEW ATHLETIC FIELD

About 300 persons attended the pre-referendum hearing Tuesday evening at the Town Hall on the plan to move the Aberjona river and parkway westerly so as to bring together Manchester Field and the Junior High School playground to provide a field big enough for athletic facilities for the high school and junior high school students.

Chairman Ralph H. Bonnell of the Board of Selectmen opened the meeting, urging people to vote at Thursday's referendum so that a real expression of the town's pleasure could be obtained. Chairman Frederick Hatch of the Committee on School Facilities, the members of which proposed the plan under discussion, presided at the meeting, and also urged everyone to vote.

During the hearing some information was added to that provided at the special session of town meeting when the precinct numbers voted for the plan 143-8.

Mr. Hatch stated that only 64 of 240 trees would be removed in the proposed area change and that MDC sewer borings are available to guarantee there would be no settling such as encountered at Shore road field. In response to questioning, Prof. Boston, chairman of the School Committee, gave his group's endorsement of the plan, adding that if it is not accepted, no improvement in the present hit-or-miss athletic conditions can be expected, at least for some time. He added that the new layout with the addition of Ginn Field provides about the space considered necessary for an adequate athletic program such as a town like Winchester would be expected to provide.

Mr. Hatch added the information that in the event the plan is not accepted, no addition to the present junior high school building can be undertaken that projects itself into the present June.

HOME SERVICE AIDS SERVICEMEN AND VETERANS

Where should a serviceman or veteran turn for advice and help in time of need? The Home Service Branch of the American Red Cross has done and is still doing an inspired and competent job in handling a variety of problems from the most technical to the most personal. In Winchester, Home Service is headed by Miss Natalie Jewett with Mrs. J. Edward Downes, Mrs. Malcolm Nichols and Mrs. Harold A. Smith as her assistants. Their office is open daily, except Saturday, from 10:00 to 1:00 in the Town Hall where exact information and application blanks are on file.

One of the cases coming before Miss Jewett and her staff was that of a young expectant mother, wife of a disabled veteran, who needed temporary financial assistance to provide for her baby and aid in pressing her husband's disability claim. Another case concerned a Gold Star mother, who, overcome by the shock of losing her only son, turned to Home Service and was relieved of all the burdensome details of filing for her son's life insurance, pension and mustering out pay. She now has the benefit of all these.

If you are a serviceman, a veteran, or a member of their families and have a problem concerning benefits, claims or personal counseling, Home Service will give you problem prompt attention.

The first Diesel road-locomotive to be used on suburban commuter trains out of Boston went into service last week as the Boston and Maine Railroad, in conjunction with General Motors, started a week of tests with a new type 1500-horse power suburban engine.

Many commuters on the trains between Boston, West Medford, Winchester, Woburn and Lowell and between Boston, Malden, Melrose, Wakefield, Reading, Lawrence, Haverhill and Dover, N. H., will be riding behind the locomotive for the next week. The experimental engine is painted a battleship grey and carries the General Motors insignia on its front end and "Electro Motive" on its sides.

The locomotive we are using in the tests is a new type of 1500-horse power single-unit engine. The week's experiments are being conducted jointly by the Boston and Maine and General Motors, builders of the engine.

JULY 4th PROGRAM

Winchester's Fourth of July program followed those of recent years, with a Children's party in the morning at the town hall and games and races at Leonard Field in the afternoon. Perfect weather helped get out good crowds of kiddies for both events.

The latter transformed three stowies from the audience into well known characters to the delight of the children. Miss Hattie Snow, well known piano teacher, played for the acts.

After the performance the children were given flags and ice cream. Assisting Chairman Theodore Brown of the Legion's arrangements committee were John Keefe, Lee Mollett, Tom McKee, Charlie Harrold, Ned Boyle, Tony Jacobellis, Carmine Meli, Natalie Cox, Mary Errico, Tom McGowan, Fred Mitchell, Frank Dattilo, Officers John Elliott and Irving Reardon and Fire Capt. 3 CHURCH STREET

McLAUGHLIN AND PRIDHAM BEATEN

It just seems like every time Royal "Paper Trade" Teele, doughty president of the Palmer Beach Horseshoe Association, goes down on the Cape of a weekend, history is made. Last weekend on the sun-drenched beach courts, "Wild Willie" McLaughlin, the Pride of Shaw and Champion of all Nabasset, paired with Roland "Thin Finger" Pridham, went down two straight before "H. M. S. Rodney" Walsh and all members, the lowly and horns-worried Secretary, usually a soft touch for everyone in the league, except the unfortunate bloke with whom he happens to be paired.

Mr. Teele is going to find it difficult to believe that ANYONE paired with the Secretary took McLaughlin and Pridham two straight. Arthur E. Butters, sometimes called the State of Maine Champ, and now restoring his jaded tissues in that State after a fatiguing year in school, is going to find it virtually impossible. Mr. Butters has long supported Mr. McLaughlin as president to the Association's presidency, held so ably and so long by Mr. Teele. Fancy his chagrin at learning that after being skunked one week-end, 25-0, his Paladins of Lake street suffered another embarrassing reverse the very next time out, and at the hands of the same competition too. For it was Mr. Walsh and the Secretary who two weeks ago shut out the Lake Street Lancers for the first time in the history of the Palmer Beach Horseshoe A. and it was the same lop-sided team that set down "Willie" and "Thin Finger" two straight the following week-end. It just doesn't seem possible, but it actually happened, and history came within a two game victory Mr. Walsh and very short head indeed of repeating it, for in the first of the two he beat the Lancers 21-0, being, and couldn't beg, borrow or even buy a rider.

Mr. McLaughlin and Mr. Pridham took advantage of the lapse to run up 19 large points, before Mr. Walsh pulled himself together to throw a hooker and a "near" to run out the game.

The second game was close enough, the Lancers leading 23-22 when Mr. Walsh deposited the winning ring.

Mr. Walsh was very torrid indeed, and after his signal victory with the Scribe united with Mr. McLaughlin to set down Mr. Pridham and the Secretary two to straight.

Mr. McLaughlin, removed his smoked glasses at this point and partook of a bottle of orangeade, after which he regretfully announced that he and the Secretary would take on Mr. Pridham and Mr. Walsh, the last named beginning to show his oats a bit.

What followed was a tight-lipped struggle. All the warriors were feeling the heat a bit and though scores were more or less close there were altogether too many "no-count" boxes to have satisfied Mr. Teele, or Mr. Butters, or even Herbert "Garulous" Gardner, AWOJ, at Hancock, N. H.

When it is known that Mr. McLaughlin won the first game with a singleton no nearer the stake than a generous three inches, it can be seen that the pitching was a bit on the elementary side. And it got worse as the games wore on, but on the whole Mr. McLaughlin was satisfied. He had finally avenged himself on Mr. Walsh, and he had jolly well carried the Secretary all the way to do it!

SWIMMING HELPERS DE-SERVE CREDIT

Every year, the Red Cross Swimming Instructor is dependent on the volunteer assistance of high school age boys and girls to carry out the teaching program effectively. At the end of the summer season, Red Cross Sportsman trophies are awarded to the boys and girls who have distinguished themselves in being helpful and setting an example of good sportsmanship. For the past two years the trophies have been won by Bob McGrath and Barbara Donaghey. Edith Dover, current Red Cross Swimming Instructor, earned the coveted award when she was in high school.

At Palmer Beach, where 150 young people have registered for swimming instruction, Lynn Aiken, Beverly Gay, Rosemary McGowan, John Morgan and Si Morgan have volunteered their help to Edith Dover. At Leonard Pool, Leta Berman, Margery Carroll, Ann Dillingham, Edward Reynolds and Fred Wheaton are assisting Park Department Swimming Instructor, Helen Carroll with 80 swimming aspirants.

"Without these boys and girls to help us, there could be no program," says Miss Carroll.

LEGION BEAT STONEHAM

Winchester won its mystic game from Stoneham in the Rytic Valley Legion Baseball League Monday night on Manchester Field, 8-4. The game was a playoff of a tie game played at Stoneham the night before the Fourth. After the 2nd Migliaccio held Stoneham safely while the home team continued to hit Arno, Rallo, with three out of four was the hitting star, though McClellan garnered the longest blow, a triple. AT CLUB

Perfect weather, plus a program packed with thrilling racing, swimming and diving contests, plus a feast fit for a king all added up to a holiday long to be remembered by Winchester Boat Club members and their guests.

The day's events started at 11 a. m. with two special single tingle sailboat races for prizes donated to the Snipe fleet by the Club. Although Carl Freyer and John Powers each won a race, Jim Snow with a third and a fifth for a low total of only eight points won first prize. Dave Merrow won second prize and Jim Newman and Parker Blanchard tied for third.

Promptly at 3 p. m. the water events were run off, under the capable direction of Jim Snow aided by Bill Cusack, Bill Hall, Sal Burr, Ray Strawbridge, Jim Newman and John Powers.

There were swimming races for boys and girls, a diving contest and a very exciting kayak race that was won by an eyelash.

Connie Cahalin won the swimming races for both junior and senior girls. Ronny Hall won the race for junior boys and lifeguard Dick Staples was first in the senior group. Alec Nealy won the diving contest and John Rocray the Kayak race.

Then came the feast with heaps of clams, steaming clam bakes, luscious lobsters, pickles, chips, punch and watermelon. Well, we can't never before have had 200 lobsters and bushels and bushels of clams disappeared quicker and with more appreciation. The Club's chefs prepared everything to perfection and did a superb job of serving swiftly and efficiently.

After the feast, a few of the holiday members adjourned to the Club's spacious hall and enjoyed a good old fashioned community sing. It wasn't good, but it was loud and served as a fitting finish to a day full of feast, fun and frolic.

Snipe Fleet Shorts
The past weekend put two new names on the winners list for the 1946 season. Dick Merrow, a former Club Champion, proved he'd lost none of his skill by beating the fleet by a generous margin Saturday afternoon. There was a swell contest for second between George Jones, Bob Swanson, Jim Snow, Mert Ober and Carl Freyer. These five boats crossed the finish line almost together with Swanson taking second and Snow third.

Sunday morning, Jim Snow after a poor start, piloted his Salome right through the entire fleet to gain his first victory of the season. He was given plenty of competition from John Powers, Bart Sullivan and Carl Freyer. But he proved that he's no longer

MRS. BELCHER WON CLUB CHAMPIONSHIP

Mrs. Donald M. Belcher of Arlington, former State women's champion, won the Winchester Country Club Women's Championship for 1946 Monday by defeating Mrs. A. Allen Kimball, 4 and 3.

Mrs. Belcher had an '86 and Mrs. Kimball, a '91. The winner led 2 up at the turn, Mrs. Kimball not helping her cause any by pulling her ball into the woods at the 5th hole. Again at the 13th Mrs. Kimball pulled her ball into the trees. Had it not been for these two mishaps she would have made a much closer match of it, though Mrs. Belcher was playing too well to be denied, had the loser not erred on the 5th and 13th. The winner's short game was very good and she was generally so steady that once Mrs. Kimball got behind she had no opportunity to square things.

WINCHESTER WON FROM WILMINGTON

Winchester Elks won their "night" before" game from the Wilmington Town Team last week at Leonard Field, 5-2. "Robbie" Farrell worked for the Elks and though the visitors took rather more liberties with his fire ball than usual, the little right-hander was never in trouble after a two-run second.

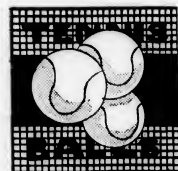

The Elks were trailing 2-1 at the end of the second, but "Albie" Macdonnell's triple in the next frame sparked a three-run uprising that clinched the game. The summary:

Winchester Elks won their return game from the Malden Veterans on Leonard Field Wednesday night, 3-2, with Fireball Robbie Farrell getting 14 of the visitors on strikes. An interesting point in all this agitation over moving the river at Manchester field is the fact that the river at this point has been moved on various times and occasions until little if any of the stream now flows in the original channel. If our old Town Fathers were able to do such a good job and arouse all the crocodile tears which have been shed over one more change, let us hope that those so deeply concerned will lend their efforts to overseeing a change now which will be equally appreciated by posterity.

If we may be pardoned for being a bit personal in our editorial column this week we would like to explain the statement made at Tuesday's hearing in which our friend "Ted von" gave a lot of people the idea that the Star sports writer and Coach Knowlton of the high school do not believe the proposed new layout of Manchester Field to be adequate. That is not so! Before the hearing, during a three-cornered conversation, "Ted" asked Mr. Knowlton whether he believed the new layout would be "ideal" if a new high school building was placed on its surface somewhere in the vicinity of the Unitarian Church. The answer was of course, "no!" and the Star sports writer concurred. The new field would be ideal, or even adequate, if a school building is built on a part of the area. The same will be true if a big public parking space is included. The plan under discussion Tuesday night, however, made provision for neither of these adjuncts and both Mr. Knowlton, and in case you are interested, the Star sports writer think it is wholly adequate, and to go further, very good indeed. In view of this, and in view of the question he asked, we think Mr. Von Rosenzweig was wide of the mark when he quoted Mr. Knowlton as he did and his statement was doubly unfortunate because many naturally would be influenced by our Athletic Director's opinion. Whether anyone gives the proverbial Continental what we think is more open to debate. As a matter of fact "Ted" told us after the meeting that he only included our name in his remarks to "build us up," because as a matter of fact he doesn't think we know much about athletic fields anyhow!

THE MORE ABUNDANT LIFE

Do you remember that "bull" about The More Abundant Life our late departed ruler spread over the country after he ascended the throne? We have no bread, no butter, no meat, no fish. We stand in line for everything in life's necessity. Having attained the More Abundant Life here, our great New Deal, we hear, is now sending flour to Japan! They are now extending the "life" to the nips - along with unions and strikes. It savors of the butter and ketchup sent the Russians - used to grease their boots and paint their houses. Truly we are going places fast these days. They fight for the great OPA and threaten to raise taxes if it goes out; while the Unions threaten more strikes! What are we doing, running America or emulating Europe? More and more people are asking, and the stock answer is "had you rather live in Europe?" The choice is growing smaller daily. Hitler and Mussolini boasted that they deported their "undesirables" to America. According to their plan America would be ultimately Europe's little brother, (only worse). It is interesting to watch Americans take it.

Who "grants" every wage increase?
YOU DO!

The public (that's you) is apt to be in favor of workers' demands for every wage increase. That's all right so long as you realize that you are going to pay it.

What has been going on in this country is not a contest between labor leaders and management. Management was deprived of any real power long ago. What has been going on is a contest between labor leaders backed by government laws and decrees, on one side, against the public on the other side.

Because the public (that's you) always pays the bill.

You can't raise wages and take the raise out of corporation profits, for the good reason that there aren't enough profits. When you raise wages without increasing production, you raise prices. And so you pay the raise.

Of course there is a way to raise wages without raising prices but no labor leader nor government leader has seemed to have the courage or fairness to offer it as part of "collective bargaining." That way of course is to increase efficient production. There is scarcely a worker in America who couldn't easily earn all the increases he is demanding, simply by being more efficient and then you wouldn't have any increased cost to pay.

CAMOUFLAGED LIQUOR STORES

Editor of the Star:
J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, states that delinquency by teen aged girls has increased over 100 per cent in the last five years, that a high percentage of criminal acts are by boys under 20 years of age. Authorities designate three principal causes for this deplorable state of affairs; first, lack of proper home training and environment; second, unwholesome and degrading community life; and third, the cocktail habit and rum shops camouflaged as drug stores.

What is to be done about it? The beginning must be made in the home as the primordial unit of the nation and in the community as the unit of the state. When social conditions become a menace to law, decency and unwholesomeness the laissez-faire attitude is no longer tenable. The forces of evil conditions promoting delinquency must be combatted; hit as hard as Abraham Lincoln said he would hit slavery if he ever got a chance.

Winchester, a community of homes and people of sterling merit, has long enjoyed the reputation of an outstanding town among the first in the state. Its citizens have always fought against licensing liquor stores, have maintained a high standard of democratic government and sound administration. It wants its reputation as a town of law abiding citizenry maintained; a homeland safe and wholesome for its children. Notwithstanding, some forces of evil have brazenly sought to ply an illicit liquor business in stores camouflaged as pharmacies. Liquor has been freely sold without prescription to anybody who wanted it. A state official told the writer that there are many drug stores in the state that are in reality liquor stores, apothecaries in name only. Recently local and state police raided three Winchester drug stores, seized a large quantity of liquor, arrested the proprietors, who were convicted in the Woburn court, fined a total of some $900, and given suspended jail sentences. These proprietors have done more than their share in promoting delinquency, unhappiness and ill repute in Winchester. Their punishment was too light.

Alcoholic liquors are rarely needed in medicine, there are better substitutes. Alcohol, contrary to popular belief, is not a stimulant, but rather a narcotic. Drug stores need carry only a very small stock to fill all the prescriptions of reputable physicians. More than a truck load of liquor was seized in one Winchester drug store.

Would it not be wise to heed the warning of J. Edgar Hoover, head of the F. B. I., who knows the facts? Are we not all to blame for our laissez-faire attitude, for doing nothing about it? One's duty cannot be delegated to another. Pharmacy is a high art and an honorable profession. Do you want your prescriptions compounded by a skillful, honorable member of that praiseworthy profession or by a liquor dealer?

My guess is that Winchester is not going into the liquor business at the present time and that a way will be found to stop the illicit traffic with or without the present officials whose duty it is to maintain law and order, with or without the sky pilots who stand at the fork in the sawdust trail to direct those bound for the upper or nether region.

Very truly yours,
Daniel C. Dennett, M. D.
7 Washington street

WHY THEY DID NOT SIGN

Editor of the Star:
In the last issue of the Star, a letter appeared over the signatures of many representatives of Town boards including the signatures of four members of the School Committee. This letter set forth some reasons why the plan to change the course of the Abenaki River and relocate the Mystic Valley Parkway should be voted upon favorably at the recent Town Special Election. Since its publication we have been asked by many citizens why our names did not appear along with other members of the School Committee. In view of this fact we have felt constrained to write this letter of explanation.

On June 27th at a School Committee meeting, Mr. Borden, Chairman, advised the Committee that he had been asked by some members of the Town governing bodies to prepare a letter that was to be signed by the members of the School Committee and by as many other town officers as agreed with the statements embodied in the letter. After a discussion by the Committee it was the consensus of opinion that the letter proposed by Mr. Borden and presented at this meeting, was unsatisfactory and he was requested to draft a new letter according to instructions given him and submit it to the committee members for their approval.

On July 3rd we were both given copies of Mr. Borden's second letter by Mr. Norris, School Superintendent, with the request that we make any suggestions that we might have in regard to it. We advised Mr. Norris that the letter was generally acceptable but stated that we could not agree with the statement embodied in the letter to the effect that a new High School could be built on Manchester Field, and still leave enough recreational and play area to meet even present needs. We also stated that we would like to have the Committee give further study to the language used in the last paragraph whereby the public was "urged" to vote in favor of the plan. It was our feeling that since the letter set forth our reasons why the plan seemed to be beneficial to the community, that it should be left as a statement of fact and opinion and that no language should be used from which the public might be misled to the effect that we were trying to control the action of the electorate in the exercise of their prerogative to vote according to their own conscience and judgment after the facts had been presented to them.

After giving these comments to Mr. Norris as requested we naturally expected that the Committee would be convened for final action or at least that we would be given the courtesy of a telephone call by the Chairman giving us an opportunity to hear the final draft and to sign it if we so desired. The first time we had any knowledge of the final draft of the letter was when it appeared in your paper.

We trust that this explanation will clarify any misunderstanding that might be in the public mind with regard to the absence of our signatures.

Briefly, our position with regard to the proposed change is as follows: We believe that if the stream and Mystic Valley Parkway are re-located that the area that will then be contiguous to the present Junior High School will be adequate to meet our present pressing needs for an Athletic field and play area. For this reason we favor the plan. We do not subscribe to the opinion that sufficient play area will be available if in the future a new High School is built on 2 to 3 acres of the area. We further believe that in the event a new High School is built on contiguous property the public should be reminded that this plan would involve very extensive and expensive land taking in a residential area.

Very truly yours,
Leo F. Garvey
Harry L. Mueller, M. D.

After living in this town for 22 years, one does not permanently remove without a compelling impulse to say: "Thank you, Winchester, for your beauty, your privileges, and your charm of personal friendliness. Take our affectionate best wishes."

May I have space, Mr. Wilson, to express this for myself and my household. After July 8, our address is North Andover, Mass. Appreciatively yours, erty of those away, but would be of great help to the Police, particularly at this time, when there is apparently a tendency to a wave of house robberies.

Very truly yours,
Frederick M. Ives, Jr.

AS A FORMER RESIDENT SEES IT

Dear Price:
I have followed with great interest in the Star the discussion relative to contemplated changes for Manchester Field. It is all reminiscent of a controversy that was rampant in 1945, and I suggest that the 2 projects be combined, i. e., shift the course of the Abenaki so that it will run underneath the elevated R. R. tracks.

JOYCE WITNESSING ATOMIC TESTS

Kwajalein (The Marshall Islands) —Major Charles Joyce, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Joyce, 13 Webster street, is now on Kwajalein island, main base of operations for the Army Air Forces for the atomic bomb tests. He is witnessing the tests off Bikini, acting as administrative assistant to the Chief of staff.

Formerly a B-29 pilot with thrilling combat experiences in China, Burma and India, Major Joyce joined Operation Crossroads in January.

While on his 37th combat mission, Joyce's airplane lost two engines on a mission over China, southwest of Tokyo. But he flew the plane safely back to two Jima at the dangerous low altitude of less than 1,000 feet and landed it safely. His 37th mission was a volunteer job.

Major Joyce, who has a ranch near Phoenix, Arizona, wears the presidential citation with two oak leaf clusters, the Asiatic-Pacific ribbon with 7 battle stars, the Air Medal with 2 oak leaf clusters and numerous decorations of other kinds. He was with the 468th, a unit which won more than 12,000 decorations.

Major Joyce plans to visit Boston, Winchester and Phoenix upon his return to the states.

prohensive overall plan for the town. Mrs. Spaulding felt not enough notice of the proposed plan had been given before the special town meeting adopted it and criticised the committee for not providing for hearings and special precinct meetings to discuss it. She favored some other plan which would enable the town to keep Manchester Field as it is now.

Mr. Parsons vigorously defended the town authorities, and especially the Planning Board against the charge that there is and has been no long-range plan to serve as a guide for community development. He told in some detail the history of town planning and answered Mr. Shurtleff by saying that the town secured an over-all plan for community development worked out by the young man's father, Arthur Shurtleff in 1929. Winchester, according to Mr. Parsons, is one of the first towns in the state to have such a plan.

Answering the gentlemen who favored six-year planning, Mr. Parsons pointed out that Winchester was the first town in the United States to establish a six year system of planning, having been chosen by the National Resources Planning Board in 1939 as one of the communities to carry out experiments in this field. He voiced the Planning Board's unanimous approval of the proposed new layout of Manchester Field as a project fitting nicely into the plans for a laudible civic center and as a much-needed improvement to the present school system.

Mrs. Woodside also favored the plan and voiced resentment at the criticism levelled at our old-time planners by newcomers to town. Mr. West favored the plan as a good investment, regardless of any future school development, pointing out that such a field will be needed anyhow in the event of looked-for growth in the Junior High School. Mrs. West asked what alternate plan is proposed to take adequate care of the school's athletic needs. In the event the proposed Manchester Field plan is beaten, and was told by Prof. Borden that there is no alternate plan.

Others who asked questions included Mr. Grosvenor, Mrs. Drake, Mrs. Woodward, Mr. Chatfield, and Mrs. Whitman. Mr. Dwinell recorded the unanimous approval of the Finance Committee for the new layout.

SHOULD NOT LIST VACATIONISTS

Editor of the Star:
There used to be, and I presume there still is, an item in the Police Department budget to cover the cost of added Police protection to the property temporarily vacated by residents during the summer months.

This task is a difficult one for the Police. It would appear that your practice of listing each week in the "Star" the names of people away does not make it any easier. This list is, in effect, a public notice to those who may be interested from a robbery standpoint, in property that is eligible for their business.

If you believe this bit of news is important enough to publish, would it not be wiser to do so after the people have returned, and therefore eliminate entirely the list of people not at home. This practice would not only add to the protection of the prop-nior high field more than 25 ft. without special permission from the MDC, under the terms of the present agreement between the town and state.

Mrs. Toye spoke at some length and asked a number of questions, some of which could be answered by Mr. Bonnell and Mr. Hatch, and some of which couldn't. Included were whether there would be a bridge across the new river to replace the one now leading from the Parkway into the southerly end of Manchester Field, whether there would be a sidewalk along the new parkway and on which side of the river it would be, whether there could be a stop sign at Mystic avenue in the new layout, whether the present fence at Shore road field couldn't be utilized to fence the new field from the Parkway to curb the danger from automobiles, whether proper facilities for parking at the field are to be included and whether the inclusion of a possible new high school in the area would spoil the present layout for an adequate athletic plant.

Mrs. Toye urged everyone to vote, and to express their preference on the merits of the proposition and not because of any resentment. She derided the propaganda that had been used against the plan and pointed out the danger to our democratic processes if small groups invoke referendums whenever the action of duly elected representatives do not satisfy them.

Generally speaking those opposing the proposed plan had nothing new to offer or no substitute plan. Mr. Bates felt that the town was undertaking a major operation in the center without having any long range plan to guide them, specifically with regards to what the civic center of the town is to be.

Mr. von Rosenzweig was another who did not believe the plan ideal, and he asked the indulgence of the meeting in introducing Mr. Shurtleff, an expert on planning, whom he said a group interested in the town had asked to appear at the meeting to offer expert advice.

Mr. Worcester introduced Mr. Shurtleff, who proved a personable young man and polite in his remarks. He did find the town had no master plan to guide it toward the solution of its major civic projects and warned the citizens to be careful to get the very best plan possible so as to keep the town at its admittedly high level as a residential community.

Two other speakers, neither of whom was known to the reporter questioned the town's long-range planning, one referring to an overall plan and the other to a six-year plan. Both opposed the new layout until such a time as it could be shown to fit into a com-

NEWSPAPER EDITOR NAMED TO HEAD 800,000 ELKS

CHARLES E. BROUGHTON

Sheboygan, Wis., civic leader, newspaper editor and publisher Charles E. Broughton has been elected Grand Exalted Ruler of the 800,000 members of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks at the 82nd convention of the order held in New York City and attended by almost 20,000 delegates.

WISCONSIN EDITOR NAMED TO HEAD ELKS ORDER

Charles E. Broughton, newspaper editor and publisher of Sheboygan, Wis., today was unanimously elected Grand Exalted Ruler of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks at the first full convention of the Order since Pearl Harbor held in New York City. A member of the Elks for 43 years, Broughton had previously served as Chairman of the Board of Grand Trustees. He succeeds Wads H. Kepner of Wheeling, W. Va., as leader of the more than 800,000 Elks carrying on activities in more than 1500 lodges in all of the 48 states and American territorial possessions.

One of the mid-west's most prominent editors, the record of Broughton's benevolent activities is legion. In 1926, through his paper, The Sheboygan Press, he founded the Sheboygan Kiddies Camp, a unique project in which the city and the citizens cooperate to give more than a 100 needy children a free eight weeks vacation. He was a co-founder in 1929 of the Wisconsin Elks Crippled Children's Commission and for many years was a director of the Wisconsin Association for the Disabled.

In 1942, the new Elk leader was one of the first eight persons throughout the world to receive the Salvation Army Distinguished Service Award. He has served as an official of the Wisconsin Cancer Drive, the YMCA, and is a vice-president of the Trustees Di-

GIRL SCOUTS NEWS

At a meeting of the staff of the Girl Scout Day Camp it was decided to make no charge this year for the materials used in handicrafts. As many of the participants pay for the six weeks of camping at the opening of the season, making the bookkeeping represented by any refunds for a day missed on account of rain out of proportion to the amount involved, this method of assuring their "money's worth" to the campers was arrived at. No rain the weather has been most cooperative, resulting in camp's being cancelled only one day, and hikes, blueberry picking and outdoor dramatics have flourished. In addition to having crafts at no cost, the Brownies and older Girl Scouts have had unexpected treats such as iced watermelon on one of the hottest days and cookies and punch at one of their shows.

SELECTMEN'S NOTES

Board of Survey hearing was held on petition of Edward V. French to extend Lodgewood road. There was no opposition and the board approved the layout and signed the plan.

FROSTED FOODS BY INSTANT DELIVERY

The finest available brands of frozen foods will be sold to residents of Winchester and delivered regularly to their homes by refrigerated truck beginning July 22nd, it was announced this week by Albert R. Jenks, President of Frosted Foods, West Acton, Mass.

Under the new and unique plan for the retail delivery of frozen foods to the home, the customer will place her order with a Jenks Frosted Foods representative in her town. The order then will be forwarded to the main office where it will be filled from a selection of the best available brands on the market that week. On a designated day the order will be delivered by refrigerated truck to the customer's door.

The direct delivery of frozen foods from the producer to the consumer will frequently make possible the sale of frozen foods at less than current retail prices elsewhere. Furthermore, the customer will always be assured, once her order is accepted, that she will receive top quality brands which will be purchased in sufficient quantities each week to fill orders that have been taken.

The lady chosen as representative in each community will also be prepared and trained to pass along new ideas and specially chosen specialties in Frosted Foods.

In announcing his new and progressive idea of marketing, Mr. Jenks said he believed the convenience to the busy housewife of the home delivery of her frozen food, purchases plus the important factor of frequently lower prices will insure immediate acceptance of the new service.

CLIP-OUT CUES for the Homemaker's Cupboard

IN the "WAX" FILM "WAX"

THE handy wax cans that were drafted to carry war supplies are marching back again to store shelves—which is good reason to wax eloquently!

Because of the demand for tin and steel to carry food, weapons, drugs and medicines to battle fronts, a large percentage of the wax for civilian use had to be packaged in substitute containers. And thousands of the wax cans themselves went to war carrying "impregnate", a substance soldiers rubbed on their clothing to protect it from burning gases.

The wax manufacturers are returning to unbreakable, easy-to-store cans as fast as they can, and they're available now in time to help you preserve all the sparkle of your spring-scoured house. Here is a check list of ways to use the cans of wax:

FLOORS:—If the floor has never been waxed, wash thoroughly with soap and water, rinse, allow to dry. Apply thin, even coat of wax with soft, clean cloth. Allow wax to dry 30 minutes.

To care for a waxed floor, dust with a dry mop, wash off spots with a slightly damp cloth and coat traffic areas with wax from time to time before the original film has worn through. With such care it will only be necessary to wax the entire floor three or four times a year.

FURNITURE:—Wash furniture with mild soap and lukewarm water, rinse and dry thoroughly. Apply a thin coat of liquid or paste wax with soft cloth wrung out of cold water. Let it dry slightly and polish with soft dry cloth.

WOODWORK:—Follow same directions as given for furniture. A wax surface brings out the luster of a painted or varnished surface and makes it resistant to liquid stains. And now while you have the wax can out, let the illustrations above guide you to more places where wax will do a brightening and work-saving job for you!

1. Sandpaper rough edges of bureau drawers and apply a wax film to prevent snagging of delicate fabrics (makes dresser drawers open and close more easily, too).

2. Put a coat of wax on window sills, the painted trim in children's rooms—all surfaces that receive lots of wear.

3. A coat of wax on Venetian blinds will preserve the finish and make them easy to clean with a damp cloth.

4. A colorless wallpaper wax will preserve a glassed wallpaper that is subjected to much wear or moisture—as in kitchen or bathroom.

FACTS

that tell our story:

For several weeks, we've been telling you how tremendously our operating and maintenance expenses have risen during recent years. Now here's another reason why it costs so much more to furnish transportation today than it did half a dozen years ago.

In keeping with the times, wages have been increased as new annual contracts were negotiated with our employees. Our current contract became effective June 1, 1946. Compare its wage scale with that existing in 1940.

New Traffic Regulations

New traffic regulations of importance went into effect in Winchester centre Monday morning.

Under the new regulations all Boston bound traffic coming from Woburn on Main street is sent across the tracks by way of Knights' corner. In other words the traffic follows the electric car tracks and leaves the gate-men's shanty on the left.

North bound traffic to Woburn travels in a straight line as previously.

New traffic markings have been made on the streets all over town, every dangerous corner or intersection being marked.

Editorial

With the present traffic through Winchester square, due to the closing of Cambridge street, local officials are going to be able to witness conditions in our center about two years in advance of the times. With this in mind it is a good time to make a careful study of the present conditions, not only in view of handling it but with regard to the elimination of the grade crossing and the possible closing up of that portion of the square in front of the Lyceum Building which is claimed by Mr. Sanderson and to which he holds a Land Court Title.

50 YEARS AGO
July 17, 1896

Last Sunday evening a family party came to grief at the crossing by their cart, breaking down on the tracks. There were seven in the mishap and they were driven to their home in Malden in one of the Haves Bros. carriages, after a determination on the part of the younger members of the party that the old gentleman who met with the mishap should not be allowed to drive.

Work on the No. Woburn street railroad was temporarily suspended at the Woburn line last week, Thursday by order of the Selectmen. The officials having submitted to the conditions work was resumed next day.

The Selectmen voted Monday evening to have the main streets in the center watered Sundays.

HEARING HELD ON PROPOSED COMMUNITY CENTER

Between 200 and 300 persons attended the hearing held Monday evening by the Selectmen on the proposal to establish a community center for colored young people of the town on town land in the sand-pit off Irving street. The Selectmen had originally intended to hold the hearing in the General Committee Room at the town hall, but long before the time set for the hearing this was filled completely with so many gathered in the corridor that the Board had difficulty in leaving their room around the corner.

The hearing was adjourned to the town hall and was a lively affair. Chairman Ralph Bonnell of the Selectmen presided and explained that Mrs. Maude Crowell and Rev. C. C. Miller, the latter pastor of the New Hope Baptist Church, had asked permission of the Board to erect an Army chapel, which was to be given them at Fort Devens, on town land off Irving street, securing funds therefor, and to operate the building as a community center for returning colored G. I.'s and other young colored people. In asking permission they stated that they represented the colored people of the town.

Mrs. Crowell explained that at present the young colored people of Winchester have no place to go for wholesome recreation and that some sort of center or club is badly needed to minister to their wants and to keep them off the street and out of mischief.

She explained the work that she had done with a large group of girls at the U. S. O.'s for colored boys at Fort Devens and stated that these young workers would form the nucleus of the group to interest themselves in the center. She said a board of directors, including several non-colored persons, would administer the organization and that provision would be made to operate severally profit-making activities to help finance the center.

Rev. Miller also spoke of the need for a place where the young colored people of the town could go for wholesome recreation and amusement. He mentioned the fact that members of the New Hope Baptist Church felt that the young people should get their activity there. While agreeing that all young people should go to their church he believed that the church was not touching the lives of the young colored people in a recreational sense, and that something more is needed to supplement the church for them. He added that every one would be welcome at the center.

PLEA FOR LOAN OF ELECTRIC FAN

Please - has anyone an electric fan which could be loaned to the Red Cross Work Room for the summer months?

If you were to walk into the Work Room on the Third Floor of the Town Hall on the hottest day of the summer, you would still find a handful of faithful women sewing busily on garments so direly needed in Europe. If this plea goes unanswered, they will still be there because the lives that they may help save by their labor are far more important to them than their own comfort. However, a fan to keep the air circulating would greatly improve working conditions and, on the chance that some reader may have or may know of an electric fan which could be loaned to the Work Room for the summer months, this plea is being printed.

BOSTON GUILD ARTISTS SHOW AT LIBRARY

Local art lovers look forward each year to the summer exhibition by members of the Boston Guild of Artists hung in the gallery of the Public Library under the auspices of the Winchester Art Association. Their current pictures are now on display and are in every respect a fine show.

Both water colors and oils are shown. In the first group are along shore studies by A. Laed Ripley and Carroll Bill, "Maine Coast" by Glenn MacNutt, a beautiful snow scene by William J. Kaula, entitled "Winter in Ashby," a very colorful fall landscape by Sears Gallagher and "Rockport Street" by William Jewell.

Winchester's own Forrest W. Orr shows a very colorful watercolor of Boston's famous swanboats, filled with gay kiddies and just emerging from under one of the bridges in the Public Gardens. There is a lot of warmth and animation in the scene, the direct antithesis of "Snow-Laden" by James P. Saulnier with its big evergreen boughs drooping under the heavy load of snow.

Another interesting watercolor is "Betty Washington's Bedroom," so faithfully reproduced that one seems almost to be looking into the high studded old chamber with its warm rose walls, high walnut forepester canopied bed with its chest at the foot, interesting chairs and large fireplace with brass andirons and Colonial brass candlesticks on the white mantel. Through an open closet door are seen dresses hanging on hangers, and still another homely detail is the small walnut cradle beside the big bed.

"White Petunias" by Polly Nordell is a fine flower study in watercolors. Long blue shadows distinguish Frederick Sutton's snow-covered winter landscape.

Two fine marines are those by A. J. Shelton and that master of marine painting, Stanley Woodward, the Woodward study full of the endless movement of charming surf and heaving deep blue billows. Both studies are in oils, as is Mary Brewster Hartman's "Girl at Mirror," a large painting showing a girl clad in a purple kimono, touched with Chinese red, gazing into a hand-mirror while her reflection shows in a large gold-framed mirror on the wall.

An unusual and very appealing snow-picture is Gertrude Fiske's oil, "The Sibby Houses," two bulky, old style dwellings, half buried in snow. A preponderance of light blue in the picture makes it very soft and restful.

Other Oils include "Ten and Ten", a still life by Elizabeth Paxton, Girl in a Scarlet Coat and Cap by Ruth Anderson, Yellow roses and blue flowers in a sort of studied disorder by Leslie P. Thompson and a Nude by Arthur Speare, a well drawn study of a woman seated on a blue drape flung over a low red hassock with a characteristically luminous Speare background.

There is a lot of atmosphere in that oil by Loring W. Coleman, "The Old Couple Died" with its lug black bird winging slowly over.

ITALIANS TO OBSERVE ASSUMPTION FEAST

Fireworks to Climax Three-Day Celebration

Winchester's Italian residents will observe the Feast of the Assumption on Thursday August 15, with a three-day celebration ending on this internationally observed holy day of the Roman Catholic church.

The celebration will open Tuesday, Aug. 13, running that night and the next night with an all-day program Aug. 15. Shore Road Field will be used and there will be a carnival each of the three evenings with a midway, Ferris wheel, merry-go-round and other gala attractions.

On August 15, the feast day, the Italian residents will attend mass at St. Mary's Church at 9 o'clock, after which there will be open house in the Italian Section. In the afternoon there will be a procession, led by a band, through the principal streets of the Italian district.

In the evening there will be a band-concert and a display of fireworks on Shore road field together with the carnival.

Heading the committee of arrangements is Frank Battistio as chairman, with George Tofuri, secretary, and Dominic Casademiro, treasurer. Other committee members include Alfonso Cuello, Dominic Ferraro, Vita De Benedetto, J. J. Bona, Robert Fiore and Rosario Gangi.

Needlecraft News
by Nancy Baxter

HAVE you noticed that more and more women are crocheting both practical and decorative articles—not only for their homes but for themselves, too? One of the advantages of crochet is that you can make any number of small items, which serve as handy pick-up work. That's a point to be especially appreciated during the hot summer months when most of us don't have the energy to attempt any large project. Since crochet is so popular perhaps you enthusiasts would like to know something about the historical background of this needlework art—it's an interesting story.

Although crocheting has been universally popular for the past fifty years, just where or when it began is unknown. About 1500 A.D. a hook similar to the crochet hook was employed in lace-making, to draw a thread through the lace. This hook became more and more a part of lace making, being used to make looped connections for needle lace motifs. But it was not until 1809 that crocheting—which takes its name from the French, meaning "Little Hook"—began to be used for making the lace motifs themselves, as well as the filin parts. Crocheting became a popular needle art about 1840—when it was taken up by Queen Victoria and the English Royal Family. Books were written on the subject design books began to appear, and schools were established to instruct young ladies in the art of crochet. In 1846, when whole families were starving during the Irish Famine, Susanna Meredith started the Adelaide Crochet School at Cork in order to give the women a chance to earn a living. They were taught how to crochet, and their work was sold by the school.

No machine has yet been invented which can duplicate crocheted work. And today, because we are so keenly er the desolate ruin of an old gray barn and leaning silo looming through the twilight settling over the farm from the highlands in the background.

Sportsmen will thrill to the big oil by F. W. Benson, showing ducks rising from silvery tinged marshy water against a darkening blue sky split with two streaks of orange. Still another fine oil is "Vermont Roadside" by John F. Enser, a warm, natural study of an appealing rural scene, painted with a freshness that is both arresting and charming.

MURRAY OUT OF SERVICE

That's what the telephone company is doing by putting more people on party lines

Since telephone equipment is still short due largely to material shortages, we're having to "divvy up" telephone service — put more and more people on party lines. In places where our present facilities permit us to add new telephones, this method enables us to serve more people than would otherwise be possible.

At present, more than 7 out of every 10 telephone users in New England are on party line service and the proportion will grow even greater in the next few months. That's what makes it all the more important for everyone to be a good party line neighbor. Your thoughtfulness in avoiding long telephone conversations invites the same courtesy towards you from others.

BOB SWANSON BOUNCES BACK

Just when it looked like he was about to become a member of the "fleece flounders", as a result of some very spotty sailing the last few weeks, Bob Swanson put an end to such thinking, wishful or otherwise, by scoring two vital victories over the Ship's Fleet last weekend.

Flashing the same form that swept him to the 1945 Fleet Championship, Bob sailed two brilliant races to climb into second place in the fleet standing. Saturday afternoon he received plenty of opposition from Ted Burleigh, who is keeping his toes boiling along in beautiful fashion. Ted was leading at the half way mark and sailing slickly but he made the fatal mistake of splitting tacks with the Swannee. The split sent Swannee into the lead and although Ted tried every trick in his sail bag, he could not quite catch the fleet Swannee. Jim Newman, back from a week's vacation and racing with borrowed battens, sailed to a nice third.

Sunday morning, Bob had to battle it out with Bill Hall, John Powers and Ted Burleigh. Fickle fate and worrisome winds caused the lead to switch around several times but Bob finally fathomed the faithless winds and went on to a comfortable first. John Powers piloted Jones' Laimar to the second spot and Ted Burleigh bagged third.

With the season rapidly approaching the halfway mark, Don Simonds' Sinbad, which has been absent for several weeks, is pretty firmly entrenched in first place with 164.9 points. Swanson's Swannee second with 157.69 points, closely crowded by Burleigh's Teetees with 156.0. Jones' Laimar with 153.29, Merrow's Don't Duck with 149.5 and Sullivan's Youani with 149.4 are definitely not out of the running.

If any of you ladies aren't attending the every-other-Wednesday afternoon Bridge Parties at the Club, you're missing out on some very swell affairs. There's another bridge scheduled for next Wednesday. Better check up on your Calbertson and come to the Club.

Bishop Beat Winchester's Martin in State Amateur

Eddie Martin, who plays his golf out of Winchester Country Club, failed in his attempt to lift the 38th State Amateur Golf Championship last Sunday when he was defeated by Ted Bishop, one of Massachusetts' best, at Charles River, 7 and 6.

Martin, who joined the local club this past year, wanted especially to win, since his twin brother, Leo, won in 1941, the last year of competition and in 1943 was killed in action while serving with the Navy in the North Atlantic. It would have been great for Eddie to have succeeded his brother, and he played good golf in his effort to do so.

Bishop, however, was both brilliant and very steady, his three-under-par being just too good for his Winchester opponent. He was never headed in the 39 holes played and was three up at the end of the first 18.

ABBOTT FOUR-BALL REACHES FINALS

Now that Mrs. Donald Belcher has won the Club Women's Championship from Mrs. Allen Kimball, interest has focused on the final round for the John Abbott Trophy, emblematic of the club four-ball championship.

The finalists are Judre J. W. Monahan and Eddie Martin who will meet Stanley E. Neill and Walter M. Benham. This is a handicap affair and Neill and Benham on their games can bother the Judge and Martin, good as they are. Play in this tournament has been going on since May.

VETERANS TOURNAMENT

Quite a bit of interest has been aroused by a new club championship tournament for seniors. You have to be 55 years or older to play in this one and eight of the "old boys" remain in competition after the first round.

In the upper half G. S. Paetti plays Harold B. Wood, Arlington. "Advocate" editor, with A. L. Danforth meeting the club manager, Harold V. Hovey. In the lower half A. M. Bond plays F. J. Phillips with Francis E. Smith playing F. A. Benham. This is another handicap tournament with anything likely to happen.

Benham put out the club's oldest golfer, 84-year old Nelson Seelye, 6 and 4, to win his place in the semi-finals.

Interest is commencing to "steam up" for the big club feature, the annual Father and Son Tournament, to be held Aug. 6 and 7. It is expected with the war more or less over a whacking big entry list will be received for this popular event.

For some time now the Immaculate Conception Crusaders have been on the trail of the Winchester Elks, and over the past week-end arrangements for a game were completed. The teams will meet tonight at 8:30 at Leonard Field and a good game should result.

Both Woburn and Winchester boys play on the Crusaders and any game in which Winchester and Woburn players mingle is sure to prove interesting. The best crowd of the season is expected tonight.

It is reported that "Scratch" Amico, former Winchester High twirler, will hurl for the Crusaders. It is "Fireball" Robbie Farrell's turn to work for the Elks, and the Crusaders want find the ex-G. I. any soft pickings.

Regardless of which side you happened to be on, sober reflection should go far to convince you that it is a good thing for our form of town government that last week's referendum vote turned out as it did. A committee was established at the regular town meeting in March to consider school facilities for the upper grades and to report its findings with recommendations at a special town meeting to be held in June. Among the things studied by the committee was the need for adequate athletic facilities for the high and junior high school students. At the June meeting they reported the plan to join the junior high school playground with Manchester Field by relocating the Abernethy River and Park across Manchester Field to the westward and recommending its adoption. There was little objection voiced to the plan which was unanimously endorsed by the Selectmen, the Planning Board, the School Committee and the Finance Committee. The precinct members of the limited Town Meeting voted it 143-8. In the face of all this a petition for a referendum was circulated by a relatively small group, many members of which were not so much opposed to the plan as a solution of the need for an adequate athletic plant as they were in favor of building a new high school upon the Ginn Estate. They secured the requisite number of signatures to their petition, and the Selectmen, in accordance with the provisions of our town meeting act, called a special election for last week Thursday. Its result is of course known to everyone now. Those who went to the polls supported the voters of the limited town meeting, backed by the recommendations of leading town boards by almost two to one. Thus was our system of government in Winchester vindicated, and by a handsome majority. Public confidence in our town officers and limited town meeting could well have been weakened had this small group of dissenters, no matter how laudable their intentions, been able to overturn so overwhelming a vote of duly elected representatives of the people backed by the nearly unanimous opinion of those we choose ourselves to administer our municipal affairs.

SHOULD PASS THE HAT

Editor of the Star:

What a shame that a minority few can cost this town $800 cash plus Town employees time to put on a worthless referendum. Last week's 2-1 vote of question No. 1, Yes, 1053, No 552, Question No. 2, Yes, 1016, No 544, confirms conclusively that the Special Town meeting vote on June 13 of 143 Yes, 8 No, was carefully and with plenty of TIME TO CONSIDER well studied by the 143 Town meeting members after learning of the practically unanimous vote of all the Town Committees who studied the School facilities Committee's report. It proves that a minority group can not refute the intelligent recommendations of our Town committees. That wasted $800 plus could have been well used in the School programme. The minority group who activated this worthless referendum, held when 30 per cent of the people are away, would do well to pass the hat among themselves and send an $800 check to the Town Treasurer for the use by the present committee on School facilities.

A former School Committee chairman

"WHAT'S THE IDEA?"

Editor of the Star:

A lot of people seemed to think the alteration of the old Manchester Field layout was rushed through without either too much, or too complete information being given the public. I think, and many with whom I have talked feel, that a plan like changing the course of the river and the location of the Parkway should have been a lot better advertised than it was by the town fathers. That goes for the referendum too. I know warrants were delivered, but aside from that the whole business was kept so quiet it looked like those pushing the scheme did not want many to know much about it.

Now we had another hearing last Monday evening, of sufficient interest to get out around 300 people. I am told it was held on a proposal to have a community center for colored people in Winchester; surely a subject of interest to many more than those who knew about the hearing in time to attend.

What's the idea? Why the secrecy? Why wasn't this last hearing advertised, at least to the slight extent of its immediate predecessor. Better still, why wasn't it advertised RIGHT?

Don't the town fathers want us to know what is going on? A taxpayer

SUSPECT IN ASSAULT CASE HELD

A former Winchester young man, an ex-G. I., is being held without bail for arraignment Monday in the District Court at Woburn, charged with attempted criminal assault on a 17 year-old Woburn girl in Winchester on the night of July 9.

The alleged attempted assault took place in a house on Ardley road where the girl was taking care of children in the absence of the family. Police say the young man entered the house and first demanded money. When he grabbed the girl she resisted his advances, being badly beaten and having her clothing torn from her in a scuffle on two floor-levels of the house.

Her screams attracted neighbors and frightened the young man whose face was covered. The Police were notified and Sgt. Charles J. Harrold headed an immediate investigation.

A man had been seen running from the direction of the house where the affair occurred and some boys secured the number of a car in which he drove off. A police checkup disclosed that the owner of that particular registration was in the Catskills.

Meanwhile the make, color and model of the car were given the Police while fingerprints were taken at the house by Sgt. Sirois and Trooper Kidney of the State Police.

Continuing the investigation from this end Chief William H. Rogers learned that the victim of the assault had been accustomed to take her young Winchester charges to Foley Beach in Woburn. Motorcycle Officer William Haggerty and Officer Edward Reil of Woburn teamed up to look for the wanted car and last Saturday the Woburn policemen called local Headquarters reporting it was at the beach.

Officer Haggerty went at once to the beach and brought the young man driving the car to Winchester where he was questioned by Chief Rogers. He had marks on his chest and hands. The latter he said he got while working on his car, and the marks on his chest, he claimed, resulted from a punning he got while assisting a girl who was being molested by a drunk in Somerville.

The young man consented to be fingerprinted by Officer Haggerty, and his car was taken to the scene of the trouble on July 9. Witnesses said it resembled the one seen there that night.

After further questioning, the young man was permitted to go. He gave an address on Huntington avenue in Boston. Later Chief Rogers was notified by State experts that the fingerprints taken at the Ardley road house checked with those taken by Officer Haggerty at Headquarters last Saturday.

Sgt. Thomas F. Cassidy went to Boston Tuesday and with Lt. Joseph Crescio of the State Police and a State trooper, arrested the young man.

He was arraigned in District Court at Woburn Wednesday morning, charged with attempted criminal assault. Police say he has a long record, including a conviction on a similar charge. For this reason the Court held him without bail for appearance on Monday, July 22.

Two young Winchester naval officers, Ensign Edward McDevitt, USNR, and Ensign Peter Hickey, USNR, spent the July 4th holiday together at Yakusuka in Japan. Ensign McDevitt who is the navigating officer of the U. S. S. Guadaloupe, a large navy tanker, was temporarily in the port where Ensign Hickey is stationed.

Howard Kirby spoke strongly in favor of the proposed center, and others who favored some sort of recreational facilities being provided for the young colored people of the community included Mrs. Gladys Toye, Miss Natalie Jewett, Miss Esther Kirby and Miss Bertha Barksdale.

Those who spoke in opposition included Rev. William H. Smith, former pastor of the New Hope Baptist Church; Miss Dorothy Smith, Paul Ganci, Clarence Brine, George Jackson, Charles Smith, Carmine Frongillo, Thomas Richardson, Hiskiah Griffin, and Mrs. Harold Boardley.

In general the above objected strongly to a community center for colored young people, though some of the objectors were not opposed to a "club", which they argued is something quite different from a community center. They further argued that either organization could not be supported by the colored people of the town, and that in order to keep it going assistance from out-of-town attendants would have to be secured. This they felt would be undesirable and fraught with too grave possibilities to be undertaken. Several notices had been given the colored people as a whole, yet the project was represented as having the support of the entire group.

Roland Parker appeared as attorney for residents of Irving Street who opposed the undertaking and presented chairman Bonnell with a petition signed by residents of the district.

The debate was sharp in spots, though on the whole personalities were not indulged in and the speakers for the most part were temperate. Chairman Bonnell gave everyone an opportunity to express himself, but took no poll of those present. He announced at 9:30 that the Board had sufficient information to serve as a basis for further consideration, and adjourned the hearing.

JAPANESE BEETLES IN WINCHESTER

Those who know the damage possible from Japanese beetles are quite concerned with their appearance in rather large numbers in Winchester.

They first appeared about two years ago on the golf course of the Winchester Country Club near the farmhouse at the 14th hole. Considerable damage was done the turf and trees at that point before the pests were discovered and measures taken to exterminate them.

Now the beetles are reported coming across town, traces of them having been found in the vicinity of Lakeview road and Everett avenue. They got well into the Schrafft estate from the Country Club property and have been reported at the E. Hony Stone residence on Cambridge street. The beetles denude trees and ruin lawns and unless effective measures are quickly taken can do untold damage.

The Japanese beetle is a little larger than a potato-bug, about one-half inch long and a beautiful green color with bronze wing-covers. Its larva is a white grub hatched from eggs which are laid on the ground, chiefly through July and August.

The eggs hatch in 12 days, and the grubs feed on grass roots near the surface. Toward winter the grubs burrow downward, coming up in the spring and again feeding on grass roots, running larger areas of lawns. Beetles come from the grubs in about two weeks.

The pests are controlled by the use of beetle traps, by D. D. T. in various forms, or lawns may be grub-proofed by applying a mixture of arsenate of lead and sand, five pounds of arsenate to every 100 pounds of sand. This mixture is spread evenly over the turf, the best times being in May and September.

Beetles stay in any location for about three years, so that any one having them now can expect to have them next year and a part of the year after, unless measures are taken to exterminate them.

EVER WIDENING CIRCLES THAT MEAN GREATER EXPENSE TO US

It takes more of everything to run a transit system these days. More employees and more wages; more gas and tires; more equipment; more taxes. All of which adds up to an outgo that increases in ever-widening circles . . . far faster than our normal growth of income. Yet, despite this fact . . . despite cost-of-living advances that daily drive down the purchasing power of your dollar . . . you're still buying transportation on our buses at the same rates you paid long before the war.

BREAK AT WEST SIDE HOME

Wednesday afternoon when Mr. John P. Bushell returned home at 3:30, in the afternoon he discovered that his residence at 56 Salisbury street had been broken into. He notified the Police and Sgt. Thomas F. Cassidy was sent to investigate.

He found that access to the house had been gained by cutting a pane cleanly from a French-door inside a screened porch at the rear of the dwelling. This enabled the intruder to reach in and release the lock.

The house was completely searched, everything that might house valuables being gone through. Only one room, a bedroom, was upset by the thief or thieves, but in that room things were thrown about.

Finger-prints were taken by the authorities who are continuing their investigation, it being announced that the break followed the pattern of another made recently in another section of the town.

WORK ON MANCHESTER FIELD TO START SOON

The first load of fill for the new layout of Manchester Field was dumped there yesterday, but the actual work of alteration will not commence until some time next week.

Town Engineer Parker Holbrook and Chairman Ralph Bonnell of the Board of Selectmen got the "go ahead" signal from the M. D. C. following a conference yesterday morning. Mr. Holbrook stated that he hoped to commence the actual work of reconstruction the first of the week, and had hoped to secure the big crane of Marine Contractor George M. Byrne to do the river work. This however is not available so other arrangements will have to be made.

It is planned first to put in a bulldozer to remove the topsoil from the playground and along the river banks. The actual relocation of the river and Parkway will take place as soon as possible. Mr. Holbrook believes that without unforeseen delay the high school will be able to play its home football games on the new grill-iron near the Junior High School bank this fall.

S. she had lived in Woburn more than half a century and had, with her husband, observed her golden wedding anniversary there in 1941.
Besides her husband and daughter in Winchester, she leaves three sons and two daughters, together with two brothers in this town, John and Allan MacDonald.
The funeral was held Monday morning with requiem high mass celebrated at St. Charles Church in Woburn by Rev. Fr. James A. Garrity. Interment was in Calvary Cemetery.

WEEK-END FIRES
The worst of three calls which the Fire Department had last week-end was for a fire in the basement of the home of Mrs. Margaret Regan, 5 Nelson street, widow of Officer John J. Regan of the Police Department. The fire started in some refuse in the cellar and was a hot one, a 55 gallon fuel oil tank and the gas-meter letting off before the blaze was extinguished. The firemen confined the actual fire to the cellar, but there was considerable smoke damage done elsewhere in the house.
Besides this fire there was a brush fire at the rear of 39 Spruce street Saturday afternoon at 5:57, and at 6:45 Saturday evening there was a grass fire on Cemetery land off Palmer street.

Living latterly in South Portland, Mrs. Redfern resided many years in Winchester where she made many lasting friendships. Her husband belonged to a prominent Winchester family and was active in civic affairs, serving on the School Committee from 1914 through 1916.
Mrs. Redfern was active in Red Cross work and Community Chest Drives. She leaves a son, Charles E. Redfern, a daughter, Mrs. Reginald A. Cook of Montclair, N. J., and three grandsons. She also leaves two sisters-in-law living in Winchester, Mrs. Daniel C. Dennett and Miss Helen Redfern.

BROKE AUTO WINDOW WITH STOLEN AIR RIFLE

Last Saturday morning Rogers Wells of 43 Central street reported to Motorcycle Officer William Haggerty that one of three boys had fired a slug from an air rifle through the right rear window of his Ford sedan while he was parked on High street at Arlington street.

The boys, according to Mr. Wells came along the banking of the road. He gave chase and caught one of the boys who gave him name and an address on Westland avenue. Officer Haggerty found out at the house in question that the youngster Mr. Wells had caught had given the name of another boy not concerned with the scrape.

After checking with Mr. Wells and getting a better description, Officer Haggerty located a boy living in the neighborhood who told him the name of the boy responsible. The latter vouchsafed the information that the boy who named him had stolen the air-rifle with which the damage was done from a car parked on Westland avenue.
Meanwhile the father of the boy who apparently had done the actual shooting agreed to pay for the broken automobile window.

BURNED BY PEAT FIRE AT SANDY BEACH

Apparently there is a considerable quantity of peat in the material which was dredged from Little Mystic Lake and piled into the cover above Sandy Beach as filling. There have been fires there from time to time and the peat smoulders for some time after the fires have been supposedly extinguished in a treacherous manner.

Last Thursday afternoon Alfred Watkins, 13, of 21 Cameron avenue, Somerville, who was bathing at Sandy, burned the toes of his right foot when he stepped on some smouldering peat while walking on the filled area.

He was taken to the Winchester Hospital by the Lifeguard at the Beach and treated by Dr. Philip H. McManus. After treatment he was taken home by Officer D. Irving Beardon of the Police Department.

GARAGE AND CAR BURNED

The garage and Plymouth sedan of Mr. James F. Denton of 71 Woodside road were completely destroyed by fire shortly after 10 o'clock Tuesday night.

Mr. Denton told the firemen he was sitting with members of his family in the living room of their home when they heard an explosion come from the direction of the garage. They found that the car inside the garage was afire and the gas tank had let go. By the time the fire apparatus reached the scene, summoned by a round from Box 542, the flames had swept the garage and had gotten so good a start it was impossible to save the building.

It was a hot fire and the heat and flames from the garage scorched the rear of the freshly painted dwelling. It is thought a short circuit in the wiring of the car may have been responsible for the trouble.

GIRL SCOUT CABIN ENTERED

Sometime between Thursday of last week and last Sunday afternoon the Girl Scout cabin in Brooks' Woods off Edgell hill road was entered, access being gained by breaking a small pane of glass over the catch of the window to the right of the door on the north side of the building. A new bow, valued at $6 and 11 arrows valued at $9 were the only things missing. The Police are investigating.

While the population of the United States has increased only 30 per cent in the past 25 years, the number of persons owning life insurance has increased 90 per cent and the total life insurance owned has increased nearly 300 per cent.

SUCCESSFUL FLOWER MISSION IN WINCHESTER

In spite of droughts, the exodus of vacationers, and the proverbial summer apathy, the flowers that were brought to the Winchester Railroad Station last Tuesday were beautiful and abundant. In fact, more and more boxes were needed to transport the cut flowers and plants to their destinations, the rooms of the aged and sick of Boston's crowded areas.

Next Tuesday's collection will again be under the supervision of enthusiastic Mrs. Virgil Ghirardini and her assistants of the Catholic Church. For further information please call Win. 1788. For the first 2 Tuesdays in August, the 6th and 13th, the Second Congregational Church will have charge. Mrs. Clarence Eddy, Win. 2746-W has volunteered to see that these 2 weeks of the inter-church program is carried out.

Those who did the original planning under the chairmanship of Mrs. Arthur G. Robbins are grateful to the various chairmen and their helpers for following through on the Winchester Flower Mission project.

Among the campers from town are Alexander R. Aitkin, son of Dr. and Mrs. Alexander P. Aitkin of 50 Yale street, Daniel R. Beggs, 3rd, and John M. Beggs, sons of Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Beggs, Jr., of 14 Winthrop street, John L. Coon, 3rd, son of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Coon, Jr., of 20 Hillcrest Parkway, Roger D. Creelman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank R. Richmond of 4 Grove street, and James Robert Willing, son of Mr. and Mrs. James B. Willing of 16 Ledyard road.

Of course the Camp isn't quite the same without "Raymie" Hayward and "Julius" Keeney, the former's all-around automobile driving and bass at the Sunday services being missed about as much as Mr. Keeney's masterminding of the camp baseball league. Mr. Hayward is spending the summer on Birch Island in the solitudes of Maine. Mr. Keeney seems to be about town more or less generally tending to things.

SONS OF ITALY MAKING FINE SOFT BALL RECORD

The crack soft ball team of Winchester Lodge, Sons of Italy, is making quite a record for the lodge on the small diamonds this fanny summer. Up to last Sunday the club played 19 games, winning 16, losing two and being held to a 2-2 tie last Friday evening on Ginn Field by the young team of the Christopher Columbus Society.

Andy "Indian" Diapella is coaching the team with "Musky" Tofuri as assistant coach. The veteran "Hokie" Procopio is captain of the nine, playing third base and doing a bit of pitching now and then. Other pitchers are "Maxie" DiMambro and "Rugged" Murao, Ralph Del Grosso and Paulie Lentine do the catching with "Musky" Tofuri taking an occasional turn behind the bat.

Bill Fiore at first, Harry Chelaflo at second and Tony "Dead Horse" Chelaflo, shortstop, round out the infield with "Hokie" Del Grosso shifting out from catcher to third base when Procopio is tossing. Joe Ciarcia covers left field like a tent with Dom Molea in center and Sam DeBenedetto and Alfred DeMino playing right.

The Lodge is following the team and rooting for the boys as one man. Most of the games played have been out of town, and among the teams the "Sons" have beaten are Cannon-Neelon of Woburn, Wakefield Vets, under the lights at Wakefield; Atlantic Gelatine of Woburn, Chelsea Old Timers Cafe, Stoneham Dogtown and Marconi Club, Everett Carters Club and the local's Joyce's A. C.

ELKS AND IMMACULATES IN 7-7 TIE

Winchester Elks and the Immaculate Conception nine, with several Woburn boys in the lineup, played a 7-7 tie last Friday evening before a big and partisan crowd on Leonard Field.

The Immaculates played the better ball, and the Elks can thank a grand-slam homer from the bat of "Red" Noble for staying off a defeat. At least three Immaculate runs rode home on poor throwing or mental lapses by the Elks, all of whom have played plenty of baseball. Twice men were permitted to score while the Elks messed around trying to get a man out on the bases, the final time Tony DeTeso falling down twice between third and home and still scoring.

That kind of ball isn't going to win many games, and the Elks' base-running wasn't beyond reproach either. What would have been the winning run was erased at third on a smart cut-off play by the veteran "Cute" Higgins when the runner could have been waiting on the bag if he hadn't looked around to see what was going on in the outfield. With two out that was no way to run bases and to make it doubly tough the runner probably would have been safe had he slid on what was obviously going to be a close play.

Joe McKee started for the Elks instead of the advertised Farrell, but when the Elks went two up in the 3rd Robbie went in to save the game. Not properly warmed up the little fire-baller was wild and those Immaculates were cutting at no had-ones. Walls, some loose playing by the Elks and Higgins' hit put over one run, and as told above "Piggy" DeTeso fell in with the tying counter.

"Scratch" Amico went the route for the Immaculates and was too wild for his own good in the early frames. He was given good support and bore down in effective fashion in the last two innings when the Elks were threatening to win. The summary:

TWO FISH-POLES LOST

This story belongs in the news and not the classified columns of the Star, because it is very doubtful if those responsible for the loss of the fishpoles have any intention of returning them.

One of the poles, a casting pole, complete with reel, is the property of Archibald D. Bennett of 67 Bower street, West Medford. He told the Police that the pole turned up missing Wednesday morning while he was fishing with other tackle off Lake street at Wedge Pond.

The other story is something else again, though the pole seems just as permanently lost. This pole, a steel job with reel 'n everything' is, or was, the property of Rudolph Hakanson of Cambridge street, who was also fishing Wednesday morning with his brother, "Gus" of Lincoln street, and Officer "Win" Palmer at Wedge in the rear of Wedge Pond road. Mr. Hakanson had caught a small fish, perch or shiner, or kiviie, or something, and laid down his rod to give the catch to a particularly friendly and hopeful cat who had been shadowing the fishermen all morning.

While enraptured in this strictly commendatory and humanitarian project, a huge bass, estimated by Mr. Palmer to have gone at least four pounds, attached himself to the hook on the end of the Hakanson line. The rod you will recall was lying on the bank at the edge, or margin, of the water.

The big bass leaped into the air as he took the hook and returning to the water disappeared at speed, taking with him hook, line, sinker, if there was one. AND the rod. Mr. Hakanson made a very rapid leap in the direction of his vanishing tackle, but the bass proved the faster worker.

The rod vanished into the murky depths of Wedge, amid cheers and lamentations, depending upon which throat happened to be emitting the outcries. Most of the experts contacted by the Star seem to agree that its loss is permanent.

Only Newspaper Printed In WinchesterIf it cost you more to pay taxes, to eat lunch, and to transport yourself to and from your job, than you could make on that job,
you wouldn't work there long, would you? Your production on that job would stop.There is scarcely a year passes without some crop rotting in some farmer's field. Why? Because it would cost the farmer more for hired help to harvest the crop than he could get for the produce on the market. Production stops on that crop even though salable produce and labor are available.The difference between the 1940 rate of taxation and the 1944 rate of taxation, if applied to the 1944 total income, amounts to nearly one and one-half times the total tax paid in 1940.One way to encourage production would be to stop hiring more government workers. There are more Government workers now, exclusive of armed forces, than there were during the war. In 1932 the Federal Government employed 575 thousand workers. Today there are 2.9 million, or 2.3 million more. Getting rid of the Emergency War Agencies such as NHA, OPA, OWMR, OES, and many others would help.Remember! Increased taxation means increased cost of living and today, every 9 workers in private industry support one worker in Government.Either we must pay more for everything we get, including homes, or we must start eliminating bureaucracy.STRIKE AND YOU GET ITThis time the Unions did not even have to strike. All they had to do was to utter the threat and the Washington New Dealers immediately put back the OPA.The making over of America shall go on. Unions and New Dealers demand it. Now the country can go back to no meat, no butter, no milk, no poultry and, above all, no sugar, which the New Dealers still are setting the price on. Well - the "people" demand it. They like the milking they are getting. They like going without everything entering into common everyday living. They like paying the taxes and all the rest of it. Nobody heard anything about the New Dealers reducing the taxes when the subsidies went out with the OPA. You bet you didn't. All you read of was that all OPA offices and help would be retained. What was the slogan? "The Battle Is On." Well, it didn't amount to much, the Union threat to strike was all that was necessary to scare everyone.
The more abundant life is here with a vengeance, and Washington investigations give ample illustration of it.RENTS?Is there another side to Rents?
Has fair play, the American way, died?I read an advertisement the other day of Organized Labor:
"This is a common fight against a common enemy"....May I timidly ask why any citizen (who has put his savings into a house or a tenement) should be forced to rent at a price that will cause him or her to lose his property? Why class discrimination?This is the very issue about which Organized Labor and some others are howling. Why should good citizens (who have invested their savings - many times from hard labor) be forced to help pay the rent of others? This all looks to me like Socialism - at its best or worst.Of course, any landlord, who is taking advantage of the housing shortage, should be ashamed; but I rise to the defense of the large bulk of honest citizens, those who have saved and built homes and tenements and not wasted them.
I am not a landlord nor do I rent, so my observations are impartial and those of a bystander; but this world wide New Deal theory of getting something for nothing,or out of the air - is most confusing.Let everyone, who is condemning all landlords, reappraise his or her life and ask: "Have I been thrifty? Why haven't I saved to buy a house, as my landlord has?
Why shouldn't I depend on thrift, industry, and ability?"Suppose the "landlord" had not saved and built - where would America be?

Editor of the Star:

What sort of logic is it that explains the confiscation of hundreds of dollars' worth of liquor, the imposition of a fine of $900, and then the return to the culprits of the aforesaid liquor, presumably to sell again? It doesn't make sense. If there is an explanation, I hope it will be offered.

Editor of the Star:

I had a very pleasant surprise today, a little late but still good, 5 copies of the Star, dated from May 24 on. They had been sent to Washington and forwarded to me.
I never thought the day would come when I would give up everything to read the Star but it did and I did. One whole hour reading everything, including the ads and it sure was good to read all the old names and to read your editorials.From some of your letters and columns you are having a housing problem, well as the old saying goes, "You ain't seen nothing". Housing is a word you whisper out here and if you do have a place to live you never give out the address to strangers, you might be murdered for your home.
No children are allowed in houses, out here but no one can answer the question of what you do with youngsters if you already have them. My daughter, Sally, aged 3, varies anywhere from 3 to 6 depending on conditions but still no house!I sent you that newspaper on the Tidal Wave hoping it might prove of interest to you.I waited expectantly on the Atom Bomb hoping I would have something thrilling for you but just a click July 25th is the big day, we expect a water spout a mile high! If anything exciting happens I shall be the Star's Pacific Correspondent and send you all the details.The only thing Honolulu has "The Rock" to most servicemen climate, it is 81 degrees F. here day in and day out. Monotonous, isn't it?The famed Waikiki beach is strictly a press agent's dream. I wouldn't swap any beach on the North Shore, including Revere Beach, for it, even the water doesn't smell salty.We shall return to Winchester, in about 6 months, I hope, and I sure will be glad to be home. I am going to save the Stars because I understand there are a couple of people here from Winchester and I shall find them eventually. So Aloha, from the landOUR DEMOCRACY

A graduate of the University of Wisconsin with the class of 1928 and the Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration in 1930, Mr. Dellicker has had vast experience in civic and charitable work, serving as director of the Good Will Neighborhood House in East Boston, officer in the Greater Boston United War Fund in 1944, and precinct chairman for Winchester in the Greater Boston United War Fund drive in 1946.

He is a lieutenant in the Massachusetts State Guard.

Needlecraft News

by Nancy Baxter

It seems it has finally been settled — hats are definitely here to stay. For the past few seasons a struggle has been going on in the realm of fashion — and all to do with hats. It seemed for a while that hats would be relegated to a future of church going and extra-formal affairs only, and that hatless feminine coifs would be the accepted custom. But after a short-lived hatless vacation, women are once again donning head coverings — and what's more, liking it.

Men may laugh at them — all the while appreciating the effect — but to a woman the right hat is like a tonic. In a hat a woman finds the means of expressing her personality, tastes and individuality. In her choice of other clothes she may be guided by the style trends set by other women, but when it comes to a hat she can feel perfectly free to choose just what appeals to her. Many other wise conservative women, who choose their suits, dresses and coats with an eye to practicality and long-wear, will let themselves go when selecting a hat. And what a wonderful, free feeling they get from this simple act.

Hat styles this year range from smart to adorable, from cute to debonair. There are hats, large and small, to flatter all faces and to go with all hairdos. Most popular are the bonnet shapes which rise to a point in front. Flower circlets which halo the face are becoming and are cool to wear on hot days. And of course, the ever-popular and attractive big picture hat is back — but with a slight variation. This year many of the picture hats have open crowns which are wreathed with flowers. There are many styles from which to choose, but remember that not everyone can wear every style. Choose a hat that "does some thing for you," rather than one that is a popular style but which is unbecoming to you.

Wouldn't you like a fashionable hat and bag set to complement your summer wardrobe? Well, we have just the thing for you today. It's a huge bumper of puffstitch crochet with matching handbag. Sheer veiling holds the hat in place and adds to its flattery. Styled in China blue cotton or any other pastel shade — this set is perfect to wear with your summer suits and dresses. Making your own accessories adds many a dollar to your savings, and what can you lose when the results are as smart as this? Also included on the leaflet are directions for making a looped cosack hat and bag set. You may obtain this direction sheet, called HIGH BUMPER AND BARREL HANDBAG, by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Needlework Department of this paper, asking for Leaflet No. 3517.

Winchester Auxiliary

Shelter, 432 Washington street, Tel. Win. 1674.

June, 1946, cared for 81 cats, many of these young kittens, 7 dogs, 5 placed in homes, 1 squirrel, helped and released, 3 birds, all put to sleep, 1 duck, the muscovy from the river, put to sleep.

This is the third summer the Auxiliary has been working toward the removal of the bridge to the island, on the river near the Town Hall. The Audubon Society tell us, "An island with shrubs and trees is the natural habitat of waterfowl." It would provide a means of protection and an opportunity to raise their little families, instead of the eggs being used for a breakfast food.

The two objections have been "adds to the beauty of the scene" and "dogs that break through the ice could not be saved." Dogs would not be tempted to go to the island, if there were no easy entrance.

Now, the winding river with its beautiful banks on Manchester Field is to change its course, could not the little bridge be removed and our family of ducks be made safe and happy?

NEW MAGAZINE OUT

The first issue of the attractive new magazine "Fare-Way", published by and for the 2500 employees of the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Company, came off the presses today.

Designed in the company's colors of orange and black, "Fare-Way" presents management's thinking, employees relate their important work in the company's total effort, and employer and employee learn that they must advance together against competition.

"Fare-Way" contains news, features, photographs and special articles all beamed at discussion of policies and operations through which the personnel and patrons may become more familiar with the contribution of the system to the 71 communities in which it operates throughout the State.

Walter Howland of Grand Rapids, Mich., a former well known Winchester boy, was in town this week visiting Teddy Mauger. He expects to attend the University of Michigan this fall.

PRE-JULY RAINFALL NEARLY NORMAL

Rainfall in Massachusetts as a whole was but little below normal up to the first of July, according to Mr. Arthur D. Weston, Chief Sanitary Engineer of the State Department of Public Health.

In various sections of the State there were rainfall deficiencies amounting to from one to two inches. In spite of these, however, the water supply reservoirs of Massachusetts were at higher levels than usual for this time of year. Stream flows were either normal or above normal.

During July, rainfall has been considerably less than normal, but so far this has not resulted in any shortages in water supplies any nuisances in the rivers. Even if this rainfall deficiency continues for several months, it is doubtful if water supplies will become dangerously low. Stream conditions may become aggravated, however.

In general, the rainfall has been approximately one month behind since the first of January of this year.

"WASHING" B AND M TRACKS

Winchester on New Machine's Schedule

The job of "washing" 200 miles of the Boston and Maine Railroad's main line tracks on the Fitchburg, Portland and New Hampshire divisions to eliminate accumulated dust and improve drainage thereby providing cleaner and smoother trips for train travelers is now in progress.

A huge "washing machine" which picks up the stone ballast along the tracks, cleans it and then puts it back in place without the aid of manual assistance yesterday started the process along the B and M lines from Johnsonville, N. Y. to Fitchburg. It is the first time that such a machine, of which there are only 5 in the country, has been used in Northern New England.

The project is a part of post-war improvement program of the Boston and Maine by which it plans to make the traveling public even more comfortable while traveling by train.

The cleaner moves along the track at the rate of a mile an hour. Heavy scoops remove the stone ballast 8 inches below the bottom of the rail ties on each end and transfer it to a huge conveyor belt. The ballast and the accumulated dirt and dust is then moved over a series of agitated screens which sift away dirt and dust and then return the cleaned stone ballast to the track. The dirt and dust is thrown in a pile along the banks at the side of the track where it can easily be disposed of.

Cleaning the ballast, an official of the road explained, not only eliminates much of the dust which ordinarily swirls around after the passage of a fast train but also aids greatly in drainage of the tracks providing a smoother ride. He stated that even with rock ballast a considerable amount of dust, wind-laden, gets into the track over a period of years and heretofore it has been necessary to clean ballast by hand-labor, which, he termed, "an exceedingly slow process."

The sections to be cleaned this summer on the Portland Division extend from Boston to North Berwick, Me., and on the New Hampshire Division from Boston to Winchester Highlands, with additional cleaning planned for next season.

Said Committee shall consider all business, whether or not of a financial nature, proposed to be acted upon at all Town Meetings held during the year for which they shall have been appointed, except such matters not involving the finances of the Town as may be referred to other Committees, and shall report at all such meetings, their report on the business proposed to be acted upon at the Annual Town Meeting to be in print, and to be distributed with the Town Warrant. ### McLAUGHLIN WINNER

"Wild Willie" McLaughlin, the Pride of Stow and Champion of all Nabnasset, emerged with championship honors from Wednesday evening's special meeting of the Palmer Beach Horseshoe Association. Mr. McLaughlin, in fine fettle, lost only one game of singles to the Secretary, of all members, who "snuk" in a ringer on Stow's Pride in the second box of the game, before "Willie" was decently warmed up, to surprise the latter so much he never fully recovered.

The game was pitched with the square shoes owned by President Royal "Paper Trade" Teele and they seemed to bother Mr. McLaughlin until he got used to them more than they did his opponent nothing as a general thing affecting the indifferent tenor of the Secretary's game.

The lowly Scribe went on from his astounding victory over Mr. McLaughlin to lead the President 18-12 when their scheduled game of singles was interrupted by the arrival at the beach of Roland "Thin Finger" Pridham.

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR MISS MINNIE T.
SLINEY

St. Joseph's Church in Wakefield was filled last Saturday morning at the solemn requiem high mass celebrated for Miss Minnie T. Sliney, sister of Rev. Fr. Edmund C. Sliney, pastor of the Immaculate Conception Church, who died on Thursday, July 25, in Somerville.

Father Sliney was celebrant of the mass with Rev. Fr. Francis E. Low, S.J., of Boston College, deacon; Rev. Fr. John C. O'Connell, S.J., also of Boston College, subdeacon; and Rev. Fr. James J. McCarthy of St. Joseph's Church, master of ceremonies.

Seated in the sanctuary were Most Rev. Thomas A. Emmett, S.J., Bishop of Jamaica, B. W. I.; Rt. Rev. Florence J. Halloran, LL.D., of St. Joseph's, Wakefield; Rt. Rev. Thomas R. McCoy, of St. Anne's, Somerville; Rt. Rev. Mark C. Driscoll, D. D., of St. Mary's, Dedham; Rt. Rev. Edmund D. Daly of St. Patrick's, Lawrence; Rt. Rev. Francis A. Burke of the Blessed Sacrament, Jamaica Plain; and Rt. Rev. J. T. Creigh, J. U. D., of St. Aidan's, Brookline.

Besides these, 60 priests attended the mass and 16 of the clergy, including three monsignori attended the committal service at St. Patrick's Cemetery in Stoneham where the prayers were read by Father Sliney.

A native of Mitchelltown, County Cork, Ireland, Miss Sliney lived for more than half a century in Wakefield. For the past 20 years she had lived with her brother, Father Sliney, and she was with him at Pearl Harbor when the Japanese attacked on Dec. 7, 1941, at which time he was serving as an Army chaplain and saying mass in a chapel outside Honolulu.

Miss Sliney and her sister, Miss Sadie Sliney, were rushed back to the city in an Army truck and lay comatose in the bushes along the road while Japanese bullets rained around them, killing their driver before their eyes.

Miss Sliney and her sister were sent back to California the following spring and the death of Miss Sadie occurred not long after their arrival. Miss Sliney returned to Wakefield and following her brother's retirement from the Army with the rank of Colonel, joined him once more, coming with him to Winchester when he assumed the pastorate of the Immaculate Conception Parish during the last of December, 1945. She had made her home with him at the rectory on upper Main street until two weeks before her death when she went to Somerville, to the home of her niece, Mrs. James W. Spinney, 2 Homer St.

Besides Father Sliney, the deceased is survived by two brothers, Michael E. Sliney, Major, USA, retired, and John D. Sliney, both living in San Francisco, Cal.

INJURED RIDING ON HANDLE-BARS OF BIKE

Doris Mele, 5, and her sister, Anna Mele, 11 daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Mele of 10 Chapin court came to grief Tuesday forenoon while riding double on a bicycle on Shore road near the bridge over the river.

Anna was giving her sister, Doris, a ride on the handle-bars of the bike when the little girl's foot became caught between the spokes of the front wheel and fork fork, stopping the bike and throwing both children to the ground.

Doris was unable to extricate her foot and one or two bystanders were unable to help her.

The Police were notified and Officer Irving Reardon went to Shore road. With the assistance of Carmine Frongillo of the Health Department, Officer Reardon, with considerable difficulty, got the little girl's foot out from between the fork and wheel. A spoke had broken off and penetrated the foot clearly just below the ankle, and the leg above the ankle was also scraped and cut. Anna, the older girl, sustained cuts on both elbows and knees.

Officer Reardon took both girls in the Police car to the Winchester Hospital where they were attended by Dr. Charles Rooney. X-rays showed that the broken spoke, had fractured a bone in Doris' left foot. The foot had also been badly twisted by being caught in the revolving wheel.

Dr. Rooney treated the injured foot and the girls' cuts, after which they were taken to their home by Officer Reardon.

Swimming Association made a great showing last Saturday in the NEAAU sanctioned Medford championship swimming meet held at Tufts Pool, Coach Helen Jay Carroll was pleased with the work of her charges, especially with that of the girl swimmers who won two of the four events for women as well as placing in both the women's and girls' events.

On the men's side of the meet Bob McGrath finished second, in the ruck of the smooth-stroking Ralph Gossler of Pawtucket, who easily copped the 100 yard freestyle in 55.9s. Bob had a hot fight for second honors with Sam Good, Jr., of Milton and James Fontaine of Gardner.

Winchester dominated the 50 yard race for boys 13 and under, in which there were some 20 entries. Winchester had boys in each heat and all the local swimmers qualified for the final.

Lou Brown beat his team-mate Paul McGowan for first in 31.1s. with another Winchester boy, John Power, third, Gerald Mullen of Wellesey, who did not swim in the heats, not hearing the announcement, was permitted to swim in the final, and finished fourth, ahead of Winchester's Eddie Reynolds and Freddie Wheaton, the latter only 11 years old.

On the Women's side Beverly

Gay, 14 year-old Winchester High sophomore, won the NEAAU 220 yard freestyle event in a three cornered fight with Patricia Whelan of Lexington and team-mate Marge Carroll.

The Lexington entry led at the first turn, but at the end of the first 100 yards the girls were virtually even. At this point Beverly took the lead and held it to the end, winning by about five yards in 3m 20.4s. Marge Carroll, an unexpected entry in this event, was well behind at the half-way mark, but swam well from there in, gradually cutting down the distance between her and Miss Whelan until she just missed catching the Lexington girl in her final surge to the float.

Winchester's other winner was class little Barbara Donaghey, Massachusetts State 100 meter freestyle and New England senior 100 meter freestyle champion, making her first start of the season.

Barbara won her heat in the 100 yard freestyle easily. In the final the field was virtually even at the turn and 25 yards from the finish Barbara and Joanna Berggren of the Metropolitan Swimming Club were tied. Here the Winchester girl turned on the heat and literally swam away from the opposition, winning by a strong five yards in what was an unusual exhibition of finishing power. Her time was 1m 11s. Miss Berggren was second, just edging Louise Sherlock of the Olneyville Boys' Club and Marion Senior of Wanskuk.

In the 50 yard race for younger girls, won by Coralie O'Connor of Worcester, Sally Morgan of Winchester placed third and her team-mate Ann Dillingham, fourth. This was only the second meet for Sally, a 1st year member of the Winchester Swimming Association, and being able to place at Medford was a tribute to her hard work in practice and her perseverance.

Olneyville's Clara Lamore, New England's ace girl swimmer, won both the 100 meter backstroke and 220 yard backstroke events, she being the National champion at the latter distance for that style.

Joe Prata of Wanskuk won the NEAAU senior 440 freestyle and Bill Nutter of Providence Central, the NEAAU junior 100 yard backstroke. Vasil Bellini of Wanskuk won the 100 yard backstroke event.

WINCHESTER GIRLS NORTH SHORE DOUBLES FINAL-ISTS

Frances Keyes and Marjorie Norris were runners-up in women's doubles in the annual North Shore Tennis Championships concluded last Sunday at the Tedesco Country Club in Swampscott.

"Frannie", a former number 1 on the Winchester High School girls tennis team, and "Marnee", this past season's number 1, lost a three-set match in the finals to Mrs. Leighton Wood of Cambridge and Jean Pipes of Wellesey, Miss Pipes winning the women's singles crown with Mrs. Wood as runner-up. The scores indicate well the closeness of the match, and the local girls gave an excellent account of themselves against strong competition.

In women's singles Miss Keyes reached the semi-final round, before bowing to Mrs. Wood, 6-2, 7-5. Miss Pipes beat Mrs. Wood, 6-4, 7-9, 6-2 for the title. In mixed doubles Miss Keyes, paired with Joseph Corish of Cambridge, was beaten in the quarter-finals in two hard-fought 7-5 sets by Jean Davis and Robert Joslin of Attleboro.

ELKS, 8: MALDEN VETS, 2

The veteran Joe McKee pitched the Elks to an 8-2 win over the Malden Vets on Leonard Field last Friday evening, pitching shutout ball after the first frame.

Facing a two-run deficit the Elks went to work in their half of the opener, and Red Noble's homer over the left-field fence put the team out front where McKee kept it for the remainder of the game.

Joe was in good form, holding the opposition to two hits while fanning seven. Robbie Farrell and Perry each garnered two hits out of three times up, Farrell poling out a long triple. The summary:

WINCHESTER GOLFERS WON JAQUES CUP

Martin and Monahan in 3 and 2

Edward Martin and Joe Monahan, Jr., won the Jaques Cup Sunday at The Country Club, de-feating Dick Chapman and Bill Ricker, Jr., of Oyster Harbors, 3 and 2. For Martin, runner-up in the recent state championship, this was the third time he had won the Jaques Cup, he having copped this important trophy in 1937 and 1938, both times with his twin brother, Leo, who lost his life in 1943 while serving with the Navy in the North Atlantic.

Big Ed has made himself a reputation for his playing on the Clyde Park Course and he was on his game Sunday, needing only two pars for a 69 when the match ended. The Oyster Harbors team made a match of it for 13 holes but Martin's birdie four on the 520-yard 14th put him and young Joe one up. His par four won the 15th for his side and just for good measure he garnered the only par three on the 16th to end the match, 3 and 2.

At the early holes Chapman bettered par on the first, second and sixth with Martin scoring birdies on the second, fourth and sixth. From then until Martin's four on the 14th, both teams were even with par.

Martin and Monahan won their way into the final round by beating Ted Norfolk and Dave Sullivan of Norfolk in the semi-finals. The Winchester entrants squared the match at the 15th and both teams had 68s at the end of the regulation 18 holes.

Monahan pulled this match out of the fire when he sank a 12 foot putt for a birdie three on the extra hole.

Chapman and Danforth got into the finals by beating Durham Jones and Franklin Pfaltzer of the Country Club, 2 and 1. Following are the championship round cards:

WINCHESTER SWIMMERS

For the first time in several years Winchester and Woburn swimmers engaged in an inter-beach meet last week Thursday. Winchester winning by the close day of 23-19. Woburn had no girls swimmers so the Winchester girls competed among themselves.

So many local boys wanted to compete that Coach Helen Jay Carroll had to swim preliminary events to determine her starters against the visitors.

The meet was held at the Leonard Field pool and local youngsters acted as officials, turning in a very creditable job. The summary:

The town authorities are having more or less trouble with swimming at the public beaches after closing hours, and last week-end one night a complaint came in at Headquarters of a noisy crowd at Palmer Beach shortly before midnight. Officers John Dolan and Henry Dempsey went to the beach, finding three Arlington youths and a Somerville boy swimming there. Their names were taken and they were ordered off the premises, the registration of the auto in which they came to the beach being taken also.

The Committee on Veterans' Housing has been quite surprised to find so few contacting its members for advice and assistance. They feel that there must be many more veterans in Winchester who have housing problems than the relative few who have answered letters sent out by the committee. It is possible that many veterans feel that they cannot build or buy homes now. A great many should not try to. There are, however, very probably a number of veterans interested in securing homes who have not brought their interest or needs to the attention of the committee, and they should do so as soon as possible. The committee wants to help all it can, but with the best will in the world it cannot help any one it does not know about. Getting in contact with the committee is the veteran's responsibility. Perhaps the committee can do nothing to help. It should however have, and indeed wants, the chance to try to be of service to the veteran wanting a home, but solving the housing problem is a cooperative enterprise. The committee cannot do it all.

If you have nothing on for tomorrow afternoon, and even if you have, why not take a couple of hours and go up to Leonard Field pool and see the NEAAU swimming meet that Beach Supervisor Helen Carroll has brought to Winchester. It is a pretty safe bet that a large percentage of Winchester's taxpayers have never seen Leonard Field Pool, said by those who know to be one of the best outdoor racing courses in New England. It is another safe wager that few interested in sports realize the long strides Winchester has made in swimming during the past few years under the inspiration of that same Helen Carroll. A visit to the pool tomorrow afternoon will surprise you. You will see some of the best competitive swimmers in New England, including the National Champion, Clara Lamore from Olneyville. You will see a Winchester champion, Barbara Donaghey, defend her Massachusetts State 100 meter crown against strong competition. It really is, in sporting parlance, "a good take", and continuing in the vernacular, "all for nuff".

ELKS LOST AT MILFORD, N. H.

Despite Bob Farrell's 13 strikeouts, the Winchester Elks, with a patched-up team, lost a 4-2 decision to the Milford Town Team Sunday afternoon at Milford, N. H. Each team got nine hits, but three of the Milford safeties were for extra bases. The summary:

Tuesday morning Assistant District Attorney Ephraim Martin handled the case for the prosecution, introducing large size fingerprints taken in the Ardley road house and comparing them with prints taken by Officer Haggerty and some of the suspect taken from Police files.

He also presented some ten witnesses for the prosecution, including the victim of the alleged assault and neighbors who testified to entering the Ardley road house on the night of July 9 and to the condition in which it found the victim. The victim's physician also testified to her condition, and two boys who secured the number of the car were also put on the stand. A housewife testified that the car the suspect was driving when he was picked up by Officer Haggerty was similar to the one she saw near the Ardley road house on the night of the alleged assault, and both Officer Roll of Woburn and Officer Haggerty of Winchester added their testimony.

The suspect entered a plea of "not guilty". He had no attorney, handling his case himself and questioning some of the witnesses for the prosecution. The court-room was cleared of spectators during the case.

The alleged assault has created quite a stir in Winchester, especially in the neighborhood in which it took place.

The victim was taking care of children, in the absence of their parents on the night when the trouble occurred. Police say the young man entered the house, his face masked, and first demanded money. After demanding money he seized the girl who resisted his advances and was badly beaten. Her clothes were torn from her in the struggle which was waged on the first floor and up the stairs to the second floor of the house.

The girls' screams attracted neighbors and frightened her assailant, who escaped in a car. Police allege the number of the escape car was secured by some boys and a good description was also given them by others. These facts with the fingerprints and the record of the suspect, which includes a conviction on a charge similar to that being pressed here have proved sufficient to permit the authorities to have the young man held in $25,000 for appearance before the Grand Jury.

GARVEY BACK WITH RECORD CATCH

School Committee man Leo F. Garvey of Allen road has returned with his family from a vacation at West Alton, N. H., and yesterday afternoon dropped in at the Star Office sporting a fine coat of tan and adorned with proof of the fact that he hooked the best looking fish taken in those parts in the last 12 years.

Leo of course didn't figure his associates in Winchester would believe any such story, especially "Doc" Emery, who knows a bit about fishing down Owl's Head way and is withal hard to convince.

Leo's story is that while he and Arthur Rollins, superintendent of schools at Plymouth, N. H., were boat fishing off Look Cove in Winesaukee between Alton Bay and West Alton he hooked a giant lake trout, 26 inches long and weighing seven pounds.

From his natty jacket Leo produced a folded light blue paper, such as architects sometimes use for specifications. Upon this there appeared what Leo loosely designated as a "tracing" of the catch, complete with blood stains and a scale or two for realism. The Star Office ruler will attest to the 26 inches and your reporter to the fact that the fish, on paper, at least, is an awesome sight.

Whether, of course, "Doc" Emery will be convinced remains to be seen. Leo says he brought down some movies to assist him to this end, but even his wasn't sure of the outcome. He claims he caught the fish with his own special bait, made from a gins bottle stopper (wood-top model preferred), striped with yellow and decorated with two red rooster feathers and strips of bacon for a tail. The whole mounted to get swifly action? He says a fish got tired of the same old thing in the bait line, and it may be he is right. We don't fish, so we wouldn't know.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Paine, 3rd of Brantwood road are the parents of a second child, a daughter, Carolyn Leslie Paine, born July 18 at the Winchester Hospital. Mrs. Paine is the former Dolly Coss, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Coss of Salem street. Mrs. Robert S. Paine, also of this town, is the paternal grandmother.

SWIMMING MEET

time since the war, with Dot (Leonard) Gallagher, former swim star, in charge.

Coach Carroll is entering a large number of Winchester Swimming Club members in the events for entrants 13 and under, and her charges have been doing well in these classes. Lexington is sending over a team of nine to the meet and Woburn has also entered two swimmers.

Matt Loiko of Olneyville and Joe Prata of Wanskuck are among the outstanding male natators who will compete and Wanskuck is also sending up its four Senior Sisters who are among the good New England swimmers, with Louise Sherlock of Olneyville, Pauline Silver of Providence Central and Joanne Bergeron of the Metropolitan Swimming Club. It will be the first time these swimmers have competed in such admittedly fast company and Coach Carroll is eager to see what her charges can do against top-notchers.

An added attraction will be "Water Fun", an exhibition of rhythmic swimming by seven girls of the Winchester Swimming Club, Lynn Aitkens, Marge Carroll, Ann Dillingham, Beverly Gay, Betty MacIsaac, Joan Morgan and Sally Morgan, directed by Edith Dover, Winchester's new Red Cross swimming instructor and Massachusetts State College swimming team member.

The meet will start promptly at 3 o'clock.

SONS OF ITALY MAGAZINE
LAUDS WINCHESTER LODGE

The current issue of the Sons of Italy Magazine, published by the Grand Lodge of Massachusetts speaks in terms of highest praise of the work done by the crack degree team of Winchester Lodge at the State convention held in June in Gloucester. In referring to the local team the paper says:

"Those who were privileged to see the Winchester degree team in action on Convention Sunday saw something they will not soon forget. In the initiation ceremonies of new members into the Gloucester Ladies' Lodge, as well as in the installation of the Gloucester Junior Girls' Lodge, the degree team performed like clock work. In full regalia, serious and impressive, they must have inspired all those present and made them feel that it would be a fine thing for the Lodges to train a team of its own for degree work. The new members got pagantry, oratory, earnestness and love for the United States and Italy all at one session. They must have felt proud to have become members of the Sons of Italy in America. The officers of the Gloucester Junior Lodge reflected in their conduct the fine and effective way the degree team explained to them the duties of their several offices."

Elsewhere in the same issue the editorial writer of the paper confesses his inability to decide which is the number one lodge of the State, Winchester, Milford, or Worcester. This is another real honor for Winchester, a relatively young lodge, and much smaller than either of the others mentioned, both of which have memberships in excess of 1000.

Winchester's degree team has been honored with the assignment of installing the State Grand Lodge officers at an installation ceremony to be held Aug. 15 at the Hotel Bradford in Boston.

Three more notches on the gun-butt of the Lodge softball team, Indian's boys, beating the Pizza Club of Revere, 8-2, the Ten Old Men, 4-2; and the Woburn K of C, 10-0. The club now has 19 wins, two losses and a tie for a winning percentage of .855.

Our next regular monthly meeting will be held on Monday, Aug. 5 at 7:30 p. m. at Columbus Hall, Winchester.

There will be a discussion on an appropriation for a mattress for the Winchester Hospital. Please do not fail to attend.

for Webster to start preliminary football practice at Bartlett High the last of the month.

One engagement which his team has this autumn is one to which "Frankie" is looking forward with mingled emotions. The third game on his schedule is with Pomfret School, coached by his boyhood mentor, Wendell Mansfield, who incidentally had plenty to do with his former pupil handling the Bartlett job.

Mansfield, with several years experience in the college ranks and a close student of the game for over 20 years, has done an outstanding job at Pomfret, and it would be a great feather in the coaching cap of his former pupil if he could beat his old coach this fall. He will be in there trying and whichever way the chips fall a great guy will be the winner.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Lilly of Philadelphia, Pa., are the parents of a daughter, Gretchen, born July 28 at Bryn Mawr Hospital. Mrs. Lilly is the former Nancy Wilbur, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Wilbur of Swan road. The paternal grand-parents are Mr. and Mrs. George A. Lilly of Washington, D. C.

Freedom From Drudgery

According to a national survey, more families want refrigerators than any other household labor-saving device. Next in order are washing machines, vacuum cleaners, cooking ranges, irons, toasters, food mixers, home freezers, ironers and dishwashers. Women are planning to have all the efficiency in their kitchens that modern science can give them, and it's an excellent idea, for a kitchen is a woman's office or workshop and deserves to be well-outfitted in order to get the best results. If you are going to finance improvements of this kind, a bank loan offers a convenient and economical method of doing so. If you want to borrow enough to cover the cost of several appliances which you can afford to pay for out of income, borrow the money here.

CAR CRASHED LIGHT POLE

Lights Out Following Accident Friday Evening

Lights in several homes in the vicinity of Highland avenue and Mystic Valley Parkway, and about 20 lights along the Parkway were out last Friday evening after a Lincoln Zephyr, driven by Louis Macinanti, 16, of 41 Conn street, Woburn, crashed into an Edison Light pole on Mt. Vernon street about 25 feet from the intersection of the Parkway and Highland avenue shortly after 7 o'clock.

According to the Police young Macinanti was heading south on Highland avenue, and making a right turn into Mt. Vernon street. He crashed head-on into the pole, snapping it off and badly damaging the car.

The car was owned by Lentonio Macinanti of 41 Conn street, Woburn and the operator was driving on the license of George W. Abreu of 27 Arlington street, Woburn, who was with him in the machine. He and Macinanti were taken by a passing motorist to the Winchester Hospital, from which, after receiving first aid, they were taken to the office of a Woburn physician by Sgt. Joseph Derro and Officer John Hogan.

Abreu sustained lacerations about the face, but his injuries were not believed serious, and so far as was learned Macinanti was only shaken up. The car in which they were riding had to be towed to Bonnell's Garage.

INJURED AS CAR HIT TRUCK

Bertram E. Cass of 63 Claremont avenue, Arlington, well known to many in Winchester through his long association with the Arlington Gas Light Company, sustained injuries to his head and chest Tuesday afternoon at 1:30 when the Chevrolet sedan he was driving south on Cambridge street was in collision with a parked Dodge milk truck, owned by the Bates Farm of Carlisle and in charge of Richard B. Bates, Jr., of that address.

Both the automobile and truck were so badly damaged they had to be towed away. Officer William Haggerty was dispatched to the scene of the accident and upon arrival telephoned in for the Police ambulance, in which Mr. Cass was taken to the Winchester Hospital by Officer James F. Noonan. He was treated at the hospital by Dr. Philip J. McManus.

Mr. Cass was unable to account for the accident. The right front side of his car was completely wrecked, as was the rear end of the truck. Twelve cases of empty milk bottles were broken and strewn about the roadway.

BOG FIRE AT RUSSELL'S

The alarm from Box 7-7-262 at 12:30 Monday afternoon was for a bog fire at Russell's, between Town way and Border road. Only a small piece was burning but the fire ate its way into the peaty soil to a depth of four feet in places and the firemen finally had to lay 1000 feet of hose and soak the ground thoroughly to put out the smoldering flames.

Besides this run there was a brush fire on Cemetery land at 2:45 and at 3:30 a grass fire at Sandy Beach on Mystic Lake.

ADAMS BACK AT CORNELL

Captain Arthur S. Adams, U. S. N. R., son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Adams of Mystic avenue, has been released from active duty in the Navy and has returned to Cornell at Ithaca, N. Y., where he is provost of the University. At present, in the absence of the president he is virtually the head of the institution "above Cayuga's waters."

During the war Captain Adams headed the Navy's V-12 program with headquarters in Washington. A graduate of Annapolis, he served in World War I as commander of a submarine, retiring from the service following the cessation of hostilities because of impaired health.

He went west and after some high school teaching joined the faculty at Colorado College of Mines, doing exchange teaching at University of California. He received his appointment to Cornell shortly before World War II, during which he was recalled by the Navy to active duty with the rank, first of commander and finally as a full "four-striper."

Captain Adams is a graduate of Winchester High School, class of 1913. Before being appointed to Annapolis he attended Norwich University.

CAPTAIN RALPH AMBROSE HOME

Captain Ralph T. Ambrose, U. S. A., son of Mrs. M. C. Ambrose of Vine street, arrived home last week-end after being overseas since September, 1944, seeing service in the European Theatre with the famed 42nd Combat Team, made up of Japanese-Americans, the most highly decorated unit in the war, with the added distinction of not having a single member of court martial or A. W. O. L.

Captain Ambrose saw active service in the Vosges Mountains in France and in Italy. He was awarded the coveted Silver Star for Gallantry in Action in Italy in April, 1944, and also wears the Distinguished Unit Badge and Combat Infantryman's Badge.

Captain Ambrose graduated from Winchester High School, winning letters in football and baseball. He graduated from Boston College, took his A. M. there and was working at Filene's in Boston before entering the service. A brother, Col. Harold F. Ambrose of Washington, D. C., was recently released from war service with the Adjutant General's office in the War Department.

MOVE TO HAVE MOTOR VEHICLES OFFICE IN WOBURN

Winchester motorists, and local insurance agents will learn with interest of the campaign being waged to have a branch office of the Registry of Motor Vehicles located in Woburn for the convenience of automobile owners and operators of the Mystic Valley as well as insurance brokers serving motorists or this district.

License tests are now given and have been for some time, one day each week in Woburn, but the inspectors assigned to this work can transact no other business and those who for one reason or another must visit the Registry have to go either to Boston, Malden or Lowell.

Those who are advocating a branch office for Woburn contend that there are enough motorists in Woburn, Winchester, Stoneham, Reading, Burlington and Wilmington to warrant the establishment of a branch of the Registry in Woburn, which is a natural shopping center for much of this district. They point to the location of the State Employment Office in Woburn as well as the War Price and Rationing Board there as added argument that Woburn is a focal point for Mystic Valley communities.

SELECTMEN'S NOTES

Daniel F. Delorey of 101 Harvard street has been appointed a special police officer.

The board is well aware that the Congregational Church clock has been keeping very irregular time lately, and investigation is being made as to the prospects for putting it in running order, all four faces.

In view of the fact that local Traders' Days are not legal holidays in Massachusetts, the town hall will not be closed on Aug. 7. The last day to file applications for fire examinations is Aug. 9 at 5 p. m.

HOUSING COMMITTEE MET WITH VETERANS

The Winchester Veterans Housing Committee met Wednesday evening at the Public Library with a group of veterans who, in response to letters addressed them by the committee, had expressed an interest in the housing problem. About 20 veterans' families were represented and the meeting indicated considerable interest, questions being asked by the veterans and their wives and answered as far as possible.

The committee explained its plans for two types of single house and one duplex type to be erected on town-owned land. Mr. Frank Horn of Winchester, representing a Boston firm of architects, but working personally on plans and specifications for veterans houses in Winchester, was at the meeting to explain the technicalities of the various designs and to answer any questions.

The veterans and their families present were asked to express their preference both as to design and to location. A distinct preference for single houses was expressed. Actual plans and specifications were available at the meeting, and the veterans were also assured by the Committee that they might be able to use their own plans and specifications if they wished to procure them and submit them to the committee for approval.

The committee repeated its invitation to the veterans at the meeting and urged all other veterans interested in housing to

VOTED, That Section 2 of Article II of the Town By-Laws be amended by striking out said section and inserting in place thereof the following:
Sect. 2. There shall be a Finance Committee consisting of fifteen voters, none of whom shall be Town Officers. In 1947 five members shall be appointed for a term of one year, five members shall be appointed for a term of two years, and five members shall be appointed for a term of three years and thereafter five members shall annually be appointed for a term of three years. All members shall hold office until their successors have been duly appointed. Appointments shall be made within thirty days after final dissolution of each Annual Representative Town Meeting, by an appointing Committee consisting of the following officers in office on the day next preceding the Annual Town Election, namely, the Moderator, the Chairman of the Finance Committee, and the Chairman of the Board of Selectmen, or the survivors of them. Said Committee shall consider all business, whether or not of a financial nature, proposed to be acted upon at all Town Meetings held during the year for which they shall have been appointed, except such matters not involving the finances of the Town as may be referred to other Committees, and shall report at all such meetings, their report on the business proposed to be acted upon at the Annual Town Meeting to be in print, and to be distributed with the Town Warrant. Said Committee shall have power to fill, for the unexpired terms, vacancies occurring during the year, and shall have power to expend such sum as may be appropriated therefor.
I hereby certify that the foregoing is a true copy of an amendment to the General By-Laws adopted by the Town of Winchester, Mass., at the Special Representative Town Meeting held on June 13, 1946, and approved by the Attorney General of Massachusetts on July 9, 1946.

communicate with the Committee in writing at the Public Library, telling how the Committee can be helpful. This done, a definite date will be set when the Committee will meet with the writer and discuss his individual problem.

In response to a direct question the Committee stated that once actual construction is commenced the houses it proposes to erect should be ready in about four months. The Committee stressed the fact that it does not propose to erect a shack type of house, but is interested only in a livable type of dwelling in which both the occupant and community can take pride.

LOOK AT IT

from this angle

It costs a lot more these days to provide transportation service. Gas and oil bills are up 130% over 1941. Maintenance costs have more than doubled.

To improve our service to you, we must replace hundreds of outworn buses as quickly as new ones can be secured. We now have 430 new buses on order, representing an expenditure of $5,650,000.

Our tire bill has increased by over 70%. Taxes have tripled.

Wages of operating and maintenance forces, recently increased, will add an estimated $1,750,000 to our annual payroll under the new schedules.

To continue to maintain and to improve service under today's conditions is a serious problem. Income shows but little increase. Costs have sky-rocketed. Yet fares are at the same level as in 1928.

"DAYS OF YORE"

Clippings From The STAR Files

25 YEARS AGO

August 12, 1921

The flower beds on the Common have seldom been more attractive than they are this summer. Mr. Alex MacDonald is to be congratulated on his excellent taste and the care given to the towns public plots, including the river banks and the island.

Chief David H. DeCourcy of the fire department held up the contractor who is constructing the state road along Cambridge street, last week when he opened up blasting operation on the ledge at Pond street. No permit had been secured of the Town for blasting, and operations were halted until the necessary bond had been filed to cover possible damage.

The blasting at the ledge on Cambridge street near Pond street threw Jerry Gaine of Pond street last week it is reported. The gates on the east side of the town crossing in the center were out of commission yesterday through the breaking of the operating chain.

Monday, Aug. 15th, the Italian residents of Winchester will conduct their annual observance of the Feast of the Assumption.

A heavy south bound freight train was wrecked in the center last night at about 8:22 when the wheel on a heavily loaded tank car either broke or jumped the track at the switch just north of the crossing. Four cars, three loaded with strips of hard pine flooring were left in a tangle at the south end of the crossing, the gates and standards at the crossing were swept away with a broom and one of the large maple trees at the walk on Common street cut down as though by a knife.

That no one was killed or even injured was a miracle. All who were in the path of the wreckage saw the crash coming and had time to run, even the passengers of their autos standing at the gates jumping from their cars and reaching safety.

The second of the series of water sports and races at the Winchester Boat Club is to be held tomorrow afternoon in the bay at the Club house.

Daily Philosophy

The best of men are sometimes worsted — and that's by the way no yarn.

Silly people are usually happy, but not all happy people are silly.

Ever notice how willing people are to assist you — when you are not in need of help.

Where a man accepts the advice of a friend and fails, he never

MARYKNOLL CERTIFICATE TO FLEMINGS

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Fleming of 216 Pond street, have received the hand engraved certificate of Perpetual Membership in Maryknoll Missionary Society and wish to extend their sincerest gratitude to the friends and neighbors who enrolled them.

A Spiritual Bouquet was tendered to the couple on the occasion of their 26th wedding anniversary on June 26th last by 39 of their friends while the certificate was being prepared.

Mrs. Fleming who is in very poor health is deeply touched by the thoughtfulness of the friends of Maryknoll in Winchester and Woburn who enjoyed many card parties at her home in the furtherance of the Maryknoll cause.

Talking Machines Repaired, Herbert B. Kellogg, 34 Cleveland street, Arlington, Mass.

50 YEARS AGO

Aug. 7, 1896

Band concerts are popular in Winchester. The large crowd of Friday evening demonstrated that fact.

It is reported that the West End road is trying to secure a loop road from Arlington to Winchester and thence to Medford, connecting at the other end with Boston cars.

The grade crossing question at the center has stirred up much interest.

Boston is threatened with a water famine. The Winchester supply, as usual, is abundant.

The smart shower of Wednesday gladdened the hearts of many who were suffering from the extreme heat. The cool air afterwards was decidedly bracing.

The people who are interested in the Lancaster elevated road company, which has applied for a charter in Boston and is bidding against the West End and the Lynn and Boston companies for the use of the subway, hint that their scheme contemplates a fusion of interests of practically all the suburban railway companies operating near and running through Boston. Suburbanites, however, have heard pleasing suggestions like these before, and they are not so credulous now as they used to be.

During the next ten years Middlesex County will be entitled to 47 members in the House of Representatives — 10 more than at present.

The underbrush on the shores of the North Reservoir has been cleaned up, making a great improvement in the appearance of the large pond.

Mr. Walter Marsh moved this week into his elegant and sightly house, corner of High and Cambridge streets. What nature does not exhibit from this house is hardly worth seeking elsewhere.

The Selectmen Monday evening granted permission to place poles on Forest street and also Main street towards Wolcott.

The Winchester's defeated the Daytons of Melrose in a close and exciting game of ten innings by a score of 6 to 5.

The band concert on the common last Friday evening brought together an immense crowd of people — probably a thousand.

ALL WINCHESTER FINAL AT TEDESCO

With "Marnee" Norris meeting "Ruthie" Murray, the finals of junior girl singles in the annual North Shore Junior Tennis Tournament at Tedesco in Swampscott will be an all Winchester affair. Both "Marnee" and "Ruthie" played No. 1 on the Winchester High School unbeaten tennis team this past season, "Ruthie" starting the season there and "Marnee" finishing up.

In the semi-finals at Tedesco Miss Norris beat Elaine Brackley of Brattleboro, Vt., 6-3, 6-2, while Miss Murray vanquished another Winchester girl and high school tennis team member, Ann Abree, in a hard fought match, 6-3, 10-8.

On the boy's side of play, Winchester's Bob Halstead, player-manager of Winchester High's State Championship tennis team this year, reached the semi-final round by beating Charles Thompson of Brookline 10-8, 2-6, 6-2.

Bill von Rosenzweig, playing out of Annapolis, reached the second round in junior boys' singles before being eliminated and Alice Seager, playing from Gloucester, was also in the early rounds of younger girls' play.

C. D. OF A. NOTES

Final plans are being completed for the bus ride to Nantasket on Thursday, Aug. 15. Buses will leave Swanton and Main streets at 10 a. m. Will proceed to Washington street and pick up passengers at St. Mary's School, making a final stop at Winchester Square at the corner of Mt. Vernon street at 10.20 a. m.

WELLES—BURR

Miss Elizabeth Aspinwall Burr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Aspinwall Burr of Central street, and Rogers Galt Welles, son of Lt. Col. and Mrs. Paul Welles of Lexington, Va., were married on Saturday evening, Aug. 3, at Ripley Memorial Chapel of the First Congregational Church. Rev. Howard J. Chidley, D. D., pastor, performed the ceremony at 7 o'clock, and the bridal music was played by Mrs. George Lendrov Witham of Winchester. The chapel altar was decorated with candles and white gladioli, combined with palms and ferns, and the family pews were tied with large white satin bows.

Miss Burr was given in marriage by her father. She wore a gown having a bodice and peplum of ivory lace with long pointed sleeves and a skirt of duchess satin extending to form a cathedral-length train. Her matching full-length veil was caught to a tangle of rose point, and her flowers were a cascade of stephanotis centered with white orchids.

Miss Suzanne B. Burr of Winchester was her sister's maid of honor, and another sister, Mrs. Merton E. Ober, Jr., of Winchester, was one of the four bridesmaids, the others being Miss Frances Keyes of Winchester, Miss Janet Ober of Beacon Hill, Boston; and Miss Betsey Jane Nichols of Weston.

The honor maid wore a white dress, having a bodice of embroidered net with a key-hole neckline and a full skirt of net. Her Colonial bouquet, combining blue delphinium and red roses with babies' breath, was tied with long blue streamers reaching the hem of her skirt, and she wore a coronet of the same flowers. The bridesmaids wore dresses and coronets like those of the honor maid and carried the same bouquets tied with long blue streamers.

Paul Welles of Charlotte, N. C., was best man for his brother and the usher corps included two more brothers, Lt. John Galt Welles of Quantico, Va., and Francis Raymond Welles of Amherst. Others were Merton E. Ober, Jr., of Winchester, brother-in-law of the bride and Walter Rose of Taunton.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, the receiving line standing in the living-room in front of the fireplace which was banked with boxwood and white gladioli. Refreshments were served in a marquee on the grounds at the rear of the house.

Mr. and Mrs. Welles will honeymoon for three weeks on the Cape and then go on for a week at Princeton, N. J. They will make their home in Lexington, Va., where the bridegroom will attend Washington and Lee University.

The bride is a graduate of the Chandler School in Boston. Mr. Welles attended Episcopal High School in Alexandria, Va., Virginia Military Institute and Cornell University before entering the Marine Corps. He and his bride are both members of the Marine Corps reserve, having recently been discharged from active service as officers in the corps.

MISS LAWSON ENGAGED TO MR. CLARE

Mr. and Mrs. Erland F. Lawson of 75 Dunster Lane, announce the engagement of their daughter, Mildred O. to Mr. Frank J. Clare, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Clare of 443B Massachusetts avenue, Lexington, Mass.

Miss Lawson is a graduate of Winchester High School and is employed by the John Hancock Life Insurance Company of Boston.

Mr. Clare is a graduate of Lexington High School and attended Wentworth Institute. After seven years service with the United States Navy he was recently discharged.

An October wedding is planned.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Raymond of 209 Highland avenue, announce the engagement of their daughter, Patricia Mary to Robert C. Costa, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Costa of Rockport, Mass.

Mr. Costa is a veteran of three years overseas service in the Army and is employed as a passenger agent with United Air Lines, Inc., at Logan International Air Port, East Boston.

Dr. Milton J. Quinn is taking the month for a rest and vacation.

MCGRATH WINS 220 YARD JUNIOR CROWN

Lamore Double Winner—Barbara Donaghey Trails in State 100

Winchester's Bob McGrath gave the big Winchester delegation a thrill last Saturday afternoon when he easily annexed the NEAAU Junior 220 yard freestyle championship in the sanctioned swimming meet held at Leonard Field Pool under the joint auspices of the Boston American-Record and the Winchester Park Department.

Clara Lamore, ace girl swimmer from Olneyville, won both the open 100 meter back-stroke and breast-stroke events for women, being the only double winner. Louise Sherlock, Lamore's running mate from Olneyville, won the women's junior 300 meter individual medley and Joanna Berggren of the Metropolitan Swimming Club took the Mass. State 100 meter title away from Winchester by beating the defending champ, little Barbara Donaghey. Winchester girls were shut out in the 50 meters event for girls 13 and under, the winner being Helen O'Neill of the Bunker Hill Girls' Club.

To make up for this Winchester boys made a clean sweep of the 13 year old event on the men's side with Paul McGowan leading home teammates Lou Brown and John Power. Fred Wheaton gave Winchester a second in the 50 meter for boys 11 and under, with Newton's Bill Gray out front and Jim Lucas of Woburn in third place.

Carl Paulson, tall ex-sailor from Boston University and Providence annexed the NEAAU senior 880 yard freestyle event, going out front at the end of the first lap and winning easily. Joe Pratt, Wanskuk Boys Club entry from Providence, had nearly half a lap over the field in the National Junior 300 meters individual medley championship event.

The most exciting event of the afternoon was the women's 300 yard medley, in which Louise Sherlock of Olneyville built up a big early lead, Pauline Silven of Providence Central, however, came slowly up over the final 100 yard freestyle swimming until she was at the winner's shoulder with 10 yards to go. The two girls lunged into the float together, but Miss Sherlock's outstretched hand reached it first. Only a tenth of a second separated the pair.

WINCHESTER FAMILY VISITS WHITE MOUNTAINS WITH "LIFE"

Winchester readers of last week's "Life" Magazine were especially interested to recognize their fellow townsman, "Ed" Sherburne, Jr., of Hancock street, his wife, Betty and small daughter, Gayla in several of the cuts illustrating the article, "Life Visits the White Mountains."

"Ed", son of Mr. and Mrs. "Ray" Sherburne of Bacon street, is first-born with his family smiling at the camera from the funny little many-windowed round car of the aerial tramway on the way to the top of Cannon Mountain.

"Life" rather features little Gayla's trip to the mountains, showing her first while visiting with Fred Berry, Indian stuffed bobcat. Another cut shows Gayla, bracing herself against the angle of the cog railway as she looks out the front door of the single car on the way up Mt. Washington.

Gayla is also shown, so, in her bathing-suit, while gingerly balancing her feet in the icy waters of the Pemigewasset River at the Basin in Franconia Notch, and finally, peering through a big telescope while mom and dad point out the "Old Man of the Mountains", the great 40 ft. stone face, which projects from the side of Cannon Mountain.

In all the pictures, with the exception of the one in which she is, teaching out doubtfully to touch the remarkably lifelike mounted bobcat, Gayla looks as if she was thoroughly enjoying her visit with "Life" in the White Mountain fairland.

Ed. Note—Many persons especially enjoy "Life's" famous "visits" here, there and everywhere, showing all sorts of people doing all sorts of things, people some recognize personally and others recognize as prototypes for themselves or their friends. This last week it was Winchester's turn to have the pleasure of seeing its own in a big time magazine. Next week some other community, probably far distant, may recognize some of "Life's" visitors" as sure-enough home-town folks!

TONY DETESO

FORMER WINCHESTER STAR NAMED ASSISTANT COACH AT TUFTS

Tony DeTeso, great little Winchester High School center and football captain in 1934, has been appointed one of the assistants to Coach "Fish" Ellis at Tufts College. A graduate of Tufts this year, with the degree of A. R., Tony is going back to Tufts for his master's degree, and will combine his coaching duties with his academic work. Eventually he plans to teach, and it is a safe bet, coach. Tony will make the second Winchester boy on the Tufts football staff this fall and strangely enough his running-mate, Line Coach Andy Lentine, was also a star center while at Winchester High and captain of the team in 1933. Both were super-performers in all departments of play and DeTeso's durability for a boy of his pounds and inches was something to wonder at all ways.

Despite the fact that he probably never approached 150 pounds while in college, Tony was the regular

Announcement of these events was made by Gladys Wilcox of Arlington, who is well known to many in Winchester through her golfing at the Winchester Country Club. She scripts the programs for the Women's Radio Journal.

The Fire Department had an unusual call Wednesday evening at 6:44 when an electric piano was reported afire at the new home of Mr. Harold F. Meyer at 16 Everett avenue. The men found a motor in the instrument afire, but aside from that done the motor itself little damage was done.

Mrs. Lowell R. Smith is at the Peter Bent Brigham Hospital, where she will remain for the next two weeks for observation.

A LETTER OF GRATITUDE

Hoofdstaat 115
Kunne, Holland
Dear Ladies,

From the H. A. R. C. I received a parcel which contained a coat for my boy of sixteen, woolen mittens, a blouse and a shirt for my little girl of eight. In the mittens, I found the name of your committee. I must tell you how very thankful and how glad I am for the clothes for my children. I darn, sew and mend the whole evening but our old clothes are every moment out of order again. You can hardly understand the gladness of a mother when her children receive such solid and fine clothes.

Yours sincerely,
A. Steenbeck-loe

FREDERIC L. BUCKMASTER

Frederic L. Buckmaster of 308 Chestnut street, Lynnfield Center, a former resident widely known in the Highlands district, died late Monday afternoon at a nursing home in Reading following more than a year's illness. He was 96 years old, having been born Mar. 3, 1850.

Mr. Buckmaster was a native of Little Creek, Delaware. The Civil War took place during his boyhood and he could recall many of the stirring events that took place during the conflict between the states. He had the usual public school education and as a young man learned the electrician's trade, being associated all of his active lifetime with the Westinghouse Electric Company.

For many years he was with the company's Wilmington, Delaware, plant, making his home in that city until he came to Winchester in 1920. At that time he was transferred to the Company's plant at South Boston.

During his stay in Winchester he made his home at 38 Brookside avenue, being active in the community life of the Highlands and especially interested in the welfare of the Second Congregational church, then located on Cross street.

For years Mr. Buckmaster served the Second Congregational Society as deacon, and he was one of the moving spirits in the campaign which led to the erection of the present new church building on Washington street at the corner of Kenwin road, serving as chairman of the church building committee. During all his life he was interested in the church and in church buildings, and he had participated in campaigns to build several in Delaware before coming to Winchester. Possessed of a philosophy which permitted a full enjoyment of life, he was a man who was always young in spirit and to a remarkable extent in appearance, until the very end of an exceptionally long and useful life.

Mr. Buckmaster left Winchester in 1942, going to Lynnfield to make his home there with his son, Winfred K. Buckmaster, master mechanic at the Boston Navy Yard. Besides his son, he leaves a son, Edwin, who like his father is associated with Westinghouse at Charlotte, N. C. There are also surviving two grandchildren and two great-grandchildren, as well as a sister, Miss Sally Buckmaster, who is 94 and makes her home in Wilmington, Del.

Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at 3.30 at the Second Congregational Church with Rev. Elton Kennedy Bassett, minister of the North Congregational Church in Woburn, officiating. Organ music was played by Mrs. George H. Lochman, church organist.

Burial was in Wilmington, Delaware where committal services were held on Thursday.

CUT WHILE SWIMMING AT LEONARD

Sunday afternoon shortly before 5 o'clock Roger Haggerty, 16, of 12 Baldwin street, sustained a bad cut on the big toe of his left foot while swimming at Leonard Field Beach.

He was taken by Officers Irving Reardon and William Haggerty to the Winchester Hospital and treated there by Dr. Harry Benson.

CLARENCE S. DADE

Clarence S. Dade, a former resident of Winchester and father of Waldo M. Dade of Park avenue and Ernest B. Dade of Hillcrest parkway, died Sunday, Aug. 4, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Viola D. Belt, 9 Morgan street, Melrose, after a short illness. Until he became ill he had lived with his son, Waldo, in Winchester since the death of his wife June 18, 1942.

Mr. Dade was born June 21, 1863 in Chelsea. As a boy he lived in Nova Scotia, returning to this country at the age of 16 and settling in Boston. At that time he went to work for the Adams Express company, but in 1884, at the age of 21, he joined the New England Mutual Life Insurance Company in Boston, remaining in their employ for 58 years, being at the time of his retirement in 1942, superintendent of buildings.

When a young man, while driving through Greenwood, then only sparsely settled, Mr. Dade became taken with the place and purchased a house-lot. After his marriage he built a home and settled in Greenwood, he and his late wife observing their golden wedding anniversary there Sept. 3, 1940. Both were active in the Greenwood Union Church which Mrs. Dade served as deaconess.

Besides his sons in Winchester and his daughter in Melrose, Mr. Dade leaves seven grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at the Chapel in Lakeside Cemetery, Wakefield, with Rev. Harry Birch, pastor of the Greenwood Union Church, officiating. A delegation from the New England Mutual Life Insurance Company, headed by President George Willard, Smith and Morris Capen, vice president, acted as honorary pallbearers. Robert Gibbs, tenor, sang "The Old Rugged Cross" and other favorite hymns. Interment was in Lakeside Cemetery.

LOST POCKETBOOK RECOVERED

Last Saturday evening shortly after 6.30 Olive Buckley notified the Police she had left her pocketbook on the Wakefield bus. The pocketbook contained over $18.00 in bills and coins, a pair of glasses and other personal effects.

The Police notified both the Wakefield Police and the Melrose carabans, and soon received word back that the Wakefield Police had recovered the pocketbook and were returning it to Winchester. The local authorities returned it to the delighted owner, who found its contents intact.

WORK ON PLAYGROUND PROGRESSING

The big crane and scoop is making good progress on the cut along the westerly side of Manchester Field which is eventually to be the new bed of the Aberjona River. The river and Parkway are being moved westerly so that part of Manchester Field can be added to the present Junior High School playground to make a field large enough to include an adequate plant for high school and junior high school athletics.

The crane, which was secured with its operator and attendants, through the C. E. Hall Co., is a new machine and thus far has encountered no serious difficulty with the soil through which it is moving. For the most part the digging has been good, though a few big stones have cropped up which couldn't be moved. Unless some unexpected ledge is encountered the shovel ought to be pretty well through the field by the end of next week.

Meanwhile the bulldozer has completed its job of scraping off the topsoil of the field and pushing it into huge mounds. This soil will be used as a subsoil for the finished field, and according to the engineers, should serve well for this purpose.

Benefit payments to living policyholders by their life insurance companies under endowments and annuities and for disability increased nearly one-third during the war years.

Budgets don't mean much in these times. As you home-makers know, prices change so rapidly that it's becoming more and more difficult to adjust your income to your expenses.

Well, we're feeling the pinch, too! Not only have our pay-rolls, taxes, and other costs been climbing steadily... but we're faced with the problem of buying 430 new buses to replace worn-out equipment and to give you better service. Buses, too, cost more than they did in 1941... which means an expenditure of $5,650,000 for new rolling stock.

Yet we're trying to maintain and to improve service, on a fare schedule that's no higher than in 1928.

BREAD LINES?

Think of it—in America, the greatest and richest nation on earth, with the highest standard of living ever achieved by man in the entire history of the world—"Bread Lines" from coast to coast! Why?

The reason is simple and now easy to understand. In 1932, the New Deal usurped the Democratic Party, "smearing" Hoover for the world-wide depression and claiming that what we needed was a "plan." They used the "Bonus Marchers" on Washington —at the last straw.

Well, let's look at the record! The New Deal used the "Law of Scarcity" to get the nation regimented, plowing under crops—birth control of little pigs—Quoddy Dam—Florida Ship Canal—1000 Mile Forests (housing project for birds)—Leaf raking—then N. R. A.—too low prices—"Childless"—then OPA—too high prices—"monopolists"—then promised "Abundant Life"—no more worry from old age—everyone to live without working—anything to get a vote—then asleep at Pearl Harbor—junk for Japan—"smear" Hoover for too big a Navy—"smear" Hoover for too many bureaus—etc., etc.

Now "New Deal" Truman has "Bonus Marchers" (in taxis from Chicago) no post war plans—O. P. A. stifling of jobs and business—rationing unemployment—"head lines"—one "emergency" after another! "They" enlisted for the duration—for centralized government requires "emergencies." If there is not one—make one.

They will now say it is necessary to feed Europe. Why? If "planned", we could still have bread and butter and feed Europe. Too. What is the answer?

Probably never before in the history of government in the world has greater inefficiency and breakdown been seen. America now knows that it has been "taken for a ride"—pure, unadulterated, political haloney.

Lucky for the United States that Republican Senator Taft was serving this nation or the "New Deal" Democrats would have passed the "draft" Labor Law—"slavery." How any American can vote for any Democrat is beyond the conception of a free people. Republicans may not be able to clean up this mess immediately, but, at least, they will stop further destruction of the American ideology of free enterprise—free collective bargaining—and "free men."

I do not mean that every single Democrat believes in the destruction of this nation; but—to stop it—there must be a change from top to bottom.

Massachusetts citizens should never vote for any "New Deal" Democratic candidate, regardless of their character or ability—for they will vote (when in office) with the Southern and Western members of their party. They have to, hence Massachusetts simply cannot be safeguarded with Democrats in office.

We had better get smart.

NORRIS WINNER AT TEDESCO

Marjorie "Marnee" Norris of Winchester beat another Winchester girl, "Ruthie" Murray yesterday at the Tedesco Country Club in Swampscott to win the 1946 South Shore Junior girls tennis championship. Miss Norris won in straight sets, 6-2, 6-4. Both girls were members of this year's unbeaten girls' tennis team at high school. "Marnee" is the daughter of School Superintendent and Mrs. Forbes Norris of Church street. "Ruthie" is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James F. Murray of Cross street.

On the boys' side of play, Bob Halstead, Winchester High star, defaulted after reaching the semifinals.

CORBY—MARTINI

Miss Evelyn Martini, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Martini of Myrtle street, Woburn and Peter Joseph Corby, son of Mrs. Mary Corby of Irving street, were married Sunday afternoon, Aug. 4, at St. Charles Church, Woburn, the ceremony being performed at 2:30 o'clock by Rev. Fr. John J. Murphy. The bride, music was played by the church organist, Mrs. James Doherty, and James Colucci sang the "Ave Maria" by Gounod and "Mother at Thy Feet Is Kneeling."

Miss Martini was attended by her sister, Miss Dorothy Martini and Frank Corby of this town was best man for his brother. Another brother, Samuel Corby, was a member of the usher corps, with Joseph and Ralph Martini and Frank Muraco.

The bride wore a gown of white marquisette and lace with a fingertip-length veil caught to a coronet of orange blossoms and tulle. Her flowers were white roses and lilies of the valley. The honor maid wore a dress of tea rose broadened taffeta with matching head-dress and carried a Colonial bouquet of mixed flowers.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the 1730 House in North Woburn, upon their return from a wedding journey to Canada Mr. and Mrs. Corby will live in Woburn at 13 Center street.

LIGHTS OUT AS OIL SWITCH BURNS

A burning oil switch on a Boston Edison pole put out in front of the residence of Mr. Bernard F. Callahan at 69 Church street put out lights on the west side and in the Symmes Corner district as well as around the center. Officer John Reardon of the Police discovered the switch burning and notified Headquarters, which got in touch with Edison repair crews.

The Fire Department was notified at 7:58 p. m. and a pump responded with the chief's car. The switch, a box-like thing, containing wires and oil, threw out flames and sparks to quite a height, the illumination being plainly visible in the center and at some distance from the scene of the fire.

Edison men had to cut a lead wire which accounted for the lack of lights. The burning switch was extinguished with a fire extinguisher by the Edison men themselves, after which repairs were made. With radio on their truck they kept their station informed of their progress so that the power could be turned on immediately when things were in working order once more.

It is believed that a previous electrical storm had worked up the cover of the switch-box, so that Wednesday evening's driving rain got in, causing a short-circuit in the wiring. Chief Callahan, who was at the fire personally, described it as unusual and a bit on the awe-inspiring side, with its showers of sparks and leaping flames.

WINCHESTER SNIPERS DOING WELL AT HEAD

Winchester Club's snipe snipers are doing all right in events for Winchester and Boston Bay snipes at the annual Applehead Race Week which opened last Sunday. The storm rained out Wednesday's race, but previous to that local snipers had a first day.

Saturday Don Simonds' Simbad was first in, with George Field's Hardtack II finishing third. Other local finishers were Lomar, George Jones, 4; Youanni, Bart Sullivan, 6; Swanebe, Bob Swanson, 7; Joanie, Bill Cusack, 9; Salome, Jim Snow, 11; Genghis Khan, Holbrook Bugbee, 12; and Foray, A. Litchfield, 13.

Sunday Bob Swanson's Swanebe was the winner with Dave Morrow piloting the Litchfield, second place and Al Litchfield's Foray finishing third. Holbrook Bugbee's Genghis Khan was 5th and Bill Cusack's Joanie, 6th.

Monday was another one-two-three for Winchester, with Don Simonds, first in; Bill Cusack, second, and George Jones, third.

Bob Swanson sailed in Swanebe for a first Tuesday, beating Don Simonds who was second. George Jones finished third in Lomar with Jim Snow's Salome, 5th; and Holbrook Bugbee, in the Wasp, 6th.

Some 1200 youngsters from Woburn in big buses rode through Winchester center Tuesday afternoon, to and from the Red Sox Athletics baseball game at Fenway Park in Boston. The occasion was the annual "Woburn Day" at the ball park, sponsored by the Woburn Intracity Recreation Committee.

STOLEN CHRYSLER RECOVERED

The 1946 Chrysler Club coupe, owned by George Seluraga of 3 Highland terrace and stolen last week Thursday evening from the parking lot at the Winchester Theatre, was recovered this week in Medford by the State Police attached to the District Attorney's office and the Medford Police.

Police believe the car was stolen by members of a gang of professional car thieves who have been operating in Greater Boston and who previously had stolen in that city a car owned by Ernest Tourtelotte of 15 Winchester place. This car was painted and sold to a party in Framingham.

The State Police and local departments have been co-operating in a campaign to round up the gang responsible for the thefts and as a result of information leading from the two local thefts have several alleged members.

In the Seluraga car when it was stolen was a valuable camera and equipment, as well as other personal effects. All were recovered with the car. The machine was said to have been locked and with no key in the ignition when it was stolen.

PALESTINE

Turbulent Palestine, Holy Land in the Near East, has been torn by international and inner conflict for millenniums of history.

The land which stretches southward from the blue waters of the Mediterranean contains some of the world's oldest and most famous battlegrounds, recalls the National Geographic Society.

It saw the early struggles of the Canaanites, the Israelites, and the Philistines. It felt the invading forces of the Pharaohs, of Alexander the Great, the Saracens, the Crusaders, and Napoleon.

Offered Natural Corridor

With its open coastal approaches, its easy mountain passes, and the north-south channel of the Jordan Valley, Palestine was an inevitable traffic lane between the expanding civilizations of the ancient Nile and Euphrates.

The fertile Esdraelon Plain, framed by hills, and linking the maritime Plain of Sharon with desert routes leading north and northeast, was a natural arena. The first historic battle occurred nearly 1500 years before Christ at the Megiddo gateway to Esdraelon. There Thothmes III of Egypt defeated Syrian troops in a struggle which, in geographic plan and course, was a preview of those to follow.

A high point of the past which terrain played in destiny is seen in Biblical accounts of the victory which Israel's foot soldiers won over the chariot forces of the Canaanites. "The fighting from heaven" which came to the aid of the Israelites has been interpreted as a storm which flooded the plain as the attack was launched. The difficulties of the charioteers in maneuvering in the rain-soaked land were a forerunner of modern problems faced by tanks operating in similar ground.

The current British mandate of Palestine has been in turn part of the imperial holding of Egypt, Babylon, and Persia; of Alexander of Macedon, Rome, and Turkey.

Every Citizen a Deputy

The entire nation was stunned at the horror of the assault and murder of little Suzanne Desmar in Chicago. A wave of sex crimes has swept the country, arising, at long last, the people to the need for the stringent legislation to prevent further atrocities.

"Every citizen must appoint himself a committee of one to report any apparent case of sexual perversion," says Charles Harris in the lead article entitled "Sex Crises: Their Cause and Cure" in the August issue of "Coronet."

The wave of sex crimes which has swept America from coast to coast has prompted this exhaustive study of the police files, court records and consultations with many leading authorities. There must be a check upon such horrible and terrifying crimes as the assault and brutal murder of little Suzanne Desmar of Chicago.

To prevent further atrocities the citizens of every community must act promptly and concertedly. The article calls upon each community to set up efficiently working vice squads, keep complete files on all persons picked up on suspicion of sex offenses and forward these records to the FBI in Washington.

It is especially important for all states to provide institutions and adequate psychiatric staffs to handle those offenders found to be mentally ill. "We must change our attitude about sex offenders," Harris goes on to say, "There are more than criminals, they are mentally unwell and potentially dangerous."

The writer also advocates that every father and mother make certain that their children be properly informed and guided in their sex education, either in the home or in the school.

OLIVE OIL
Reports that Portugal is making a substantial increase in olive oil production recall that countries of the Mediterranean belt normally supply the United States with 10,000 tons of olive oil a year.

Portugal itself provides less than 7 per cent of the olive oil and olive imported into the United States, says the National Geographic Society. Italy used to supply three times that amount. The largest foreign source is Spain, which, with Greece, ships three-fourths of the total.

California Crop Large
About 30,000 tons of the imports are olives, as against California's annual crop of 50,000 tons.

California's first olive trees were introduced by Franciscan missionaries from Mexico. There were fewer than 500 trees a century ago, but the groves have increased until the state now has possibly 1,500,000 trees covering more than 25,000 acres. Spain's large crop comes from groves covering five million acres.

A native of Asia Minor, the olive spread to Egypt and was cultivated by the ancient Greeks and Romans. Their colonizing projects

MADAGASCAR

Curious plants and animals make a huge tropical museum of Madagascar, the world's fourth largest island, which in August observes its fiftieth anniversary as a French colony.

Although Madagascar long ago may have been connected with Africa, 240 miles to the west across an arm of the Indian Ocean, much of its natural life bears little resemblance to that of the continent, says the National Geographic Society.

The island, 900 miles long and nearly the size of Texas, has none of Africa's big game. There are not even monkeys to chatter in the coastal forests of sandalwood, ebony and mahogany.

Aye-ayes and Chameleons
But lemurs, furry little creatures with many monkey characteristics, headquarter in Madagascar and prowl through the jungles at night. The aye-aye, a relative of the lemurs named for its cry, uses its strong teeth to gnaw through tree-bark in search of insect grubs. It pulls the grubs from the cavity with a long, hooked finger.

Also living in the forests are chameleons, quick-change artists which, for protection assume the color of their surroundings. Crocodiles infest the rivers. Overhead fly fruit-bats with four-foot wingspread. In the ground are fossils of extinct animals and birds, some of them larger than any now existing.

Among plant life, one of the most useful forms is the traveler's tree, which resembles a tall palm and stores cool, pure water in its crown of leaves. All the thirsty traveler has to do is to pierce a stalk. The tree also provides timber to build native huts, leaves to thatch the roofs, and bark to cover the floors. Small pieces of the leaves are rolled into spoons and cups.

Natives Wear Togas
Another peculiar plant is the rain tree, so-called because water showers from a host of insects which cover its leaves. The candlewood tree is picked seeds the color of its wood. From the candlewood tree are picked seeds to be burned as candles. Waxy orchids are abundant.

In this strange habitat live nearly four million Malagasy natives.

CAMP FELLSLAND NEWS

Camp Fellsland is now on the home stretch with only two more weeks of camp life before the closed sign will be hung up. Camp Fellsland is the camp where all the local scouts go for a period of one or more weeks.

During the past week in spite of the number of showers the boys enjoyed a very full and plentiful week of activities. A selected group of mountain climbers made a special trip to Mt. Washington and climbed the same on a two day trip under the leadership of Stafford Rogers, a rugged mountain climber from Winchester who is also the scoutmaster of the Legion group there. One other trip to which a very large number participated were two bus loads of campers and staff men that made the journey to Canobie Lake where the boys showed their skill at the various concessions in addition to trying their legs at the roller skating rink and going on other entertaining feature at Canobie Lake.

Special athletic meets against Camp Powwow were held during the week end. Base ball, swimming, track, basket ball and volleyball. A very large number of boys participated in the Board of Review and Court of Honor in advancing one or more places in the regular scout advanced program. In matter of fact, the advancement in scouting at Camp Fellsland has been exceptionally heavy this year. This is attributed somewhat to the fact that four or five of this year's staff are returned veterans who were former scouts or camp counselors who in turn benefited a great deal in their military life by their scout experiences they therefore instilled the idea into these young campers that scouting will be a real help to them in later life. Mr. Adin Bailey of Winchester and Robert Morse of Medford are two scouts who are in camp at the present time and it is expected that Walter Kullen, a former staff man, will be visiting camp this coming week. These old timers are also adding a great deal to the program at Camp Fellsland.

The last two weeks of camp will involve a great many special features including Carnival day, Masquerade day, and Campers' day where all of the camp staff become campers and boys are elected to hold the various jobs that the camp staff now hold. This Campers' day has become quite a tradition at Camp Fellsland and is looked forward to every year. Campers' day will be held during the last week of camp which is the week of Aug. 12th. Special trips off will be taken during these two weeks which will add to the fun and activities awaiting these new campers who are due in for these last two weeks.

Among town hall employees now on vacation are Miss Mary LeDuc of the Collector's staff and William Supple, executive head of the Board of Public Welfare office.

COMPETED AT CORINTHIAN YACHT CLUB MEET

Two of Winchester's outstanding swimmers, Barbara Donaghey, former State 100 yard champion and New England Senior 100 yard title holder, and Bob McGrath, new 220 yard junior AAAU champ, competed last night in a sanctioned swimming meet at the Corinthian Club pool in Marblehead.

Bob made his first start in a senior event, swimming the 320 yard freestyle, while Barbara competed in the invitation 100 yard freestyle for women. It was expected that she would again face Joanna Berggren of the Metropolitan Swimming Club, who took her Massachusetts State title from her at Leonard pool last Saturday. Barbara had beaten Joanna at Medford the previous Saturday, so last night's race was of unusual interest.

STAINED GLASS

Two ceremonies dedicating memorial windows in American and British churches foreshadow many similar occasions that mean busy years ahead for the craftsmen who design and execute themes in stained glass.

A new window in St. Andrew's Church at Northants, England, was contributed by American service men stationed near by during World War II. Its panels of American history range from the Pilgrim Fathers to the Atlantic Charter meeting of Winston Churchill and Franklin D. Roosevelt. James Madison and Thomas Jefferson figure in the Statesman's Window, newest addition to Washington Cathedral in the United States Capital.

In France, Germany, Italy, and England, notes the National Geographic Society, are scores of cathedrals whose stories in glass were shattered by bombs during World War II. In some instances, efforts are being made to duplicate their original form, color, and translucence.

Other exquisite Old World windows, as at Canterbury Cathedral and Windsor Castle in England, were removed and stored in 1939, but suffered unexpected damage from microscopic plant life in their storage vaults. They are restored under expert direction.

Art Developed in Europe America's stained-glass artists report a growing backlog of commissions. Community plans for war memorials include theme windows for new churches, libraries, and community centers and for new wings of edifices already built.

Byzantine and Venetian artists of the 10th century and earlier pioneered glass making, and developed the idea that mosaics of glass could be translucent as well as opaque. European monks, skilled by long practice as manuscript illuminators, seized on the high spiritual appeal of the idea and made it a contribution to religious art.

Windows in the cathedrals at Le Mans, Poitiers, and Chartres in France are probably the oldest produced by the skill of these monks, who learned to color their glass in its molten state. Their art flourished through the 14th and 15th centuries, then declined for various reasons.

During the past eight decades, stained craftsmanship has regained its lost ground by rediscovering the painstaking methods of five centuries ago. American draftsmen have risen to create work as distinguished as the best produced by Old World artists.

Range of Themes Broadens Glass is now made by one West Virginia plant in some 450 shades. Colored by adding metallic oxide pigments to the molten mass, it is then blown into cylinder shapes. The closed ends of the glass cylinder are snipped off with hot wire; the cylinders are cut down the side, reheated, and flattened into sheets.

The sheets are cut to the sizes and shapes indicated on the artists' "cartoon," an actual-size drawing of the window design which shows the web of lead channels holding the pieces of glass. Color shades are chosen to match the artist's small-scale drawing in full color.

The art has been developed to its present point largely on ecclesiastical subjects. More and more in recent years, however, legend, romance, science, and modern history are being drawn on for secular themes that may range from Tom Sawyer to Sir Galahad, as for windows in the playroom of a Cincinnati hospital; or from Euclid to Charles Darwin, as for chapel windows at Colorado College.

IVORY

London's ivory market in Mining Lane, re-opened after a wartime lapse, was long the largest in the world. Sales had gradually declined since about 1850, dropping to less than 200 tons in recent years.

Most of the ivory sold in London is shipped from Africa, source of the best and largest elephant tusks. Not all ivory comes from the elephant, however, says the National Geographic Society.

Ivory comes also from the teeth of the hippopotamus, the larger teeth averaging around six pounds; from the tusks of the walrus, some two feet long; and from the spirally twisted tusk of the Arctic narwhal, six to eight feet long.

Vikings Used Ivory

In the 19th century 10,000 to 12,000 walrus were slain annually in the Bering Sea, yielding a total of 100 tons of tusks, until herds were greatly depleted.

The narwhal was the ivory source of the Vikings, who used the horns to decorate the prows of their war vessels, to make sword and dagger hilts, and to fashion hairpins for their wives.

The most costly ivory comes from east African elephants, and is usually sold for more than $4000 a ton. It is highly resilient, and is used in making billiard balls.

Elephant tusks vary in size and weight, often exceeding 100 lbs. The average is about 55 pounds, so that each ton of tusks represents about 2 elephants.

Mastodon Tusks "Mined"

A great store of mastodon tusks thousands of years old, exists in Siberia. Much of this fossil ivory is well preserved. Mastodon tusks have been dug up for more than two centuries.

Dead elephants are rarely found except when killed by other elephants. A tradition exists that they have secluded cemeteries where they go to die. African natives occasionally claim to have located such a cemetery and bring tusks to market which they insist they have found. This is often a ruse to avoid legal restrictions on the killing of elephants.

Ivory is commonly used in making piano keys, toilet articles, dice, chess men and statuettes and brush, knife and umbrella handles. It was highly prized by the ancients as shown by archeological research.

Ivory's most valued contribution, historically, is in sculpture. Many treasured statuettes and much bas relief reveal life thousands of years ago.

What may be the oldest sculpture of the human head is an ivory carving found in Czechoslovakia, thought by some archeologists to represent a period 30,000 years ago.

Needlecraft News

by Nancy Baxter

HAVE you ever experienced that mid-season lag in spirits? There may be many reasons for it, but with us women clothes are often a major cause for this feeling. You know how the pattern goes. Before the arrival of a season you anxiously wait for it, planning the wonderful outfits you will wear. But before the season is half over, those same wonderful clothes look over-worked and tired — the novelty has worn off, and your favorite dress or coat is just another old dress or coat to you. There's a remedy for this situation, you know, but it's not splurging on a new wardrobe. It's just dressing up the clothes you have with inexpensive touches.

Buttons can make a big difference when it comes to changing the look of a dress or suit. There was a time when their main purpose was for closings, but now that is the least of their uses. Today buttons are available in every shape and color, and in many new and exciting materials. You can put them anywhere on an outfit, and even make earrings of them to match your dress decorations.

Touches of white on a dark dress are the best known way to create that cool, frosty look we all want in summer. Organza or eyelid ruching inserted around the neckline or sleeves, or made into flower-like motifs that can be worn on the shoulder or at the waist, will brighten up your basic stand-by and improve its looks no end. Costume jewelry is another sure-fire yet inexpensive way to achieve clothes change-of-face. Most of the newer jewelry is made of plastics, and is really beautiful to see.

Another simple way to give new life to your clothes is to change your accessories. You probably use certain accessories with certain outfits, and if you change the accessories, the outfits will look different, too. So why not make yourself a new and interesting hat — or maybe even two — to take you happily through the rest of the summer?

Pictured here are three becoming styles designed to enliven you and your clothes. The flowered circlet is becoming to everyone. It hides the face, and is perfect for semi-dressy occasions. For tailored wear you'll love the stitched white pique model that fits down snug over the ears and rises to a bonnet peak in front. It's encircled by a plaid band which forms a big bow in front. And when you want to look your loveliest, wear a flattering big picture hat with a wreath of pastel flowers around the open crown. These hats will keep you cool and pretty and can be easily and inexpensively made at home. If you would like directions for making all three styles, just send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Needlework Department of this paper, asking for Leaflet No. E 955, WARM WEATHER HATS.

AWNING PULLED FROM STORE BY TRUCK

While making deliveries to a store on Thompson street Tuesday morning shortly after 9:30 a Dodge truck, belonging to a Dorchester concern was complained of as being parked on the wrong side of the street.

Officer John Murray spoke to the operator, who started to move his machine across to the west side of the road used for parking.

As he did so the cab of the truck caught in the awning of Wilbar's shoe store, first ripping the awning and bending the fixture, and finally pulling the awning off altogether. No one was injured and after Officer Murray and bystanders got the red awning rolled up again and out of the way, everyone quit thinking there was an auction in the neighborhood.

AUTOMOBILES COLLIDED ON HIGHLAND AVENUE

About 11 o'clock Saturday night the Police were notified of an automobile accident at the junction of Mt. Vernon street and Highland avenue. Sgt. Charles J. Harrold went to investigate.

He found that a Pontiac sedan, owned and driven by Francis E. Marchetti of 19a Fulton street, Medford, while heading east on Mt. Vernon street and entering Highland avenue was in collision with a Ford sedan, owned and operated by Bryce Van Deman of 1496 Washington street, West Newton, who was going south on Highland avenue.

No one was injured, but the front ends of both machines were badly damaged. Both cars were however able to leave the scene under their own power.

Frank Paylor, 4 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Irving Paylor of 67 Mystic avenue, Medford, was the second youngster to be injured in Winchester within a week while riding double on a bicycle.

Frank and his 12 year old sister, Mary, were visiting on Nelson street in Winchester Monday evening and borrowed a bike for a ride. Mary was riding the bike with her small brother on behind, when Frank's left foot got caught in the rear wheel, giving him a badly cut heel.

Ten little boys was taken by James Nolan of 23 Nelson street to the office of Dr. Philip J. McManus, who took care of the cut, after which he was taken home. The accident occurred while the children were riding on Nelson street near the home of Mr. Martin Feeney.

STOLE DOCTOR'S SIGN

Last Sunday night shortly after 11 Police Headquarters was notified that boys had stolen the sign from in front of the office of Dr. Harold J. Brown at his residence on Church street.

Sgt. Charles J. Harrold went to Dr. Brown's and met the doctor, who gave chase to the boys and recovered his sign at the corner of Church and Wildwood streets, where the fugitives dropped it to make a faster getaway.

Sgt. Harrold toured the neighborhood with the doctor, but failed to locate the boys, which, perhaps, under the circumstances, is just as well, especially for the boys!

MRS. GEORGIANA STEVENS LITTLEFIELD

Mrs. Georgiana Stevens Littlefield, widow of Judge George Sherman Littlefield and formerly for many years a resident of Winchester, died Saturday night at a nursing home in Reading after a short illness. She was 92 years old and before entering the nursing home had been living in North Wilmington with her daughter, Mrs. Samuel Perry.

Mrs. Littlefield was the daughter of George C. and Mary (Ayer) Stevens. She was born Aug. 25, 1853, in Charlestown, but lived as a girl in Somerville, and was educated in the Somerville schools, graduating from Somerville High School.

Following her marriage in 1876, she and Judge Littlefield came to Winchester and lived at 203 Highland avenue, their home until the death of the Judge on May 16, 1929. The Judge was widely known both in and around Winchester as an attorney and as judge of the District Court in Woburn, a post he held for many years. He was also a prominent member of the old Calumet Club, being active in the club bowling tournaments.

After her husband's death Mrs. Littlefield and her sister continued to live on Highland avenue until 1931 when they moved to High street in North Wilmington. Following her sister's death, Mrs. Littlefield had lived with her daughter until she entered the nursing home.

While in Winchester she was a member of the Fortnightly Woman's Club, of the Unitarian Church and the then Ladies' Friendly Society of that church, now the Woman's Alliance.

Besides her daughter, she leaves a granddaughter, Mrs. Gloria Snow of Washington, D. C., and a grandson, Humphrey Perry of Wilmington.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at the Nichols Funeral Home in Wilmington with Rev. Carl Lynde, pastor of the Wilmington Congregational Church, officiating. Interment was in the family lot in Wildwood Cemetery.

HANLON SENDS NAZI PAINTING TO "LOOK"

John D. Hanlon, son of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Hanlon of Bridge street has submitted to the magazine, "Look", for publication Aug. 20, a water color which the Nazi Julius Streicher, now on trial as a war criminal at Nurnberg, was painting at the time of his capture by the Allies.

Hanlon, former Winchester High and University of New Hampshire football star, points out that there may be a psychological implication in the arch-Nazi's style. During the war Hanlon served in the United States Para-troops, being discharged as a lieutenant colonel.

TEDDY, CANINE WORLD WAR VETERAN KILLED

Teddy, a collie-setter, owned by Police Lt. Edward W. O'Connell of Mt. Pleasant street, was struck and killed by a truck last week Thursday while he was piloting his inseparable companion, Dannie, the O'Connell's 5-year-old son, across Washington street at the high school.

Those are the simple facts of the case, but there is a lot more to the story than that. Everyone hates to lose a good dog, but to the O'Connells and indeed, the whole neighborhood in which they live, Teddy's death was a real tragedy.

Teddy and his little pal, Dannie, were about the same age, and the dog was given to the little O'Connell boy by Bob Riuland of Stoneham, Came the war and Lt. O'Connell enlisted his clever canine in the Army, Teddy and the O'Connells' older son, Eddie, Jr., going away the same day, May 6, 1943. Both went to the South Pacific, Teddy to see service with the Army and "Eddie" to serve as a gunner's mate, 2c, on an LST boat. Both served about the same length of time, 34 months, Teddy being discharged March 3, 1946.

The tragedy of the thing is that the lovable dog went through 34 months of dangerous campaigning, exposed to Jap bullets and disease, and came home without a scratch, to be killed by a truck.

Teddy was in a litter, three of which saw war service. Besides himself, two of the Riuland dogs were enrolled, one in the Army and one in the Navy. Both were discharged before Teddy.

It was the junior "Ed" O'Connell's misfortune to be at home when Teddy was killed, and he with Officer William Cassidy picked the dog up after the accident. He did not take him home, knowing the sorrow his death would occasion in the household. Teddy's loss has left a big hole in the O'Connell circle and those who used to enjoy seeing little Dannie and his faithful pal around the center will miss the canine half of the team and recall the loving care he always gave his little master.

"STRETCH" SIMONDS SHINES

As Winchester Polishes Off Salt Water Skippers

Sailing so sensationally that even his famous pappy would be hard pressed to better his performance, Don Simonds, Jr. (Stretch, that is) dominated the International Snipe Fleet Class races to win four of the five trophies presented by the various Yacht Clubs during Marblehead Race Week. With two firsts and a second in the Eastern series, he easily won that trophy, a single victory won the Boston Yacht Club cup, and two firsts and a fourth gave him a comfortable margin of victory for the Corinthian Yacht Club prize. With five firsts, a second and a fourth in seven races, he was far and away top skipper and thus won the New England Snipe championship trophy.

Bob Swanson, last year's New England champion, won the races that Don missed and also brought home the Pleen Yacht Club trophy to add to his mounting collection of silver. Bob sailed beautifully all week but had a couple of tough breaks that pulled his average down.

Like last year, Jim Snow won the hard luck pennant. As always, he sailed steadily and often sensationally and had several races apparently safely stowed away only to have the faithful wind leave him stranded just short of the finish line.

The Powers-Jones team finished second in the Eastern Series and Bart Sullivan, who started slowly, was threatening the leaders toward the end of the week.

Holbrook Bugbee and the Al Litchfields Senior and Junior consistently kept in the upper half of the 20 boat fleet and the Fields-Freyer combination and Billy Cusack finished in the money on several occasions.

Winchester may well be proud of its fleet of landlocked Snipe sailors, who can go down to the briny and beat the salt water skippers on their own water. The Winchester gang sailed cleanly and fairly (which is more than can be said for some of the salt water boys) and won every race. The only real competition came from Alan Gullikson (a grand sailor, and a swell sport), who sailed his Jennie beautifully and finished second to Simonds for the New England Championship.

TRACK RECORDS RUN DOWN

Figures May Serve as Basis for Permanent List

Winchester High has never been noted for its interest in track, chiefly because there has seldom been either enthusiastic or competent guidance of the sport here. Consequently it is not surprising that there is no official list of track records on file at the school.

Often this lack of records is unfortunate, particularly when some current youngster turns in a good time, or distance, and wonders how his performance compares with the best the school has produced. Having specific marks to shoot at is a real impetus for improvement and makes for increased interest in a sport which is largely individual.

Athletic Director Henry Knowlton of Winchester High School has frequently expressed the wish that he had on file at his office a list of records for the current track team members to try to better. We communicated this wish to "Deacon" Shelle Hamilton, who left his linotype keys and lever at the Star Office to enlist in the Army during the war.

The Deacon, now out of the Army, was surprised to learn that there were no track records available. An old track man himself, he decided to do something about it. For the better part of two weeks he pored over the old Star files, going back to the early 1900's in an effort to find out who had done what in Winchester High School track.

The records he found accompany this article. "The Deacon" makes no claims for them, other than that he actually found them in print. He does not, for instance claim they are the best ever made by Winchester High School track men. Unfortunately all track meets in which Winchester has engaged since 1906 have not been published in the Star. In other instances times and distances have not been printed.

Another angle to consider is the accuracy of the timing. Recently it has been good, at least when Lou Goddu has been holding the stop-watch. It is quite possible that some of the times printed with this article are wrong. Certainly the 22 2/5s for 220 yards, with which your reporter is credited and the 4m. 35 2/5s for the mile, credited to Ray Underwood, are open to question. Both are pretty fast for schoolboys in the sort of competition Winchester participates in.

Another mark, that 53s for the quarter credited to Archie Walling, is fast for inter-class meet going. Those who prefer an interclass meet for this race can take Dick McCreow's 54.4s, made in the State Meet at Newton in 1941. There surely is no question about that one.

We also would prefer the 22.7s turned in by Frank DiMambro at the State Meet in Newton in 1944 to our own mark for the furlong, and Juddie Cross' 4m. 42 2/5s at the Middlesex Interscholastics at Belmont in 1934 is probably a more accurate mile than the time credited to Underwood.

The value of the marks we are printing is that they may make a basis for the compilation of a set of track records for the high school. Other track followers may know of marks that did not appear in the Star, but which are better than those we found there. If so, they can send them either to the Star or to Coach Knowlton at high school. From the final accumulation a set of records may be made up that will serve as a mark for future high school tracksters to shoot at.

Prior to 1906, so far as we could learn, there was no interscholastic track at high school. The boys had interclass track; with plenty of rivalry, for the school championship, and there were some good track performers in school in those days.

Probably Frank Sullivan was as good a sprinter as the school ever produced. We had always supposed he was the first Winchester High School boy to do 10 2/5s for the century. We could however, find nothing in print to prove this the only mark we could find credited to Sullivan being a 53 1/5s for an inter-class 440. We do know "Sully" was very fast and made the Amherst team as a freshman.

Other good men in his time were Johnny Russell, sprinter and jumper; James Horn, sprinter; "Brownie" Cosgrove, pole vaulter and Ned Crawford, high jumper. A little later there were John Barnard, Gordon Parker, George Cumings, Roy Hilton, Paul Badger and others. We suppose there were some good performers prior to 1900. The late Dr. Clarence Orndway was a star half-miler at Yale and his class at high school was '95.

In 1906 Winchester had its first official track coach when Robert Elliott, a member of the high school faculty and former Amherst track captain, took charge of the sport. Under his impetus an interscholastic meet was arranged with Lowell, indoors, but the 73-8 shelling the local forces took at Lowell does not indicate that the Winchesterers were very timid.

The boys in that year did however, send a relay team to the B. A. A. Interscholastics at Mechanics Building for the first time, racing Arlington and winning by 40 yards in 3m. 29 1/5s. Roy Hilton, Gordon Parker, George Cumings and Capt. John Barnard ran in that order and Parker made up a 15 yard deficit and handed Cumings a lead that was never lost thereafter.

From 1906 the sport drifted along and finally died out completely until 1911 when Winchester and Arlington engaged in a dual meet at Winchester, Arlington winning a hollow victory when Capt. Harold Wheatley and one or two other Winchester stars were declared ineligible the morning of the meet for scholastic deficiency.

Lou Goddu was Winchester's iron man that day, running both sprints, the 440 and relay, as well as competing in the high and broad jumps, placing in each event.

In the spring of 1913 under the prodding of Wray Rohman track was started up again and "Charlie" Burrage, a Harvard cross country man, was appointed coach. Winchester won from Stoneham, Woburn and Dedham that year and lost to Arlington in the season's opener, 64-62, with Bryant Woods, its best field events man out with a lame knee.

Winchester had an indoor relay team in 1910-11, composed of Harold and Dean Wheatley, Lou Goddu, Dwight Thompson and Robert Cutting. The boys were down to race Arlington at the B. A. A. games, but Arlington did not show up. The locals were a very fact quartet and it was always believed Arlington wanted none of them.

Winchester had both indoor and outdoor teams in 1914 with Dwight Thompson and Lou Goddu coaching, but the material was poor and victories were few and far between. From then the sport died until 1923 when it was again revived with meets against Lexington, Concord and Arlington. It was at this time that Art French, "Wop" Rolli, "Beans" McArthur, "Skinny" Lynch and "Harpy" Fitzgerald were competing for Winchester with Mr. Thayer as coach.

A little later Wendell Mansfield took over the coaching duties, spelled by Mel Wenner, "Micky" Muering and "Heinie" Knowlton.

It was during this period that such men as Roy Newell, Jim Hickey, Eddie Hichborn, Shelle Hamilton, Dick Murphy, Ken West, Bob Gardner and Ray Deane were carrying the Red and Black to victory. It was in 1931 that three Winchester men, Hichborn, West and Hamilton bettered 20 feet in the broad jump against Wakefield on Manchester Field, and both Hichborn and Lefty Stewart did 21 feet, Hichborn adding 6 1/2 in. for the record.

Since then track has been more or less sporadic. Burns Winslow, Tom Maynard, Stanley Smith, Bill Branley, Henry Knowlton and John Downes have coached, and although there have been some standard boys like Bill and Dick Palsen, "Rat" DiMambro, Tom Kirwan, Red Briggs, Kevin Burke, Fred Lindberg and Johnny West, the team winning has been low.

Though Winchester has never been noted as a track town there have been some good runners from the town, commencing with "Doc" Orndway at Yale. Hervey Geuthing was a New England intercollegiate champion quarter-miler and his brother "Cy" as good a half-miler as there was in New England college circles in his time. "Soapy" Waters won the ICAAAA half-mile championship at the Stadium while at Harvard and made the Olympic track team.

"Heinie" Kelley was a star quarter miler at Harvard and both "Charlie" Thompson and George Cumings were point winners for Tech in inter-collegiate competition. Dick Murphy ran middle distance and relay for Grinnell in the Big Ten and was New England AAU half-mile champ one year, "Sherm" Saltmarsh was a letter man in both cross country and distance running at Dartmouth, placing in the intercollegiate as a senior.

"Art" French, better known as a football player, did 9 1/5s for the 100 and was a point-winning broad jumper at Harvard. Ray Deane also bettered 10 several times while running for San Matteo Junior College in California and "Sandy" Newell was a good sprinter in the club ranks while running for the B. A. A. Bill Palsen was a consistent winner in cross-country and the middle distances while at Harvard.

There probably have been other good performers we can't recall as we write this article. Lou Goddu would know. He is Mr. Winchester Track himself. Through the years his assistance to local track men, his capable coaching and expert conditioning have meant more than one can tell to local track. The current track men would like him for a regular coach. It is very much worth considering. He can pull track out of the doldrums if anyone can!

ANOTHER FIRST FOR JUDGE MONAHAN

Judge Joseph Monahan who needs no introduction as far as his golfing laurels are concerned, entered that select circle of cribbage devotees who have had the perfect hand.

Saturday afternoon while playing a two handed game of cribbage (chatter included) at the Country Club with Otis Leary, the Judge had the very satisfying experience of holding three fives and a Jack in his hand and having the fourth five turn up on the cat, giving him that much sought after but seldom reached goal of all cribbage fans, the 29 hand.

May we add that the Judge lost the game, but the honor and prestige which comes to a person who has reached the top in the art of pegging, takes care of any losses for some time to come.

The only comment heard from one was, "Well I still have a chance of getting that hand."

$45,000,000 for what it takes to build a better
Telephone Service

Here's some of the equipment needed to do this big job: new switchboards and dial equipment in most of our 600 central offices; new buildings or additions in over 200 places; hundreds of miles of new wire and cables; tens of thousands of instruments.

Although material shortages have delayed our production schedules, telephone factories are turning out this needed plant. And just as fast as we can get it, we're building the bigger telephone system that will eventually give service to everyone who wants it.

Where is the money coming from to pay for this expansion and improvement program? As always, it must come from the hard-earned savings of careful, thrifty people who are willing to invest in the telephone business. A reasonable return on their investment will be needed to attract the money which will result in better telephone service for New England.

Twice within a week now children in Winchester have been hurt "riding double" on bicycles.
One little girl sustained a fractured bone in her foot; a little boy, a badly cut heel. A third youngster, with her foot caught between the wheel and fork of a bicycle, was extricated without injury, though her foot was probably sore for some time. These are cases which the Star happens to know about. There may be others. Many children like to "ride double" on bikes. In other cases a boy or girl gives a friend a ride so they may both get to their destination more quickly.
Perhaps a friend is tired and asks a ride, "on behind" or on the handlebars. Whatever the pretext, "riding double" on bicycles should be frowned upon, by parents, who should instruct their children against the practice, and by the Police, who should, and do as far as possible, prevent it. Riding double is dangerous, alike to the passenger and the child who is pedalling the bike. Either or both can be badly injured by an accident which it has been proven can easily befall if the foot of the passenger is inserted into a moving wheel. The fun, or convenience, of "riding double" is, essentially, not worth the risk. Young cyclists should be taught this when they are taught to ride.

Last week's announcement of Tony DeTeso's appointment as an assistant football coach at Tufts College, following Frankie Provinzano's appointment as football coach at Bartlett High School in Webster, boosts the number of Mansfield-coached boys in the coaching profession to four. Headed by Winchester's popular athletic director, "Hennie" Knowlton, who has done an outstanding job of coaching at Winchester High, the quartet comprises Andy Lentine, currently line coach at Tufts, and previously holding a similar job at Bates and Springfield; Pro-vinzano and DeTeso. Wouldn't any high school or college coach love to have these boys on his playing roster. Each was a star and a captain at high school and each did well in the college ranks.
Knowlton, captaining Springfield and being one of the outstanding kickers in the New England college ranks, while DeTeso was co-captain at Tufts. Lentine made the grade and his letter in big time football at Boston College as did Provinzano at B. U. Each one, if you should ask him, would tell you that the football he learned at Winchester High School under Wendell Mansfield, stood him in good stead during his playing days at school and college, while the lessons in sportsmanship and character-building all absorbed from their old high school coach have proved of inestimable value in the fine art of living. Both Knowlton and Lentine, experienced coaches, would give added testimony to the soundness of Mansfield-taught football and its value to a coach, while Provinzano and De-Teso can face their new assignments with added confidence because of their firm grounding in the sport they are to teach. Mansfield has left his stamp on Winchester football. Men like Knowlton, Lentine, Provinzano, and De-Teso, to mention only a few who happen to be coaching, are a real index to the excellence of his teaching.

FANTASTIC PRAYER?

To the Editor of the Star:
The following fantastic prayer was engendered by the prospect of seeing the railroad tracks elevated through the center of Winchester; cutting our fair town in two, as by a Chinese Wall. We may well pray something along this fashion, every time we take the train.
Oh Iron Horse! I pray you wheels may never roll at level of our station floor. Or, as the one slip away. I must in final spurt, race up a long incline to board my morning train. Or, on some bitter morn, stand huddled, waiting, for my morning coach on platform high above the Common Street. Or, even see your mighty plows, high in air, casting the snow to left and right, down on the luckless folks below. Spare us, Oh please! such miseries.

WATCH THE BOAT

To the Editor of the Star:
One very busy afternoon at Palmer Beach this week, I noticed the Park Department boat, generally pulled up on the beach, being taken by two girls and rowed out to a spot between the spring board float and the Wedge Pond road shore where they remained for some time.
I was thinking all this time—suppose something happened to some of the bathers how could the boat be gotten into immediate action. Should the Park Department allow the boat to be so used?

BARBARA DONAGHEY NEEDHAM WINNER

Barbara Donaghey won the 50 meter open freestyle event for women last Saturday at the AAAU sanctioned swimming meet at Rosemary Beach in Needham.
It was a particularly sweet victory for the little Winchester ace since she defeated Pauline Silvan of Providence Central, who was second, and Joanna Berggren of the Metropolitan Swimming Association, who was third. Miss Silvan edged Barbara for second in the invitation 100 at the Corinthian Yacht Club meet last week and Miss Berggren took Barbara's State 100 yard title away from her the week previous at Leonard.
Since that meet Barbara has defeated Joanna twice.

Miss Donaghey's time for the 50 was 32.2, and though the race was close, there was no doubt of the winner.

In the 100 meter freestyle for junior women Marge Carroll and Lynn Aitkens finished second and third respectively behind Patsy Whelan of Lexington, whose time was 1m. 18.4s. The Lexington girl won by two or three strokes with Marge Carroll coming fast over the last 25 to just nip her teammate, Lynn Aitkens, at the finish.
Beverly Gay, Winchester girl, who beat Miss Whelan in winning the New England Junior 220, was an exception and did not compete. She has been swimming well this summer and would have made a strong bid for the junior title at Needham.

In the NEAAA junior 440 freestyle, Winchester's "Wimpy" Burtnett finished third behind Charles Grover of the Boston Y. and Bill Pender of the Brookline Swimming Club, beating out Anthony Rhys of the Ware Swimming Club. The time was 5m. 22.3s.
Ralph Gossler, unattached, de-cisioned Bob McGrath of Winchester in the 100 yard open freestyle for men in 57.7s. Bob finished ahead of Anthony Rhys of Ware and Sam Goodie of the Boston Y.

CAR DISPOSED OF

The Police have all sorts of requests for assistance, and when a young returned veteran appealed to them to locate his missing automobile last week they thought nothing of it, nothing at all!
The Vet's story was that he had left his car in storage in a local building when he went to war, and when he came back he found it gone, lock stock and barrel. He asked his dad about it, and the latter said he had let a party take the car to try with the possibility of buying, and that had been the last seen of either the party or the car.
The Vet wanted to know if the Police would find out what thand the Police said they would. It seemed right in their line of work, or metier, so to speak.

The minions of the law cast about and with no trouble at all found the party who was supposed to have taken the car to try out, right here in town. More than that the good man admitted having taken it.

His story, however, and he stuck to it was that the Vet's father had given him the car for taking it out of storage, and where he insisted he made his only mistake was in leaving anything at all to do with the machine.

Before he was able to get the car running it cost him some $250 for parts and after he got it running he did not want it so he sold it to another Winchester man, sales price not quoted. The party of the second part now has the car.

Giving the whole case up and down, and a peak or two from either side, the Gendarmes decided they wanted no further part of it.
They even went so far as to believe it is after all none of their affairs.

At Headquarters the Star was informed that so far as the Police Department is concerned, the case is closed. They have so informed the veteran!

WRIGHTS WON FATHER-SON AGAIN

Par on Last Hole Let Them Edge
Whitesides' Score

Fred Wright, Jr. and his son,
Fred Wright, 3rd, won this year's Father and Son golf tournament at the Winchester Country Club with a 75 that just got them under the 76 carried by the 1937 champions, Dave and Malcolm Whiteside of New Bedford.

The Wrights won last year, but only after a playoff, being all even with Walter Robb and son, Walter, 3rd, of Weston after the regulation 18 holes. It looked for a while Wednesday if the former State champ and his son weren't even going to equal the Whiteside figures, let alone tie the New Bedford leaders, but some highly dramatic golf at the final hole enabled the fatherly team to get in under the wire.

They needed a par four for the 18th, and it didn't look so good when Fred, senior, pushed his second shot into the fringe of the trap in front of the right corner of the green. Fred, junior, however, made a swell recovery shot that just missed the cup on the roll and stopped six inches away.
Big Fred congratulated his son before the sank the putt for the par 4 and the title.

Last Wednesday's torrential rain prompted the tournament committee to postpone the second day's play in the tourney last week, with the provision that those teams who had braved the deluge could let their scores stand if they wished.

Those who reported for play this week were of course shooting at the Whitesides' 76 hung up last week Tuesday; the opening day of the tourney, when conditions were good, if a bit on the humid side.

Only the Wrights succeeded in getting under the 76 posted by the New Bedford pair, their 37 out and 38 in, being three over par and good enough for the gonfalon. The Monahans, Joe and Joe, Jr., were out in 37, like the Wrights, but their in-coming nine were not so good and they finished with a 78, the only team, besides the Wrights to break 80 this week.

Only one of the championships of the tourney came to Winchester, Nelson Seelye's running-mate, Francis Smith winning the Grandfather and Grandson division with 171-89.

Complete prize-winners were:
First Gross—F. J. Wright, Jr. and F. J. Wright, 3rd; 2nd gross, David and Malcolm Whiteside;

NEWMAN-WHITTAKER

On Friday, Aug. 2 at 4 o'clock, Miss Joanne Whittaker, daughter of Mr. Arnold Whittaker of Stratham, N. H., formerly of Winchester, and the late Mrs. Whittaker, became the bride of Keith L. Newman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Newman of Huntington, W. Va.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Robert E. Snow at the Exeter Inn, Exeter, N. H., before an improvised altar banked with palms and with candelabra on either side.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore the princess style ivory satin gown with yoke of Chantilly lace, that had previously been worn by her sister, Mrs. Lars Sandberg. Her fingertip veil of illusion was edged with Chantilly lace and she carried a bouquet of bridal roses.

Mrs. Robert E. Whalen, the former Bette Whittaker, was matron of honor and wore a dress of blue marquisette made with a fitted bodice and full skirt. She carried a nosegay of yellow roses and delphinium.

Miss Lynn Townley of Westfield, N. J., and Miss Harriet Lyon of Huntington, W. Va., were bridesmaids. They wore dresses of yellow marquisette, similar to that of the honor attendant, and also carried old-fashioned nosegays of blue delphinium and yellow roses.

Dr. James Newman was best man for his brother.

Following the ceremony a small reception was held at the Inn for relatives and intimate friends.

The bride is a graduate of Westfield High School and attended Marshall College where she was a member of Tri Sigma sorority.

The bridegroom served as an Ensign in the Navy for 23 months and was graduated from Marshall College in May. He is a member of Phi Kappa Nu fraternity.

After a honeymoon spent at Lake Sunapee, Mr. and Mrs. Newman will make their home in Ann Arbor, Mich., where the bridegroom will attend the University of Michigan Law School.

MISS BUCCI SHOWERED

Miss Armida-Louise Bucci, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernesto Bucci of Swanton street, was pleasantly surprised on Monday evening, Aug. 12, when a large group of relatives and friends gathered at her home to give her a miscellaneous shower in honor of her approaching marriage to Domenick P. Guarino of this town.

Decorations of pink and white, and a large silver wedding bell made an attractive setting for the shower which was held in the living room. Miss Bucci received many beautiful gifts, for which she graciously expressed her thanks. After the packages were opened a buffet luncheon was served and dancing was enjoyed. Guests were present from Woburn, Stoneham, Medford, Somerville and Boston as well as from Winchester.

SONS OF ITALY NOTES

During the past two weeks the Sons of Italy Softball team played five games, winning all of them. Three of the games were played out of town and two were played at Ginn's Field.

On Sunday, Aug. 4, "Indian" Scalpers went to Warrendale Park in Waltham and took both ends of a double-header with the Pathfinders, one of the 12 teams in the Raytheon Mfg. Co.'s Softball League. The score of the first game was 7-4 and the second one was 5-3. Charlie Chiarelli's Pathfinders were playing a fine game until the latter part of each game and then the Sons opened up.

Monday, Aug. 5, the Sons went to Warrendale Park and took on the Raytheon League leaders, the Sox. After a hard fought game, the local club came out on top with a 4-2 win. "Indians" boys played one of their best games of the season to win this one. The Sons team enjoyed playing this team, and asked for a return game. "Stewie" Tebo pitching and Jack Stobo at shortstop for the Ray Sox played fine ball.

On Tuesday, Aug. 6 "Indians" boys went to Somerville and took the scalps of the Somerville Braves by a score of 14-5. "Rugger" Muraco won this one easy making it his third win in three days.

"Rugger" also took the Raytheon Atomies, pitching the local boys to a 7-3 win. This game was played on Thursday, Aug. 8 at Ginn Field.

On Monday, Aug. 12, the return game with the Sox was played at Ginn Field. The Sons of Italy team won this one easily by a score of 8-2 "Maxie" DiMambro pitched this one.

Sunday, Aug. 18 the Winchester Lodge's crack degree team will go to the Hotel Bradford to install the officers of the Mass. Grand Lodge, Order Sons of Italy in America. The degree team will use a new installation ceremony which was written by Dr. A. L. Maletta, who acts as Herald on the team.

LEXINGTON GIRL WON "MARSHA JORDAN" CONTEST

Sue McCausland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elton B. McCausland of 1 Berwick road, Lexington, a Lexington High School girl, won the annual "Marsha Jordan" contest last week in the Jordan Marsh Company Fashion Center's teen-age style show. She was one of 11 finalists in the contest, another of whom was Winchester's Dini Meacham of 9 Lakeview terrace, Winchester High School sophomore. Dini becomes one of the Jordan Marsh Company's Advisory Council for teen-agers for 1946-47, presided over by Miss McCausland.

Marilyn Cardwell of Wellesley High was second in last week's finals, with Barbara Bergwell of Hingham, third, Miss McCausland won a $150 fall outfit and a trip to New York in the spring.

FORMER WINCHESTER RESIDENT HONORED BY ACCOUNTANTS

Willis L. Conn Named Secretary

In announcing the election of Willis L. Conn of Country Club road, Melrose, and for several years a resident of Winchester, as secretary of the Boston Chapter National Association of Cost Accountants, for the 1946-47 chapter year, President Clarence B. Nickerson reports that Mr. Conn is the second man well-known in Winchester to have been so honored by the Association at its annual meeting. (The election of Thomas L. Morison as first vice-president of the NACA in Boston was announced in a recent issue of the Star—Ed.)

During the past year Mr. Conn served as associate secretary of the Accountants' Boston Chapter. Since 1941, when he first was admitted to membership in the National Association, the organization has grown to 20,000 members, including those of the chapters recently formed in Cuba and Hawaii.

In his new position, Mr. Conn will be responsible for recording all proceedings of the Association in Boston, where almost 800 members of the local Chapter represent leading accounting, industrial and commercial firms of eastern Massachusetts. The results of Mr. Conn's work will be to expedite conferences of officers and directors of the NACA, who have made arrangements to bring several nationally-known speakers to the organization's meetings in the fall, and who are now working out final details of the 14th annual Business Machines and Office Equipment Show to be held in September at Horticultural Hall, Boston.

A graduate of the International Accounting School, Mr. Conn is Controller and Assistant Treasurer of H. K. Porter, Inc. in Everett. In addition, he holds the offices of Assistant Treasurer and Director of Porter Forge and Furnace Company, serves as Secretary of the Warwick Malleable Company of Hillsboro, R. I. and is a member of the Committee on Accounting of the Drop Forge Association, a trade organization active throughout the country.

MR. PIHL AGAIN HEADS EDUCATION COMMITTEE

Marshall R. Pihl of Mystic Valley Parkway, prominent attorney and conveyancer, is again heading the committee on education of the Boston Real Estate Board and the Massachusetts Real Estate Association. Mr. Pihl, considered an authority in his field, has already held a meeting of his committee and outlined evening courses in the fundamentals of the real estate business to be given at Boston University in September. He himself will supervise these courses as he did last year.

The committee also voted to sponsor a "Case Study" course in real estate appraising also to be held at B. U. Mr. Pihl announced that two extension courses at Harvard University under the auspices of the Massachusetts Department of Education will be given by the Massachusetts Real Estate Association and the State Board of Real Estate Appraisers, a professional division of the association.

WINCHESTER DOG TRAINING CLUB

The Winchester Dog Training Club is starting a new series of classes in September; the time and place will be announced later. Mr. Frederick Ewell is the club's trainer. Mr. Ewell was associated for some time with the Grafmar Kennels of Wrentham. The initiation fee, which includes the first class, is $1; all subsequent classes are 75 cents per evening.

Obedience training makes a dog easier to handle; in the show ring, on the street, or in the home, he is more responsive and co-operative. Mrs. A. F. Horn of the Grafmar Kennels has this to say of obedience training: "Gus and I feel very strongly that a dog which is obedience trained shows to much better advantage in the show ring, and I think we have proved it by putting the following dogs through to championship, and at the same time as they have gone through to training titles: Champion Cito von Grafmar U. D., Champion Willette U. D., Champion Halo of Grafmar C. D. X., and many other Grafmar dogs, shown both in obedience and breed."

Persons who are interested in attending these classes may contact Miss Virginia Ramsdell, Winchester 1620, if they would like more information pertaining to the club. Visitors and new members are always welcome.

BOSTON HERALD TO OBSERVE 100TH ANNIVERSARY

The largest fireworks display ever given in New England, combined with a military and naval show involving two sea rescues, will be presented Thursday, Aug. 22 at 4:30 p. m. at the Charles River Basin. The show is sponsored by the Boston Herald, in celebration of its 100th anniversary of unbroken publication.

Army, Navy and Coast Guard will contribute their finest personnel and equipment in their demonstrations of rescue work, firefighting and airpower.

Ralph Vorhis, Sr. of Holyoke, noted parachutist, will make a jump into the Charles River, to be taken from the water by a Coast Guard helicopter hovering in mid-air.

A glamorous and lovely stage star will be the subject of another Coast Guard rescue, when she will be taken to shore by a breeches buoy crew in the same manner in which mariners are transferred from one vessel to another.

A roaring fire in a barge filled with blazing oil drums will be extinguished by an expert Navy firefighting unit, using the latest life-saving and firefighting techniques.

The air will be filled with Army and Navy planes, including two flights of the famed B29's, the heaviest bomber in existence, and a Shooting Star P-80, jet-propelled ship which goes 550 miles an hour. The Navy will fly over the area with a large formation of Helicans.

The fireworks display, climaxing an action-filled, five-hour show, will be unequalled in originality, scope and execution. Each of the many sets will be a story in itself, ignited hundreds of feet in the air against the night sky. In conclusion, a famous figure, seen daily by thousands of New Englanders, will be shown in startling clarity and detail.

There will be scores of ground displays, including radar and anti-aircraft units, Coast Guard craft and a helicopter. Two bands will furnish continuous music.

The entire exhibition is free.

from this angle

It costs a lot more these days to provide transportation service. Gas and oil bills are up 130% over 1941. Maintenance costs have more than doubled.
To improve our service to you, we must replace hundreds of outworn buses as quickly as new ones can be secured. We now have 430 new buses on order, representing an expenditure of $5,650,000.
Our tire bill has increased by over 70%. Taxes have tripled.
Wages of operating and maintenance forces, recently increased, will add an estimated $1,750,000 to our annual payroll under the new schedules.
To continue to maintain and to improve service under today's conditions is a serious problem. Income shows but little increase. Costs have sky-rocketed. Yet fares are at the same level as in 1928.

Army flyers will dive 3000 feet to house-top height before leveling off; a jet-propelled plane will attempt a new world's record of 17 minutes, flying from the Empire State Building to the Custer House, later landing at Bedford, and the largest exhibition of Army, private and commercial planes in New England's history will be on display.
Governor Tobin, Senator Walsh, Congressman McCormack, and other New England Governors and civic officials will be on hand for the opening "Governors Day" ceremony. Governor Tobin will be flown from the State House lawn to Bedford in an Army R-5 helicopter to officially open the show.
Friday is International Night with representatives of Poland, Lithuania, Greece, China and others, in native costume.

SOVIET BASE ON SOUTHWEST COAST
The new Soviet naval base at Porkkala Udd, on Finland's southwest coast, overlooks the sea routes to Helsinki and Leningrad at the narrowest point of the Gulf of Finland, notes the National Geographic Society.
This site, whose 50-year lease to the Russians was agreed on by 1944 armistice terms and is now confirmed by the draft peace treaty with Finland, include the tip of Porkkala Peninsula and such adjacent territory and waters as are necessary.
The word Udd means point, or cape. The peninsula faces the Estonia S. S. R.—only 30 miles away—from a spot southwest of the Finnish capital, Helsinki. Farther west, at the wider entrance to the Gulf, lies Finland's Hangö Peninsula, which the Soviet Union has renounced as a base in favor of Porkkala.
The leading Soviet port, Leningrad, is situated at the far eastern end of the Gulf of Finland, about 200 miles from Porkkala Udd.
The southwest shore of Finland is deeply cut into irregular bays and inlets, and is fringed by innumerable islands, islets, and rocks. Particularly scenic is the stepping-stone group that forms the Archipelago, between the peninsulas of Hangö and Porkkala.
Ranging from large and fertile islands near the shore to barren outposts rocks worn smooth by stormy seas, the Barosund Archipelago offers a labyrinth of wide and narrow passages. Through the trees, peacetime summer travelers who sailed this way caught bright glimpses of Finland's vacation camps and cottages, of bathing beaches, and of yachts and sailing boats tied up at wharves.
In winter, the winding water lanes of Barosund are blocked by ice, and the scene takes on the severity of the frozen north. After August, only the inner anchorages of the region provide reasonable shelter from strong winds. Skippers are warned that this northern coast of the Gulf of Finland, with its shoals, rocks and reefs, is generally dangerous to navigation without expert pilot assistance.
During World War I, before Finland became independent, the Russian Tsarist government fortified Porkkala Udd and nearby islands.

"DAYS OF YORE"

Clippings From The STAR Files

25 YEARS AGO

Aug. 26, 1921

A special half mile single canoe race will be run off to start the Regatta, at the Winchester Boat Club on the afternoon of Labor Day, Sept. 3.

Announcement is made this week by the Golf Committee of the Winchester Country Club that Joe Kirkwood, Australian golf champion, will be seen here on Wednesday, Sept. 7. On that date he will give an exhibition at the Winchester Country Club.

The Winchester store of the Edison Electric Illuminating Co. will be transferred into its new quarters in Lyceum Building at the close of this week, opening on Mt. Vernon street next Monday morning. The new quarters of the company will constitute the most desirable in town.

The work of installing fire escapes on the school buildings is nearly completed and all escapes will be in position by the time school opens.

During the past six weeks extensive renovations have been made at the Calumet Club in preparation for the coming season. At the present time the interior painting, including the club hall and ladies rooms, has been completed, and the bowling alleys resurfaced. The club is to be closed until September 6 in order that final work may be completed. This will include refinishing the stairs and floors. Present indications promise a most active fall and winter at the club.

The Winchester Laundry Orchestra is rapidly making a name for itself. Last week it played at the regular dinner of the Boston Rotary Club, making a great hit. The orchestra has been doing some practicing in the old Methodist Church, the music causing more than one passer-by to stop and listen.

A large danger signal showing a powerful red light at night and the word "stop" by day has been erected at the corner of Church and Cambridge streets, Cambridge street is closed to traffic beyond that point, it being rebuilt and straightened by the State.

The Winchester A. A. team played the Bogs & Cobb nine on Manchester field Friday night, easily winning the game 8-0.

Members of the Kuno-Mist Klub have been spending the fine August weather at Hull.

Mr. Henry B. Winn, formerly of this town and son of Mrs. M. L. Winn of Elmwood avenue, has one of the finest fruit farms in this section on his property at Marlboro. A tomato he sent here this week from his place just lacked one ounce from weighing two pounds. He has some very fine peaches, plums and apples which are also well up to record size.

Frederick Cobb of Lloyd street exhibited some fine tennis in the tournament at Hedding, N. H., last week, when he won the final match in the 14 year old class.

Daily Philosophy

Men should take advantage of their own opportunities and not take advantage of other people's necessities.

Training up a child nowadays in the way he should go is as the boys say "going some."

It takes a lot to live these days, usually a house and lot, besides some other things.

One of the worst things in defeat is the sympathy that goes with it.

ROTARY CLUB MEETS

The Rotary Club of Winchester met yesterday noon in Masonic Hall with President Pat Foley presiding, the first meeting of the fall season after a two week's omission during August. There was a good attendance including several visitors and guests, and Jim McGrath, minus his side-kick, Doc Hauke, presided at the piano. There was no speaker, but plans were announced for the fall outing at Poland Spring, early in October, and a number of members signified their intention to attend.

50 YEARS AGO

August 21, 1896

The Nomad Club, Judge Littlefield in charge, went to Salisbury Beach, Tuesday morning, taking electric to Reading, steam to Lawrence, and electric to Haverhill, Newburyport and thence to the Beach. A fine time and a most enjoyable ride. We wish we could have made one of the party.

Willow street, leading to the Cemetery, does not present a very inviting appearance, the sides of the street being grown up with weeds while the road bed is not just first class. As many strollers pass over this street it should be one of the best kept in town, and besides its present condition is not in accord with the well kept grounds of the Cemetery.

Last Saturday at the Woburn Shooting Range Mr. Albert A. Hutchinson made two remarkable scores—48 and 43 out of a possible 50, at 200 yards.

Mr. George E. Pratt, the plumber, at his own expense had a well driven on the edge of the concrete walk near the station Thursday morning. As the ground is full of springs at this place, a copious supply of pure, cold water is certain. The well is about 22 and a half feet in depth. Here is to your health, Mr. Pratt, is the sentiment of all.

Why do not wheelmen profit by the example of the wheelwomen? They scorch not, neither do they bump themselves nor run blindly into obstructions, but sit erect and beautiful, sail gracefully along and get there on time.

At the picnic of the French Canadian Club, to be held at Winslow's Grove, on the western shores of Pond Pond, Labor Day, Sept. 7, the following list of games will be carried out: Tub race, boat race, potato race and tug of war. Prizes will be awarded amounting to $25.00.

Winchester to Have a Steam Road Roller

The sum of $22,000 was appropriated by the Legislature for the purchase of rollers. This sum gave to the State six machines for use by the towns in the several counties. Considering the large number of towns in the State six rollers will not begin to supply the demand, and lucky indeed are the places that have secured them. Winchester is, however, one of the number, thanks to the foresight and perseverance of Selectman Henry J. Winde.

The roller, made at Pitts' Agricultural Works, Buffalo, N. Y., was to be shipped to Winchester this Saturday or Saturday, and will probably arrive here on the 27th or 28th. It weighs ten tons, is 10 feet 6 inches in height, with a roller width of 7 feet 5 inches, has a long cab which extends from the smoke stack to the rear of the machine, and from this are canvas curtains on the four sides, to be used as a protection against the rain. The company sends an engineer with the roller who will operate for a few days.

Adding Insult to Injury

Philip Nelson, a Wakefield young man who recently lost a pocket testament with $8 in bills tucked away among its pages, a few days afterward received the testament by mail from Boston, but without the money. Accompanying the book was a note (from some unknown individual) to the effect that the writer "wished to return the testament for the Lord's sake but would keep the money for the sake of the devil."

If this isn't adding insult to injury (or robbery), then we don't know what is.—(Wakefield Item.)

SUBSTITUTE TEACHERS WANTED

There is an acute need for substitute teachers in the Winchester schools, and any one with actual teaching experience is urged to communicate with the School Department office, Win. 1780, so that their names may be listed for call when the need for substitute teachers arises.

LT. Condr. Selwyn Harrison Graham, Jr., 99 High st., has successfully completed the course of instruction at the Naval Training School for Material Preservation at Philadelphia, Penn.

MEAD HOUSE SOLD

New Owner, Dr. Lamphier of Boston

Mrs. Jenny L. Mead, widow of Dr. G. N. P. Mead, for many years a popular practicing physician in Winchester, has sold her home and his former office at 27 Church street to Dr. James Andrew Lamphier of Boston, recently returned to civilian life after five years in the Medical Corps of the United States Navy.

Dr. Lamphier, a native of Brookline, spent his boyhood in Newton, graduating from Harvard in 1920 and from Tufts Medical School in 1925. He specializes in obstetrics and gynecology, is married and has a Boston office at 270 Commonwealth avenue. He plans to make his home in Winchester and will practice in this town as well as in Boston.

The Mead house was built for Dr. Marsh, a physician in Winchester for many years. At his death, Dr. Mead acquired the property, making his home and office there until his retirement a few years before his death.

COY—ROBINSON

At Russell Sage Memorial Chapel of the Northfield School Church in East Northfield on Saturday afternoon, Aug. 17, Miss Jean Hazen Robinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Reginald H. Robinson of 18 Wildwood street was married to Willard Amundson Coy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Felch Coy of Hyde Park, Rev. Benjamin Anderson performed the 3 o'clock candlelight ceremony in an attractive setting of palms, white gladiolus, larkspur and chrysanthemums. Mr. L'Homme Dieu, School director of music, played the wedding march.

Miss Robinson was given in marriage by her father. She wore a gown of ice blue satin with matching hat and carried a prayer book covered with white orchids and stephanotis.

BREAK AT MAIN ST. GAS STATION

Thursday morning at 5:15 Officer James E. Farrell and James E. Flaherty of the Police Department discovered a break at the Filling station located at 202 Main street, at the corner of Clark street, and owned by Edward J. Donato of 156 Swanton street. Glass had been broken in the front door and a pane of glass had been broken in a window on the south side of the station, after the screen had been ripped off.

Mr. Donato was notified and came to the Station. After a checkup he reported that a small sum of money was missing with eight cartons of cigarettes, several cartons of chewing gum and some penny candy.

Shortly before the break was discovered, at 4:40 yesterday morning, the Stenham Police notified local Headquarters that two men had made a break in their town and had abandoned their car at the Fallon Farm on Marble street in Stenham, heading through the woods toward Winchester.

Patrols 51 and 52 were warned to be on the lookout, and at 7 o'clock a resident of Alban street reported that a young man had come through the yard, in an excited condition, stating he had been lost in the woods all night.

Miss Dorothy Murray, popular waitress at Horace Ford's and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Murray of Salem street, was pleasantly surprised Tuesday evening when a group of nearly 200 relatives and friends gave her a miscellaneous shower in Knights of Columbus Hall.

The decorative scheme was pink and white and the chairs occupied by Miss Murray and Mr. O'Leary were decorated in those colors.

Miss Murray received many beautiful gifts, and expressed her thanks in a manner that left no doubt of her appreciation. After the packages were opened a buffet luncheon was served and an informal entertainment program was enjoyed. Featuring the enter-

Maletta, who is the Degree Team's "Herald," wrote both the original initiation ritual which has created such a favorable impression in many important lodges of the State, and the new installation ritual, used for the first time Sunday. Special credit should go to Anthony Fico, Venerable of Winchester Lodge, and to Gabriel Vespucci who had to learn long and difficult parts for the new ritual in two days and who were letter perfect in their roles.

Heading the Winchester delegation to the Bradford were District Deputy John Volpe and Venerable Anthony Fico.

Members of the team last Sunday were Dr. Angelo Maletta, John Volpe, Anthony Fico, Gabriel Vespucci, Lawrence Penta, Carmine Frongillo, Alfred DeMico, Angelo Tofuri, Americo Fiore, Antonio Jacobellis, Francis Muraco, James Panteleo, Salvatore Casanuovo, Frank Frongillo, Henry Subitino, Frank Penta, Anthony Penta, Frank DeMico, Victor Fico, Louis Giaccone, Domenick Provinzano, and Joseph Venardi.

McGRATH SECOND AT SOUTH BOSTON

Winchester's Bob McGrath added another to his long list of seconds when he trailed Ralph Gossler of the Providence Boys Club in the Men's Senior 100 yard freestyle at the NEAAU sanctioned swimming meet in South Boston Saturday.

The meet took place at the South Boston and Columbia Yacht Clubs with the course laid between the two floats. The distances were long, the 100 meters being about 150 yards, and this should be taken into account when considering the times for the events.

Gossler's time for the so called 100 meters was 1m. 32.8, and he just edged McGrath. The Winchester boy swam a plumb-line course and nearly cashed in on it, for Gossler got off his course a couple of times. There were no lanes, resulting in some real traffic jams at times.

Barbara Donaghey and Beverly Gay, Winchester entrants in the Women's NEAAU Senior 100 meter freestyle championship, were shut out of the places, finishing fourth and fifth.

Both were victimized by jams, especially Miss Donaghey who is not sizeable enough to jostle with the big girls. For half the distance she was even with Joanne Berggren of Metropolitain, the ultimate winner, but she was pushed back and unable to call on her usual stretch kick because of the backwash from the other swimmers. Marion Senior of Wanskuk was second and Louise Sherlock of Olneyville, third. Miss Berggren was well tuned for Saturday's events and swam a nice race, seeming to be bothered by the open water and lack of lanes much less than the other competitors.

Lynn Aitkens, Marge Carroll and Sally Morgan of the Winchester Swimming Club swam in the women's 100 meter open backstroke, finishing outside the money, but making a good showing in fast company for an event new to them.

The local girls were tuning for the Mass. State 100 meter backstroke at Brockton on Saturday when they hope to improve their showing. Marion Senior of Wanskuk won last Saturday's event with Louise Sherlock of Olneyville, 2nd, and Constance Mills of Providence Central, 3rd. No time was announced.

McLEAN RESIGNS AS WOBURN FOOTBALL COACH

Ray McLean, Chicago Bears professional football player and former St. Anselm's College star has resigned the position as coach of the Woburn High School football team, to which he was only appointed in June by the Woburn School Committee at a salary of $1200.

McLean was appointed coach last year as a war time substitute for James F. "Dogger" Brennan, instructor of physical education, then serving in the Navy. With the return of Brennan at the close of the war McLean's tenure ceased, but "Dogger" asked to be relieved of his football coaching duties, and after long consideration of certain legal angles involved, McLean was again appointed.

The Woburn "Boosters Club" took an active part in pushing McLean for the coaching job and a year ago, it is reported, paid a substantial difference between his salary from the Woburn School Department and the figure he asked to coach.

McLean, a former resident of Lynn, is reported to have sold his home there and gone to Chicago to live, signing another contract to play with the Bears this season.

Local football men believe the former St. Anselm's seahawk did an excellent job as coach at Woburn last year, and certainly the Orange team that faced Winchester at the end of the season was one of the best coached Woburn clubs the locals have faced for some years.

His resignation leaves the Tanners in something of a spot with the football season less than a month away. Woburn plays Dedham on Sept. 21 and Dedham is usually no setup.

CRUSADERS WON AGAIN

The Immaculate Conception Crusaders beat the Winchester Elks, 3-2 last Friday evening at Loring avenue playground in a baseball game that featured the big Parish Gala Night that evening. "Scratch" Amico pitched for the Crusaders and "Robbie" Farrell, for the Elks. The game was a good one and a big crowd was in attendance.

The same teams met tonight at Loring avenue where another Gala Night is being put on by the Immaculate Conception Parish. The Crusaders now have won two games with the first game being a tie.

PALMER BEACH NOTES

Teale Special Match Winner

Royal "Paper Trade" Teale perennial President of the Palmer Beach Horseshoe Association, emerged the winner from the special matches played on the beach courts Wednesday evening. Mr. Teale was not a loser in any one of the three matches played and went home very happy indeed. He no longer, when especially pleased, can tell his fellow members that he will drop in to see them when he gets back from Wells River, because he doesn't go to Wells River any more, his paper connections there having been dissolved, but he did say that when he next came up from East Brewster he would be around, and let it go at that.

A trio of members answered the President's clarion call "to arms" Wednesday evening, "Wild Willie" McLaughlin, the Pride of Stowe and Champion of all Nabnasset, responding with the Secretary and Robert "H. M. S. Rodney" Walsh. After the usual formalities were gone through with and the competitors had "put it there", wishing each other the usual "quick death and speedy burial", coins were matched and Mr. Teale and Mr. Walsh squared away against the Secretary and Mr. McLaughlin.

"The Pride of Stowe" was successful in his endeavor to carry the Secretary on his back in the first game, and for about half the second game he and the Scribe were out in front.

Mr. Walsh was going well, too, so that the parties of the second part were never too far out of the running. Consequently when Mr. Teale commenced to get a few "lucky" rings he and "Rodney" forged to the front and took the second game 25-23.

In the finale Mr. McLaughlin, obviously discouraged, faltered a bit himself, and the Walsh-Teale combine ran out the match, 25-19, the Secretary contributing a single ring, which was covered, to the cause.

Mr. Teale and Mr. McLaughlin then took on the luckless Scribe and Mr. Walsh, winning in straight games, with Mr. Teale commencing to find the range and Mr. McLaughlin perking up noticeably in the light of his improved support.

We will pass lightly over the scores of this match, sufficing it to say that the losers, by the deuce of an effort, succeeded in getting into the doubles in both games, which was something of a moral victory for them, considering McLaughlin's skill and Teale's luck!

The sun set well before the end of this match and darkness comes on apace these waning summer evenings. The courts were swathed in a velvety black mantle for the final match, with objects, animate and inanimate, looming spectral through the gloom.

Mr. Teale and the Secretary collaborated in this match which was of necessity, one fall to a positive finish with the winner taking all.

Mr. Teale's pitching was something to marvel at. Once at a crucial spot in the going he flung a double-header that even he had to admit was one above the odds, though he was quick to add that the six points counted, despite the vigorous protests of both Mr. McLaughlin and Mr. Walsh.

And to fill the losers cup of wormwood to the very brim, the Secretary, with no premium on skill in the utter darkness, commenced to get them on there. It could even be said that he was pitching pretty well for anyone under the conditions, and for him superbly. His and his partner's score piled up slowly in the darkness until the Teale double rocketed it to 19. Mr. McLaughlin and Mr. Walsh, after leading 13-5, were still at that cabalistic figure.

The Secretary with an airy nonchalance that became him very poorly tossed on a ring and a near one to raise the count to 23-13.

Mr. Teale, removing his "goosey", which bothered him in the dark and bashing a couple of extra persistent mosquitoes, hanged on a double that was a double even at Nabnasset, or Wells River. His whoops of triumph rang above the courts, causing lights to come up in kitchens across the pond as startled residents wondered what was the matter.

Mr. McLaughlin's first shoe silenced Mr. Teale completely as it landed squarely on the stake, but his second one, a bit off the beam, skidded away and school was out. As we mentioned above Mr. Teale went home happy!

NEW RIVER BED CUT

The big crane at the playground completed the new bed for the Abenja River at the westerly side of Manchester Field yesterday, cutting through into the old river in front of the Waterfield road bridge. The junction at the south end of the playground to the right of the footbridge leading to the Parkway was made Wednesday.

Those watching this latter cut were surprised to see the water in the bottom of the new river cut run down into the old river instead of the river flowing into the new channel.

At the northerly end of the field the old river flowed into the new channel, especially after the big scoop had filled in across the old stream from the playground side to the Parkway about where the old canoe landing used to be. Soft as the fill looked as it plopped down from the scoop, it was still hard enough for Jim Hagererty to drive the bulldozer over it yesterday afternoon.

A big crowd was on hand for the final cut-through and many watched the big crane at work all this week. The new bed curved nicely away to the right from the Waterfield road bridge skirting the little plot in which the Manchester Memorial boulder is placed. Those who deplored the removal of trees in connection with the job will be gratified to see the number remaining at this point.

At the northerly end of the playground the big scoop dug into old tanbark, prompting old timers to recall the days when the B. Wadsworth tannery was located roughly between the new river bed and the railroad tracks. The scoop brought up many stones and old timbers and a big drain-pipe set in cement, while at another point the ruins of what appeared to be an old bridge were encountered.

The big crane and scoop played no favorites, bringing up all sorts of debris indiscriminately. Youngsters getting too close to the work on the river bank yesterday morning got a fine ducking with not over-clean water when the big scoop slapped down on the river beside them.

The work has progressed in good time, despite unfavorable weather conditions and the delay occasioned by the referendum.

WINCHESTER BOY SEARS BOWL SKIPPER

Byron Wiswell, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Wiswell of Fletcher street, new champion of Massachusetts Bay in the junior class, is to represent this coast-line in the Sears Bowl series at Marblehead next week for the National Junior Championships.

Byron and his brother, George, learned to skipper boats with the culpe fleet at Winchester Boat Club. They used to clean up pretty well in the Race Week regattas at Marblehead each year, giving their salt-water competition a pretty thorough going-over, but after the 1943 Race Week, they stayed on at Marblehead themselves, getting into the 110 class and doing right well. It was still a brother combination, but after George went into service the younger Byron took over, and now he's "the champ!"

The Wiswells did their sailing from Corinthian and this Spring Byron was co-skipper on the Corinthian Junior Crew, runners-up to the North Shore junior champs, the Eastern Yacht Clubbers.

Last week Wiswell's co-skipper, Tom Harrington, resigned, leaving Byron "alone in his glory." He proved equal to his new leader's billet, by winning on Tuesday the elimination series at Hingham, held to choose the Massachusetts Bay representative for the Sears Bowl junior races.

Byron, competing for Corinthian against Eastern, and Hingham and Duxbury, winner and runner-up in the South Shore championships, won two of the four races, finishing second and third in the other two for 13½ points, next best being 10½. Peter Gray and Dickie Kimball were his crew.

Experts who watched Byron's tactics at Hingham feel he has an excellent chance of bringing the coveted Junior Sears Bowl to Corinthian for the first time.

AWARDED BRONZE STAR

Lt. John Stephen Buckley, husband of Mrs. Jane Buckley, 21 Sargent road, has been awarded the Bronze Star Medal by Secretary of the Navy, James Forrestal, for the President.

He skillfully maneuvered his ship and succeeded in clearing a heavily mined area thus adding materially to the success of the Normandy invasion.

Text of the citation is as follows:

"For meritorious achievement as Commanding Officer of the USS YMS 356 in action against enemy forces during the invasion of Northern France on June 6, 1944. Beginning before 11-hour, and sweeping a long channel closed by shore under enemy gunfire, Lt. (jg) Buckley skillfully maneuvered his ship and succeeded in clearing a heavily mined area. Lt. Buckley's determined courage, expert ship-handling and firm devotion to duty contributed materially to the success of the Normandy invasion and were in keeping with the highest traditions of the United States Naval Service."

INJURED AS TRUCK AND CAR COLLIDE

Mary C. Carey, 54, of Pine Grove avenue, Pinehurst, was injured shortly after 12:30 yesterday afternoon when the Plymouth sedan in which she was riding was in collision on upper Main street with a Brockway van truck, owned by M. H. Winn Trucking Co. of Woburn and driven by Vito M. Delaria of 34 Mt. Pleasant street, that city.

Delaria was backing from a parked position in front of the Sheridan Farms fruit and vegetable stand, 1012 Main street and cutting to the left to back into the driveway of the Ingersoll Products Co. The Plymouth, driven by Frederick J. Carey of Pine Grove avenue, Pinehurst, was headed south on Main street.

Mary Carey was taken to the Choate Hospital in Woburn and treated for a bump on the head, cuts on both arms and other bruises. She was held at the hospital. Both machines were damaged.

TRIESTE

Italy's north Adriatic port of Trieste, whose disposition has been a problem for the "Big Four" peace planners, has been a center of conflicting interests at irregular intervals since Roman times, notes the National Geographic Society.

By international agreement, British American troops have patrolled a neutralized zone of Trieste region in the year since VE-Day. That zone includes Trieste at its southern end, and stretches northward in a narrow band to the Austrian border.

East of this line, armed Yugoslav forces have stood on the very heights surrounding the port city. They have occupied Fiume and the Istrian peninsula, and the mountainous borderland northeast of Trieste — all the eastern part of Venezia Giulia, former Austro-Hungarian land that was handed to Italy by the peace treaties after World War I.

Shipbuilding Chief Industry

Italians hold a clear-cut majority among the quarter-million people of the cosmopolitan port city and in some of the neighboring coastal towns. Yugoslavs dominate the Istrian countryside and some of the mountainous land to the north, tilling the soil held by their ancestors since the Middle Ages.

Romans, Franks, Goths, Venetians in turn controlled the sheltered deep-water harbor. For 500 years before World War I, except briefly in Napoleon's heyday, Trieste was under Austrian rule. Rivaling nearby Venice during part of this period, it came to be known as "the Hamburg of the Adriatic."

Normally the workers of Trieste live by building ships and by shipping, financing, and insuring the maritime trade of 45 million central Europeans. The city fared badly in commerce in the 1920's. It recovered for a while in the 1930's but lost out heavily in 1938 when Germany usurped the trade of Austria and Czechoslovakia.

Nazis Depleted Forests

At the Monfalcone shipyard, west of Trieste, Fascist Italy built half of its new shipping. Trieste industries included oil refineries, iron foundries, silk and cotton mills and a Ford assembly plant.

Natural beauty belongs to the city rising in tiers on the hills that surround the harbor. Some of that beauty was destroyed by Nazi axes which cut down hillside forests for firewood. The forests protected the port from the seasonally violent borna, a wind of great force.

Opicina, to the north of Trieste, was a mountain resort with sea bathing. Hotels sat on bluffs, 1000 feet by elevator above the white sands of the shore. Northwest is Miramare, famous for the castle home of Austrian Archduke Maximilian, unhappy and ill-fated Emperor of Mexico 80 years ago.

BLOWGUNS AND DARTS

America's fighting men have seen this ancient but very effective weapon in use. It is a Paul Bunyan size version of the bright tin peasooter, or puttyblower, which they used a few years back to send pellets zipping across the schoolyard — or classroom.

Blowguns up to ten feet in length, made of rigid native woods, have long been used by primitive savages on Borneo, Palawan, Sumatra, Celebes, Timor, and neighboring tropical islands to kill birds and beasts for their diet. The killing is done by small darts blown from the long tubes with a quick puff. The tips of the darts are soaked with a vegetable poison which takes rapid effect in the bloodstream.

Precision Drilling Job

Some blowguns are made by gouging and polishing a half-round groove lengthwise, in each of two flat poles and binding them together. Others are made by lashing a carefully selected pole in a vertical position under a platform and boring it from above with a long iron bit. When half its length is bored, the pole is reversed.

The bore must be small—about .32 calibre, one-third of an inch. While one man drills painstakingly, another pours water in the hole to float off the chips. Allowance is even made for the sag of the pole, due to its own weight and the weight of the short spear which some Borneo tribesmen lash to its end. The drilling requires great precision; completing it may consume several days.

Very light blowguns may be quickly made from bamboo alone, convenient because it is hollow. The needed rigidity in such guns is gained by placing the small-bore bamboo tube in a tight-fitting casing of thicker bamboo.

The darts, carried by the powerful, are usually eight to ten inches long and made from hard, straight palm fiber whittled to the thickness of a steel knitting needle. For hunting animals, but rarely for hunting birds, the sharpened points of the darts used by Borneo natives are coated with the poisonous sap of the upas tree (Antiaris toxicaria), and notched so that the tip will break off in the wound. At the butt end of the dart, a small wad of pith serves as the piston by which the dart is blown through the tube.

Natives skilled with the device can hit small targets 50 yards away, and reach game in tall tree-tops. Stealth is the secret of its effectiveness, however. The wily tribesmen, creeping through the forest, can quietly send his poisoned barbs from short range into several monkeys of a band before creating any general alarm.

One minute, the monkey victims reach to scratch what feel like brand new fleas. The next, they are plummeting to the ground one after another, the victims of a poison which, when taken in the bloodstream, quickly paralyzes heart muscles and nervous systems.

Blowguns with poisoned darts are by no means exclusive to the Eastern Hemisphere. Indian tribes of Ecuador and Brazil make bamboo pipes more than 12 feet long. They use darts up to 18 inches with the points dipped in juice of the native strychnine fruit to bag large game, and sun-baked balls of clay for small game.

When the Iroquois braves roamed the region of upper New York State in pre-Colonial times, blowguns were among their weapons.

ARTIST PRENDERGAST LIVED HERE

Started Frame - Carving with the late Herman Dudley Murphy

August 14, 1946
Editor of the Star:

I thought you might be interested in this article from the New Yorker concerning a Charles Prendergast, who achieved fame, incising gesso panels, whatever that is. You will note that he lived in Winchester for quite a period and didn't like it, just the same as some of our present day residents don't like it. The article also mentions an "obscure" painter, Herman Dudley Murphy, and also T. W. Lawson, who were living in Winchester at the time.

I don't remember Prendergast but maybe you do; anyway I thought the article was interesting.

Sincerely yours,
Harry L. Pilkington

Ed. Note—We are obliged to our friend Harry for the New Yorker article about Mr. Prendergast which we also read with interest. We do remember him. He lived at 27 Winthrop street with his brother, Maurice, now deceased.

The article, the second of two on Mr. Prendergast by Hamilton Basso, rates him as the greatest living maker of incised gesso panels, which are slabs of wood, covered with gesso (a combination of slaked lime and glue) on which are cut the outlines of pictures something like bas-reliefs.

It is of interest that Mr. Prendergast got into gesso panels from picture-frame carving which he commenced while in Winchester through the advice of the late Herman Dudley Murphy, referred to in the article as an "obscure painter", rather a cavalier rating for one of Mr. Murphy's stature in the world of art.

Charles Prendergast was born in Boston May 27, 1869. He and his brother, Maurice, a noted painter, known in his hey-day as one of "The Eight", the others being Robert Henri, John Sloan, William Glackens, Ernest Lawson, George Luks, Everett Shinn and Arthur B. Davies, lived their lives together until his brother's death in 1924. They attended the Rice Grammar School together on Dartmouth street in Boston, and they lived in Winchester together in the early 1900's, about the time Herman Dudley Murphy was building his studio home, "Carriage House", on Highland avenue.

Previous to that Maurice had lettered advertising cards to raise money to go to Paris to study art and Charles had worked for Doll & Richards' fine arts shop in Boston, the brothers collaborating on a couple of summer vacation cruises to England on cattle steamers.

Following the second of these Charles left Doll & Richards and after working for a time for another fine art shop, formed a partnership with another man, turning out mantels, doors, and other interior woodwork to architects' specifications.

The firm did pretty well financially, but Mr. Prendergast was most unhappy, "damned unhappy", to use his own words. He moved out of Boston to Winchester, but even that didn't help, and it wasn't until his brother Maurice returned from his art studies in Paris, flat broke, but with a lot of pictures that were later to sell for around $800 each, that he found out what was wrong. Maurice came to Winchester to live with Charles and persuaded him that it was his business that kept him unhappy. It didn't take too much urging to get Charles out of his partnership, profitable as it was, and it was at this time that Herman Dudley Murphy entered the picture.

From his boyhood Charles Prendergast had a passion for whitening, and Mr. Murphy, noting that every time the former got his hands on a block of wood he started carving it, suggested that he put his hobby to practical use and carve picture frames.

Mr. Prendergast was doubtful, but again brother Maurice decided the matter for him and he became a picture-frame carver. The Star understands that Mr. Murphy was for a time, at least, associated with Mr. Prendergast here in the "Carriage House" where they created a renaissance in the framing of pictures, carving their frames and gilding them with gesso and gold leaf and producing frames still famous throughout America.

It was through Mr. Murphy, the New Yorker article says, that Mr. Prendergast got his first framing commission. A Boston lady, who knew Mr. Murphy, had bought two old paintings in Italy. They arrived in this country without frames, and she asked Mr. Murphy to recommend a framer. He sent her to Mr. Prendergast and he went to work on the frames, starting them while on vacation on the Cape with his brother.

He found the jackknife of his boyhood not up to the job at hand and purchased some carving tools from a young village girl who had been studying carving but wanted to give it up. He finished the frames on the Cape and when he returned to Winchester he coated them with gesso and burnished them with gold leaf, turning them down to match the age of the pictures they were to enclose.

He got $250 for the frames and decided to keep on framing, settling in Winchester with his second hand tools.

The orders came in, but in between them Mr. Prendergast had time to ruminate a bit and his reflections led him to the decision that he wanted to incise gesso panels. He got at it and has persisted, building up an international reputation in what had been until then an almost forgotten art form.

His work he divides into three periods. Oriental, transitional and modern. He uses paint on his panels and a lot of gold leaf, showing a fondness for angels and other imaginary things. He did his first panel in 1912 and it hangs in his home at Westport, Conn., where he has been living since 1930. In the 1930's he did such non-celestial things as "Country Fair", "Central Park Zoo" and "Race Track". In 1939 he did a series of panels on the New York World's Fair with the famous dancing girls, the Rockettes, replacing the angels of his earlier days.

Although Mr. Prendergast found his niche in incising gesso panels, he kept on making picture frames because the market for gesso panels wasn't too brisk at first and the excellence of his frames was rapidly earning him the reputation of being the finest living American frame maker. They even advertised paintings as framed by Charles Prendergast.

In connection with his framing-making there is another interesting Winchester angle. One of his best earlier commissions was from Thomas W. Lawson of "Frenzied Finance" fame, who lived in Winchester while Mr. Prendergast was here in the house on Main street now occupied by Mr. Ralph Sylvester.

"Tom" Lawson, whom older residents of Winchester recall, had a pack of hunting dogs and commissioned an artist to paint them. He also commissioned to frame the huge painting, including his coat-of-arms on the frame, with the stipulation that the framing must be done by Christmas. That gave Mr. Prendergast less than a month, and his brother, Maurice, had to pitch in and help. The job was done and delivered the night before Christmas and the next day Mr. Lawson sent a messenger to Mr. Prendergast with a check for $800.

Unfortunately neither of the Prendergast brothers liked Winchester. They didn't like Boston either, but they liked "The Athens of America" even less, and shortly after completing the frame for Mr. Lawson, they moved back to Boston. Later in 1914, after Charles had completed an $1,800 framing job for a Philadelphia insurance company, they moved to New York, settling in Washington square, their home until Maurice's death in 1924. There the brothers felt they really lived, among their artist kind, being untouched when the Jazz Age descended upon their locale.

After Maurice's death Charles was at loose ends for a year. Increased rent drove him out of the apartment he and his brother had occupied and after a while he married. He pooh poohs the reports that he and his brother were ever poor and miserable. His own opinion is that they got their work done the way they wanted and that for his money no two men ever had a better time!

BOY SCOUTS RETURNING FROM NEW MEXICO

The local Boy Scouts who left for New Mexico in the middle of July are scheduled to return home Sunday, Aug. 25. Their train is due to get in to the South Station, Boston, at 7:10 Eastern Standard Time. Many local citizens are planning to welcome them at South Station.

Letters that have been received from the party indicate that they have had an experience second to none.

In addition to visiting Niagara Falls, Chicago, the Indian pueblo villages of New Mexico and Washington, D. C., they have experienced a four week stay at the National Boy Scout Ranch in Cimarron, New Mexico, consisting of 126,000 acres. From the letters they have seen many wild animals including the mountain lion.

Their stay at Philmont Ranch has been an exciting one and all of the boys will have remarkable stories to tell on their return. It is now planned to have all of these boys speak to the various Troops and outside organizations during the fall months. The party included the following boys: John Holdsworth, Phillip E. Nelson, George F. Burr, Burton E. Bailey, Robert B. L. Singer, Jr., all of Winchester.

We also have Scotch tape at Wilson the Stationers, Star Bldg.

FLOWERS FOR BOSTON'S SHUT-INS

One would think that the droughts of July and the rains of August could discourage the Winchester gardeners and their owners, but no, the Winchester Flower Mission still has its enthusiastic contributions. Every Tuesday since June the bunches and baskets of colorful blossoms have been brought to the 9 o'clock train at the Winchester Station. Their destination via the Boston and Maine is the South Bay Union on Harrison avenue where they are distributed to the sick and elderly, to hospitals, and institutions in this district where otherwise there could be no flowers.

On Aug. 20 and 27 Mrs. Harold A. Smith, assisted by Miss Helen Hall, of the First Congregational Church, has charge of the Mission. Please call Win. 1884 if you have some flowers you would like to contribute.

The quantity and beauty of the collection have been considerably aided by the generosity of two local florists who have donated bouquets: Cummings the Florist, and Loring G. Hawes of Reading. The committee under Mrs. Arthur G. Robbins are grateful for their help.

During September when Winchester's flower gardens should be at their brightest, Mrs. Chester Kooner, Win. 2809, of the Methodist Church will head the final month of a successful season of flower sharing.

A WEEK-END REFLECTION

In connection with any discussion on social security and increased Old Age Assistance payments we will do well to bear in mind that there are strict limits to anything humane men in and out of Winchester can do in the way of enlarging and strengthening social security. A man's end and aim and goal is not found on this mundane sphere. The changes and uncertainties, the need for readjustment to varied circumstances, are all part of the soul's discipline and education. Our longing for permanence and security cannot in the very nature of things be satisfied on earth. Let us remember first and last that this world we live in is a bridge, and its proper use is as a thoroughfare.

Needlecraft News by Nancy Baxter

Is there a new baby in your home... next door... or down the street? During the war years America has been having bumper crops of babies and approximately 3,000,000 are expected per year for the next few years. So I suspect there must be a new baby, or an expected one, somewhere in your circle.

There's just nothing so precious or lovable as a tiny pink-and-white addition to the family. The brand new baby will be getting his share of attention from fond parents and relatives who want to do something for the tiny mite. But what? Babies need very complete wardrobes, so a gift of some article of clothing will be welcomed by both baby and Mother. And the more clothes baby has — the easier will be Mother's laundry problem. But baby clothes are both expensive and hard to find—so we'll have to depend on our needles and crochet hooks for the answer. Every woman likes to make clothes for a baby, because there's a creative thrill in sewing dainty dresses and crocheting or knitting cuddly sweaters and saucers. Besides, handmade articles add that personal touch.

A baby's first complete wardrobe is the layette which consists of all the things needed for the first six months — binders, vests, diapers, socks, nightgowns, blankets, dresses, clips, bonnets, booties, etc. All these are simple to make and can be finished in no time. Then, of course, you can always fix up the baby's room or nursery corner by adding dainty trills and ruffles to bassinet or crib and window curtains. And last, but far from least are the toys. These, too, are expensive to buy but simple to make... and think of the fun you'll have while making them. There are many things you can do for a baby, and practically everyone of them can come from your own fingers. We have for you today directions for knitting an irresistible saucer for an angel-child. It's made up in a pretty, shell-like stitch, with a tiny pink or blue crocheted edging to match the satin ribbons at neck and sleeves. This saucer of soft baby wool will keep your pride-and-joy warm as a muffin and cute as a button. Don't worry about the traditional colors of blue for boys and pink for girls, because both these colors are now used for either boys or girls. If you would like directions for knitting this ANGEL CHILD BUTTERFLY SAUCER just send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Needlework Department of this paper, asking for Leaflet No. 5240.

there, she is given instruction in household arts, personal hygiene, the care of her baby and non-sectarian religious instruction. The Salvation Army has one desire in helping these girls, that is to give them a respect for God, renewed self respect, and a normal place in society, a rebuilding of morale and a mental, physical and spiritual restoration. Major Marion S. Kimball is superintendent and Dr. A. K. Paine, Dean of Obstetrics at the Hospital is Chief of Staff. The Hospital is endorsed by the American College of Surgeons.

CARPATHO-UKRAINE

Known also as Sub-Carpathian Russia, and matching Connecticut in area, the mountain-bound ceded area was prior to 1918 a dark and forgotten corner of Hungary, notes a National Geographic Society bulletin. In 1918 it became the remote eastern tip of Czechoslovakia by the terms of the Treaty of Trianon. It was given limited self-rule within the newly formed Czech republic in lieu of union with the Ukraine, being separated from the Ukraine by the award of eastern Galicia to Poland.

Nazi Germany, by the coup of March, 1939, declared an end to Czechoslovakia and awarded part of Ruthenia to Hungary. Not satisfied, Hungary soon annexed the remainder by invasion. Thus gaining a stretch of common border with Poland, Hungary was faced on that border within six months by the Russians with whom Ruthenian sympathies lay. The Ruthenian clamor for union with the Ukrainians gathered new force. When the new Czech state in 1918 acquired Ruthenia, it was confronted with the task of bringing enlightenment to mountain people of many tongues, only one out of five able to read or write. Gypsy nomads who constantly upset normal life in the villages were part of the problem. By 1938, the nomads had largely been shown the advantages of settling down in small colonies, and literacy had been given to tens of thousands in schools catering to Russians, Jews, Poles, Magyars and many other language groups.

Highways were built joining remote communities on the Carpathian slopes to the several market towns on the northern edge of the fertile Hungarian Plain, which overflows into southern Poland. Modern public and private buildings, power plants, movie theaters were erected in Uzhonad and Mukachevo, the two principal towns. Modern methods were introduced to advance agriculture and forestry, the two leading occupations. Health standards, which had been low, were greatly improved.

OCEAN DEPTHS

It was no coincidence that the West Indies earthquake was apparently centered in the Milwaukee Depth—the deepest known spot in the Atlantic—for scientists have observed that ocean depths seem to have a definite connection with such disturbance.

The ocean does not get deeper and deeper the further it extends from shore, points out the National Geographic Society. Rather, its deep spots usually are found along the edges of continental shelves. They are situated near earthquake belts on land, or follow these belts where they extend into the sea.

Variations in Earth's Crust
Volcanic islands or mainland mountains often rise near ocean depths, causing great local variations in the earth's crust. Milwaukee Depth falls 30,246 feet below the surface, while on nearby Hispaniola, the rocky island on which Haiti and the Dominican Republic are situated, mountains rise to 8790 feet.

Besides Milwaukee Depth, the Atlantic's other low spots include Nares Deep, 22,949 feet, southeast of Bermuda; Bartlett Deep, 22,788 feet, between Cuba and Honduras; and Monaco Deep, 20,646 feet, northwest of the Canary Islands.

In addition to depths, the Atlantic has four huge basins. These extensive low areas are separated by the Mid-Atlantic Rise, one of the longest mountain ranges in the world, but completely submerged except for the Azores and Ascension Island.

Modern knowledge of this ridge in the Atlantic helps keep alive the legend of the "lost Atlantis," which Plato described as a populous mid-Atlantic continent that sank beneath the waves 12,000 years ago. The ridge once may have been above water, but most geologists doubt that it sank with in recorded time.

Echo-Sounding Gives Depths
Most information on the depths of the oceans comes from soundings made from ships. The hull is struck a solid blow, and fathometers record the exact time it takes for the sound to travel to the ocean floor and its echo to come back to the ship. A mathematical calculation does the rest.

NILE RIVER

Egypt, in one of its first steps toward postwar development, is planning a powerful hydroelectric plant for the famous Aswan Dam. It thus places additional dependence on the Nile, which, the National Geographic Society points out, has been the life stream of the country alike under the Pharaohs, the Ptolemys and the kingdom of today. In the midst of barren desert the mighty river flows through wide, green valley in which fine cotton and grain are cultivated.

This fertility is possible because of a phenomenal flood, whose waters originate more than 1,000 miles to the south, and which annually inundates Egyptian land bordering the Nile. After flood waters subside a rich loam sediment is left. Second in length only to the Mississippi-Missouri river system, the Nile extends through 35 degrees of latitude, flowing through Belgian Congo, Uganda, Ethiopia, Anglo-Egyptian Sudan and Egypt. The Nile River basin has an area of 1,082,000 square miles.

Nile Has Two Sources

Estimated to be 4,000 miles long, the Nile was considered divine by Egyptians who dedicated a temple to it. On Roda, an island near Cairo, flood waters are measured by an ancient Nilometer. This simple calibrated column of stone stands opposite the spot where the story goes, Pharaoh's slaughterer, rescued Moses from the bulrushes. When the Nilometer shows that the river is 25 feet above its normal level, festivals are held. When the flood exceeds 25 feet, it is disastrous rather than beneficial.

The Nile's source was a subject of scientific dispute for centuries. It is now known that the Blue Nile, originating in the Ethiopian mountains, is responsible for the flood and alluvial deposits. West of the Blue Nile flows the White Nile whose mother stream is the Kagera, a river formed by mountain streams in Tanganyika. The White Nile can be considered to start with that stream and then to flow through lakes Victoria and Albert, eventually reaching Khartoum in Anglo-Egyptian Sudan. There it is joined by the Blue Nile.

From Lake Victoria to Khartoum the Nile is navigable with great difficulty. The channel is almost obliterated by "sudd," dense plant growth which chokes the waters. Downstream from Khartoum (north) as far as Aswan in Egypt, the Nile is broken by a series of six cataracts, although there are long stretches of smooth water between them. A Sudanese railway between Wadi Halfa and Khartoum carries passengers past five of the falls.

The Aswan Dam, about 700 miles from the Mediterranean, is five times as long and one-fifth as high as Boulder Dam. Completion of the dam created a huge lake which covered the sites of many villages. Below the dam, during the annual flood voyagers can view only the roof of the 60-foot-high temple of Isis. The rest is under water.

From Aswan to the Mediterranean the Nile is navigable by large boats which, before the war, carried thousands of tourists every year. At Thebes, known as "the world's greatest graveyard," many of Egypt's famous kings and queens are buried in gorgeously decorated tombs. Across the river, Luxor, a favorite city of tourists, offered the best in hotel accommodations and obliging dragomen.

Nile Voyage Picturesque

Close to the villages stately girls come to the water's edge, draw water and carry it away on their heads. Children in tiny boats constructed of oil tins paddle along with their hands and in pre-war days hoped to receive money thrown from tourist steamers. Egyptian sailboats, with their strange sails that look like lacquered feathers, glide past larger vessels. Along the shore are architectural remnants of former mighty civilizations. Beyond El Giza on a clear day can be seen the famous Giza pyramid.

Cairo, capital of Egypt and largest city in Africa, is situated on the right bank of the Nile. Although greatly modernized, the city is distinctly oriental. An important Moslem educational center, Cairo has many mosques whose minarets and towers enhance the zigzag of the skyline.

Nine miles below Cairo the Nile divides into the two main branches of its delta. This area is referred to as "the Garden of Egypt" and is a maze of small streams and canals which pierce rich farm land. The Nile enters the Mediterranean on the west at Rosetta, and on the east at Damietta. Both of these towns were commercially important until the opening of the Suez Canal and the development of Alexandria.

25 YEARS AGO

September 2, 1921

The Republican Town Committee met on Friday evening for the purpose of considering the matter of endorsing some person for the position of Postmaster. It was finally decided to endorse Mr. George A. Schuman, assistant cashier at the Winchester National Bank and Auditor of the town, for the position. The vote was unanimous. The appointment made at this time will be for the unexpired term of the late Postmaster, John F. O'Connor, running for a period of about a year.

Last Thursday the ladies of the Home for Aged People on Kendall street were entertained by Mr. Preston Pond. The party was taken to Mr. Pond's beautiful estate on Prospect street by auto, where a very pleasant afternoon was spent, refreshments and music, together with many beautiful flowers making it the loveliest occasion of the summer for those attending.

Holbrook Ayer again won his race in the Snowbird class at Quincy Saturday afternoon, finishing two minutes over his nearest competitor.

Ambrose Kerrigan, who has accepted a commission in the regular Army, left Wednesday for Fortress Monroe.

To Mr. Loomis of Highland avenue we extend thanks for interesting seed pods from the Australian flame tree. An article published last week prompted this gentleman to present us with these pods and seeds. The tree grows 100 feet high, so it is said.

Sidney A. Beeg's, Class B boat Rukewide won at Marblehead Saturday, finishing two minutes ahead of J. J. Moors' Seapa. Charles Francis Adams sailed the Rogue, finishing third, three minutes behind Beegs.

A new granolithic approach is being laid at the town hall, together with a new water break around the building of the same material.

Theodore Clifton won the single paddling quarter mile canoe race for the third consecutive time in the fortnightly Winchester Boat Club regatta and water sports on upper Mystic Lake Saturday afternoon. Clifton was conspicuous because he paddles standing up in the canoe, while his nearest rival, Robert Moffett, and the other three contestants in the race paddled kneeling. He had a lead of 1 1/2 canoe lengths half way down the course.

Moffett and Kenneth Pratt turned the tables on Clifton in the tandem single blade quarter mile race in canvas canoes, winning the event in which Randlett was Clifton's partner, by a canoe length, after leading all the way.

There will be a mass meeting held in Winchester Square on Friday evening, Sept. 2 at 8 p. m. James A. Cullen of New York City, a former Winchester man will speak on "English Propaganda and Ireland's Cause." This will be the first time he has spoken in Winchester and from all reports tonight's meeting will be one that will long be remembered.

In an exciting game of ball on Leonard Field Saturday, the Winchester Laundry baseball team lost to the Pilgrim Laundry of Roxbury, 9 to 8. Jack Fitzgerald held down the box for the local nine.

Daily Philosophy

From the looks of some buildings the boy with a piece of chalk is making his mark.

A woman may look good and not be possessed with good looks. The profile of getting rich quick may be as great as ever.

It is not more profitable to give a boy something to do, than always something not to do.

There is not much virtue in never doing wrong if you never do right.

50 YEARS AGO

August 28, 1896

The matter of an electric road from Winchester to Arlington and Watertown has come to a dead standstill because of the action of the Selectmen of Arlington in refusing to let a location through that town, and it is now probable that a line to Watertown will be abandoned altogether. There is, however, a scheme on foot and that is to form a new company to operate between this town and Arlington only, and it is expected that within a short time the first steps will be taken in this matter. It is not believed the Selectmen of Arlington will refuse this request, and we hardly see how they would care to, for to do so will greatly retard the growth of that town by preventing excellent building land coming into market.

Mr. William Ballou, ticket agent at the centre station, has been appointed station agent at Winter Hill, Somerville. The extreme courtesy and thoughtfulness of this gentleman makes his removal a great loss to all Winchester patrons of the road. He was the one man in the hundred for the position, and what will prove our loss will be Somerville's gain.

Mr. J. S. Brown of Cambridge has been engaged by the Selectmen to run the new steam road roller.

The driven well put in last week near the station by George E. Pratt, the plumber, not proving satisfactory has been abandoned, and the Selectmen have deemed it inexpedient to grant another location close to the station.

Band concert this Friday evening by the Maplewood Band. Mr. Forrest C. Manchester has been chosen a member of the committee on resolutions for the Republican State Convention, which meets Oct. 1.

Mr. Edmund Sanderson has so far recovered from his recent severe illness as to be able to be out. This gentleman has a wonderful constitution, that ensures him a long lease of life yet.

Word comes to us that a mistake is being made in allowing the park land to be used as a dumping ground for refuse, as it will only have to be carted away again at the town's expense.

Winchester together with words 3 and 6 of Medford will now be known as the 12th Representative District and will have 2446 voters.

The Selectmen Monday evening voted to install ten additional incandescent lights, as petitioned for.

About 40 members of the Calumet Club went to the home of Mr. E. S. Barker at Burlington last Saturday afternoon to help celebrate that gentleman's birthday. The visitors went in barges, and it is needless to state that they had a most enjoyable time at this hospitable place. After the party arrived and greetings had been exchanged the members inspected the handsome and spacious grounds under the leadership of the host, after which base ball was indulged in. Features of the game were a run made by Mr. L. C. Pattee, and the hiring of boys to run bases on hits by Mr. D. Skellings and Mr. C. W. Bradstreet, after this, refreshments were served in the shade of stately trees, followed by an impromptu address by the inimitable and only H. T. Schaefer, that caused much merriment. The visit proved to be most enjoyable throughout.

After fumigating the lockup Tuesday, the windows were opened and the vapors from the sub-farby discolored the ivy at the side of the town house and even the grass close to the windows.

Horse Killed, Bugzy Smashed The first accident in Winchester to take place on the Mystic Valley Railroad occurred on Pleasant street last Sunday evening when a car struck a team driven by Mr. Christopher Mullen. The horse jumped in front of the car and was so badly injured that Chief Richardson was called to put it out of misery. The buggy was badly smashed. The car was going at a moderate rate of speed, but the unlooked for move on the part of the horse precluded any chance on the part of the motorman to prevent the accident.

The driver was somewhat shaken up, but apparently sustained no further injury.

SELECTMEN'S NOTES

The following jurors were drawn:

Alonso D. Nicholas, 59 Yale street, 1st session Criminal. Thornton C. Jesdale, 45 Cabot street, 2nd session civil, both to report at Cambridge on Oct. 7, 1946.

The next meeting of the Board will be held on Tuesday, Sept. 3.

PARK-KELLEY

There is much Winchester interest in the marriage which took place at North East Margaree, Cape Breton, Nova Scotia, on Saturday afternoon, Aug. 24, when Miss Nancy Kelley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert W. Kelley of Willow street, became the bride of David Chapman Park, son of Dr. and Mrs. Edwards A. Park of Baltimore, Md. Rev. Wallace M. Walker performed the simple outdoor ceremony at 4 o'clock at Red Wing Cabin, summer home of the bridegroom's parents. The bride, wearing the traditional wedding gown of white satin was unattended, Eric Statin of New Haven, Conn., was best man for Mr. Park. Only the immediate families were present, the bride's parents motoring from their summer home in Duxbury to attend the wedding.

A graduate of Abbot Academy in 1941 and of Vassar College with the class of 1944, the bride is attending the Simmons College School of Social Work. Mr. Park is a graduate of Pomfret School and in the fall will complete his course with the class of 1944 at Harvard, where he is a member of the Spee Club. He served as a lieutenant in the U. S. Army Air Force and recently returned from overseas. After a honeymoon at Cape Breton he and his bride plan to resume their studies.

CLARK-MOTTRAM

Miss Ruby Lee May Mottram, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Mottram, was married Saturday afternoon, Aug. 24, at the home of her parents on Mt. Vernon street to Charles E. Clark of Watertown. Rev. John Prescott Robertson of the First Congregational Church, officiated at the 4 o'clock ceremony, which was followed by a reception.

Given in marriage by her father, Miss Mottram wore an ice blue tulle gown with tulle trimming and a halo cap of matching blue tulle. Her flowers were white roses with a shower of babies' breath.

Mrs. Gretchen Libby of Scarborough, Me., was the bride's only attendant, wearing deep rose tulle and carrying a bouquet of yellow and gold pom-pom chrysanthemums. Warren E. Libby of Scarborough, Me., was Mr. Clark's best man, and Eugene Brackley, cousin of the bride, was usher.

Mr. and Mrs. Clark are spending their honeymoon in New Hampshire. Upon their return they will make their home at 117 A Mt. Vernon street.

RECORD FEATURED SHOWER

A phonograph record announcing the various details, featured the shower given Wednesday evening by Miss Anne Cole of Winchester Arms and Miss Peggy Coulson of Sheffield road, at Miss Coulson's home, for Miss Priscilla Flagg of Wyman court, Miss Polly Kimball of Cabot street, Mrs. Edward Gutz (Muriel Fifield) of Woodside road and Miss Jane Davis of Lakeview road.

The record was made by Miss Cole's mother, Mrs. Samuel D. Cole, and proved a most enjoyable novelty. Presents for the four honorees were placed under a decorated umbrella.

After the many packages had been opened refreshments were served, another special feature being an attractively decorated cake bearing the names of the four girls who were being showered.

Besides these four and Miss Cole and Miss Coulson, guests included Mrs. Jack Andrews (Gladys Fifield) of Cambridge, Mrs. James Cook (Genevra Underwood), Miss Mary Lee Richardson, Miss Jane Coulson, Mrs. Richard Hakanson (Bonnie Wilson) of Arlington, Mrs. Granville Flagg and Mrs. John Coulson.

BATTLE ROYAL

Those who happened to be on Mt. Vernon street in the vicinity of the Fire Station yesterday forenoon shortly before 11:30 saw a "young fellow" give a woman, two burly firemen and finally, a police officer the dickens of a tussle before he was finally gotten safely into Headquarters.

If Mr. Ripley has his pencil handy he can jot down these facts, though even his facile point could hardly picture what transpired. The "young fellow" was 2 years old, and was picked up, obviously lost, in the center by the helpful lady. She got him as far as the entrance to Police Headquarters on Mt. Vernon street, but at that point the young wayfarer resisted stoutly her every effort to get him any further. He was all for going home, not "in there." Many an older person has shared that view.

In this instance the kind lady had no objection to taking the youngster home, but his refusal, or inability, to tell who he was or where he lived made such action difficult, if not impossible.

Attempting to urge him into the Police Station resulted in action that had to be seen to be believed. The youngster battled and screeched, and the lady, after a good sporting effort, gave up what doubtless seemed to her a hopeless struggle.

It was at this point that the Fire Department attempted to take over, Firemen Roy Nowell and Eddie Fitzgerald entering the lists with an easy confidence that became them well. From then on things looked up nicely.

The kiddo, heretofore fair by this time, led the husky fire-fighters a merry chase. Mulberry bushes are scarce on Mt. Vernon street, but whatever camp handy to him the youngster went around and around, until it looked like he might win the steep-chase by the simple expedient of wearing the opposition out.

Finally, however, Fireman Nowell made a very lucky scoop, indeed, and snatched the youngster, getting him under one arm and off the ground.

Some where along the way the kiddo had acquired a stout stick and with this he slashed away while his thrashing feet beat a devil's tattoo on any part of Fireman Nowell's ample person that came handy.

Anything in the way of vocal pyrotechnics which the youngster had attempted up to then, paled into insignificance by comparison with his efforts at this point. He really gave of his best right then and heads appeared at nearby windows, while Officer Edward Bowler popped out of Headquarters to see what went!

Sizing up the situation promptly, "Connie" went into action and his efforts tipped the scales for law and order.

The youngster, overcome but far from licked, was "rescued" into Headquarters, where away from the street, where Officer Bowler, with a technique which would have done credit to one of the better lion-tamers, calmed him down and induced him to sit quietly on a bench until his identity could be established.

This was done by means of a name in his hat and a bit of telephoning, subsequent action resulting in the young warrior being returned intact to his mother by Officer William Hagerty.

His name was taken, but not for possible punitive action, but simply that those who encountered him at the tender age of two may once more recognize him when he starts wrecking entire football teams for Coach Knowlton in a dozen years or so.

MISS HARMER ENGAGED

Mrs. Torr Wagner Harmer of Lakeview terrace announces the engagement of her daughter, Miss Barbara Harmer, to Mr. Edwin Charles Van Valey, son of Dr. and Mrs. Edwin Van Valey of Briarcliff Manor, New York.

Miss Harmer, daughter of the late Dr. Harmer, was graduated from the Whittier May School and is now a member of the class of 1948 at Princeton College.

Mr. Van Valey was graduated from the Scarborough School, Scarborough-on-Hudson, N. Y., and from Amherst College. During 1946 he worked in biology research under Dr. Oscar Schotte at Amherst and at present is attending the School of Dentistry at the University of Pennsylvania.

Franklin E. Barnes has been spending most of the summer with his son, Warren F. Barnes at Ocean Point, Maine.

NEW OWNER OF MEAD HOUSE FORMER NAVY PHYSICIAN

Dr. James A. Lamphier, who recently purchased the Mead house on Church street, has just returned to civil life after five years with the Medical Corps of the United States Navy, in which he held the rank of commander.

A graduate of Harvard and of Tufts Medical School, Dr. Lamphier was in practice prior to entering the Navy, having his office at 1101 Beacon street in Brookline. He also specialized in Obstetrics and Gynecology for five years in New York Hospitals.

While in the Navy Dr. Lamphier was assigned to major surgery in naval hospitals and took a course in anesthesia at the Lahey Clinic in Boston. For two years before returning to the United States he was chief of surgery at the United States Naval Hospital, Balboa, Canal Zone.

Dr. Lamphier is a Diplomate of the American Board of Obstetrics and Gynecology, Fellow of the American College of Surgeons, Fellow of the New England Obstetrical and Gynecological Society, Fellow of the Massachusetts Medical Society and a member of the Military Surgeons of the United States, American Society of Anesthetists and of the American Medical Association. He has recently been made a Fellow of the International College of Surgeons.

While in the Navy, Dr. Lamphier married Anne Fischer Nowell, daughter of T. Arthur Noworthy, president of the Bronx Savings Bank of New York and niece of Rear Admiral John Shafran, U. S. N., who was in command of the fleet which bombarded Japan. Incidentally Dr. Harry L. Benson, well known Winchester physician and surgeon, was an associate of Dr. Lamphier while both were in the Navy and was a member of the Lamphier-Noworthy bridal party.

Dr. Lamphier's brother, Major Richard Lamphier, AUS, was attached to Admiral Nimitz's staff at Pearl Harbor, and another brother, Major Timothy Lamphier, who was with General Patton's Army in France, is now a surgeon at the Boston City Hospital. Dr. Lamphier's brothers-in-law, Dr. Herbert Adams of the Lahey Clinic and Dr. Laurence Cummings, are prominent in Boston medical circles.

UNITARIAN MINISTER LEGION STATE CHAPLAIN

An item of interest to Winchester residents comes from the American Legion Convention in Lowell, Mass., Saturday, Aug. 21 when Rev. Paul Harmon Chapman, minister of the Unitarian Church here was elected State Chaplain of the Department of Massachusetts of the American Legion. Mr. Chapman was nominated by the out-going Department Chaplain Rev. Otis Kelly the motion being seconded by Mr. John McCarthy of this town who as a delegate from the local Post 97 of A. L. After participating in the starting of the Legion Parade Mr. Chapman stood in the receiving stand with the other newly elected officers of the Department of Massachusetts, A. L. Winchester was represented in the parade by his Commander, Police Sgt. Charles Harrold, a number of the past Commanders and other members of the local post. Mr. Chapman has not only served Winchester Post for some years but is the retiring chaplain of Middlesex County and served as Chaplain of other Legion Posts before coming to Winchester. The Department officers will be installed in Boston sometime within the next few weeks. Winchester Post, 97, is particularly interested, not only because its chaplain has been made Department Chaplain, but also because this is the first time it has ever had one of its officers become a Department officer.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard A. Marvin, who are vacationing at Meredith, N. H., will return to their home on Chesterford road after Labor Day.

FOOTBALL STARTS TODAY

With the return of Coach Henry Knowlton on Tuesday from a summer at Camp Wyanolow, Winchester High School's pre-football activity got underway as the popular Athletic Director pried open the uniform trunks and shook out the jerseys and molas-kins preparatory to starting formal practice this morning. Squad members who are in town reported to Coach Knowlton and his assistants at 9 o'clock at the locker room at high school, after which practice was commenced on Ginn Field.

Assisting Coach Knowlton this year will be "Al" Serferian, line coach last year, Hartley (Curtis), assistant at Concord a year ago and new faculty member, and "Ted" Bartlett, former assistant, who returns to school after overseas service with the Army Air Corps. Needless to state "Bart's" return is very welcome for his football service at high school dates back to Mansfield's time and he rendered invaluable aid to that worthy and to Coach George Laurer as well as to Coach Knowlton, before entering the air corps.

It's a little early to accurately evaluate Winchester's prospects, but the locals have some known strength, and allowing for reasonable development of last year's spares, the Red and Black should field a pretty fair club again this season.

Last year's mammoth club lost only to Framingham and tied a good Wakefield team. From that club there return Capt. Johnny West, line busting 200 pound full-back, Sammy Bellino, a hell-for-leather back; Mario Buzzotta, big blocking back, "Nanjo" Nichols, 200 pound tackle and "Bill" Whitmore, dependable center. That's a good start, but only a start. The locals are going to miss boys like last year's co-captains, Jimmy Haggerty, wingback, and Sammy Tibaud, fullback; Don Armstrong, end; "Lead" Herlihy and "Rog" Latham, huge tackles; and Johnny Rutherford, Parker Flagg and Joe Devo, guards.

The end situation wasn't added too much when "Dom" Jacobellis, a two year veteran, entered the service last spring. "Dom" had another year and would have helped on the flanks this season, but he's out now, leaving the locals with only Rigga and Gallo. Both these boys are experienced but on the light side.

Jack Grimes, a big red-head, is back for another try at tackle, and may make the varsity grade this year. He has size and speed. Scott Doub, Jack Filler and the bulky Mottolo are guards who have seen some varsity service and long Alan Switzer has end possibilities.

"Charlie" Flynn, last year's capable second-string fullback, is around this fall, weighing 170, and should help the backfield picture. "Gunner" Abrahamson and "Pete" Dillingham are up from last year's good freshman backfield. There are lots more. Coach Knowlton keeps about 100 boys playing football all fall. When he loses some first-stringers he has some more coming along. It's a system that pays.

MISS MCCORMACK FETED

RED CROSS SWIMMING SEASON CLOSED

Trophies to Barbara Donaghey and Wimpy Burnette

Barbara Donaghey and Wimpy Burnette won the outstanding swimmer trophies last Sunday afternoon as the Red Cross closed its summer swimming season with a water meet at Palmer Beach.

These coveted outstanding swimmer trophies are awarded annually to the girl and boy who have done most to further swimming in Winchester, and last Sunday marked the third successive season in which Miss Donaghey has received the girl's award. Wimpy Burnette was winning his for the first time and his selection was very popular, as was that of Miss Donaghey, who has won many points in competition for the Winchester Swimming Club and who formerly held the Massachusetts State 100 meter freestyle championship for women.

Awarding the trophies always highlights this season-long meet as both swimmers and spectators wait eagerly to learn the decision of the judges. Announcements were made as usual by Mrs. Harry Goodwin, former Red Cross Swimming Instructor and one who has done much to further local interest in water safety. Medals for winners of the various races were presented by Park Superintendent Tom McGowan.

A crowd of average size attended the meet, for which bleacher seats were erected on the beach by the Park Department. Edna Dover, Red Cross swimming instructor, handled the details ably and the meet went off smoothly, both from the angle of spectators and swimmers. Poling was good and the running of the public address system by Bob McGrath, life guard and ace boy swimmer, added much to everyone's enjoyment. Bob took the competitors from the time they lined up on the float and followed them throughout the race to the finish line, announcing the winners clearly, so that everyone knew who did what, and why.

Robert F. Guild ably filled the referee's post and doubled in brass by acting as starter. His handling of his double role added greatly to the meet's smoothness and his interest in Winchester swimming is attested by the fact Continued on Page 3

BLOOD DONORS TO SAVE WINCHESTER LIVES

On Oct. 19, 1946, when the Red Cross Mobile Blood Donor Unit comes to Winchester, Winchester citizens can assure this town's eligibility for unlimited supplies of life-saving plasma by donating generously to the State Blood Bank. Participation in the program will not only entitle Winchesterites to free plasma, but also in the near future to all the new products of plasma developed by scientists during the war. Any Winchester resident, whether or not he has been able to donate blood, will be entitled to receive blood plasma transfusions wherever needed, without charge. The only fee he may have to pay will be a slight hospital service charge.

Winchester's quota to the State Blood Bank is 163 pints. The Blood Donor Clinic will be held at the Unitarian Church, Oct. 1, from 1 p. m. to 7 p. m. Further details regarding this program will appear in subsequent issues of this paper. Donors may register at the Red Cross Headquarters or with Mrs. Ruth E. Hilton, Win. 2516.

Winchester's record for War Blood Donors was outstanding. Let's help carry on this humanitarian program of saving life for civilian needs.

MRS. MARY L. GOVONI

Mrs. Mary L. Govoni, widow of Amos Govoni, died suddenly Tuesday afternoon, Aug. 27, at the home of her son, George L. Govoni, 7 Robinson circle, following an attack of heart disease. She had been in poor health since the death of her husband, last November.

Mrs. Govoni was the daughter of John and Caroline (Cassini) Lamborghini. She was born Aug. 15, 1875, in Bologna, Italy, but came to this country as a girl of 6 years, settling in Boston. She was married in Boston and made her home there and in West Medford before coming to Winchester five years ago.

Besides her son, George, Mrs. Govoni leaves a son, Edmund Govoni of West Medford; and two daughters, Mrs. Lucile Sevier of West Medford and Mrs. Alice Kirby of Winthrop. Also surviving are four sisters, Mrs. Julia D'ozzi of Somerville, Mrs. Lily Grandi of Plymouth, Mrs. Rose Sullivan and Miss Margaret Lambert, both of Arlington; a brother, Anthony Lambert of Auherst; and seven grandchildren.

The funeral was held this Friday morning from the Kirby Memorial on Commonwealth avenue in Boston. Solemn requiem high mass was celebrated at 10 o'clock at St. Mary's Church in Winchester. Interment was in Oak Grove Cemetery, Medford.

WENDELL BENSON PRAY

The many friends of Wendell B. Pray were grieved to learn of his death at his home, 7 Lewis road, on Friday, Aug. 23, following an illness of several months. Private services were held at Willson Chapel, Somerville on Sunday, Aug. 26, with Rev. John Prescott Robertson of the First Congregational Church officiating.

A native of Bar Harbor, Me., Mr. Pray had resided in Winchester for the past 23 years. He attended Dean Academy and was a graduate of Kent's Hill School in Maine, where he was an outstanding athlete and leader in the school's activities. He continued to exercise an active interest in the school and in the promotion of wholesome sports for many years. He was a veteran of World War I, serving in the U. S. Navy.

Mr. Pray was one of the pioneers in the Lending Library business, establishing the Pray's Lending Libraries with branches throughout Boston and vicinity.

Besides his wife, Arlie (Beals) Pray, and a daughter, Joy Pray, he leaves three sisters and three brothers, Mrs. LeRoy Harriman of Bar Harbor, Me.; Mrs. Walter E. Guthrie of Westley, Mrs. Philip Lyford of Westport, Conn.; Arthur E. Pray of Bar Harbor, Me.; Frank W. Pray of Boston and James E. Pray of Honolulu.

BAD FIRE AVERTED

A fire which could have had serious results was averted last Friday afternoon when George Murray, a wood-worker with a shop in Cullen's barn on Winchester place, discovered that two boys had started a fire in the big building.

The two boys, both 5 years old and living near at hand, had taken kerosene from a lantern and soaked papers, applying matches, which one of them had. Murray discovered the fire before it amounted to anything and stamped it out, reporting the matter to the Police.

The authorities in turn informed the parents of the youngsters of their sons' activities, being assured that there would be no repetition. Had the big wooden building really caught fire it would have made a spectacular blaze with all sorts of possibilities.

Monday afternoon shortly after 2 o'clock the Fire Department was called to put out a fire at the town dump. Tuesday at 9:58 a. m. there was an oil burner and chimney fire at the home of Mr. J. Stanley Fudge, 19 Fairmount street.

THE ODYSSEY OF A STOLEN BIKE

The bike originally belonged to Miss Marguerite Troop of Highland terrace, who gave it to Joan McKinley of Elmwood avenue, all fair and above board. From there on, however, the dirty work commences.

Joan went up to Leonard Field Beach on Tuesday, Aug. 20, and while she was there, the bicycle was stolen from the bike rack. She reported it to the local Police who put it on the teletype, and on Sunday afternoon the Stoneham Police called saying they had the bike there.

Officer William Cassidy went over to get the bike and the story, and found that it had been stolen from the bench by a Woburn boy, who was accompanied at the time of the theft by a Stoneham youngster. The Woburn boy was 12 and the Stoneham youngster, 11.

They took the bike to a hut on Hill street in Stoneham where the 11 year old Stoneham boy took it apart, removed some of the special equipment, and painted it. Thereafter it was hidden in some bushes until the boy who had stolen it sold it to a 12 year old Stoneham boy for $5.

When the new owner took the bike to the Stoneham police station to register it, the serial number tallied with that of the bike reported stolen in Winchester. The Stoneham authorities notified local Headquarters and the bike was finally returned to its rightful owner. The equipment taken from it was also recovered but in a badly damaged condition.

The final chapter of the Odyssey will be written in the Woburn Court, when the two boys responsible for the theft and damage to the bike appear there.

BROKE GLASS ON PALMER STREET

Wednesday afternoon, upon complaint of the caretaker at Palmer Beach, Sgt. Thomas F. Cassidy and Officer William E. Cassidy picked up on Main street seven Medford boys who it is alleged broke several bottles on Palmer street after being put off the beach.

The boys were taken to Headquarters where for some time they refused to admit breaking the glass. Finally, confronted with witnesses, two boys are said to have admitted breaking the bottles, and another to stoning a girl on a bicycle.

After a stiff lecture from Chief William H. Rogers the boys were permitted to go, their names and addresses being taken, pending further action.

Last Sunday afternoon Officer John Murray had to go to the Junior High School playground and stop some ball-players who weren't doing the newly sodded and seeded spots there any good. The town is trying to get this field in some sort of shape for fall football and for a while, at least, it will not be available for sports enthusiasts.

AUTO DRIVER ARRESTED

Last Sunday Officer William E. Cassidy of the Police Department noticed an automobile proceeding from Church street across the center into Mt. Vernon street on the left side of the road.

He stopped the automobile in front of Chitel's Men's Shop and after accosting the operator, arrested him on the charges of drunkenness and driving while under the influence of liquor. At Headquarters he gave his name as Francis J. Shaw of Medford.

In court Monday morning his case was continued for two weeks.

CUT DOWN PARK TREES

Two small Highlands boys, one 6 and the other 7, armed themselves with a hatchet last Saturday forenoon and went on a tree-chopping expedition in the town park off Cross street.

When Officer William E. Cassidy of the Police Department picked them up shortly after 10:15 they had cut down four young evergreen trees and were looking for new worlds to conquer. Officer Cassidy relieved them of the hatchet, and notified the parents of the young lumberjacks to get in touch with the Park Commissioners to see what action would be necessary to replace the trees.

RED CROSS SWIMMING

that he gave up judging the semi-final rounds of the national tennis tournament at Longwood to officiate at Winchester's meet on Saturday. He had been judging at Longwood all week.

There were some good races during the afternoon, the feature being the girls' 50 yard freestyle in which Beverly Gay beat Marge Carroll by a hand's length and a tenth of a second.

Marge had Beverly at the turn and the two were virtually neck and neck all the way in with Beverly just getting the nod on a final spurt to the float. The 10 yard novice race, won by Bob Bartlett over John McKinley was a lot of fun, and Sylvia Crowell's win in the girls' 25 yard intermediate was very popular, the little-colored girl getting a big hand from the crowd.

Barbara Donaghey won the girls' 100 yard freestyle from Beverly Gay and the individual 150 yard medley from Lynn Aitkens. Wimpy Burnett won the same races for boys, from Paul McGowan and Lou Brown, having a hot tussle with McGowan in the 100, winning by only 1 10th of a second. McGowan won the 50 meter freestyle for boys 14 and under from Lou Brown, while Eddie Sullivan and Bud Downey were a standoff in the younger boys' racing, Eddie winning the 25 yards for 10 year olds and Bud, the intermediate 25.

The diving competition this year, seemed especially good and was much enjoyed by the gallery. The competitors doing more varied dives than in some past seasons, Lynn Aitkens won the girls' diving title and Pete Dillingham, the boys'.

It was interesting to note the closeness of the time in the girls and boys' medley racing, Burnett turning in 2m 13s and Miss Donaghey, 2m. 14 1/10s. This race is divided into equal distances of breast stroke, back stroke and freestyle swimming.

Interesting lifesaving exhibitions were given by Joan Morgan and Susan McFall, and by Wimpy Burnett and Bob McGrath, this feature being especially important because of the water safety note emphasized in the Red Cross swimming instruction.

Another especially pleasing feature was the swimming of the water ballet, by six attractive girls, coached by Edith Dover, the nauts giving a smooth performance and very graceful exhibition of formation swimming. In the ballet were Lynn Aitkens, Marge Carroll, Ann Dillingham, Betty McLaane, Joan Morgan and Sally Morgan.

Following are the meet summaries:

BURLEIGH BAGS TWO BRILLIANT SNIPE FLEET VICTORIES

The team of Ted Burleigh Senior and Junior provided the rest of Winchester's Snipe Fleet with proof positive that they are back in pre-war form. Sailing sensationally with Ted Jr. at the helm and puppy as crew, they scored two of the sweetest victories of the season.

Saturday afternoon, after a poor start, they came far 'way behind to overhauled the entire fleet. The wind was very light and unusually fluky. Parker Blanchard and C. Freyer shared the lead for about a full lap, then lost it to Jim Snow who was in turn overtaken by Al Litchfield. But Burleigh kept working his way up through the Fleet and finally finished first, with Bob Swanson second only a whisker ahead of Jim Snow.

Sunday morning, Ted got off to a beautiful start, but abruptly lost his lead to John Powers before the race was a lap old. Don Simonds, Jr., moved into the lead position at the end of two laps but he, too, couldn't keep the pace. On the last beat to the finish line, Ted outmaneuvered Simonds, Powers and Swanson and slipped over the finish line a comfortable first. John Powers salvaged second and Bob Swanson beat out Simonds for third.

Kay and Fran Burleigh capably handled the starting and judging assignment, but we hasten to add that we are certain this had nothing to do with Ted's triumphs.

Club Chatter

Don't forget the annual Labor Day Clam Bake. Today is the last day you can purchase tickets.... The next Wednesday afternoon Bridge for Ladies will be Sept. 11. On an every other-week basis it should have been Sept. 1, but school starts that day so it seemed wise to postpone the party a week. It'll be under the direction of Mrs. Stanley Howe. Get in touch with her if you plan to attend.... Don Simonds, Sr., and Jr., returned last Sunday from the International Snipe Regatta at Lake Chataqua in Jamestown, New York. There they competed against 35 of the world's finest 'Snipe Skippers' for the world's championship. We're proud to report that they finished 12th in the competition which is pretty well going.

NOVEMBER WILL TELL US

To understand and appreciate the present national administrative and political chaos that has developed in the last 12 years, it is necessary to consider the genesis of the associates, training, ambitions, and early environment of those responsible for it and the influences to which they were subjected, just as a wise judge of a juvenile court estimates the degree of responsibility of a delinquent child by studying his early training, community, associates and opportunities as compared with those of the average child of average behavior.

Two men, the first from the East, a New York Tammany-type politician, adept in all the wiles and machinations of power politics; the second from the West, a Missouri, Pendergast disciple, schooled in the same methods as his predecessor have administered the affairs of this country from the White House during the period under consideration. Neither ever rose above the methods of his predecessors, neither was ever troubled by conscientious scruples and both placed the welfare of personal friends above that of the state. Appointment to high government positions has been the payoff of each to those who have faithfully served them, the individual qualifications for that job being a secondary consideration in many cases.

This administration began as a fraud and is ending in a calamity. In the first place the New Deal gold brick, eventually the subsidy shell game, tricky and deceitful, a discredited substitute for sound management, compelling everybody to buy the necessities of life on a three payment installment plan. The Administration has spent more than 2 billion dollars of the people's money in subsidies, twice the total national debt in the year 1913. It has paid the creameries alone 183 million dollars for processing butter. To illustrate the subsidy shell game we take the case of butter. The customer puts his money on the counter and walks away thinking he has paid for his butter and that ends it. He is mistaken and deceived because he has made only the first payment on it. Now Uncle Sam tells him "I paid the creameries thirteen cents a pound on that butter to make you think the O. P. A. was keeping the price down. Now you may add that to your cash payment as the second installment and pay it back to me in your next tax bill." Then comes the third, the customer's share in the expense of the bureau charged with administering the immense subsidy payment business. This also is added to his tax bill being the third payment on his pound of butter which he thought he had paid for in the first place. Even if one buys no butter at all one is compelled to help pay by taxation two installments on what the other fellow buys. Thus one becomes the victim of a system that makes it impossible for him to know how much his butter really costs.

Having considered the genesis of the present socialist-labor administration, the existing chaos is understandable and its inevitability seen as a sequence to Tammany-Pendergast political machinations and the selfishness of corrupt politicians.

President Truman said he would continue the Roosevelt policies. If there had any doubt about that in Mr. Roosevelt's mind, Mr. Truman would not have been nominated for vice president. The president was a sick man and he knew that whoever became vice-president would become his successor. He wanted a small man and he got him, one who would naturally carry on his predecessor's policies.

Before entering the national arena Mr. Roosevelt was governor of New York for a short time. He created a debt of $100 million which he left to his successor, Gov. Lehman, who paid it in a short time and built up a surplus.

Now let us look at the record from this time on. The Democratic strategy in the opening of the presidential campaign promised a new deal, (capitalized later as a party name, "New Deal") and a strict economy. In a speech delivered Sept. 29, 1932, Mr. Roosevelt said "I shall use this position of high responsibility to discuss up and down the country, in all seasons, at all times, the duty of reducing taxes." On Oct. 21 of the same year he promised in a speech at St. Louis "It's my pledge and promise that rigid government economy shall be enforced by a stern and unremitting administration policy of living within our income." Such was the propaganda of insincere promises that gave birth to the New Deal and the beginning of an amazing administrative orgy of reckless spending, culminating in a national peace time debt of $50 billion, a sum exceeding the total expenditures of all the presidents of the United States up to Mr. Roosevelt's time.

This kind of propaganda was the same as that used by the Fascists and the Nazis to obtain leadership—the old, old method so often used and so uniformly successful. It was the hey-day period of spend and keep spending. Wallace, of let-them-starve—Wallace, who spent millions of the people's money paying farmers to destroy all surplus food, hogs, corn and wheat, all that we could not consume at the moment, when at the same time more than half of our people were undernourished and millions were dying of starvation in China and India. Would it not have been a grand and glorious thing, a charity befitting and becoming a Christian to have used the people's money to produce even more food and to have given it to the famished who were dying for the want of it? Five hundred years before Christ, Confucius who promulgated the Golden Rule, brought his people to construct store houses to preserve food in time of plenty against the days of famine. That was the counsel of wisdom and common sense in contradistinction to the New Deal's lack of it.

An Administration inept, confused, weak at the top, built upon foundation principles, unpractical and unsound and unending, has misled and impoverished the nation by creating ill-effects exceeding its total assets, given billions of dollars of the people's money to poor debtor nations who will never repay it or use it for the betterment of mankind, forfeited the esteem of foreign nations by policies lacking the virility becoming a great nation, and to the amazement of the world, by the President's refusal to accept the advice of Admiral Richardson, caused the greatest catastrophic defeat of American arms in all our history, the needless slaughter of three thousand gallant men and the destruction of the navy's major fighting fleet. The President wanted the fleet to remain at Pearl Harbor, so did the Japanese.

I have before me a copy of the minority report of the joint committee on the investigation of the Pearl Harbor attack. It is an enlightening, interesting and startling revelation of the truth. I also have a letter from one of the members of that committee, Senator Brewster, in answer to one of mine, in which I asked him if my understanding of the case was right. He wrote me, "You are quite correct that Admiral Richardson urged the President not to keep the fleet at Pearl Harbor but to return it to the Pacific coast for reasons of security and naval strategy, and that the President not only overruled him but removed Admiral Richardson for being so persistent in his presentation." Judge for yourself who was to blame for the Pearl Harbor holocaust. It is simple enough. These facts are all that is necessary to make a righteous judgment. To be sure others were guilty. The commanders of the navy and army at Pearl Harbor have been justly condemned. They were sound asleep until the Japanese woke them up, but when a catastrophe results from the overruling orders of the supreme officer, he cannot be absolved from the responsibility of it.

Mr. Roosevelt was never happy with those who disagreed with him. He tried to purge the best and ablest Democratic senators in Washington, such outstanding men as Senator George of Georgia, Senator Byrd of Virginia and others because they disagreed with him. He could not do it because the electorate had the power and it honored its chosen representatives. As commander-in-chief of the navy he had the power to purge Admiral Richardson and he did it.

Yes, President Truman is continuing the policies of President Roosevelt as he promised to do. So far he has been a little more successful in his purging efforts than was his predecessor. He says he does not like big things, notwithstanding this is the age of them and they have come to stay—big banks, big railroads, big unions, big corporations, farm cooperatives and chain stores. He says he prefers little banks to big ones, little corporations, little people presumably because the big things are beyond his grasp. At present he seems to be in a quandary as to whether to move the capital to Missouri or Missouri to the capital. Thus far the choice appears to favor moving Missouri to Washington.

It is said that five percent of the people think, ten percent think they think and 85 percent never think at all. It is from the 95 percent that the propagandizing, plausible fools reap their harvest, discarding from platforms of the adroit politicians. To the New Deal the thoughtless are like clay in the hands of the potter. Be wary of the wily politicians, think or perish.

The fall elections are a little over two months away, it will be most interesting to learn what effect 12 years of futile experimenting has had. There are signs that people are wearying of it. Will the electorate decide in favor of government of the people, by the people, for the people or will it vote for Mr. Truman, Mr. Wallace, the P. A. C. and the New Deal oligarchy? November will tell us. Daniel C. Bennett, M. D., Winchester, Mass.

WARM TRIBUTE TO MRS. ROOSEVELT

To the Editor of The Herald:

This enclosed editorial from the Philadelphia Record seems to me to point the real moral of Mrs. Roosevelt's driving accident.

RUTH FOLEY.

Cambridge.

The editorial is as follows:

"Eleanor Roosevelt has been 'first' in many things.

"First Lady, First First Lady whose maiden name was the same as that of her husband. First First Lady to write a newspaper column. First First Lady to fight to win a better way of life for millions of Americans.

"But we could go on and on, it is a long list.

Now, however, the former First Lady has added another 'first.' At least she's the first motorist we ever heard of who caused an accident and who—right out in front of everybody—admitted it, and even confessed that she'd fallen asleep at the wheel.

"It was an unfortunate collision. No one regrets that more than Mrs. F. D. R.

"But in her characteristic, frank and courageous way, she took full responsibility, right on the spot. No evasions. No alibi.

"That's one reason millions love and respect her. She has always been that way. She meets everything, chin up. And she has never passed the buck."

WISWELL LEADING IN SEARS RACING

Byron Wiswell, son of Mr. and Mrs. George C. Wiswell of Fletcher Street, Belmont Hill sophomore and former snipe racing star out of Winchester Boat Club, was leading the skippers yesterday in the Sears Cup racing for the National Junior Yacht Racing Championship at Marblehead.

Through Wednesday Wiswell, who with his brother, George, was the scourge of the snipe racers a few seasons back, had piled up a nice lead of 20½ points, finishing second in Monday morning's race, first in the afternoon race the same day, and taking a first and a third in Wednesday's two races. Tuesday's downpour and high wind cancelled the competition that day.

With Captain Byron as crew were Dick Kimball of Swampscott and Peter Gray of Marblehead, whose father was in the original Sears Cup racing. The trio is competing under the burgee of the Corinthian Yacht Club at Marblehead and it looked yesterday morning like their efforts were about to bring to the Corinthian its first junior Sears Bowl.

In the runner-up position yesterday was Capt. Douglas Smith of Stamford, Conn., with 15½ points. Wiswell, who is representing the Massachusetts Bay area, has looked good piling up his lead and many experts like him to cop the cup, have, as a matter of fact, liked him right along from the start.

WINCHESTER SWIMMERS SCORED AT SITUATE

Winchester Swimming Club members brought back two first places from the Sitate Harbor Yacht Club meet Wednesday evening, adding a third and fourth in another event for good measure.

Bob McGrath copied the Massachusetts State 100 yard freestyle in 1m. 2½ from Charley Grover of the Boston Y. and Little Barbie Donaghey won the open 100 yard freestyle for women from Jeanette Moran of Olneyville in 1m. 9.8s.

In the women's 100 yard backstroke, an open event, Lynn Atkins finished third and Marge Carroll, fourth.

Clara Lamore of Olneyville and Joe Prata of Wanskuck were double winners.

MISS WILCOX IN GIRLS' GOLF

Marilyn Wilcox of Arlington, who plays her golf along with her dad, Dave, and her brothers, "Tyke" and "Jim," at the Winchester Country Club, survived the opening round of the Girls' State Junior Golf Championship at South Shore Wednesday, beating Ann Page of Scituate, 8-6.

Marilyn tied for third in the Junior Division qualifying round on Tuesday with a card of 53. And Cosgrove of Marshfield was medalist with a snappy 47, good going in the downpour of rain, and Theodora Rooney of Haverly had a 48 to finish in second place.

The Winchester Swimming Club's Water Ballet gave an exhibition between the events of the meet, under the direction of Helen Jay Carroll.

DORRINGTON WOBURN HIGH FOOTBALL COACH

Paul Dorrington, former Holy Cross football center, has been selected by the Woburn School Committee as coach of the Woburn High School football team, filling the vacancy caused by the resignation of Ray McLean, former St. Anselm's backfield star and member of the Chicago Bears.

Dorrington, in addition to coaching football, will teach in the Woburn Junior High School. A resident of Arlington, he played football for Arlington High before going to "The Cross" where he made the freshman eleven and played three years of varsity football. After graduation he played for the collegiate All Stars against the Chicago Bears. During the war he served in the U. S. Navy.

Dorrington got his charges out of Woburn the first of the week, 51 candidates reporting for the initial workout. Unfortunately the new Orange mentor became ill with a throat ailment after his first workout and it was not known right off how soon he would be able to resume his coaching duties. He has chosen Walter White of Arlington and Colgate to assist him at Woburn this season.

We also have Scotch tape at Wilson Stationers, Star Bldg.

PALMER BEACH NOTES

Teale and the Secretary Winners!

History was made Wednesday evening at Palmer Beach, Mr. Teale and the Secretary won a complete series! It isn't often that the doughty President of the Association and the lowly Scribe collaborate to get anything but beaten, and the fact that they won Wednesday evening's series, two straight, from "Wild Willie" McLaughlin, the Pride of Stov and Champion of all Nahasset, playing with Robert "H. M. S. Rodney" Walsh, filled their cup of joy to the very gunwale. Mr. Teale pinbatted after the beach emitting shrill whoops of triumph after each mad whirl to grasp the Secretary, who was so stunned at his unexpected good fortune he could only stand and goggle!

Mr. Teale and the Secretary won the first game in the final box 25-21 while Mr. McLaughlin missed a double-header by a whisker and Mr. Teale got one closer enough to the pin to count. It is not often you go to an McLaughlin with nothing on the stake. The Butters eyebrows would have raised perceptibly to have witnessed such a calamity.

The second game Mr. Teale got a little help from the Secretary at odd moments and both Mr. McLaughlin and Mr. Walsh lost the range, the Association's officers running out the game by the one-sided score of 25-19. The reader is again asked to keep in mind that of "Paper Trade" and the Scribe won in straight games. It is really stupendous!

The first match of the evening saw the Secretary riding comfortably on the wide shoulders of Mr. McLaughlin to a straight game win over the exasperated Mr. Teale and the Lord Mr. Walsh. "H. M. S. Rodney" was very good in this one, and only a number of characteristic McLaughlin "double-headers" turned the trick. The Secretary did contribute a ringer at a crucial moment that prevented the raging Mr. Teale and the grim Mr. Walsh from going out, saving the situation for the coup-de-grace, administered by McLaughlin in the next box, his two-on taking the game, 25-24.

It might be said in passing that the Teale display of temper during this game stemmed from the fact that Royal and Rodney, the old R. and B. boys, at one time had a tidy lead of 19-4.

The second game went to McLaughlin and the Scribe, 25-20, which shows how good Mr. Walsh really was. Mr. Teale and the Secretary merely threw back the iron to their partners in this one. The final single-game series was won in the darkness by Mr. McLaughlin and Mr. Teale from the Secretary and Mr. Walsh. Mr. Teale's unerring skill when he no longer could see the stake being something to conjure with.

In all fairness to Mr. McLaughlin it should be admitted that he was not at his Nahasset best. At times his shoe even assumed that peculiar style which in the old days prompted Mr. Butters to nickname him William "Cartwheel" McLaughlin. This was strictly before the time when the State of Maine Champ commenced to see presidential possibilities in the Palladium of Lake Street and to lay his nefarious plans to ease him into the Association's top niche so graciously held for so long by Mr.

Teale. Once again Herbert "Garrulous" Gardner, the Dix Street Magnate, was AWOL. Since Mr. Gardner got into city politics he has been even harder to trace than usual, and has assumed a dedication toward his duties at Palmer street wholly foreign to his usual zeal. Mr. Teale is worried about him.

McGRATH WON STATE 220 CROWN

Bob McGrath, Winchester Swimming Club's ace boy swimmer, won the Massachusetts State AAAA 220 yard freestyle championship at the sanctioned meet held last Saturday afternoon at the Montello Pool in Brockton. He already holds the New England AAAA junior freestyle title for the same distance and has placed well in practically every meet this summer at the 100 yard distance.

At Brockton Bob went right out front at the gun and led all the way, winning by a strong five yards in 1m. 40.8s. William Wentworth of United States Navy was second and Wimpy Burnette, Winchester teammate of McGrath's, third, edging William Carver of Brockton.

Wimpy put on a fine finish to pull up from fifth to third place on the final lap, to the delight of the Winchester delegation.

Little Barbara Donaghey of Winchester S. C., finished second in the 100 meter freestyle open event for women, staging a thrilling spurt over the last 25 yards for a real photo finish with Pauline Silvan of Providence Central Boys Club Auxiliary, the winner.

Barbara and Pauline were virtually even as they surged in to the float, but Miss Silvan with the longer reach touched first. It was a great finish to a fine race. Beverly Gray of Winchester S. C. was a good fourth.

Winchester Swimming Club entrants garnered three of the four places in the Massachusetts State AAAA 100 meter backstroke championship event, won by the smooth-working Joanna Borggren of the Metropolitan Swimming Club.

Finishing behind the more experienced Everett girl were Marge Carroll, in second place; Lynn Atkins, third, and Sally Morgan, fourth. Miss Carroll especially showed much promise in this event, to which she has recently been shifted by Coach Helen Carroll.

Barbara Donaghey took a shot at the NEAAA Senior 800 yard championship, but although she finished strongly enough, she was well out of the money, in sixth place. Clara Lamore of Olneyville, N. E. record holder, won this one as well as the 100 yard breaststroke for women.

Donald Barker of Brockton Y. M. C. A. won the N. E. AAAA 100 meter freestyle championship and Ralph Gossler of Providence Boys' Club, the open 100 meter breaststroke. Joe Prata, Wanskuck ace, won the open 100 meter backstroke for men.

WATCH YOUR PETS

In an appeal to all animal lovers, Eric H. Hansen, President of the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, 180 Longwood avenue, Boston, yesterday urged vacationists not to abandon their animal pets when closing their summer homes for the season.

"Many well-meaning citizens," stated Mr. Hansen, "are too apt to lose sight of the fact that these unfortunate creatures, left behind to forage for themselves, will ultimately starve or become diseased as a result of such unkind or inconsiderate treatment. We, therefore, cannot stress too strongly the importance of vacationists taking their pets with them when returning to the city, thereby eliminating undue suffering to the animal world."

As has been the Society's custom for many years, placards have been posted at various resorts throughout the Commonwealth, warning against abandoning animals by summer residents returning to their homes. Furthermore, a reward of $20 is offered by the Society for the conviction of anyone guilty of such cruelty.

BUSINESS BOOKS AT TRUST COMPANY

The Winchester Trust Company has available at both its church street banking rooms and Mt. Vernon street office, a set of pamphlets, published by the United States Department of Commerce, designed primarily to assist business men who want to go into business.

The books are available to anyone and cover a wide range of businesses, including being real estate and insurance, beauty shop, grocery store, auto repair shop, retail bakery, painting and decorating contractor, service station, shoe repair shop, metal working shop, small sawmill and general business.

Incidentally the book giving advice upon how to go into the grocery business is easily twice as thick as the largest of the other volumes. Apparently he who would operate a grocery, corner or otherwise, needs plenty of guidance and advice. At that we recall "Charlie" Adams has always contended that the grocery business is a science, and this looks as if he may be right!

MOTORING TO CALIFORNIA

Mr. Dyer has been granted a leave of absence from his duties with the Monsanto Chemical Company to take special graduate courses in Chemistry at Leland Stanford University. He and his family will be gone about a year.

ROTONDI-CAPONE

Bouquets of gladiolas decorated the altar of St. Mary's Church Sunday afternoon, Aug. 25, for the marriage of Miss Josephine Phyllis Capone, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ambrose Capone of 52 Harvard street, to Joseph Alfred Rotondi, son of Mr. George William Rotondi of 199 Laurel street, Melrose. The 4 o'clock ceremony was performed by St. Mary's pastor, Rev. Fr. John P. O'Riordan, and the bridal music was played by the church organist, Mrs. Daniel Irving Reardon, Arnold Callahan, lyric tenor, sang "Mother at Thy Feet Is Kneeling."

Miss Capone was given in marriage by her father. She wore a gown of white nylon tulle having a full skirt of sheer net that extended to form a train which was edged with Chantilly lace. Her matching fingertip veil was held in place by a bonnet of Chantilly lace, trimmed with orange blossoms, and she carried a crescent-shaped bouquet of white roses centered with an orchid.

Miss Esta Rotondi of Melrose, sister of the bridegroom, was maid of honor, wearing a blue marquisette dress with matching hat and carrying radiant pink roses.

Bridesmaids were Miss Clara Capone of Winchester, sister of the bride; Miss Frances Capone of Winchester, cousin of the bride; Miss Sylvia Rotondi of Melrose, sister of the bridegroom; and the bridegroom's cousin, Miss Antoinette Masello of Melrose. The Misses Capone wore pink net dresses with matching hats and carried bouquets of gladiolas to match their dresses tied with blue bows. Miss Rotondi and Miss Masello wore orchid net dresses with matching hats and also carried gladiolas to match their dresses, like those of the other bridesmaids. Richard Frongillo of Melrose was ring-bearer.

Robert Snow of Melrose was Mr. Rotondi's best man, and the ushers were George W. Rotondi and Melrose Rotondi of Melrose, brothers of the bridegroom; Frank Capone of Winchester, brother of the bride; and Pasquale Masello of Melrose.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the Palais Ballroom in Malden, the parents of the bride assisting in receiving with the father of the bridegroom.

Upon their return from a wedding journey through Northern New England and Canada Mr. and Mrs. Rotondi will make their home at 188 Laurel street in Melrose. The bride is a graduate of Winchester High School and Copsey Secretarial Institute. Mr. Rotondi, a contractor, graduated from Melrose High School and Franklin Technical Institute.

FROM MISSOURI TO WINCHESTER

It's a long way from Missouri to Winchester, but little Wesley Currier negotiated that distance all right, coming East to this town with his mother to visit relatives on Calumet road. Last Sunday forenoon, however, Wesley decided to go down town on his own, and he found the center a big and strange place. Sgt. Thomas F. Cassidy found him wandering around and sent Officer William E. Cassidy with the little stranger in the patrol car to cruise around and see what he could find.

He wasn't too long in finding Wesley's mother who was out looking for her missing son and glad to find him safe and sound.

GALLANT RESCUE

Miss Evelyn A. Howard of Garden street, Medford, is receiving the praise and congratulations of the summer residents at Kennebunk Beach for her daring and skillful rescue last week of a New York woman who was caught in the strong undertow and swept into the deep beyond the breakers where she became exhausted and called for help.

A heavy sea was running, following a northeast storm. Two men saw the woman and her companion floundering in the sea, but thought they were playing and did not go to their relief. Miss Howard heard their cries for help and although fully dressed, rushed to the rescue. She is a strong swimmer, very much at home in the water, and holds the American Red Cross life saving certificate.

Kicking off her shoes and handling her wrist watch to a spectator, she plunged through the high breakers and swam to the struggling woman, supporting her until a boat launched from the beach came to her help. The victim collapsed as the boat approached and undoubtedly would have perished if it had not been for Miss Howard's prompt assistance. She directed the restoration treatment which required several hours before the woman could be removed to her hotel.

A physician who was hastily summoned to the scene congratulated Miss Howard warmly for her rescue and method of after-treatment. She is well known and has many friends in Winchester, having been secretary to Dr. Duggett for many years.

Following day a luncheon will be held for both the students and members of the faculty taking part on the joint conference program.

JUNIOR PROGRAM AT THE ARLINGTON ACADEMY OF MUSIC

The junior curriculum planned for the fall semester at the Arlington Academy of Music offers many new advantages to the young music student. Courses for juniors from 9 years of age to 18 include private instruction on all musical instruments as well as special courses designed for social, cultural and general education in music.

"Fundamentals of music," a course for general knowledge development greatly enhances the student's ability and furnishes the training necessary for fine instrumental performances.

Freshman Orchestra and Concert Band provide the ensemble training necessary for a young instrumentalist and also develop the students' confidence and rhythm.

Each of these elective subjects are taught in one hour weekly classes in addition to the students' private lessons.

The enthusiastic applause received at the June recital performance of the Freshman Orchestra and Concert Band and the improvement of last year's Fundamentals students assures the popularity of these courses.

25 VETERANS HOUSES

Ten On Middlesex Street And Others On Town Owned Lots

The Winchester Veterans Housing Committee is planning to build immediately at least 25 houses for Winchester veterans, ten on Middlesex street, and the remainder on other town-owned lots. Most of these houses will be built by Alfred D. Elliott, well known local builder. The veterans are at liberty to use their own plans and builders or to build their own homes. Three sets of plans of single houses have been made available to them. Two of these sets were prepared by Frank W. Horne, of Winchester, who is associated with Winston and Morton, architects of Boston whose services were engaged by the Committee, and the other set is one that Mr. Elliott prepared and has been using in connection with the construction of five single houses on Brantwood road. The veteran will select the type of house he desires and if he chooses to engage the services of a builder other than Mr. Elliott, the particular lot will be conveyed to the veteran directly; otherwise, the various lots will be conveyed to Mr. Elliott who will build the houses under a contract between him and the Committee, and will convey the houses to veterans upon completion. In either case, the lots will be sold for $1.00 p. a. a. ceiling prices are being sought for the various types of houses to be constructed. Town Counsel is now engaged in preparing the necessary legal papers. It is hoped that construction will begin within the near future. There are still a few lots which have not yet been allocated to veterans. The Committee will be glad at any time to discuss with veterans any of their housing problems, and for the convenience of veterans the Committee will be available for consultation every Wednesday hereafter until further notice between 7 and 9 p. m. at the Winchester Public Library. However, veterans may get in touch at other times with members of the Committee whose names, addresses and telephone numbers are as follows: John E. Allen, 71 Church street, Win. 1431-W, Wade L. Grindle, 31 Lincoln street, Win. 0115-M; Frank P. Hurley, 107 Mt. Vernon street, Win. 0169.

Mr. James H. Penalan, assistant editor of the Winchester Star, and his wife are vacationing at Kennebunk Beach, Maine.

YOUR BLOOD CAN STILL SAVE LIVES

Remember—Tuesday, Oct. 15 is the day set aside for Winchester to participate in the State Blood Service Program. The Blood Donor Clinic will be open from 1 p. m. to 7 p. m. at the Unitarian Church, Winchester's quota is 100 pints. (If one person out of every 150 gives one pint of blood, this will supply all Winchester's needs for a year.)

Massachusetts is one of three states sponsoring this civilian program. With this new service, physicians and hospitals will no longer waste valuable time searching for donors with matching blood, and patients are free from worry about the cost of transfusions. The Department of Health has recognized the need of the people of Massachusetts for free and adequate blood transfusions. It is prepared to collect and process plasma and all other blood derivatives in order that all citizens of the State may receive free of charge any necessary transfusions.

On the day the Blood Donor Clinic is held in Winchester, a mobile unit will arrive from the State Health Department, bringing all the necessary equipment. A competent doctor will be in charge to direct and supervise the Clinic. Four registered nurses will do the actual bleeding. One skilled technician will type your blood and determine Rh Factor. (This information may prove to be extremely valuable to you in an emergency.) A blood custodian takes care of the blood from the time it is collected until it is safely at the Laboratory where it is processed into the various Blood Fractions.

MR. H. WENDELL CHILDS VISITS WINCHESTER

Mr. H. Wendell Childs of Dallas, Texas, who figured in the Star news during the spring as finding a brass plate "H. N. Wheeler, Winchester, Mass.," visited Winchester during the last week-end. He found the plate in a pawn broker's shop in Dallas and wrote the Star about it, ultimately sending it to this office to give the owner, should he be located.

Through the Star the owner was located, he being Mr. H. N. Wheeler of 9 Seneca road. Mr. Wheeler called at this office and took the plate. He was unable to explain how the plate bearing his name came to be found in Dallas, but recalled losing it from a piece of luggage years ago.

Now Mr. Childs, who has resided in Dallas for the past 50 years, is making a visit to Massachusetts. He has been visiting friends in Boston and Gloucester, and just out of curiosity aroused by the brass plate, he took a trip to Winchester this week and talked with the Star editor and Mr. Wheeler. A native of Waltham, he expects to remain in Dallas, but he says he likes New England and Winchester especially, and as time goes on he may decide to settle here again.

VETERANS PARADE

Winchester Post V. F. W. headed by Commander Robert McKee, followed by Edward E. Fitzgerald, Past Commander participated in the V. F. W. parade in Boston on Wednesday of this week.

A snappy all Marine color guard comprised of Lawrence Penta, Frank DeMocino, Dominic Molea and Norman Doucette dressed in their colorful uniforms with white belts, leggings and helmets, along with the firing squad led by Mike Saraco, received a wonderful reception along Tremont st.

John Horn was the Commanders Aide with Jack O'Melia leading the troops. Veterans from both World War I and II were in the line of march.

UNITARIAN CHURCH SERVICES RESUMED

On Sunday, Sept. 8, at 11 a. m., the first service of the new season will be held in Meyer Chapel, which is on the ground floor of the main church building with the entrance on the Parkway. The Chapel chancel has been made very lovely by the addition of stained glass windows made by the Burnham Studios, and one of the latest models of the Hammond Organ has been installed to replace the old organ, so this opening service of 1946 and 1947 will be a very beautiful and memorable one. Because of repairs which are still being made in the main church and adjoining rooms it will be necessary to use the Chapel entrance on the Parkway, which incidentally will eliminate the steep walk to the church and the steep stairs inside.

TENNIS TOURNAMENT

DR. FORBES H. NORRIS
ADDRESSES SCHOOL TEACHERS

Speaking at the formal evening of the 1946-47 school year, Dr. Forbes H. Norris, Superintendent of Schools in Winchester, urged teachers to look beyond the classroom in self appraisal and to consider the carry over value of the lessons taught. Taking a solid stand that the school is one of the great stabilizing influences in the life of the child, Dr. Norris emphasized the necessity for looking ahead. Alluding to the now famous inquiry conducted several years ago in New York, the Superintendent urged that teachers study their pupils and bear in mind that the outlying objectives are successful communication, application of a special skill to later specific problems, good health and good citizenship.

Before and after Dr. Norris' address, the teachers were led in group singing by Mr. Fred Felmet, director of the high school band and orchestra. Miss Violet Nardone, instructor in vocal music, accompanied the singing.

Continuing a pleasant annual custom, the Central Mothers' Club served refreshments in the gymnasium. Chairman of the Social Board of the Central Mothers' Club is Mrs. Kenneth Cullen. RECORD NUMBER OF W. H. S.
FOOTBALL CANDIDATES

Led by Capt. John West and eight other varsity lettermen, a squad of 123 candidates reported to Coach Henry Knowlton at the opening of the 1946 football season.

The unprecedented number made it necessary to issue every available piece of equipment to the first 110 prospects, the remainder, members of the freshman class, were informed that they were not "cut" from the squad and they will be told when equipment is available for them.

Facing one of the stiffest schedules since he became head coach here in 1940, Coach Knowlton has a letter man backfield in Captain West, Sammy Bellino, Flynn Buzzotta, and Charlie Philip. Bill Whittemore is again practically a sure starter at center as is Bill Nichols at tackle. Ends Gallardo and Riga, an aggressive pair of strong boys, have substituted in the end positions for two years, "Bustle" Faevelo and Jim McLaughlin are leading candidates for the other tackle position. Leading guard possibilities are Jack Miller, Henry Mottolo, Scott Douth, Ellen Caldwell and Jack Grimes.

A second backfield of sophomores Dillingham and Abrahamson and Joe Amico and Jerry Erico will undoubtedly see much major action. Ends Alan Switzer and Vern Slack, center Dave Mellow, and tackles Phippen and Antippos are working regularly on the first two elevens.

Coach Knowlton welcomes back his former right eye and backfield coach Ted Bartlett, whose high school coaching goes back to the Mansfield days. Al Seferian, former team mate of Knowlton at Springfield College and a valuable line coach has returned to assist with the possible "seven mules". George Curtis, former Concord High School assistant is a new member of the coaching staff this year.

MANCHESTER FIELD SLOWS

Following the opening of the new river channel on Manchester Field a fortnight ago, the work has not progressed visibly during the past two weeks. The big shovel is still in operation deepening and widening the new river, but beyond this not much has been accomplished.

It now looks dubious for any fall football games at the field, although the High School squad has been using the remaining untouched part of the field for preliminary practice.

APPRECIATION OF NOTHILLS

Teenagers in the Wyman and Mystic schools are especially grateful to their Mothers' club members who have completely renovated and beautified the teachers' rooms in their buildings. In addition, teachers in the Wyman School appreciated the thoughtfulness of the mothers who arranged the flowers in each of the classrooms prior to the opening of school on Wednesday.

FLEET FEAST AND FROLIC

Sunday Evening, Sept. 15

The annual dinner and fun-fest of the Winchester Snipe Fleet is scheduled for Sunday, the 15th with festivities to begin promptly at 6 p. m. This gathering is the one time of the year when the fleet members discard their dirty dungarees, stoddy shorts and other quaint sailing costumes, wash behind their ears, don their best bib and tuckers and congregate to collect the coveted cups won during the year.

Fleet Captain Bart Sullivan and his entertainment and food committees have lined up a gala evening. There'll be a swell supper at 6, followed by the presentation of trophies to the lucky winners, and from there on it's a secret. There'll be loads of laughs and lots of fun and all for only 90¢ per person.

Of course, as always, the party is exclusively for Fleet members and their guests. Please let Ed Kent or Bart Sullivan know if you're planning to attend, before Wednesday, Sept. 11.

Club Chatter

The annual Labor Day Clam-bake was enjoyed by nearly 200 club members and their guests. In spite of the tremendous amount of labor involved, Commodore Swanson and his able assistants do a marvelous job of keeping these affairs moving swiftly and smoothly. Our hats off to them. With a first and a second in the official Snipe Fleet Races last weekend, Ted Burleigh moved into first place in the Fleet standing. With but two official races remaining, Ted has a one point lead over Don Simond and this weekend tells the story. Wouldn't miss those races for a million.

Sailing in sensational fashion, Ralph Swanson scored a first and two seconds to win the annual Labor Day skippers races. Ted Burleigh and Jim Snow tied for second. . . . The next ladies' bridge party under the direction of Mrs. Stanley Howe, will be held Sept. 11 at the club. . . . Rommie Hall and Al Litchfield won the boys' swimming events on Labor Day. Roberta Coon topped the girls and "Jackie" Stecker was the best driver. John Mansfield finished first in a thrilling four boat kayak race.

TED WILLIAMS' OUTFIT ON DISPLAY

The Winchester News Company has rather an attractive display in their window. It consists of a uniform shirt, glove, hat and a baseball autographed by all the members of the Red Sox's team, also a huge baseball bat. "Ted" Williams, popular outfielder of the Red Sox, is the owner of the above property. The huge baseball bat was presented to him by the Heywood Wakefield Co. and marked "From The Gang."

CHAVANTES INDIANS

Long wooed by gifts dropped from airplanes, Brazil's wildest tribe of Indians—the little-known Chavantes—has made its first friendly overtures toward the white man. Representatives of the tribe are reported to have brought gifts to a government mission.

The Chavantes occupy a rich section of Mato Grosso province, in the isolated interior of the country, says the National Geographic Society. They crossed the Araxua River almost a century ago, settling along the west bank in the vicinity of the Rio dos Mortes (River of Death) and the Rio Cristalino. Travelers rarely have visited their communities.

Photographic studies from airplanes show that the Indians build circular huts of palm thatch, about 30 feet in diameter, with arched roofs rising to 10 feet and more at the center. Their settlements are semi-circles of huts, with the bachelors' hall or men's club in the center. Ample space is left within the circle for council meetings, dances, and other festivities.

The people are estimated to number 3,500. They wear no clothing and stripe their bodies with paint. One Indian tribe calls the Chavantes "Cucurton," meaning "unclothed."

For killing game and warring with neighbor tribes, the Chavantes still rely mainly on bows and two-feathered arrows with long, stone tips. Like other tribes, they also use incendiary arrows, and hand-wood clubs.

It is doubtful if they ever will literally smoke the peace pipe with the white man, for reports have said that they do not use tobacco. They have been described as a somewhat puritanical people despite their savage characteristics.

The aerial photographs of their huts and settlements indicate that their life is similar to that of the Sherente Indians, with whom they were closely interwoven historically. Not until the Chavantes moved west of the Araxua River was there a distinction in territory. The Sherente Indians retained their ancient habit on both sides of the Tocantins River.

HIGH SCHOOL PUPILS NOTE MANY CHANGES

The 732 pupils who formally registered at Winchester High School and then followed a schedule of shortened periods on Wednesday found great delight in passing from class to class, for each classroom and corridor of what is sometimes called the original building had received a thorough redecorating since the suspension of classes last spring. By using a new two-tone effect on the walls, painting or revarnishing the woodwork, and whitening the ceilings, corridors appear more spacious and classrooms more light and cheerful. The removal of several items from the corridors has greatly improved the traffic facilities during the passing of classes.

Next in interest were the new faces among the faculty. Few could remember Mr. R. Burns Winslow who has spent the last five years in the Navy, holding the rank of Lieutenant Commander prior to his separation. Mr. Winslow heads the Wadleigh School staff and continues to coach track. Four years away from classroom and athletic field was Mr. Edward Bartlett, a Lieutenant Colonel at the time of his leaving the Army. Mr. Bartlett resumes his classes in bookkeeping and geography and his football and basketball coaching, assisting Coach Knowlton in football and returning to his former position as coach of basketball. After two years' absence while on duty as a senior grade Lieutenant with the WAVES, Miss Pauline Goodrich returns to the staff as a full time teacher of Art.

Newcomers to the high school faculty are Miss Helen Foley as teacher of English, Mr. C. E. Reed as teacher of science, Mr. Curtis as teacher of science, and Mr. Curtis Nash as Guidance Director. Mr. Otis Leary, teacher of Industrial Arts since 1924, is this year devoting all of his time to high school pupils. Mr. William Brantley, teacher of mechanical drawing and printing, will teach those subjects on a full time schedule at the high school. The addition of Messrs. Leary and Brantley in a full time capacity is necessitated by the increased emphasis on Industrial Arts.

On Thursday, pupils noted at lunch time that they had a bit more time for lunch, a welcome change in the bell schedule which has slightly increased the length of the school day.

At a meeting of the high school staff on Tuesday Principal Wade I. Grindle announced that approximately 50 young people who were graduated in June have been successful in gaining college admission. In a year when schools of higher learning have been deluged with applications for enrollment Winchester High School has an enviable record.

Rev. Edmund C. Sliney, Pastor of the Immaculate Conception Church, received word of the death of his brother, Major Michael E. Sliney, U. S. A., in San Francisco, California, on Monday, Sept. 3.

BATTLESHIP MISSOURI

This colossus of the sea, dubbed "Mighty Mo", by her crew, is the last word in super naval construction, says the National Geographic Society.

Joining the Pacific fleet in November, 1944, and the Third fleet and the mythical Fifth fleet in January, 1945, the Missouri was part of the force which made the first carrier raids on Tokyo. Her thunderous 16-inch guns helped blast a path for Marines invading Iwo Jima and Okinawa. For two months the Missouri protected carriers of Vice-Admiral Mitscher. Task Force 58 in mounting raids on the Japanese islands. On VE Day she was detached and returned to an advance base for refitting as Admiral Halsey's flagship. The Missouri has been struck only once on April 11, by a suicide plane, with no casualties and little damage.

Displaces Nearly 53,000 Tons. This naval giant is a story in superlatives. Fourth, and probably last, of the Iowa class of super battleships, the Missouri displaces nearly 53,000 tons when fully loaded. Her overall length is 860 feet; beam, 108 feet. A speed of over 30.

knots gives her claim to being "the fastest battleship in the world." Nine 16-inch guns and formidable lighter armament make her probably the most heavily-gunned ship afloat. Her ponderous, yet wieldy, size makes her, next to the solid earth itself, the most stable gun mount in the world for those 16-inch rifles, each of which can hurl a ton of steel and explosives 20 miles with deadly accuracy.

Statistics on the Missouri almost defy imagination. Costing nearly 100 million dollars, her construction required about four million man-days of work. In building the ship 300 miles of electric cable, 15 miles of Manila and wire rope, over one million rivets, more than four million feet of welding, 200 miles of piping, 15,000 valves, and 900 electric motors were used or installed. The ship's electrical plant would be capable of providing electrical energy for the total industrial and civilian demands of a city the size of Santa Fe, New Mexico. One hundred and seventy-five tons of blue-print paper was used in plans for the Missouri. About 150 tons of paint was applied to protect her surface, and at the launching almost 50 tons of special greases coated the ways.

Present Ship Is Third U. S. S. Missouri

The present Missouri is the third United States battleship to bear that name. In addition, during the Civil War, the Confederate States built an iron-clad steam ram, named for the "Mighty Mo" state. The first Missouri was one of the Navy's early steam paddle-wheel ships. Commissioned in 1812, the vessel was destroyed the next year by a disastrous fire in the harbor of Gibraltar. The second Missouri was a first class battleship of 12,500 tons, commissioned in December, 1905. She rendered valuable service in the first World War, and was scrapped in 1923 according to the terms of the Washington Naval Treaty.

STRIKE AND YOU GET IT

We told you a while ago about the activity of the U. S. (we do not recall the exact date) in organizing labor unions in Japan. We think we told you what our opinion of it was. (If we did not it was a grave omission). Not long after we told you how the labor unions were getting along and about one union which struck until it was granted the maturing and editing of a principal newspaper in that country.

Well, the Japs appear to be pretty thoroughly organized by now, and the latest news, clipped from last Friday's paper, is very encouraging. In substance it informs us that Gen. MacArthur has informed the Japanese government that strikes, walkouts and other stoppages which are inimical to the objectives of the military occupation are prohibited. That's what Gen. MacArthur thinks of the labor movement in Japan which the U. S. has set up!

This is reported to be the strongest measure yet taken to curb labor unrest in Japan, and the General is further credited with "ordering" the Japanese to end the machine strike which halted shipping.

The result of the "orders", we read, has been a prompt collapse of the shipping strike, and they are credited with checking a tendency to lawlessness among Japanese labor groups. These labor unions are reported to be communist dominated and are credited with attempting to enforce their demands by threat.

In contrast the strikes here at home are going merrily on, and the following clipping from a newspaper of the same date:

A dispute over the production of automobiles for export kept the automotive plants of Nash-Kelvinator Corp. at Kenosha and Milwaukee, Wis., closed today, idling 11,000 production workers.

R. A. De Vlag, Nash-Kelvinator vice-president in charge of manufacturing, asserted that a group of workers had refused to complete assemblies of right-hand drive cars for shipment into the foreign market because they wanted more vehicles made available to Nash employees.

We don't know how this strike came out, but our bet is that the Nash company will now devote its time to producing cars for its employees.

RAY UNDERWOOD THINKS HE DID IT

The following letter has been received at the Star office for our Sports Editor, now on vacation. While requested to keep the data quiet, the information it contains is such that the substitute sports editor feels it should be given to the fans—at least to correct any wrong impression they may have. The letter follows:

Hq. Oahu Signal Service
Oahu, Terr. of Hawaii
27 Aug. 1946

While resting on the white sands of Waikiki Beach with the strain of Hawaiian music wafting on the breeze, I was lazily perusing the August 16 copy of the Star when the article on page three, on the High School track records, made me sit up and take notice. It was a very interesting article 'tho the sentences questioning the veracity of my 4:35.4 mile caused me to decide to make an attempt to uphold "my only claim to fame!"

Jerry Nason, of Winchester and the Boston Globe could dig out of the Globe's sports morgue the fact that the following year, while a freshman at Boston College, I ran a 4:36 mile, an hour after doing a 2:03 half against Holy Cross. That mile was the only time I ran that distance, as Jack Ryder, the B C coach tried to turn me into a two-miler.

While this doesn't prove that my credited time of 4:35.4 against Woburn was accurate it is indicative of the fact, I was capable of it. McCafferty of Woburn ran several miles in times better than 4:50.

I'll tell you in on a secret.

Against Woburn, I was running under a stimulant—two aspirins, given me by Miss Palmer for a headache, and a Bronco-Seltzer purchased at Hevey's before we left for Woburn. Another angle is this: Ed Batson had just won the half mile with myself a poor second and Ed was Winchester's only choice for the mile. So Bob Friary or Boney Murphy told me to run it also and to go out at the gun in an effort to take the starch out of McCafferty. It so happened I took the lead and managed to hang on to it till we crossed the finish line.

Although, this information is from a naturally prejudiced source it may help you determine more accurately whether my accredited time for the mile is plausible.

Sincerely,

Ray Underwood

NEWSY PARAGRAPHS

Work is progressing on the remodeling of the large store on the Locatelli Building on Main street soon to be occupied by Peck and Peck.

SAN'A

Dedication of its first radio station has added a modern touch to the centuries-old city of San'a, skyscraper capital of Yemen. The station was a gift from the United States.

At the southwestern corner of the Arabian peninsula, 80 miles inland from the Red Sea, San'a rises from a plateau site 7,900 feet above the water, points out the National Geographic Society.

Towering above desert wastes for eight, ten, and twelve stories, its buildings with their colored glass windows are massed together like great apartment houses. Tall minarets and mosque domes cut this skyline.

Wall Symbol of Isolation

Yet San'a is one of the most medieval of cities. It is surrounded by a high octagonal brick wall, with many semi-circular bastions. The wall symbolizes long isolation against outside influence.

Entrance at any of the eight massive gates dispels any impression of modernity which a distant view of the buildings might give. Strictly speaking, there are no streets—just uneven earth packed by centuries of traffic.

No one is permitted to enter this holy city of 48 mosques and 39 synagogues without permission of the Imam, or king. In fact, travelers may not come to Yemen without royal consent. No hotels are strung along the roads, official guest houses lodge government visitors.

In the two-story stone guest house at San'a's concessions have been made to European customs by providing chairs and tables, instead of having guests sit on oriental fashion on Persian rugs. It even has electric lights, which are virtually unknown elsewhere in Yemen.

For the most part, there are no modern conveniences or public utilities in this city of 50,000 people. The water supply comes largely from the newer city, where it is drawn by camels, or oxen from wells 60 feet deep.

The newer city connects with the shopping center in the Arab town to the east, through a gate in the city wall. The nearby palace of the king housed a hospital behind its thick walls during Turkish occupation.

There the Imam rules over the temporal and spiritual life of his estimated 3,500,000 subjects. He has no throne but sits at a desk, where no citizen is too lowly to consult him. When he travels, the royal coach is an old frieze.

Yemen roads so far have discouraged automobile traffic, and Arab ponies provide the fastest travel. Camels pack most of the exports to the Red Sea port of Hodeida, which has largely supplanted Mocha, the port of coffee fame.

CIUDAD TRUJILLO

The Dominican Republic's capital, Ciudad Trujillo (Trujillo City), which celebrates on Aug. 4, the 450th anniversary of its founding, is the oldest permanent white settlement in the Western Hemisphere. But its predominance of planned parks and 20th century buildings belies its Columbian origin, notes the National Geographic Society.

The original settlement from which the modern city has grown was established in 1496 under Christopher Columbus' direction by his brother, Bartolome. Named Nueva Isabela in honor of Spain's queen, it clustered on the east bank at the mouth of the Ozama River, on the south shore of the island which Columbus named Hispaniola.

Hispaniola, second to Cuba in size among the West Indies, lies between Cuba and Puerto Rico in the Greater Antilles chain. Sharing the island with Haiti, the Dominican Republic occupies its eastern two-thirds. Ciudad Trujillo is 1,550 air miles south of New York City.

Land Columbus Loved

Two violent hurricanes striking this region of normally pleasant climate 428 years apart each stimulated the community's growth. The first occurred in July, 1502, and demolished the few flimsy buildings of the six-year-old post.

The second struck the Dominican capital in September, 1930, a few days after General Rafael Trujillo had become President of the Republic. It left little of the city except its ancient masonry structures. Because of the zeal with which the new executive turned to the task of reconstruction, the people renamed the city, long called Santo Domingo, in his honor in 1936.

After the 1502 hurricane rebuilding began at once, not on the old site, but across the stream on its west bank where the city of 72,000 Dominicans stands today. The original name was discarded, and the post became known as Santo Domingo de Guzman.

Through most of the 16th century, Santo Domingo thrived as Spain's capital of the Western World. Its colonists built thick citadel walls and ramparts, a cathedral and churches, stately mansions and monuments, whose remnants stand picturesquely among modern structures as reminders of the city's Columbian origin.

Columbus visited it often, and asked to be buried there. Cortes, Balboa, Pizarro, Ponce de Leon, DeSoto, and others made it the starting point of important voyages of discovery in the New World.

Independent for Century

Two centuries of decay followed capture of the settlement by Sir Francis Drake in 1586. Spanish interest was diverted to mainland mineral wealth. Internal quarrels, attacks by English, French, and pirates thinned the colony to 500 people by 1735. With the approach of the 19th century, a rebirth began.

SAAR

Germany's Saar Basin, which France is seeking to annex, yielded as much as 15 million tons of coal in some prewar years, notes the National Geographic Society. This output, if made available to France, would about cut in half that country's current deficit in coal. Almost devoid of native petroleum and limited to small seams of coal along its northern border with Belgium and at scattered points in its mountainous southeast, France is far from self-sufficient in fuel.

The Saar Basin's coal reserve is estimated at nine billion tons. The 750-square-mile region, roughly oval in shape, lies along the Saar River in the wooded Rhineland hills adjoining France's Lorraine plain. Flowing northward out of the basin, the Saar River joins the better known Mosel (French: Moselle) four miles east of the Duchy of Luxembourg.

Disputed in 1919

The Saar Basin ranked third, after the Ruhr and Silesia, among Nazi wartime centers of industrial production. Its concentration of industries began not long after Germany took Alsace-Lorraine from France in 1871, giving the Reich control of Lorraine's rich iron ore deposits as well as the coal of the Saar.

Alsace-Lorraine was returned to France in the peace settlements after World War I. At that time, French Premier Georges Clemenceau made a bid for annexation of the Saar, similar to the current demand. It was opposed by Woodrow Wilson and David Lloyd George, primarily on the ground that the Saar's 800,000 inhabitants were strongly German in language and sentiment.

As a compromise, government of the Saar was assigned to a League of Nations commission for a 15-year period. During that time coal mines and industries were turned over to France in compensation for wartime destruction of French collieries at Lens and Valenciennes.

The treaty provided that, after 15 years, the people should decide whether to join France or Germany or remain internationalized. The plebiscite, held in January, 1935, produced a nine-to-one preference for rejoining the Reich.

On Conquest Route

The Saar lies on a natural route between France and Germany, and has figured for centuries in boundary disputes. Caesar, Attila, Charlemagne, and Napoleon moved to conquest through the region which saw heavy martial traffic in both World Wars. The United States Third Army overran it during the winter of 1944-45. France has been in temporary control of the region since V-E Day.

The Saar is credited with having produced one-tenth of Nazi iron and steel and one-sixteenth of Nazi coal during World War II. Saar industry is intensive; its forests of chimneys are almost lost among surrounding forests of oaks and beeches.

BORNEO

The lure of gold and diamonds which helped settle the western shores of Netherlands Borneo finds a postscript in modern history as the Japanese return to Netherlands officials the captured diamond-studded gold crown of the Sultan of Pontianak.

The Sultan of Pontianak, notes the National Geographic Society, has his home in the port of Pontianak, capital and chief town of the Western Division of Netherlands Borneo.

The location of this settlement—a little inland from the connecting straits between the South China and Java seas—made it an important war target of the Japanese. It was severely damaged in the 1942 fighting.

Chinese Found Gold

Pontianak is built on low and swampy ground, a little south of the equator. Most of its houses rise on stilts, to avoid frequent flooding from nearby Landak and Little Kapuas rivers. The Sultan's big house, once a symbol of Oriental magnificence, looks across water to the old Netherlands administrative headquarters and military garrison.

There were about 600 Europeans among the 47,000 prewar inhabitants of Pontianak. About a third of the population was made up of Chinese, who long have played a leading role in the commerce of the region.

Chinese settlers, attracted by diamond fields and gold prospecting, began moving into the area after the 13th century. When Dutch expeditions came that way in the 1800's, they met strong opposition from still thriving Chinese colonies, or "repables," which had remained free of local native control.

Diamond Monopoly Sought

As far back as the early 1600's the Dutch East India Company had attempted to develop a monopoly of the diamond trade in western Borneo. The project was abandoned, but later the Dutch returned, and in 1778 signed a treaty of assistance with the local Sultan of Pontianak, an Arab chieftain who had founded a colony near the present town.

By a later treaty the Sultan accepted Netherlands protection and agreed to share his government and revenues. In time, the successor to the Pontianak sultanate exchanged tax privileges for a fixed salary, while the district was placed under Netherlands government and police jurisdiction.

Pontianak became the leading trade center of western Borneo, drawing on a productive hinterland in which coconut and rubber plantations predominate. Rubber, copra, and lumber are the main exports. But gold and diamonds have remained on outgoing cargo lists, along with such exotic commodities as birds' nests, ebony, and beel nuts.

GREECE

Involved in Bulgaria's demand on Greece for an Aegean Sea port is a mountainous area backing two low coastal pockets, the National Geographic Society points out.

Known as Western Thrace, this eastern part of Greece is sparsely settled. The small towns along the sea are occupied mostly by mariners and fishermen, while inland farmers devote their attention mainly to the growing of "Turkish" tobacco.

In this area it has not been uncommon to see old Turks wearing turbans and waist scarves no longer worn in Turkey itself. Workers in baggy pantaloons, with fezzes on their heads, harvest Indian corn. These people are Moslems who were left in Western Thrace during the 1923 exchange of Greek and Turkish Nationals.

Slopes Supply Timber

Before World War II the Radope mountain slopes in this region were well wooded. During German occupation, however, three million of Greece's 16 million acres of timber were harked away to make winter quarters for Germans on the Russian front.

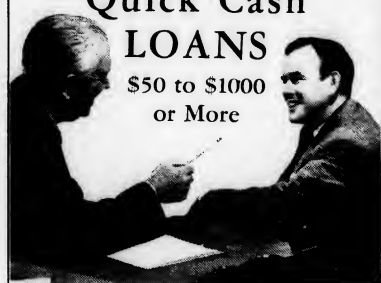

South of the mountains, the land approaching the coast is divided into two plains. Some of the valleys entering the plains extend north into Bulgaria.

To the east of the plains is the broad valley of the Meric (Maritsa) River, which forms the border between Greece and Turkey. The valley is often flooded, and there is much marshland on the Grecian bank. Only small boats of shallow draft ascend as far as Edirne (Adrianople), Turkey.

WILL WINCHESTER TRUST CO. VAULTS RESIST ATOM BOMBS?—HIROSHIMA EXPERIENCE PROVES THEY DO

Japanese-Built Installations Crushed, But American-Equipped and Constructed Vaults Survived in Operating Condition

Bank vaults at the site of the atomic bomb impact in Hiroshima similar to that of the Winchester Trust Company survived the blast and heat despite the fact that the reinforced concrete bank building was blasted to rubble.

Eye-witness accounts and photographs attest that, though the outside of the vault doors were seared by the heat and some slight damage occurred to the external fixtures, the doors were still in working order and the contents of the vaults completely intact.

Reinforced concrete was blasted but the four American-made vaults in the backroom remained intact.

Reinforced concrete flooring was blasted like chalk, and collapsed, but—

While the atomic bomb wrecked two vaults built by a Japanese firm in the Teikoku Bank, four American-made vaults in the same room survived and their doors still functioned.

The significance of this fact is steel and concrete in Hiroshima indicated by the expressions of interest from presidents of leading banks in this country in the survival of these Hiroshima vaults. Many of the estimated 13,000,000 holders of safe deposit boxes have voiced their concern over the resistance of bank vaults to atomic explosion, according to letters from bank officials. Insurance companies, whose large holdings of negotiable securities are held in vaults, have also expressed their concern.

Several months ago, the Mosler Safe Co. received a letter from an Army Lieutenant inspecting the Hiroshima damage. In part, the letter said: "... In visiting the remains of the City of Hiroshima, I found in one of the three structures still standing, four large vaults built by the Mosler Safe Co. of Hamilton, O. The vaults were entirely intact and except for the exterior being burned and rusted there was no damage.

vaults made by the Takeuchi Co. American banks. The gold stored at Fort Knox, Ky., completely destroyed, their doors blown off the hinges, and the sides crushed. To me this was a very positive demonstration of the superiority of American equipment.

No other test than that of the atomic bomb could have been more severe or exacting."

When this letter came to the attention of banking circles the safe company was urged to get more detailed information. The resulting investigation produced a more extensive report including the story of itself and photographs of the wrecked bank building and the intact vaults.

This account conflicted slightly with the Army Lieutenant's version that only three buildings remained standing in Hiroshima. The report stated:

Morning meeting will be held at the Casino at the Forges, corner of Sandwich and Jordan roads. Several beautiful Plymouth gardens will be open. Mrs. William Champlin, president of the National Council is the guest of honor.

PROFESSIONAL WOMEN MEET

The Business and Professional Women of the large Women's Association of the First Congregational Church will meet with the "Junior Mrs." for their first fall meeting on Tuesday evening, Sept. 17. Coffee and dessert will be served at 7:45 p. m. in the Ladies Parlor, followed by a talk on "The Secret Side of the Ministry" by Dr. Howard J. Chidley.

The "Business and Professional Women" was organized as a group in 1945 by the interested business and professional girls and women of the Church. Under the capable leadership of Miss Gertrude Davis their first year was a most successful one. The coming year under the chairmanship of Mrs. Harriet Connors is being looked forward to with keen interest as many enjoyable and varied programs have been planned. These informal meetings are usually scheduled for the first Wednesday of each month and are followed by a social hour.

It is sincerely hoped that more business and professional girls and women will join the group this year. A cordial invitation is also extended to school teachers and other women who may be employed locally and who would enjoy these sociable evenings.

A supper is being planned for the October meeting to be followed by a Book Review by Mrs. Robert M. Keeney. Full details will be announced later.

FACTORY NOTES AT THE ACADEMY

Of interest to the vocal students at the Arlington Academy of Music is the addition of Miss Margaret Janis and Mr. Alfred Tory to its vocal teaching staff.

Miss Janis received most of her training under Elva Boyden and Harry Jampulsky, both of New York. A well known soloist, she will probably be best remembered for her radio work, having sung for three years on the Blue Network and numerous radio engagements for the American Broadcasting Company. Miss Janis will specialize in the instruction of classic, semi-classic, and popular ballad singing.

Mr. Alfred Tory, staff pianist for Station WCOP, joins the faculty as voice coach and assistant supervisor of the popular music department. Formerly a featured artist with the Artie Shaw, Ruby Newman and Harold Stern orchestras, Mr. Tory is also an exponent of the most recent of all treatise on arranging and composing, the Schillinger System.

GRANDMOTHER'S FIRST FLIGHT

Saturday, Aug. 31, 1946 will always be a special day for Grandmother because she had her first airplane trip. She had been to the Center to do her shopping and on the way home she heard someone behind her say, "So, this is the Lady who wants to fly?" Turning around she greeted two friends, Mr. and Mrs. H. Mr. H. is a licensed Pilot and Mrs. H. was the one to whom Grandmother had confided her secret desire.

"Well! today is ideal for flying, want to go?" said Mr. H. When Grandmother said she wanted to fly, she had in mind a nice, big passenger plane, not a small Piper Cub, but hesitatingly she accepted.

In less than an hour her host was at the door and in a short time the Billerica-Wilmington Air Port was reached. The Pilot helped his passenger into the plane explaining that it would be a bit bumpy at first and it might take about five minutes to get accustomed to being in the air. The take-off was perfect and Grandmother found it was an exciting experience. In a few minutes they gained altitude and leveled off into a smooth riding condition. Up there among the clouds with a beautiful blue sky, fine view in all directions, the plane humming along the Merrimack River to Plum Island, then to the family house in Amesbury, Rockport, Gloucester, Topsfield Fair where a horse race was being run at that very moment. When the Pilot said, "We are up 2400 feet!" Grandmother thought the plane had almost stopped until it was explained they were really going 85 miles an hour land speed. It was a thrill of a life time and felt as if one were getting a continuous view from a very high mountain all the time.

Grandmother suggests that all Grandparents take up flying.

When they had safely landed the pilot said, "I saw your lips moving just before the take-off and now you can see that your prayer was answered."

(Oh! I almost forgot, the pilot is Grandfather Charles E. Howe.

ALBERT O. WILSON

Albert O. Wilson of 23 Yale Street, Winchester, is chairman of The Salvation Army Appeal in the Cambridge Division it is announced today. The quota in Winchester is $72,000 and it includes a capital accounts appeal for a new Youth Center as well as the maintenance appeal for the Cambridge-Citadel Corps and the Cambridge Central Square Corps, two Neighborhood Centers which serve this area. The capital accounts appeal for the youth project is Non-Recurring! This is the first time in over a generation that The Salvation Army has made an appeal for a combined maintenance and building campaign here.

Mr. Wilson, who is president-treasurer of the A. O. Wilson Structural Company in Cambridge, is consul of Sweden at Boston and vice-president of the Cambridge Rotary Club.

Arthur MacKenzie is chairman of the Cambridge Salvation Army Advisory Board and J. Henry Finger is chairman of Industry and Finance Division.

The Salvation Army 1946-1947 Greater Boston Appeal is for $1,000,000 and includes besides the regular appeal for maintenance funds, such capital accounts as the one in this city and in four other communities, as well as an account for a much needed new Evangeline Booth Home and Hospital in Boston and postwar projects for members of the armed forces still in service.

YUGOSLAVIA

The town of Bled, scene of the American ambassador's conference with Marshal Tito, long has been popular as Yugoslavia's summer capital and mountain playground. Bled lies in Yugoslavia's northwestern corner five miles south of the Austrian border and ten miles east of the prewar Italian frontier, notes the National Geographic Society. Its position is close to continental rail routes joining Trieste and Belgrade with Munich and Vienna.

Once known as Veldes, Bled lies on crystal-clear Lake Bled, 1,560 feet above sea level. About a mile in diameter, the lake is dwarfed by its giant backdrop of Julian and Karavanken Alps to the west, north, and east. Snow-capped Triglav, to the west, towers 9,393 feet, the highest summit in Yugoslavia.

Crowning a high, sheer, rock bluff on the lake's northern shore is a 1,000-year-old castle, transformed into a hotel. Other hotels, private villas, and summer residences line the lake shores. Two protecting mountains temper the climate and provide sport in winter to make Bled a year-round resort.

Rising from the center of the lake is a tiny, wooded islet surmounted by a high-spired white church. Sturdy boats propelled like gondolas take passengers to and from services there. In winter, home-made skates and skis carry churchgoers over thick ice.

A popular legend of the region holds that sheep and goats once grazed in green meadows where the lake now stands, and roamed through the church that crowned a hilltop. A voice from above directing the peasants to put a fence around the chapel, went unheard. One morning, the story concludes, the community awoke to find the deep, blue lake surrounding the hilltop.

School supplies: loose leaf notebooks and fillers; protractors; rulers; pencils; erasers; paint boxes; drawing pads of paper; and paper punches now in stock at Wilson The Stationer, 3 Church Street, Star Bldg.

LEWIS TO SERVE AS TREASURER

Donald J. Lewis, affiliated with the Winchester Trust Company, will serve as local appeal treasurer in The Salvation Army 1946-1947 Greater Boston Appeal for $1,000,000.

The million dollar quota is apportioned this way: $426,000 for the yearly maintenance and operating expenses of the 30 Greater Boston Salvation Army agencies—although this sum does not defray the expenses of the institutions and departments and Corps Centers, for in 1945 sixty percent of the cost to maintain the various activities was made up from internal income while the public subscribed the rest. Next, $375,000 is for a much needed new project, the Evangeline Booth Home and Hospital, which has outgrown its present building and has an approved plan for new quarters; $100,000 for the construction, or remodeling, of five of the Neighborhood Centers; and $50,000 is for post war services.

Where there is a local Salvation Army Service Fund, such as in Winchester, a percentage of the local contributions given in the appeal will be allocated to the fund for community needs.

HAIFA

Haifa, caught in the cross currents of British-Jewish-Arab conflict, has developed into Palestine's leading port as well as its chief industrial and commercial center. Beautifully situated on the Bay of Acre, in the shelter of green but historically hoary Mt. Carmel, Haifa drowsed for decades before embarking on a period of spectacular growth, recalls the National Geographic Society.

Between 1922 and 1943 the population jumped from about 24,000 to more than 120,000. Only ancient Jerusalem and the modern mushroom city of Tel Aviv, both around the 150,000 mark, are larger.

Railways, airplanes, oil pipe lines, and an expensive new harbor played a part in the port's development.

Has Modernistic Architecture
From an Arab village, Haifa has turned into a metropolis of wide streets and public buildings, of banks, schools, restaurants, and recreation centers. Its modernistic department stores and apartment houses—with their sweeping curves, glassed-in fronts, and severe straight lines—are typical of new architectural forms around the world.

In normal times the people of Haifa go briskly about their business at the docks, in the oil refineries and cement mills, the machine shops, cigarette factories, metal works, and power plants.

A pipe line more than 600 miles long brings petroleum from Iraq oil fields. Tankers are fed at the oil-jetty terminals, or by undersea hose that carries the vital fluid from the beach to ships anchored offshore.

Breakwaters Form Harbor

Haifa's artificial harbor was created, between 1929 and 1933 by dredging and by construction of huge stone breakwaters. Railways and highways link this eastern Mediterranean port with Egypt, Turkey and other Near East states. Airfields and seaplane landings are available.

In a land where history is counted in millenniums, Haifa is just a youth. Its present site, at the foot of Mt. Carmel, was selected little more than a century ago by a Pasha of nearby Acre. He transplanted to it the people of the old Haifa village.

Now available in paper line - Dust-ex-dusting tissue - paper napkins - coffee cups - at Wilson the Stationers - Star Building.

WORK AT MANCHESTER FIELD

Work at Manchester Field, where a new river channel has been dug and a new playground is to be made after the parkway has been rerouted, is progressing. The river is now flowing in its new channel and the work of dredging this is evidently completed. The big shovel is now dredging the old river bed. This work is done to allow the laying of a drain which will care for the water now flowing into the old waterway. After this drain is completed the filling of the old channel will start. Since the water has been diverted into the new river course the old river has risen considerably and is now at what formerly was the high water mark. In dredging the old river bed numerous trees in the vicinity of the band stand have been cut down for removal.

Football games so they say, are to be played on the Junior High playground between the school and the present parkway.

The fourth in the series of six regattas took place at the Winchester Boat Club Saturday afternoon, Sept. 10. The weather was favorable with a strong breeze blowing from the south which had a tendency to blow the canoes off the course, and make it rather difficult for the starting and paddling, as it caught the boats broadside.

Jack Hevey of Winchester, who went to Lowell Saturday to play short stop for the K. of C. team, highly touted as a big league prospect, certainly made good with a capital "G" when he whaled a mighty triple to the extreme left field corner of Spaulding Park in the eighth inning, sending in three runs, and later scoring himself, giving the Knights the first game in the series with the Highland Daylights by a score of 9 to 6.

Mr. John P. Tucker, a former well known resident of this town, died suddenly at the Peter Bent Brigham Hospital, Boston, Friday night. For a number of years he made his home in Glangarry. He was connected with the Boston Traveller, editing the column "The Whirling Hub" and was previously with the Boston Record as editor of its "Seen and Heard" column.

The local post of the American Legion is planning to make Saturday, Oct. 8 a gala day in Winchester. It will then hold a Lawn Carnival, which will consist of many attractive fixtures.

When the benefits of living in this town are considered and thoughtfully compared with those of other towns, it is clearly apparent that our tax rate is not very high and that we get a good deal for our money.

The city of Boston rain gauge at the North Reservoir registered a 3.77 as a result of Sunday's storm. This is considered a great amount for the length of time the storm was in progress. The ponds in the valley were filled causing the water to pass over the dam at Whitney's mill in large quantities.

Messrs. B. T. Morgan and James McLaughlin of Waterfield Lodge, I. O. O. F., attended the session of the Grand Lodge at Boston last week.

Mr. Charles E. L. Wingate, managing editor of the Boston Journal, moved into his new house on Stratford road last week. Previous to deciding to build in town he had been informed that Winchester was the handsomest suburb of Boston. His first impression is that his informant was correct, and he says that Winchester is indeed a beautiful place.

Mr. Edwin Ginn is preparing to move into his new and palatial $50,000 house on the west side. The electricians did a big business Monday. The day was perfect for this popular outdoor recreation.

Several hitching posts for the use of hackmen and others have been placed at the station.

Mr. Henry T. Schaefer at a meeting of the Gen. State Central Committee was elected a member of the committee on resolutions for the State Convention.

Napoleon Goldin while riding down Black Horse Hill Monday evening was thrown from his bicycle by the front wheel collapsing, and severely bruised.

The main belt at Whitney's machine shop broke down last week, and with much difficulty a new one was put in. The shop is running under water power.

Mrs. Geo. B. Chapman while walking on the boulevard Sunday morning on her way to church went into a soft spot to the depth of a foot, caused by the softening of the dirt by the rain. She did not attend church.

Mrs. C. E. Corey while riding down Mt. Vernon street from the Falls Monday forenoon fell from her bicycle and badly sprained her ankle.

Labor Day the Silver Lakes of Wilmington defeated the Winchester in a closely contested game by a score of 13 to 12.

The heavy rain of Sunday caused many bad washouts, throughout the town and Supt. Richardson and his men were kept busy all that day and Monday making repairs.

Winchester has now settled down to business. The schools are again open and about all the vacationists have returned.

Col. Charles H. Woodward, president of the Mystic Valley Railroad, will, from present indications, have a walkover in the Middlesex-Essex Senatorial District.

It is reported that the High School class of '97 will resurrect the Recorder. Our boys should be in the swim.

Saturday afternoon the Selectmen viewed Highland avenue, and at a meeting Monday evening favorably considered the question of advertising for bids for building that street. At the annual town meeting these figures will be submitted for the approval of the citizens. It is the intention of the Selectmen to build the street mainly of gravel well rolled down, and where necessary macadamize.

Daniel March, Jr., M. D., and Mr. Rueben Hawes dined at the famous Lincoln House, Swampscott, on Labor Day. They went down to escort Mr. Gilbert home that afternoon.

A most enjoyable leap year party was given in Good Templar Hall Monday evening under the

TENNIS TOURNAMENT

The annual Town Tennis Tournament got underway last weekend with a total of 62 matches being played. Saturday afternoon was entirely devoted to men's singles.

In the biggest upset of the day, Billy McGargie defeated Jim Ware, Jr., in the second round. It took Billy two hours and three sets to achieve his victory by a score of 8-6, 3-6, 6-3. The only other seeded player to run into difficulty was Hal Gamage who ultimately triumphed over Lane McGovern in the second round, 6-2, 2-6, 6-1.

Ed Williams turned in two excellent matches by defeating Connie Rosander, 3rd and Bob Halstead in successive matches while losing only seven games. Rosander and Halstead are state interscholastic winner and runner-up respectively.

The seedings in men's singles were as follows:

Herbie Ross, year in and year out champion, 1; Bill Morton, fresh from victories in Maine, 2; Hal Gamage recently returned from duty with the Army Air Corps, 3; Art Hills, former runner-up, 4; Jim Coon, runner-up to Herbie Ross last year, 5; Jim Ware, Jr., member of the Harvard tennis team last spring, 6; Ed Williams, 7 and Bud Nutter, 8.

One interesting fact was that there were 17 veterans included in the field of 52 entrants for men's singles. Five survived to the quarter-finals.

The matches on Sunday produced more upsets. John Penman defeated Ed Williams in the third round, 6-4, 4-6, 6-2. John could logically be considered the dark horse of the tournament since he hasn't played in Winchester since returning from service with the Marine Air Corps. The pre-tournament dope was that the acquisition of a wife and daughter might have affected his tennis, but apparently this is contrary to fact. In the only quarter-final played in men's singles, Jim Coon upset Hal Gamage in three sets, 4-6, 6-2, 6-4. Jim had spent the preceding week practicing on the Cape hoping to do some such thing.

The seedings failed to hold up as well in men's doubles. Bob Drake and Bill Morton edged Jim Ware, Jr. and Jim Riley, 6-4, 6-3, and Ken and Dick Hills, a father son combination, defeated Ed Williams and Bud Nutter with some of the best tennis of the week-end. Previously Nutter and Williams had set a record for the number of games played in a three set match. They ran up against a pair of cagey veterans, Maurice Freeman and Herman Pike in the second round. Freeman is a past winner of the doubles. The match lasted over two and a half hours with the final score reading, 6-4, 6-8, 12-10.

In another doubles match, played in comparative obscurity from 1 till 2 on Sunday, Jack Tarbell and Bill Fiewelling suddenly came to life in the second set and extended Art Hills and Jim Coon to 6-1, 9-7. Art was heard to say after the match was over that the way in which he kept missing the opposition's serves reminded him of his efforts at hat for the Ten Old Men this summer during the softball season. The fact that Dick Halvorson, Jack's brother-in-law, and just about the entire gallery, gave Jack and Bill considerable vociferous support, may be the reason that they each served about ten aces in the second set.

In another long three set doubles match Forbes Norris, better known as "Spike" from his volley ball days, and Billy McGargie, a thorn in everyone's side last

WINCHESTER WINS INTER-CLUB CUP

Winchester's superb Snipe Fleet skippers sailed a dozen Snipes down to the Melford Boat Club last Sunday afternoon and scored the second straight victory over Melford in a two-out-of-three series, to assure the return of the inter-club trophy which Melford won last season.

The first race in the series held in July, Snipes vs. Comets, was a lopsided affair, but last Sunday's contest wasn't settled until the final protest had been put aside. The race was run as two, 2-lap races with boats interchanged after the first race. Melford scored first place in the first two-lapper but the next five boats to finish were Winchester's skippers, which gave Winchester's stalwarts a very comfortable margin going into the final race.

However, Melford's Comet captain suddenly got hot and the first three boats were Melford manned. But when the protests (and there were many) had been settled and the final tally made, Winchester had come through by a score of 89 to 81. And Winchester heroes sailed home in the gleaming to a very warm reception indeed.

week-end, outlasted Don Greer and Rowland Patrick, 2-6, 9-7, 6-2. Mr. Patrick left Palmer street muttering about any tennis tournament committee that expected a man to play eight sets in one day. After playing four sets on Saturday that was about eight too many. However, Billy McGargie played the same number of sets.

In the mixed doubles, the only seeded team to be extended was that of Franny Keyes and Jim Riley. Ruth Murray probably the No. 2 girl in New England behind Marnee Norris. "Spike's" daughter, and Bill McGargie dropped a three setter, 6-2, 4-6, 6-3.

Next Saturday afternoon women's singles will start and the following matches will also be featured: men's singles, quarter-finals, Morton vs. Nutter, Hills vs. McGargie, Ross vs. Penman. The semi-finals of the mixed doubles will be played as will the quarter-finals of men's doubles.

Sunday will also have an array of better than usual tennis, so if you're not busy, why not drop down and see the local champs in action?

Simonds Beats Burleigh

"Stretch" Simonds skipped his Sinbad to another victory over the Snipe Fleet to go back into first place in the official standing with but two races remaining this season.

Going into the Sunday race, Sinbad was several points behind Ted Burleigh's Tee-Bees, thanks to the brilliant string of victories Ted has recently scored. As has been the custom lately, Simonds and Burleigh were away at the gun, leaving the rest of the fleet well in their wake. In short order, Ted Burleigh built up a commanding lead and it looked like curtains for "Stretch." But on the second windward leg, "Stretch" split tacks with Ted and got a much needed break from the wind. This, coupled with a heartbreaking mix-up with a Comet for Ted, was all Simonds needed to take over a lead he never again relinquished. "Bill" Hall, with a brilliant bit of last leg strategy, sailed his Rondie from eighth to third.

After losing a lead, he had held for two laps to Bob Swanson, Ted Burleigh roared back in the home stretch to win by a scant two feet in Saturday's race. George Field's Hard Tack 2nd beat out Jim Snow's Salome for the show position.

BOB McGRATH NEW SWIM CHAMP

Massachusetts 100 yd. Freestyle champion Bob McGrath closed the outdoor swimming season by annexing another title, that of the N. E. A. A. U. Junior 150 yard Individual Medley. The final meet, sponsored by the Boston American-Record, the Greenfield American Legion, and the Franklin County Swimming Club, was held Aug 1 at the Greenfield Municipal Swimming Pool.

To wind up the season the Winchester Swimming Club collected three firsts, one second and a third at the meet, making the long trip to Greenfield and the icy swim in the "mountain stream" a real worthwhile. It was Bob McGrath's first entry in medley competition, and he kept even with the pace setters during the breaststroke and backstroke lengths to go into the lead with his freestyle, easily finishing first.

Once again Winchester's Barbara Donaghy proved that height doesn't necessarily make a swimmer when she placed first in the open 100 yd. Freestyle competing against New England's best.

Lou Brown brought home the third first prize by winning the Boys' 13 years and under Freestyle.

style event in the fast time of 29.5 seconds.

In the parallel race for girls, Sally Morgan touched second to a local Greenfield swimmer, while Sally's teammate Ann Dillingham placed third.

Special mention should be made of the Winchester enthusiasts who provided the transportation for the team and who acted as officials: A. R. C. (American Red Cross) Field Representative Daniel Donovan, Robert Guild, Ann Murray and Bob Harris.

The Bay State letter files you have been waiting for are back on our shelves again. Wilson the Stationer, 3 Church street, Star Building.

STRIKE AND YOU GET IT

Are we right, or are we wrong? America is indeed the United States for just as soon as the strikers get more pay, another bag of peanuts, free ice cream at the cafeteria, the discharged drunk reinstated, they call off the strike and allow America to get a little food, do a little traveling, buy a little coal or start in again—by paying the price. All praise to the Unions.

THE GOOSE THAT LAYS THE GOLDEN EGGS IS BEGINNING TO REALIZE SHE IS A GOOSE

Who created 50 million jobs in America? Who paid wages so high that the poorest workman could afford luxuries even the rich in other countries never had? Who paid for the research to develop new postwar products which could be providing greater prosperity than the world ever saw?

American industry—spurred on by the chance for profit. It has paid more taxes, provided more jobs, paid higher wages, produced more goods at lower prices, developed more national security, than any other system in any other time in any other part of the world.

Now this great force which has done all this for America is being treated by elements of government and labor as though it were an enemy. Industry is told what it must pay, but government wants to decide what it can charge; industry managers who supply the brains to keep all business going are cut back and back in profit and the right to manage; a thousand regulations trip, hamstring and block business progress. The wonder is that American industry, and those who own and manage it, bother to keep on hoping and working.

It might pay all of us who share in industry's benefits (all 129,000,000 of us) to examine the thousand or so who are trying to kill it. Regardless of their names, the accent is foreign.—(From an advertisement in News Week by Warner & Swasey.)

TWO WORLDS

One World, the slogan we heard so much about, has now given way to the new phrase Two Worlds. The propaganda machine is still working tooth and nail, night and day. We, the Common People; those of us whom the late President Roosevelt set out to rescue and uplift in his endeavor to obtain votes to perpetuate himself in office and to head the new type of world government he concocted, are now well established in this Two Worlds. The Roosevelt idea of One World has hit a snag. The obstruction is laid to Russia, although the present Two Worlds slogan may well apply to America itself, for in his endeavor to remake our United States and secure a majority of its votes to keep himself ensnared, the late President threw so much into the laps of the people, newcomers to America, that they are, through these Unions, now disputing the authority of even the New Deal itself.

And so we, the Common People, brought up with civic morals at least, are now living here at home in exactly two worlds. First we have the New Deal World. We pay taxes to it and let it suck the very substance from us. We allow it to milk us and toss us around while it continues its experiments in this new form of government. Second we have the Union, now so strongly entrenched that it does not even bother with any New Deal Laws. To the Union we all pay another tribute.

How can America continue to exist under two governments?

The New Deal, throwing everything to the Union, now continues to obstruct and hinder in all forms of former American Life. One has only to picture conditions in America as they existed before Roosevelt with what we are going through now. True, the New Deal dismisses all such criticism with the off-hand expression that the War is responsible and soon all will be well. But many Common People know different. They know that the New Deal does nothing to reduce taxes or stop its ring-around experiments in governing. They know the New Deal is carrying out the Roosevelt idea of a new world government. Every tribute the New Deal can wring from the people is pursued and new burdens are imposed as fast as the hoard of hangers-on can think them up and put them in effect.

The Union, on its part, gives not a hoot about government—new or old. All it wants is power and money to fatten its leaders, largely newcomers to America. To do this it throws a sop to its rank and file to hold it in line and retain its power.

If these two governments do not represent the height of indifference to the living and welfare of the Common People, what does?

Today the Common People pay tribute to two governments—the New Deal and the Union. A man may not work to pay his New Deal taxes without first obtaining permission from the Union and paying his tribute to it. He is told what he may receive for pay by both. And by both he is told what he must pay them. The employer must tell the New Deal how much money he will make in a year and then pay his tribute whether he makes that amount or not. He must pay the tribute under the high sounding title of unemployment security and the New Deal makes him, and him only, pay as a sop for votes. Likewise the employer must receive permission from the Union to hire his workmen, must collect their Union tribute, hire no person who has not paid his Union tribute, discharge no Union person and change no worker without Union permission.

This two separate governments rule us. Neither will make the other obey any laws.

At present it appears that the Union is ruling. The New Deal has gone so far in its struggle to obtain votes to keep itself in power and fostered the Union so strongly, it stands the chance itself of being ousted by the baby it has brought up.

The amazing thing about the whole situation is the complacency of the Common People—those who are paying through the nose and not even getting a decent or simple government. How long will they continue to endure it?

FRANK CRAWFORD AT ROTARY

Mr. Frank Crawford was the guest speaker at the regular weekly luncheon and meeting of the Winchester Rotary Club yesterday noon in Masonic Hall, instructed by "Dick" Sheehy, who paid high tribute to his work at the Winchester Hospital. Mr. Crawford gave an interesting talk on the Hospital and also in the vault alarm which he invented.

Numerous guests were present including Tucker Vye, manager of the Winchester Hospital, Rev. Arthur L. Winn and other visiting Rotarians. The singing was led by Ralph Bonnell with Jim McGrath at the piano.

WINCHESTER SCHOOL COMMITTEE NOTES

At a special meeting of the Winchester School Committee held at the Administration Building on Monday evening of this week, the resignations of two more teachers were accepted with regret.

Miss Zelda J. Gordon, teacher of Geography at the Junior High School since 1937, asked to be released in order that she may accept the position of State Supervisor of Elementary Education in Maine. Miss Gordon will depart for her new position later in the Fall.

Miss Mary S. McPartlin, teacher of Grade Two at the Noonan School and a member of the Winchester teaching staff since 1935, asked to be released to accept a teaching position in Newton. Like Miss Gordon, Miss MacPartlin will continue in her Winchester position until a later date.

Discussion of the Andrew's Hill school site and attendant problems occupied the remainder of the meeting.

THE STORY OF MR. AND MRS. ROBIN

(By a nine-year-old Winchester School Pupil)

One bright and sunny morning Mr. and Mrs. Robin were sitting on their front porch, thinking of the future when suddenly Mrs.

The Lawrence Sisters, well-known dance stylists and teachers will resume teaching in Winchester, Sept. 16. The Lawrence Sisters have recently returned from New York where they attended meetings and conventions on "The Dance." Temporarily the girls will teach at the American Legion Hall. After Oct. 1, all lessons will be held at the Footlight Hall. For appointment call Mrs. 6526-R, immediately.

Robin faints. Mr. Robin was very scared. He immediately called Dr. Wren. Dr. Wren came right over. He told Mrs. Robin to be sitting down every second of the day. Mrs. Robin did what the doctor told her to do. One day she heard a crack, she knew what the doctor had told her but her anxiety was too much for her, so she got up and there on the chair was an egg. She sat down on the egg quite a few minutes. Suddenly she heard another crack. She got up and there sat a little chick. So now you know why Mrs. Robin faints.

LEXINGTON HERE A WEEK FROM TOMORROW

Despite the present rather enormous undertaking going steadily along at Manchester Field and its environs, the Winchester High School football team will open the season here on Saturday, Sept. 21. Lexington, an opening day versus of long standing and one which is sure to test the locals, will furnish the opposition. Game time will be 2:30 p. m.

Tuesday afternoon those officials directly concerned with the game arrangements, Faculty Manager Hayward, Coach Knowlton, Principal Grindle, Superintendent Norris, assistant faculty manager Cooper, conferred with Town Engineer Parker Holbrook and Supt.

Tom McGowan of the Park Department on the location of the playing surface, the bleacher space and the entrance.

The main entrance to the football field to be used this year will be the main gate of the fenced area now used as a playground for the Junior High School, located along Mystic Valley Parkway. Stands will be erected on that side of the playing surface, a condition which is rather attractive since the sun will be at the spectators' backs.

Another entrance, to be used principally for those holding student tickets, is to be located nearer the Junior High School.

Hardened by a couple of scrimmage sessions with teams from schools, not on the Winchester schedule, the 1946 team should be ready to carry on in the customary manner.

Viewed from atop one of the large piles of loam, Capt. West's outfit had Riza and Galleto at the ends; Nichols, McLaughlin, and Grimes (in combination of only two) at the tackles; Doub, Mottolo, and Filler paired variously as guards; Whittemore, at center; and Bellino, Buzzotta and Flynn assisting Capt. West in the punting, passing, and running departments.

Manager Eddie Hicks has all of the equipment off the shelves and spends most of his time trying to find his assistants, Peter Flagg, Bob Gagen, Ted Covert, Wes Swanson, to name only a few.

THE WINCHESTER DOG TRAINING CLUB

Born: Sept. 22, 1879 at Winchester, Mass.

John Arthur MacLean, the son of John Lawrence and Mary Agnes (Morrow) MacLean, is a recognized authority on Oriental Art, and deservedly so. In 1923, he was appointed Director of the Art Association of Indianapolis, and since 1926, he has been Curator of Oriental Art at the Toledo Museum of Art, where he also instructs in the subject, "Arts of the Orient" at the University of Toledo.

Kernon College, in recognition of his special prominence in his field, awarded Mr. MacLean the honorary degree of Master of Fine Arts in 1937. He is a Fellow of the Rochester Museum of Arts and Sciences, a member of the American Association of Museums, and Secretary of the Art Museum Directors Association. He is widely traveled, both in Europe and Asia, is a lecturer of note, and has been active in the Toledo Council of the Boy Scouts of America and in the Toledo Chamber of Commerce.

Married to Lizzie Edna Hopkins, in 1905, and the father of five children, he makes his home in Toledo, Ohio.

"Here she comes again! She still feels it's worth waiting for her own silent Servel Gas Refrigerator!"

Lots of folks have decided there's only one refrigerator for them... a Servel. For they've learned there's no noise, no worry with the Gas Refrigerator. A tiny flame takes the place of moving parts in its freezing system. So there's no machinery to get noisy or wear out... ever.

New Servels are coming off the line every day. But the demand is so great that some folks may have to wait a bit. If you can't get yours right away, remember... Servel is worth waiting for. It stays silent... lasts longer.

M. Y. F. HOUSE PARTY

The Methodist Youth Fellowship was for the second consecutive year entertained last June at the Norman Hitchcock's beach house in Biddeford Pool, Me.

Arriving about 9 o'clock p. m. aboard cars driven by Mrs. Hitchcock, Miss Bertha Hitchcock and the Rev. Harris Heverly, the group found the waves mountainous and the water so cold, claimed those who went in, that only the salt kept it from freezing.

Arising early next morning, the only early awakening of the three days, the men of the expedition went forth to meet the sea in quest of fish. Two hours later, after losing one line and lure and five of Mrs. Hitchcock's Boston bread baking cans, baiters, they had met enough sea and no fish. They found that when the waves are high it is well nigh impossible to get a rowboat over the breakers. That night, after a hearty meal of Boston baked beans without Boston brown bread, certain members spread out along the beach to count shooting stars. A good many were counted, but still more went unobserved, we fear.

Next morning the surf was found to have abated somewhat, and on this day were the fishermen successful, a number of pollock being landed. A bit of excitement came up when the very excellent swimmer Ed Hitchcock swam out a mile or so to tell a couple of the boys fishing that they were out farther than was safe, the danger being in the rapidly settling fog of that region. Once in the boat he complained that a couple of playful porpoises had bothered him on the way out. It was then they got a good look at one of the "porpoises." Swimming under the boat was a six foot shark!

Friday evening a double celebration was held, climaxed by two of Mrs. Hitchcock's very special cakes. The occasion was the Heverlys' wedding anniversary and Barbara Wark's birthday.
Next day the faithful B. & M.

Railroad carried all the people home but the lucky few destined to go with Mr. Heverly, master of all short cuts and traffic regulations. The train crew arrived first, however, due to three breakdowns of the Heverly Plymouth.

People at the party included Ed Hitchcock, Natalie and Barbara Wark, Melissa Meigs, Hank Roberts, Charles Enright, Joan Millet, Mary Seaton, John Marshall, Marilyn Goldthwait, Nancy

Griffiths, Norma Bergquist, Jane Owen, David Wylie, Barbara Gancia, Martha Fay, Harris Heverly.

The M. Y. F. plans to end every year's activities with some sort of a trip, but whatever they do next year could hardly top the Hitchcock expedition.

Recently Sgt. O'Leary has been in command of the State Police Barracks at West Bridgewater. He has also been stationed in Andover, Topfield, Concord, Framingham. He served as bodyguard for James M. Curley when the latter was Governor of Massachusetts.

GIVES HOUSE FOR BAPTIST PARSONAGE

Rev. Arthur L. Winn of Fairmount street has presented his house to the First Baptist Church as a parsonage. Mr. Winn has been making his home since last November at the Hotel Northfield, North and Main streets, Winchester, Mass., and he now plans to make his permanent home there.

Mr. Winn returned to Winchester for a visit early this month and found that Rev. Walter Lee Bailey, pastor of the First Baptist Church, had been requested to move from the house he had been occupying on Walnut street owing to its age and was hard pressed to find another residence. A Baptist all his life, and a member of the local church since early youth, caused Mr. Winn to interest himself in the matter with the present happy outcome. He has presented his house, together with part of its furnishings, to the church.

Mr. Winn built the Fairmount street house in 1909. His wife died a year ago last March and he was left with three children, two of whom he has no immediate relatives. He is a son of the late Mrs. H. Winn and his present retirement was interested in the watch and jewelry business, which he has since sold. He is an ordained Baptist minister.

In order to make this movement most effective in this Congressional District, a local organization with permanent elected officers will be formed as speedily as possible.

WORK AT MANCHESTER FIELD PROGRESSING

The work at Manchester Field, where the river has already been relocated and the new stretch of Parkway will soon be progressing. Two ball-dozers are at work at each end of the old river, Waterfall road and Mystic avenue, pushing the mud into the old channel. Many persons viewing this operation wish they had some of this fine loam on their lawns.

All of the elm trees in the west bank of the old river have been removed and the willows on the east bank are being cut down. The hand stand has now been removed. We have not heard anything about the building of a new band stand. Probably none will be erected, as hand concerts were out years ago with the horse and buggy.

Such portion of the old playing space on the field that remains is being used for practice by the High School and Junior High pupils. This Saturday's football game is scheduled to be played on the Junior High field. This place will probably be all right for the game, but it does not look too promising from all viewpoints.

WINCHESTER OPENS GRID SEASON TOMORROW

Veteran Lexington Eleven Should Test Locals

Winchester High opens its 1946 football season tomorrow by playing host to Lexington High at the temporary gridiron on the Junior High School Athletic Field, commencing at 2:30 p.m.

With any kind of weather there will probably be a good crowd on hand for this opener, Winchester fans being eager to see both this year's edition of the Red and Black and what sort of playing conditions there are going to be on the Junior High field.

Lexington is likely to be well represented at the game for the Minutemen are fielding a veteran team and expect to do pretty well this fall. Seven letmen will be in the Blue and Gold lineup against Winchester Saturday and Coach Knowlton is expecting anything but a pushover.

Winchester is going to be a bit weak on the rusher for a while, due to inexperience. Bill Whittemore, center, and "Nanjo" Nichols, 290 pound tackle, are the only letmen on the locals' front line while the other starters, Jim McLaughlin, Henry Mottolo and Scott Doub have had less actual varsity experience than usual for second stringers.

It is not probable that "Moose" Morrow may start at one of the guards and that big Jack Grimes will be ready to play tackle with the coaching staff being too upset over the way the boys went, since Melrose, a good team this year, was way ahead of Winchester, having had practice and seen out since early in August.

Most of Winchester's early season opponents will be ahead of the locals, due to their earlier starting, but Coach Knowlton expects his boys to do pretty well in spite of that. The locals average nearly 175 and this average will go up a bit with Grimes in there.

FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

Showing of Parisian Hats

The Clubhouse Committee, of which Mrs. Francis C. Bowes is chairman and all the Fortnightly ex-presidents are members, has for its object the procurement of a permanent home for the club. As a first step in that direction, the committee will sponsor a showing of beautiful Parisian hats, all hand made and all exclusively designed by Mme. N. Alexia, formerly of New York and now of Boston.

The store on Thompson street recently occupied by the Little Shaker Restaurant will be converted into a lovely Hat Salon on Tuesday and Wednesday of this coming week, Sept. 24 and 25. It will be open both morning and afternoon on both days, and Mme. Alexia will be there in person. It is hoped that Fortnightly members and their friends and neighbors will all come in to see these very chic French models, whether or not they wish to buy a hat at this particular time. See large advertisement elsewhere in this issue.

Meeting Place
This winter the Fortnightly will hold its regular meetings in the parish hall of the Unitarian Church. The Club sincerely appreciates the courtesy of the Unitarian Society in thus sharing its facilities.

Club Institute
The first Club Institute of the year will be held on Thursday, Oct. 3, at 10:30 a. m., at the Y. W. C. A. in Boston. All club members are cordially invited to attend. The special subject for discussion will be new chairmen and their work. For further information, consult Mrs. Clifton S. Hall, Federation Secretary, Win. 0087.

WAS FATHER OF MRS. HAROLD LEROY

John C. Brainard, who died on Sept. 9 at his home, 20 Alden street, Danvers, at the advanced age of 95, was the father of Mrs. Harris LeRoy of Forest street. He was ill only a short time and previously had been in good health, thoroughly enjoying a family reunion held at his home last June. He was the holder of the Boston Post came as the oldest resident of Danvers.

Mr. Brainard was a native of Salem and grew up in the old John Ward House there, recently taken over as an historic shrine. He went to Danvers in 1881 and made his home in that town for 65 years, having a wide circle of friends among people in all walks of life.

For 54 years Mr. Brainard was a locomotive engineer for the Boston & Maine Railroad on the Boston-Danvers passenger run. In his spare time he painted portraits, a number of which were exhibited in art shows. Daily, following his retirement, he took as his gift the daily papers and other periodicals to the old ladies' home in Danvers, his family having endeavored to perpetuate this custom in his name.

Mr. Brainard was 74 years an Odd Fellow and was the oldest member of Essex Lodge, No. 26, in Salem.

Besides Mrs. LeRoy, he leaves three sons, George C. Brainard of Cleveland, Ohio; Ernest T. Brainard of New Britain, Conn.; and Harold A. Brainard of Chicago, Ill., formerly of Winchester; a daughter, Miss Anne C. Brainard, with whom he made his home; 18 grandchildren and 12 great-grandchildren.

The funeral was held last week Wednesday at the late residence with Rev. Howard W. Grimes, pastor of the Danvers Baptist Church, officiating. There was a large attendance and the floral tributes numbered more than 100 pieces.

Seven grandsons, Ralph S. Brainard of Mt. Vernon, N. Y.; Dudley Brainard of Salem, George C. Brainard, Jr., of Youngstown, Ohio; John C. Brainard of New Britain, Conn.; and Whitman, Lester and Richard LeRoy of Winchester, were bearers. Interment was in the family lot in Calvary Cemetery, Salem.

STOLEN BIKES RECOVERED

Last Friday evening two bicycles owned by Samuel Keaton of 689 Main street and Paul Williams of 21 Myrtle street were stolen from Keaton's yard. The police were notified and broadcast an alarm, resulting in the Metropolitan Police recovering the machines from Mystic Lake below Sandy Beach. The spokes had all been broken from the wheels and the machines had been otherwise damaged before being thrown into the water.

Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Holmes of Wildwood street have returned after a vacation at Jackson, N. H.

BENEFIT SALE HIGHLY SUCCESSFUL

The Monster Penny Sale held Monday evening at the town hall under the joint auspices of Winchester Lodge Elks and Winchester Post, American Legion, for the benefit of Kenneth M. Colgate of Elmwood avenue, proved highly successful. Mr. Colgate was seriously injured at the Legion House while assisting in preparations for Memorial Day this spring and Monday evening's benefit was to aid him in meeting the heavy expenses entailed as a result of the injuries he received.

The hall was taxed to its utmost capacity, it being estimated that more than 1000 persons attended, many coming from out of town. P. T. Foley and Jack McCarthy acted as M. C.'s and the drawing for the big prizes was done by William E. "Bill" Twombly, recently out of the Merchant Marine. Hugh J. Erskine of Lake street won both the Ford sedan and bicycle, and the Frigidaire was won by Arthur B. Colgate of Medford.

Something in excess of $4700 was taken in at the benefit and when all expenses are paid it is believed that a substantial amount will go to Mr. Colgate.

P. T. Foley acted as chairman of the joint benefit committee with Charles A. Farrar as treasurer. Jim Treacy was in charge of the Elks ticket-sales and Charlie Murphy, those for the Legion.

DEMPSY SISTERS HOME FROM ETO

The Dempsey sisters, T4 Barbara C. and T4 Elizabeth E., who enlisted in the Women's Army Corps together on March 1, 1944, have received their honorable discharges at the Fort Dix Separation Center.

Daughters of Mr. Patrick J. Dempsey, of 907 Main street, the Misses Dempsey were employed as telephone operators by the New England Telephone & Telegraph Co., before entering the Army. Both girls served 14 months overseas with the 3341st Signal Service Battalion, and previously to coming to Fort Dix for separation from the Army, were stationed in Frankfurt, Germany. Each wears the Good Conduct Medal, APO Ribbon; ETO Ribbon and the Victory and Occupation Ribbons.

They returned to this country on the USS Goethals, docking in New York last Saturday. Two brothers, Richard II., and Edward P. Dempsey also served in the armed forces.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Waldo Bond have returned from a fishing trip in Maine.

BOAT CLUB NEWS

SNIPE FLEET DINNER GALA AFFAIR

The annual Snipe Fleet Dinner and pre-entertainment goes down in history as the finest ever. More than 70 Snipe Fleet members and their friends enjoyed every moment from feast to finale.

The party began with a hearty chicken dinner prepared by Steward Kent and beautifully served and planned by Fran Burleigh, Anne Freyer, Mae Sullivan, Lil Snow, Anne Blumire, Peggy Powers and "Pat" Sullivan.

After dinner, Fleet Captain Bart Sullivan introduced Commodore Martin Swanson, who made all the Snipe sailors feel good by telling them what a welcome and important role they played in the affairs of the Boat Club.

Next, Don Simonds gave a brief talk about the Snipe Fleet's history and then talked about the International Snipe Fleet Races at Chataqua and showed some very swell sailing tricks and inventions he'd uncovered on the trip.

At this point, Jim Snow took over and passed out the coveted prizes. Winners included Don Simonds Sr., Ted Burleigh Jr. and Bob Swanson in the official point score races and Jim Snow, Al Litchfield and George Field won the Director's Trophies. As fleet champion, Don Simonds received the Don-Juan Trophy to hold another year and once again has his name inscribed on the handsome George Jones Trophy. Stretch Simonds received the New England Snipe Championship Cup which he won at Marblehead during Race Week.

John Powers and his brother Tom took over at this point and had everyone in stitches with a line of chatter and patter that was a lot more amusing than most of the "corn" that comes over the airways.

The fleet was fortunate indeed to have Lt. Commander Jack Wood of the U. S. Coast Guard Academy and sailing master at M. I. T. as its feature attraction. The Commander had four reels of beautiful colored movies of the Coast Guard's two boats that were entered in last Spring's sailing race at Bermuda. These movies showed the complete preparation for the race, the start of the race, and took us all the way to Bermuda. Jack is a marvelous photographer as well as a swell sailor and speaker; and the combination of the breath takingly beautiful movies and Jack's marvelous manner of explaining them, made a highly interesting and exciting ending to a perfect evening.

FOR THE SPORTS ENTHUSIAST: —

No doubt there are quicker and easier ways of self-destruction but the one that is almost certain to be successful is to suggest to an athlete that, in pursuing his sport, he resembles a dancer.

Few people have ever attempted to explain the strange mental gap between dancing and sports, and it is mental, as we will try to clarify. Off-hand you probably won't agree, but there is a decided similarity between the two.

Look at it this way: What is the purpose underlying the many hours an athlete spends in "training"? Why does the boxer spend so much time improving his footwork? Why do track and field athletes train so strenuously for coming events? Why the long period of training for major league baseball teams? Similar questions could be asked of any athlete, regardless of the sport.

The major portion of an athlete's training is devoted to achieving, in one way or another, these three things: (1) balance and (2) rhythm. These are the three things that more often than not distinguish the great from the good, and the good from the mediocre.

If you're having trouble as first baseman getting that "high one," or as shortstop stabbing that vicious line drive; if you have difficulty punting in football or catching that pass; a poor drive or service in tennis; etc., chances are you are probably off on your timing, balance or rhythm.

Dance training can improve all three, and its lots of fun as well.

FATHERS' DAY TOURNAMENT

Dave and "Tyke" Wilcox Won First Annual Country Club Event

Dave Wilcox and his son, "Tyke", are the first winners of the new Fathers' Day tournament which promises to be one of the most popular events on the calendar of the Winchester Country Club.

The tournament, as its name would imply, will be played annually on Fathers' Day, but Fathers' Day for this year had slipped by before Fritz Craven, originator of the feature, had the happy thought to propose it, so instead of waiting until next year to inaugurate the event it was decided to play this year's tourney last Saturday and thereafter schedule it for Fathers' Day each year.

That's how it is that D. A. and A. Wilcox (Dave and Tyke to you) happened to be winning what was to be a June tournament in September.

There was a large entry list for the event which is Scotch foursome, selected drive with one-half combined handicap. One member of the two some must be a club member, but there is a considerable latitude when it comes to the son end of the layout. The son may be a son, son-in-law, stepson or foster son. A father and stepson were among last Saturday's winners.

The Wilcoxs turned in a card of 81-75, which gave them the coveted best gross. At that they were only a stroke under the first net winners, H. M. Lewis and son, Tom, who carried an 82-65. R. H.
MacMinn and his stepson R. W.
Whittemore, had second net with a card of 82-67.

In an effort to give the dads with young sons a sporting chance a Class B has been created for fathers with sons under 12 years.
Last Saturday's winners in this class were John Page and his 7-year old, J. E. Page, 2nd. Their card, 118-89 gave them both gross and net honors for the division but since the rules provide only one prize may be won by a two some, they elected to take net honors, leaving the gross prize to J. P. Bushell and son, Paul, who had a gross a stroke higher than the Pages, 119.

Following are the summaries:

No United States President appears to be spoken of or referred to lately as much as Calvin Coolidge.
Undoubtedly this is because of his stand on strikes against government and the fact that he was one of the few, if any, presidents to lower the tax burden. During recent years it has been the custom to deify the Coolidge administration and it has been seldom that one has read any praise of his service in office. Within recent weeks his name has been mentioned more and more often and we are glad to reprint the following letter clipped from the Boston Herald Mail and sent us by a subscriber.

To the Editor of The Herald:
The editorial, "At Plymouth, Vermont," recalled to mind a visit to the impressive hillside grave of Calvin Coolidge on Memorial Day of this year.

A very small, cheap American flag was stuck into the ground in front of the simple stone bearing his name and the seal of the United States—the only reminder that he served his country, the state of Massachusetts, and his native state of Vermont with integrity and distinction. A few loose wild flowers (Jack-in-thepulpits), probably from the surrounding woods, were the only wreath they had significance.

If, as stated in the recent editional, "the Coolidge Memorial is fully aware of its self-importance to the state and the nation," may I humbly suggest that it could with propriety place a suitable American flag on its grave at least on Memorial Day, every year.

There is a shocking contrast when one now visits the birthplace and grave of the late President Roosevelt at Hyde Park, New York. However, the contrast is hardly fair, for he would like to be so. Perhaps Calvin Coolidge meant his simple way of life to be his best memorial.

REP. ROGERS NOT TO SPEAK

To the Editor of the Star:
Some months ago a letter appearing in the Star detailing a Winchester man's difficulty in attempting an interview with our Congressman Edith Nourse Rogers.
At that time I was tempted to write and add my story of what happened four years ago when a group of members from the League of Women Voters requested an interview.

Several of her constituents from Lincoln, Belmont, Concord and Winchester wished to ask her stand on forthcoming legislation and during the summer recess of Congress I wrote and asked for an appointment either in Boston or at her home. I said I would wait the time and place. After three weeks had gone by and no answer was received we sent a personal letter by registered mail.
No answer was ever received to that letter either.

On Sept. 4 of this year the League's chairman of government,
Mrs. Robert Voorhis, wrote Mrs.
Rogers in Lowell asking her to speak at our opening meeting on Sept. 20. Mrs. Voorhis had telephoned Mrs. Rogers, her opponent for Congress, and he had agreed to come on that date to discuss Congressional issues. Mrs.
Rogers was requested to come or to send a representative.

When no reply had been received by Sept. 17, Mrs. Voorhis and Mrs. Long asked me what they should do since notices had to go out for the meeting. I asked Mrs.
Long to telephone to Lowell. She was unable to speak to Mrs. Rogers, but her secretary informed Mrs. Long that Mrs. Rogers had a previous engagement and would be unable to come. He said he did not know why we were not informed of this, because he was sure he had written us. No letter has come. When asked about sending a representative to speak for Mrs. Rogers he said he would see what he could do. The following day he called to say that Mrs. Rogers had been reported as stolen and he could not send anyone, and had only the most vague reasons for his inability to do so.

I have, therefore, asked Mrs. Albert Bolton, Director of Political Affairs for the Women's Republican Club of Massachusetts, to speak for Mrs. Rogers. Mrs. Rogers wishes, as always, to present a non-partisan view of the Congressional campaign and Mrs.
Bolton and Mr. Oliver Allen, Acting President, Winchester League of Women Voters

Sincerely,
Sara Goodwin Woodward,
Acting President, Winchester
League of Women Voters

The following letter arrived this morning, Sept. 18, after my letter had been sent to the Star:

Congress of the United States
House of Representatives
Washington, D. C.
Sept. 13, 1946
Mrs. Nicholas R. Voorhis, 33 Lloyd Street,
Winchester, Mass.
My dear Mrs. Voorhis:
Thank you so very much for the kind invitation to speak at the meeting of the Winchester League of Women Voters, on Thursday, Sept. 20. I am so sorry I have to regret it, but I have an engagement out of the state on that day.
With all good wishes and kind regards.

Very sincerely yours,
Edith Nourse Rogers,
(Mrs. John Jacob Rogers)

(AN APPRECIATION)

To the Editor of the Star:
Occasionally there, group-up, discussions in our town, it being contended there is a strict line drawn and new arrivals are regarded with the older residents holding themselves aloof. I have been in Winchester 35 years and have never found this to be a fact.
To prove my point we had a Penny Sale in the Town Hall, sponsored by the American Legion Post and the Elks Lodge. Working together, the town was canvassed for prizes and for the sale of chances. What was the result?
As fine a group of prizes was donated and as fine a group of people got together as the town has ever seen!

The Town Hall was filled with citizens from all parts of the town. Not a merchant was asked for a prize who refused. No one who was asked to buy a chance refused.

The final result was a fine evening enjoyed by all, and a sum exceeding $4,700 gross was realized.
Could a town whose citizens draw the line do a thing like that? I think not, and I think also it should prove that Winchester is the finest town in Massachusetts.
A complete report on the party will be published later with detailed accounts of the expenses and profits.

Charles A. Farrar,
Treas. Colgate Benefit Committee

FROM COLGATE COMM.

To the Editor of the Star:
The Colgate Benefit Committee, sponsors of the penny sale held at the town hall last Monday evening, wishes to thank each and every citizen of Winchester and the surrounding communities who, in any way, helped to make it the grand success it turned out to be.
We especially wish to thank the heartfelt thanks to the merchants of the town who, in their very generous way, accepted our representatives and responded so generously.

Too much cannot be said about the sub-committee who gave their valuable time and efforts to elinate the affair.
To the Elks and the Elks' organizations, we also offer our thanks for their co-operation and good response when called upon for aid both physical and financial.

Thankfully yours,
P. T. Foley and J. F. Treacy,
Co-chairman
Chas. Farrar, Treas.

STOLEN CAR RECOVERED

Early last Friday morning about 5 o'clock, Officers Joseph Quigley and Thomas Hannon noticed a Buick sedan slow down near Clark street on upper Main street as its operator apparently sought directions out of town.

The officers noted the number of the car and spotted it as one which had been reported as stolen in Newburyport. As they approached the machine the operator started the Police car and noted to drive off. He was ever quickly stopped by the cruiser and taken into custody, charged with the larceny of an automobile.

At headquarters he gave his name as Richard C. Moran, of Walpole. He and the machine were turned over to the Newbury-port Police.

BE WISE - BUY QUALITY - AND SAVE

It's the old story . . . you save in the long run by investing in quality. When you buy quality in clothing and accessories (especially in these days of shortages) they stand the stress and strain of constant wear, retain their original good appearance, cleanse and launder well, and your clothing becomes an investment, not an expense.

ORGANIZATIONS DAY AT WINCHESTER HIGH SCHOOL

On Friday of last week, Principal Wade L. Grindle presided at held for the purpose of introducing the new leaders of student activities. Listed in the order of their appearance the following students presented the aims of their clubs, groups, and organizations: Edward Hills, President of the Athletic Association, pledged himself to support the policies of the A. A. and urged that the record of one hundred percent membership be extended. Joseph Santo, President of the Spanish Club outlined the requirements for membership and told of some activities sponsored by his club.
Dorothy O'Connell, President of the Library Club, told of the mixture of library and work which has made that club popular.

At this point Mr. Grindle asked that all of the 750 members of the school council themselves responsible for the care of their books and made an attractive offer to anyone who recovers mislaid books.

Mr. Grindle also suggested the possibility of honor study halls to be operated entirely by the students. Further action must be instituted by the Student Council.

Klaus Halm represented the Science Club, which has yet to elect officers, giving a brief glance at the calendar and urging those interested in science to visit the club. President David Smith of the Thrift Association, better known as the bankers, used the fable of the goose and the golden egg to encourage a continuation of the habit of banking which is already well established in the routine of the upper students.

President of the Dramatic Club, revealed that three one-act plays are to be presented by the club, some of which probably will be presented as assembly programs.

Mr. Grindle then introduced Mr.
Curtis E. Nash, Guidance Director, a newcomer to the W. H. S. staff who urged the students to drop into his office to discuss their educational problems and their vocational plans.

Elizabeth Fenna, Editor-in-Chief of the Red and Black, stated the policy of the school newspaper which is to present the views of the student body.

She urged that suggestions be given the staff members or be deposited in the suggestion box of the school library. That her approach was acceptable is best attested by the record turn out of candidates for the business department of the paper at a meeting held on Tuesday of last week.

President Scott Doub of the Junior Red Cross mentioned several projects which the Red Cross has carried on in the past and will continue this year. In an assembly later in the fall, Geraldine Maggio and Joseph Santo will tell of their trip to Philadelphia last June as representatives of the Junior Red Cross, a trip made possible by the Winchester Chapter of the American Red Cross.

President of the Student Council, Frances Power, ably presented the plans of the Council and held out the possibility of membership in the Abertonia Club, an honor society consisting of outstanding leaders in scholarship and general school citizenship.

The last speaker on the program, a newcomer to Winchester
High School from Schenectady, New York, was Edward Shaw. He outlined a new opportunity for students interested in radio production to form for themselves a radio workshop. The program of this club would consist of two phases, preparation for and actual production of radio programs.
His appeal was directed at those interested in the technical radio work, the script writing, and the broadcasting. At a subsequent meeting on Monday of this week, about 125 registered.

TENNIS TOURNAMENT

The town tennis tournament reached the final stages last weekend with several upsets and the new mixed doubles champions going into the records. The tennis game on the whole and augers well for this Sunday when the final rounds will be played in men's singles and doubles and in women's singles.

The top seeded men stars were eliminated in the semi-final round. Herb Ross, time champion and seeded No. 1, was eliminated in the biggest upset of the tournament by Jim Coon, 6-3, 6-1. Ross had defeated John Penman in the day before in a close match 9-7, 6-2. The deciding factor in his match with Coon was Coon's play at net, and the numerous errors made by Ross. At the same time Arthur Hills was defeating Bill Morton 6-3, 6-2.
Morton was seeded No. 2 behind Ross, and ruled as one of the pre-tournament favorites. However, Art had just a little too much for him in this particular day. The deciding factor in this match as in the other semi-final was Hills' ability to keep the ball in play. Both Arthur and Jim ran the wildness out of the match to see that it was surprising to see them play the steady tennis that they did. If they both can play the same way Sunday morning, it would be an excellent match to watch, with Hills ruling as a slight favorite.

Men's doubles also produced an upset. The top seeded pair, John Penman-Gamag was eliminated by the veteran Ross brothers, Herb and Cam. They did it in straight sets, 6-3, 6-4. Failure to take advantage of their opportunities to put the ball away cost Penman and Gamag the match. In the other half of the doubles match Art Hills and Jim Coon defeated Bill Morton and Bob Drake
6-2, 6-3.

Women's singles began Saturday afternoon and progressed to the finals. The seeded players survived as expected until the semifinals. In the only semi-final played though Franny Keyes seeded 3 upset Marjorie Norriss seeded 1.
Dot Hills and Syl Campbell will play during the week to see which one will play Franny in the finals.
Sunday morning Coon will play Hills for the men's championship, and unless that match is a long one, the men's doubles final will be played directly after they finish, Coon-Hills vs. Herb and Cam
Ross.

It is interesting to note that Art Hills has reached the final in every event and has already won the mixed doubles.

situation—a big heart, one flowing with love and sympathy for every animal. Many townspeople asked her advice and help about their animals. She endeavored herself to in many ways. We shall always remember the delightful afternoons in her home—her cordial, friendly manner, her bountiful, warm permanence—her lavish hospitality.
"We all feel the finest memorial we can offer in her memory, will be to make sure, her work is carried forward through the years, until it develops and expands into all that she dreamed for it. Also, that, under our fine group of officers and directors, this 15th Anniversary Year will surely be one of the most notable we have ever had."

The regular business meeting followed, after which plans for "The Animal Fair," to take place on Oct. 17 were enthusiastically discussed.

During May, June, July and August the Shelter cared for 247 cats, 21 dogs, 11 squirrels and 1 duck. One of the birds was a bittern (a small heron) with a broken leg. Mr. Bryer, aided by nature, healed it and carried it back to the spot near which it was found. He knew his home and flew happily off.

trespassing on the town's water-

He was convicted as charged and fined $5.

WINCHESTER GIRL SCOUTS

The first of this week's Washington Schools' last year's fourth grade Brownies "dressed up" at a ceremony in the assembly hall where they were welcomed into the Washington sixth grade scouts, led by Mrs. Stanton. Under the direction of Mrs. Austin Naylor, leader of the Brownies last year, and her assistant, Mrs. Alfred Higgins, a giant horseshoe was formed with Brownies inside, Girl Scouts surrounding them, Mrs. Barbara Metcalf, executive director, pointing the new Scouts, while Mrs. Naylor presented the wings.

After hearing the explanation of the Scout three-fold promise, as opposed to the Brownie two-fold version, the troop divided into ten small units, each one dramatizing one of the ten laws of the Girl Scouts. The rites ended with the singing of "Girl Scouts Together," taught the troop by Judy Higgins. Girls in the troop, besides Judy, are Natalie Anderson, Leta Berman, Sylvia Correll, Sally Cunningham, Carol Dunham, Madeline Derro, Rita Devlin, Barbara Fudge, Martha Halloran, Barbara Harrigan, Nancy Kelleher, Priscilla Marshall, Mary Norwood, Mary Alice Rehm, Jane Robertson, Barbara Seaver, Jean Stanton, Gail Stratton, Sandra Whittey and Janet Young.

Planning Conference to be held in Winchester on Oct. 15 has just been announced. Mrs. George C. Roberts, deputy commissioner of Girl Scouts in the country, will be in charge of registration, and at ten o'clock Mrs. Clarence Roberts, commissioner, will formally welcome the delegates. In addition to the speakers, whose names have not yet been given, the morning will be taken by the showing of a training film, demonstrating in color troop program in action.

During the luncheon interval there will be an opportunity to examine craft exhibits, while from one to two o'clock there will be a formal discussion of the Girl Scout leaders, who have already had experience with the Brownies will be in a group directed by Mrs. Driscoll Potter, executive director of Melrose Girl Scouts, while newcomers to the same field will be with Mrs. Barbara Metcalf, Winchester's executive director while newcomers will be with Mrs. Kuyper Kirby, field secretary of the Maiden Scouts. Mrs. Meade, volunteer trainer from Malden will meet with "old" Senior Scout leaders, Mrs. Gladys Hersey, who will be in charge of the new ones, and Mrs. Betty Chase, executive director in Wakefield will be in charge of troop committee reports summarizing the findings of these groups will be given.

The Senior Scout program has been expanded this year to include the technicalities of the plan, and a group, as yet unnamed, which will have a varied schedule, with an opportunity of becoming hospital aides among the possibilities. In connection with the Wing Scouting, a troop of prospective participants were driven by Mrs. Roberts and Mrs. Hersey to the airport at Billerica, where they met on Tuesday for a look at the Piper Cub (given to the Wing Scouts of Massachusetts by Mr. Piper) in which they hope to fly. Mr. DuPont, a pilot who has flown the Atlantic 68 times and accomplished 60 missions over Germany, explained the technicalities of the plan in great detail, winding up his demonstration by taking the plane aloft, with Mrs. Metcalf as passenger. The girls were Beth McCall, Joan McKinley, Ann Farquhar, Joan Roberts, Barbara Michaelson, Cynthia Morse, Jackie Fritch.

HERE'S YOUR New Way TO GET ACTION

BY THE NEXT CONGRESS

On STRIKES, SHORTAGES and HIGH COST OF LIVING

Quiz the Candidates — Find How They Stand on YOUR interests

This is no time for talking, passing resolutions and debating fine points of economic dogma. It is time for straight-thinking, hard-hitting, business-like action to elect a Congress that will restore the balance in this country.

To elect that kind of Congress two things are needed:

1. Get every Candidate on record as to his faith in these tried and tested American truths (see Questionnaire at the right). A candidate's answers will tell you how much faith he has in America and how much you can have in him.

2. Then see that every voter in your neighborhood knows how each Candidate stands on these questions.

You can make copies of these questions—or get extra copies from T. O. U. by sending the coupon below. Send them to candidates of all parties for Congress, for governor and for state legislature in your state.

History will be made in the new Congress. So also will your future. This is an All-American problem, bigger than any party, any candidate, or any minority group.

The new Congress will decide whether this country is to be completely turned over to a reactionary collectivistic minority—or turned back to the American people who know well enough how to forge ahead to progress, prosperity and lower living costs.

In every state good men are running for office—men who, regardless of party label, are able to answer "yes" to these ten questions and stick to it. The time has come for every man and woman to learn who they are. Do that by applying T. O. U. Principles for Action. Good men will welcome a chance to answer these ten questions for you.

Make extra copies yourself or order them from T. O. U. on the coupon below. It's time for action.

What You Can Do

By getting candidates of all parties on record, members of TOOL OWNERS UNION will give our numbers a direct means of knowing which candidates will work for America's progress—work "to preserve the foundation of national strength and material well-being in freedom by safeguarding the right of all persons to be secure in the ownership of tools of production and their management, and to enjoy the legitimate, competitive earnings therefrom, free from excessive taxation, monetary manipulation or confiscation at the hands of anybody."

In plain words, there is NO way to take arbitrarily from us 50 million thrifty people our savings and give them to others without changing this free country into a regimented, communistic state. And we want a new Congress made up of men who will respect that truth.

Remember this: the life's savings of us fifty million thrifty Americans, directly through ownership of corporate securities and unincorporated firms and indirectly through ownership of life insurance, savings accounts, trust funds, annuities and pensions, are invested in the means of production—the land, buildings and machinery used by business. These things are the tools of production. And the real owners of those tools are we 50 million Americans. It is OUR self-denial, OUR savings, OUR faith in America that made those tools possible. And thus made America great. By OUR thrift and enterprise we can make it still greater. But we need a Congress that believes in American Brains, Sweat and Teamwork—not in strikes, turmoil and confusion created by agitators and bureaucrats.

We fifty million tool owners are American men and women. We are widows, we are elderly people, we are white-collar workers, farmers, professional people; we are union and non-union employees, and merchants, businessmen, retired teachers and ministers and veterans. Only a tiny handful of us are "rich." And we all want a new Congress that we KNOW will safeguard our human right of bargaining.

What Every Worker Knows

Every worker knows that the tools he uses are the means of his livelihood. And many of us tool-owners are workers, too.

Moreover, every worker knows that tools are always wearing out or becoming obsolete. In either case, old tools must be replaced with new tools.

Yet, since 1930, this country has suffered a shrinkage of $35 billions in its tools of production—20%! This, when today we have 15 million more mouths to feed and bodies to clothe and house! That is the bitter, depressing fruit of destroying the incentive to save and to risk in new productive enterprise; the fruit of despoiling America's "Forgotten Man," the thrifty people whose life's savings have been made the playthings of school-boy economists, collectivists and bureaucrats.

From where is the money coming to replace those tools? And thus get more production to reduce living costs.

One Source of Progress

There is just one source of new tools—the savings of we 50 million thrifty people. We want a new Congress that fully understands that fact.

To encourage thrifty people to supply the new tools so urgently needed, we tool owners must be safeguarded in our human right to receive fair competitive payments (profits) for use of our tools. And we want a new Congress that will heed that truth—restore the incentives for growth and progress.

In no other free way can we correct the primary causes of turmoil, shortages and high living costs. It's time to act through our own union, the Tool Owners Union, to find the candidates who believe in this American way to progress.

If we do not act, these collectivists will bring us into even greater hunger and want, perhaps into dictatorship. But if we DO act, we can speedily lift our country into the greatest prosperity it has ever known. We want a Congress that is openly for Progress in the American incentive way.

A New, Stronger America

And by doing that we can maintain the strength of this Republic supreme in a war-torn world. Make no mistake—America's supremacy in a world of high-handed dictators, depends upon our overwhelming superiority in tools of production, including tools for making the atom bomb. The moment any other nation or nations surpass us in tools, our national safety is in jeopardy. This must not happen and we want a Congress that will see that it does not.

What You Can Do

As tool owners and Americans, you and I can do these things now:

1. If you are not already a member of T. O. U., enroll now; help make it possible to publish this advertisement repeatedly until every man and woman in the land has seen it. NUMBERS COUNT.

2. Make copies yourself, or order copies of this "Candidates' Questionnaire" to send to each party's candidates for Congress and every other important office in your state. With your order T. O. U. will include a list of candidates for Congress of all parties, to whom you may mail these questions.

3. Obtain extra copies of this page and send it to friends, business associates, stockholders and classmates. NUMBERS COUNT.

Now is the time for action and we can get it. "There is someone more powerful than anyone, and that is everyone, acting together." Act now; send the coupons below today. Let's get busy for our future, our families and our country.

PRINCIPLES FOR ACTION

WHEREAS,—Tools of production are the very foundation of America's strength and material welfare; and

WHEREAS,—without these tools, workers could produce barely enough to exist; and

WHEREAS,—these tools come into being, are renewed, and added to only through the thrift and self-denial of some fifty million individuals; and

WHEREAS,—the fundamental human right of bargaining belongs to the tool OWNERS (who provide the mechanical energy of production) quite as much as it belongs to the tool USERS (who provide the human energy of production); and

WHEREAS,—it has for many years been the persistent policy of government to violate this right and to discriminate against these fifty million unorganized tool owners in order to attract the political support of the leaders of organized tool users; and

WHEREAS,—this government policy has undermined the fundamental human right of the tool owners to receive payments for the use and renewal of the tools, has discouraged additions to the tools and has obstructed the growth of production to the detriment of all; therefore

BE IT RESOLVED

1. That the fifty million tool owners organize for the purpose of regaining equality before the law, reasserting their fundamental human right to enjoy the fruits of their labor and self-denial, and re-establishing their position as the primary source of the workers' productivity and prosperity; and
2. that for the attainment of these objectives the organized tool owners engage in such action as is appropriate to the protection and advancement of their interests; and
3. that such action be applied to all political parties alike and that the fundamental soundness and fairness of the tool owners' position be impressed upon all candidates regardless of their political affiliations; and
4. that such action is in the primary interest of the nation, of the people in general, and of the workers in particular.

DILLINGHAM HEADS FOGGIA DEPOT

Lt. Col. Paul W. Dillingham of Kenwin road has been appointed commanding officer of the Foggia General Depot in Italy which has been established to administer the surplus stocks left by the Army Air Force units in that area.

Under his direction, all surplus property left by the Army Service Forces, Army Ground Forces and the Army Air Forces in the Foggia area will be segregated and inventoried. After this is done, all property which is considered surplus to the needs of the Army, will be turned over to the Office of the Foreign Liquidation Commissioner for disposition.

The Foggia General Depot was established to facilitate the disposition of the surplus equipment which is situated in the Foggia-Bari area. All property will be processed here instead of being shipped to the Leghorn Central Disposition Area where the majority of surpluses are being handled.

Col. Dillingham was formerly the commanding officer of the Engineer Depot of the Peninsular Base Section. Overseas three and one-half years, he went across as commanding officer of the 11th Engineers Combat Battalion of the 30th Division. Later he commanded the 31st Staging Area in Naples. He wears the War Medal of Brazil, the Crown of Italy and the Legion of Merit.

RIDE ALL DAY FOR $1

More than 100,000 residents of the eastern section of the Bay State travel each year to its seashore resorts, scenic and historical spots in economical manner by taking advantage of the "Ride All Day for $1" plan developed by Eastern Mass. Street Railway Co. Inaugurated three years ago, this unusual transportation idea has been popular since its inception, according to company officials. To hundreds of thousands of residents of the area served by Eastern Mass., the plan is a familiar one but many of the uninitiated erroneously presume that special buses are used to carry riders to specific points from centrally located starting points.

Such is not the idea at all. The plan is simply this: A rider boards any Eastern Mass. bus at any point—perhaps at his very doorstep—buys a $1 all-day ticket (plus a 15-cent tax) and rides anywhere he chooses from the North Hampshire to the Rhode Island borders, making as many stops as he chooses, and boarding as many Eastern Mass. buses as he wishes to "get him there and back." If he has the inclination (and time between dawn and midnight), he may visit any or all of the 20 cities and 57 towns on the Eastern Mass. system, with the minor exceptions that the all-day tickets are not usable to Providence, R. I., nor on the express route from Park Square, Boston to Fall River.

While the peak of the all-day ride travel is in the summer months, thousands will take advantage of the economical plan this fall to view the colorful Autumn scenery or to satisfy a yen to visit some of the many historical spots for which the Bay State is justly renowned.

LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS

The Winchester League of Women Voters is already busy with fall and winter plans to keep the voters of Winchester informed about and active in good government.

In November, Winchester will vote for the representative to be sent to Washington from the Congressional District. The League has invited both candidates for this office to speak at its opening meeting on Thursday, Sept. 26 at 2:30 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Reginald Bradlee, 6 Ledgewood road.

Mr. Oliver S. Allen, the Democratic candidate, has accepted and will speak on Election Issues.

Mrs. Edith Nourse Rogers, the Republican candidate, will not be able to be present but her campaign office will send a speaker to present her views. This is an open meeting to which all interested is welcome. Tea will be served at the close of the meeting and an opportunity given to talk with the speakers.

At the first board meeting of the year, held at the home of the president, Mrs. Philip Woodward, further plans of the year were discussed. Mrs. Rowland Patrick, chairman of the Program Committee, outlined the topics and speakers for the various monthly meetings and announced that the yearbooks would be mailed to members this month.

Mrs. Bernard Swidler, chairman of the Membership Committee, gave a list of new members. Mrs. Rodney Long, chairman of the Finance Committee, announced that the one evening meeting of the year would be held on Friday evening, Oct. 4, in the Wyman School Hall. At this time the League will sponsor a lecture by John J. Mahoney, Professor of Education at Boston University, author of the recent book, "For Us the Living," and for many years active in courses and work in citizenship.

Any woman in Winchester wishing to join the League should get in touch with Mrs. Swidler, 158 Cambridge street.

GEORGE WASHINGTON TEA

An unusually large number of mothers were present to welcome the teachers of the George Washington School at the annual tea given by the George Washington Chapter of the Mothers' Association in the assembly hall, Tuesday afternoon, Sept. 17.

Around the attractively decorated table, presided over by Mrs. Edward Simpson and Mrs. Benjamin Marshall, the mothers and teachers enjoyed delicious sandwiches and coffee and the opportunity to meet and chat with each other. Mrs. William Urison, president of the George Washington Chapter, introduced Miss Rich, the new principal, who in turn introduced all the teachers of the school to the mothers, stressing her desire that home and school should unite in the education of the children.

LATE BLACKBERRIES

Mrs. Alonzo F. Woodside of Lebanon street, who enjoys quite a reputation for beautiful flowers and who has been particularly active in the garden movement in Winchester, brought to the Star Office Monday morning a handsome spray covered with large luscious blackberries raised in her garden.

Mrs. Woodside said she had been experimenting and working on the blackberries for the past 10 years—in an effort to have them produce fruit late in the season. Berries usually come during July. Those she had to prove her claim that they can be grown later were certainly handsome.

BAPTIST YOUTH CONFERENCE

The young people of the First Baptist Church are leaving the church at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon, Sept. 21, for a planning conference to be held in the First Congregational Church, Billerica. Plans for the coming year will be made covering all their activities. They will enjoy a box lunch at 6 o'clock, and a special consecration service and installation of officers will follow. An unusually attractive program has been planned and all who attend will find a profitable afternoon and evening of fellowship.

Hours: Monday through Saturday 8:30 A. M. - 5 P. M.
(Calls must be in by 2 p. m., if nurse is needed that day.)

The first fall meeting of the Winchester District Nursing Association was held Friday, Sept. 13 at 9:45 a. m. at the home of the President, Mrs. William Kugler, on Winslow road. Officers and directors present were Mrs. William Kugler, Mrs. Alfred Higgins, Mrs. Amy Pond, Mrs. William Spaulding, Mrs. Loring Nichols, Mrs. William Stephenson, Mrs. Leo Manoli, Mrs. Edward Gross, Mrs. Vincent Farnsworth, Mrs. Hazen Ayer, Mrs. James Dwinnell, Jr., Mrs. Ben Schneider, Mrs. Charles Young, Mrs. James Coon, Mrs. John Kingman, Mrs. Margaret Copland, Mrs. James Russell, Mrs. Florence Jope, Mrs. Richard Johnson and Mrs. Angeline O'Leary.

Reports of the Secretary and Treasurer were read and approved. Mrs. Farnsworth reported for the Executive Committee, and Mrs. Spaulding for the Finance Committee. The report of the Executive Director, Mrs. O'Leary, showed that during the three summer months, the nurses made 979 visits on 372 patients, which makes the total number of visits for the year, 2811, made on 404 patients.

Mrs. Coon read a highly enlightening paper on "Fluorine and Its Relation to Tooth Decay." This was followed by a talk by Mrs. Stephenson on "Resuscitation," with a very interesting demonstration of the differences between an Inhalator from the Police Department Ambulance, and a Resuscitator like those used at the Winchester Hospital.

There was a brief discussion of various details of the coming Biennial Convention of the National Organization for Public Health Nursing, and the American Nurses Association, which is to be held in Atlantic City, Sept. 23-27. At this Convention Mrs. Stephenson will have an exhibit for the American Society of Nurse Anesthetists, and Mrs. Kugler and Mrs. O'Leary will represent the Winchester District Nursing Association.

FORUM OFFICERS RETREAT

The officers of the Senior Forum of the First Congregational Church spent Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 15 and 16 on Retreat at the Marietta Worthen Foundation in Bedford in order to plan the program for the coming year.

There were 15 officers present: Jack Filler, Ellen Hight, Grace Padelford, David Sargent, Ben Coe, Ann Keeney, Robert Horne, Nancy Jane Kingman, Ruth Morse, John Hammond, June Chase, Eben Caldwell, Scott Doub, Frances Rush and Carolyn Zinn.

The officers were accompanied by Rev. J. P. Robertson, Mr. R. H. B. Smith and Mr. E. C. Filler. Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Filler served delicious meals as well as being hostesses.

The group left the Church at 10:30 on Saturday arriving in Bedford about 11. There were recreation periods in the morning and in the afternoon, there were games of softball in a nearby field. From 3:00 until 5:00 Saturday afternoon was spent in a meeting to plan the program for the Forum through the coming year. All the speakers have been engaged for the programs that are held every Sunday morning and on certain evenings, a tentative list of adult advisors was drawn up and their responsibilities planned as far as is possible now.

Plans were also laid for a "canton" to be held every Thursday and Friday afternoon in the Parish House, and for informal dancing every other Friday night. These "open house" sessions are to be open to Forum members and friends of members who wish to pay a token fee.

On Saturday night everyone went to a vesper service at Lewsac Lodge across the street, in which everyone joined.

Sunday morning the officers returned to Winchester in time for the Church service, at which Dr. Chidley gave them a charge, using the theme "Recognition, Responsibility, and Reward," and saying in effect that the position of Forum officers is a responsible one in that they will set the pace for others who have elected them.

WINCHESTER WOMEN DEFY SUPERSTITION IN WCOP FUN-FEST

When Station WCOP's "Curbstone Quiz" session of Friday, Sept. 13, debunked superstition, one of the brave contestants was Emily Hanson of 21 Governors avenue, and another was Norma Farrar of 12 Myrtle street. Besides crawling under a ladder and smashing mirrors on the sidewalk in front of WCOP's new home in the New England Mutual Building, Miss Hanson was one of three contestants to light cigarettes, three on a match, while Miss Farrar lightly stepped on cracks in the sidewalk.

In the hilarious quarter hour show, many an old superstition was demolished, while the prize for the correct answer to the question was a pure black angora kitten.

WOMEN'S ASSOCIATION

The Women's Association of the First Congregational Church will have its first meeting on Tuesday, Sept. 24 at 2 p. m. The women of the Social Service Guild will be hostesses for the afternoon.

Philip Conard, speaker from the American Friends Service Committee, will take as his subject, "Up to the Minute on Overseas Relief."

Mr. Conard, a graduate of the University of Illinois and General Secretary of the University YMCA for 35 years as Foreign Secretary of the International Committee YMCA.

He is well qualified to speak about conditions overseas having spent four of the war years in Europe. He was called by the American Friends Service Committee to take charge of their office in Lisbon, Portugal in 1941. There the chief problem was the refugee who was fleeing from the persecutions of war in Europe, for Lisbon was the principal bottleneck for passage between the Old World and the New.

During 1942, Mr. Conard was asked to visit Spain and North Africa. As a daughter who had been a delegate of the American Friends Service Committee during the Spanish Civil War lived in Madrid, Spain was visited each year.

Philip Conard's experiences and observations in Europe, as well as the background of his previous experiences in Latin America, give his reports and convictions particular interest to those concerned with the acute questions of human relations on a Christian basis.

During extended travels in this country in the interest of the American Friends Service Committee he has spoken before University students, High School Assemblies, "Parlor Conferences", religious leaders and many other groups.

THE BOARD OF APPEAL
Sept. 20, 1946

The Board of Appeal in accordance with Section 147 of the Building Laws as amended, will give a hearing to Mildred E. Grey, 3 Ridgely Road, Winchester, Mass., on Tuesday, October 15, 1946 at eight (8) o'clock in the evening, in the office of the Building Commissioner, No. 9 Mt. Vernon Street.

Mildred E. Grey has applied for a permit to add to an existing garage located at 3 Ridgely Road and owned by Mildred E. Grey, such addition to extend into the twenty-five (25) foot front yard set back on Sanborn Street.

Section 147 as amended requires that "No building shall hereafter be erected, so that any part thereof, except eaves and uncovered steps shall in any single residence district not designated "R-1" on the zoning map incorporated in and made part of the Zoning By-Law be less than twenty-five (25) feet.

WHAT WE DID AT CAMP JOY

Camp Joy closed on July 25th, after a very successful six week period. This year we raised the registration fee from fifty cents to one dollar, but this did not seem to effect our registration. One hundred and six different Girl Scouts attended Day Camp eight from four to eight days and 61 for nine days or more. There were 74 Brownies, 17 Intermediates and 15 Pioneers.

The "Spider Unit" named from their theme song, were the 7-8 year olds, under the leadership of the Camp Chairman, Mrs. Francis McCull, with Mrs. Thompson and Mrs. Jennings as Assistants. These girls thoroughly enjoyed cooking one meal a week over an open fire. They made sit-ups, felt pins, crayon prints, finger-painting, collected for terrariums and dabbled in clay. They enjoyed learning new songs, folk-dancing and put on an entertainment each week for After-glow. The last day of camp, they had a Doll show "Dolls of Our Land and Other Lands" and their performance was in costumes of other countries.

The "Indians" or nine year olds, had as their leaders, Mrs. Paul Lamb, Mrs. Novell, Mrs. Shepard and Mrs. Seamus Walker. These girls enjoyed hiking, building, camp-fire cooking and singing. They made sit-ups, felt pins, crayon prints, finger-painting and felt pins. Also crayon print chiefs, terrariums and clay modeling. They enjoyed story telling and revelled in the book-shelf of children's books loaned to us by the Winchester Public Library.

The "Flap-jacks" took to the prairie with their theme song "The Railroad Chorus". Each day, they went into seclusion, after the opening Flag Ceremony with their leaders Mrs. Albert Crockett, Mrs. Sears Walker, Mrs. Harold Melanson or Mrs. Clarence Roberts. They enjoyed their dramatics, new songs and dances. The Junior Aides, Ann Alhree, Joyce Dana and Lois Hottel were a great inspiration to them. For crafts they made sit-ups, felt pins, elaborate crayon prints, terrariums and clay dishes.

The Pioneers with their "Hiking Song" were invaluable. Under the able guidance of Mrs. Cole D. Neff, they selected their outpost site and made it most liveable. They built a sturdy log bridge to accommodate the camp, helped build five places with other units lashed anything we suggested, paced the entire camp and made a very artistic map, which was invaluable to strangers trying to locate the units, which were all situated out of sight of the cabin. They even made a lovely lashed dish garden, for the mantle-place in the cabin. Dottie Clark took over this unit when Mrs. Neff had to leave.

WHAT WE DID AT CAMP JOY

and did a splendid job. We acquired an Archery set, mid way thru the season, but after a few days of enthusiastic sport, it was stolen from the Cabin, so we had to settle back to life without Archery.

A Craft Unit was set up the third week of camp, under the able leadership of Mrs. Harold Melanson. Each unit had an appointed time for crafts and came to the Cabin in a group to work. The Pioneers had a very successful overnight, which started off with a swim at the Boat Club. They back to the Cabin for planked fish, fish in bags potatoes in tin cans, tossed salad, and Someones. As usual, the night was a noisy one, but all went well and we finished up with a breakfast of fruit, bacon and eggs, (cooked on top of tin can stoves), toast and milk. We planned another overnight, but because of the provisor apprehended in a nearby neighborhood it seemed safest to keep the girls at home.

The season ended with an entertainment and refreshments for the parents—and after the final Flag Ceremony, the girls left, looking forward to another year at Camp Joy.

All this could not have been accomplished without the hard work of a most energetic Camp Committee, who have worked throughout the year making the plans for six weeks of camp. Mrs. Paul Dillingham spent many hours each day, doing the tireless job of shopping for our daily cooking.

outs—for each unit cooked their entire meal over an open fire, each week. You may remember that shopping for food was a thankless task during June and July, so our heartfelt thanks go to Mrs. Dillingham.

The rest of the Camp Committee, with Mrs. McCull as Chairman, were Mrs. Cole D. Neff, our Pioneer Leader, Mrs. Harold Melanson, our Craft expert, Mrs. Marshall Symmes, and Mrs. Day-ovener Davis. Our Commissioner, Mrs. Clarence Roberts, didn't miss a day and was invaluable as a floating Unit Leader and woman of all work!

Our Junior Aides, Beth McCull, Joan McKinley and Carolyn Zimm, as well as the three Aides, mentioned before, were hard and able workers and worked untiringly under the added responsibility they had thrust upon them.

Of our Pioneers, Ginny Hyer, Cynthia Moore, Norma Neff, Joan Roberts and Mildred Truitt took the training given for Unit helpers and were given free camping for the help they gave in assisting with the younger girls.

Miss Ruth Rothenberger of the National Branch Office was our official visitor for a day and seemed most enthusiastic about our set-up. Dr. Eileen Taylor was of great assistance in examining all the girls on the opening day of camp and to several other people we give thanks for hours given to help with our program—Mrs. Allen Farquhar, Mrs. James Willing, Mrs. Leon Leavitt and Mrs. Reed and especially to the men who helped with the maintenance of the camp, Mr. Clarence Roberts, Mr. Francis McCull and Mr. Leon Leavitt.

I think this should also be the time to tell you about our mother and daughter team—Mrs. McCull and Beth McCull who have come to Camp Joy together for five consecutive years—orchids to them!

EMPHANY TO HEAR BISHOP

From a Land of Far Spaces

Three services often on a Sunday in churches 75 or 100 miles apart. That is the land of wide distances from which the speaker comes who will give the sermon, Sept. 29, at 10 o'clock, the Church of the Epiphany. He is the Rt. Rev. James Moss Stony, Bishop of the District of the Rio Grande, which includes New Mexico and Southwest Texas.

Does he have a plane to help him cover a spreading diocese like that? Not yet. He goes by car the length and breadth of his picturesque district, mesas, mountains and desert, and he drives himself.

He has never sought easy assignments and soft parishes. As a young clergyman, he went overseas in World War I as chaplain with the 308th Engineers, Third Army Corps. Since 1942 he has been a missionary in the Southwest. There his flock varies in background and activities from tourists and artists who know cities and altitudes on both sides of the Atlantic to sheep-keeping Indian nomads whose artistry with their wool and with the turquoise and silver of their mountains is famed. These Navajo Indians form a large part of Bishop Stony's flock. In weaving and in silver it is said the Navajos are better than their Texas counterparts. Are they proving better than their teachers in the great art of the Two Great Commandments? Perhaps their flock will help them succeed in fashioning life, and by their example we in Winchester who helped send them teachers of the Two Great Commandments will tighten our belts "put on the whole armor," and ourselves do a better job of living out the Two Great Commandments.

M. Y. F. REVIEWS AND PREVIEWS

The Methodist Youth Fellowship reports a year of varied activities. Among these were the splash parties, a hayride with the Episcopal young people, two banquets in Chinatown, a winter sports party, a radio broadcast, a lecture in Boston, a tour of Boston churches, three parties at private homes and a houseparty in Maine, three movie programs, and two joint programs with the Wellington Community M. Y. F. of Medford. The fellowship produced the play "Twixteen", using the proceeds to send four members to LaSalle Jr. College for a week of study and fun.

On Sunday, Sept. 15 the cabinet members Melissa Meigs, Nan Griffiths, Norma Borgeaux, Charles Enright, John Marshall, Barbara Wasky, and David Wyllie met with the Rev. Heverly at the parsonage to make plans for the next three months. After a Get Acquainted night on the 29, to which all interested are cordially invited, will come a "bobo" party, including a "bobo" party, discussions on "Church and Politics" and "Youth movements for Christ, Communism, and Fascism", a banquet, a talk by Stewart Good, Lynn District M. Y. F. president, a trip to a Youth For Christ meeting at the Park Street Church. The November program includes a splash party, a mystery ride, a roller skating party, and a discussion on "The Bible Meets the 20th Century". In December will come a discussion on "Church and Social Drinking", a study of the Jewish religion, a Christmas pageant, Christmas Eve carol singing, and a Watch Night party. Movies will be shown once a month, and at each meeting Charles Enright will tell how religion affected the previous week's news.

MRS. EMMA M. STEWART

Mrs. Emma M. Stewart, wife of Walter B. Stewart of 27 Mystic avenue, died at her home Friday forenoon, Sept. 20, after several months' illness.

Born in Rawlins, N. S., Jan. 5, 1878, Mrs. Stewart was the daughter of Alexander and Melissa (Harvey) MacLean. She spent her early life and received her education in Rawlins, coming to this country as a young woman.

She and Mr. Stewart were married in Lowell in 1904 and came to Winchester after their marriage, living for many years on Wildwood terrace and for more than 20 years at their present address.

Mrs. Stewart was for many years actively identified with Victoria Rebekah Lodge and was a member of the First Baptist Church. Her principal interest, however, was always in her family and the conduct of her home.

Besides her husband, she leaves two sons, Walter S. of Medford, and Leslie M. Stewart of Winchester; a sister, Mrs. Alice Lantz, living in Nova Scotia; and one granddaughter.

Funeral services were held on Monday afternoon at the First Baptist Church with the pastor, Rev. Walter Lee Bailey, officiating. Mrs. Sadie Horne, soprano, sang "Abide with Me" and "The Old Rugged Cross," with Donald Marshall, at the organ. Interment was in the family lot in Wildwood Cemetery.

THOR ROOFING COMPANY

The Thor Roofing Company of Medford announces that they are now ready to give immediate roofing and sidewalk service to homeowners in Metropolitan Boston. Mr. R. Henry Thorson states that material is now coming through in substantial quantities for new roofs and that added crews and equipment have put the company in a position to get work done promptly.

This company guarantees all of its work for satisfactory appearance and long wear. Complete liability insurance is carried to protect the homeowner of any litigation. A convenient time payment system allows the homeowner to distribute the cost over a period of time. ## WINCHESTER WINS SEASON'S OPENER

Lexington Beaten, 19-0, Before Big Crowd

Winchester High won its opening football game of the 1946 season from Lexington 19-0, last Saturday afternoon, in a game before a big crowd at the Junior High School athletic field before about as big an opening day crowd as Winchester has played to since the locals started opening with Arlington. The field, while short of ideal, proved pretty good, the turf being the best Winchester has played on for a long time.

Lexington was expected to give Winchester a hard battle. The Minuteboys, never a factor offensively, did quit up a stubborn fight, using an unorthodox, heavily overhanded defensive formation that made it hard for the local outside plays to go, but did enable big John West to break through for plenty of yardage and three touchdowns.

Statistically Winchester made 12 first downs and 263 yards on the ground, adding 18 yards in three forward passes out of seven attempts. The locals lost 15 yards in penalties and fumbled twice. Lexington made two first downs and 31 yards by rushing, completing one of 10 passes for 10 yards. The Minuteboys fumbled four times and lost nothing in penalties, though Captain West refused several penalties for downs.

Winchester should have had two more touchdowns at least. Shortly after their initial score, Belino took a lateral from West at the Lexington 30 and scampered to the 10 for a first down. Then on an outside play he was trapped away back on the 22, with the local finally losing the ball at the Lexington 32 when an attempted pass went haywire.

Soon after this Winchester, in the second quarter, had the ball at the Lexington 30 with its running game going beautifully. Instead of plugging away, the locals switched to a passing game that backfired when an aerial was intercepted.

Lexington kicked to West and

YOUR CHILD SHOULD —

All parents nowadays want for their children the "advantages," the extras that are over and above academic education to the right parties. You were thinking of giving your child dancing lessons as one "advantage." Laudable, fond parent, but be sure you know your school, and be certain that it's correct instruction for which you're tapping the family cash register.

Before enrollment stop to consider: What are your particular motives in exposing your child to dance training? Naturally you want a development of poise, grace and a sense of rhythm. Maybe he's an "only" who needs to fraternize with others of his age level; or you child is that your child has talent and that it should be cultivated; knowing, probably from your own experience, that guiding a youngster along indicated talent lines will save him from many a disappointment in later years.

What can you expect for your child from your investment in dance training? He or she may never stammer you with any Fred Astaire performance, but they'll be having a wholesome, body-building good time and at the same time be gaining a sense of rhythm and balance that is practically inoculation against such adolescent maladjustments as awkwardness, self-consciousness and inferiority complexes.

Children's classes are now forming.

THE CURRY SCHOOL OF DANCING

as usual, but had little to do, and were nothing especially worthy of comment this time. Wait 'till the cold weather.

Former Captain Sarto Walsh was holding one of the line poles. Through at Choate School, he had planned to enter Yale, but due to crowded conditions was unable to get in. He now plans to enter the Army.

Those cheer-leaders under "Libby" Fenno did a good job for an opening game, and we were glad to have them give that "Victory" cheer the well known miss on baulk. We have "Libby's" word for it that this particular cheer is permanently out. Faculty Manager Ray Hayward is another who will be glad of this news.

Despite its 60 feet of length the bench was not long enough to accommodate all who wanted to sit on it, especially those who feel for some reason or other that their place is "with the team."

It was a wicked day for football, with the temperature in the 80s. Those white jerseys of Winchester were black with dirt and sweat after five minutes of play. Johnnie West dropped 10 pounds to a mere 193 and "Nanno" Nichols took off even more poundage during the game.

LARRY PALMER NEW SWIMMING COACH AT TUFTS

Lawrence R. "Larry" Palmer of Mystic Valley Parkway was named swimming coach of Tufts College, announced last night, having been made over the past week-end by Prof. Clarence P. Houston, director of athletics. Tufts has only recently completed its first swimming pool and "Larry" will handle the first team of Brown and Blue swimmers. He is best known in Winchester as a tennis professional, having taught tennis successfully for some years, both in town and at the summer camp of the Sargent School of Physical Education in Peterborough, N. H.

He attended Winchester High School, Governor Dummer Academy and the University of Vermont before receiving his degree in Physical Education from Boston University. He was an instructor at the Boston YMCA during the war working with trainees from Northwestern University. He was also a war-time substitute instructor of Physical Education at the Junior High School while Alfred Murling was in the Navy, also coaching varsity hockey at the high school for the past two years. For a time he served as physical instructor for the Winchester Company of the Massachusetts State Guard.

He will commence his new duties at Tufts immediately as the Jumbos are to have a swimming team this winter.

GUILD OFFICIATED

"Bob" Guild of Cabot street, after a summer officiating swimming meets, is now back in football spangles and on Sunday afternoon with the Vender Belmont track coach, formerly of Winchester, worked at the football game between the Montgomery Colored All Stars and the Murphy General Hospital team at Murphy Hospital in Waltham. The All Stars were handled by the old B. C. star scabbard, Lou Montgomery.

Lt. Col. Nate Thumlin, is at present hospitalized at Murphy General Hospital and is assisting with the football program here. He sends an urgent request to any in Winchester who happen to have helmets, shoulder-pads or football shoes they can loan the members of the hospital team, to send them to the hospital, either in his care, or in care of "Special Services."

Nate says the equipment will all be cleaned and re-conditioned at the end of the season and returned to the owners. Sgt. A. T. Woodworth, former Harvard player, is handling the hospital team.

WINCHESTER HARRIERS TO MEET ARLINGTON

Winchester High School's cross country team will open its season this afternoon with a dual meet at Arlington. Coach Burns Winslow, back on the job after several years in the service, has been working his squad in preparation for the season and hopes to make a good showing despite the loss of Tom Kirwan, last year's unbeaten leader.

Winchester will again compete this year in the revived six-cornered league with Belmont, Beverly, Melrose, Wakefield and Woburn. This circuit has been dormant since 1940 and is being revived with Belmont replacing Stoneham.

COON NEW TENNIS CHAMP

The town tennis tournament was completed Sunday afternoon with new title holders in all events. Franny Keyes defeated Dotty Hills in women's singles in a close and long three set battle, 6-3, 1-6, 6-3. Franny's ability to keep the ball in play enabled her to outlast Dotty.

Dotty seemed to be placing the ball nearer the lines and corners but she also made more errors.

Jim Coon squeezed out a victory over Art Hills in the singles final in the morning. The match lasted over two and a half hours and both boys were rather weary at the end. The score was 3-6, 6-4, 9-7, 6-3. The tennis was not spectacular but rather a contest of steadiness.

In the first set Coon missed his drives with great frequency. However, after dropping the set he changed his style of play, just trying to keep the ball in play for the most part and was able to run out the match in the third set.

The final title of the day and tournament to be decided was that of the men's doubles. Art Hills and Jim Coon came back to play Herb and Cam Ross Sunday afternoon. Art and Jim ran the match out in three straight sets, 6-2, 6-4. The strong point and the weak point of the Ross game were the lobs made by Cam.

In previous matches they had been very effective, but Art and Jim were able to smash them for placements fairly regularly and won the decisive points in this manner. Herbie scored more placements than the rest with his accurate forehand drive that usually forced a defensive return.

The inability of the Rosses to hold their service proved to be margin of victory.

The Hills, Dot and Art set a new record by winning the final of every event and winning two titles. They won the mixed, and Art the men's doubles as well as being the runner-ups in both the singles events.

FOOTBALL RALLY AT HIGH SCHOOL

Entering to the strains of "Men of Othello" played by the Winchester High School Band under the direction of Mr. Fred Felmet, students and faculty members gathered in the auditorium last Friday morning for the first football rally of the year.

Edward Hicks, president of the Athletic Association, presided and read several interesting and humorous "telegrams" from various football-minded celebrities. Coach Knowlton presided and the popular Capt. Johnny West of the football team were introduced.

Coach Knowlton stressed the fact that the club wants to be proud of its followers. Capt. West promised the team's willingness to be good sportsmen and to merit the respect of its participants.

Cheer leaders Libby Fenno, Rosanne Borden and Mary Adele Crennon led cheers for Coach Knowlton, Coach West and the team. Following this Mr. Fred Felmet led the school in the singing of "On Winchester," after which the band much improved, played "Our Director" while students filed out to return to their home rooms.

WINCHESTER GIRLS OPEN WITH MEDFORD

FILENE'S IN WINCHESTER

BADMINTON PLAYERS.

SWAMPSCOTT HERE TOMORROW

Now that Brad Hersey will be prevented by the early arrival of nightfall from playing his almost daily match of tennis doubles, all Winchester Badminton players are hoping that their season is about to begin. The old-timers, ranging from first term high school graduates to grandpapas—both sexes of course—will recognize this signal and proceed to check up on their rackets.

Those who have not played before and all new-arrivals in town ought to know that there is a well supporting Winchester Badminton Club which plays a minimum of one night per week during the fall, winter and early spring. Some members are rank, but enthusiastic, beginners; a very few are quite good; the vast majority are fair-to-middling. So if you are at all tempted by all means yield thereto and give yourself some good winter exercise that will help keep bulging waistlines and thighs within reasonable limits. Each member pays maximum dues of $3 per season; there is the option of doing this at the rate of 50¢ per evening of play until the maximum has been paid. If you have never attended before, your first evening may be gratis. If you have no racket, the Club will loan you one for a dime. Shuttle-cocks will be on sale by the club.

Be on the look out for an announcement of the opening night and meantime contact President "Whit" Gray at Win. 1930-M or Lois Hersey at Win. 0093.

ANNOUNCEMENT

Next week Oct. 1-4 will be Bandle Days in the Winchester public schools. Pupils are collecting serviceable worn clothing, shoes for school children in Europe and in poor rural areas of this country. Dr. Forbes Norris, Superintendent of Schools, is asking mothers and fathers to co-operate by helping sons and daughters to make up their parcel. Parcels may include outgrown children's clothing, shoes, hats, coats, that might be worn by a teen-aged youngster—scuffed shoes that are not worn out. If there is no school child in the home, give parcels to a neighbor's youngster. He will be glad to take it to Bandle Day for you.

INFLATION?

No two depressions or inflationary periods have been caused by the same two factors.

In 1929, we had wild speculation in the stock market and land booms. Today we have six times as much money in circulation, yet no sellings on stock prices and there has not appeared any stock market boom—in fact, a depression.

Not too long ago there was a New Deal "NRA"—prices were too low. People were, as President Roosevelt said, "chiseling." Now his protégé, Truman says, "Prices must stay low." Profiters, you figure this out.

President Truman says, "The man said so."—Raise wages but do not raise costs.

Let's suppose this was done. Where do the taxes come from, without profits, to pay the New Dealers, let alone the taxes to run Massachusetts and the other 47 States? The prize part of that Truman Speech was, "As business will not have to pay any overtime, it will save much money." President Truman forgot that in "over-time" some production was obtained for the overtime—or, was it? Probably in the history of presidential speeches, this was on a par with "Abraham Lincoln" which everyone wants but which no one has ever been told how to get.

That speech was baloney—as to equity, practicing only, it seemed on the line "how" to do it. It was just silly. President Truman believes in fair profits for industry—very high wages for labor—low cost of living—"Abundant Life"—low taxes—a job for everyone—no overtime—full dinner pail—free enterprise—"Our World"—free determination of peoples as to their own government—spheres of influence for every country—conscript—no wars—World Co-operation with the world, etc.

We are headed for state socialism; but it is still to be called "democracy." That's the plan. It does not seem to appear to our brain-trusters that, perhaps, the theory which made America the greatest nation on earth—the highest standard of living in the history of the world—is still all right. If production incentives were allowed, there would be surplus of goods before long; and then prices could not soar; but so-called "emergencies" prevent it. Just what, if anything, was the matter with our Bill-of-Rights, our Constitution, and our capitalist form of government? No man has ever explained this to please Russia, maybe?

APPRECIATES POLICE HELP

To the Editor of the Star:

On Tuesday my brother, Frank Vayo, aged 79, died in Worcester. It was necessary to reach me immediately and the Police of this town were notified with the request that they get the news to me as soon as possible.

The Police came to my home at once and took me to Police Headquarters where they had necessary information together with telephone numbers and addresses I needed.

Their efficiency was of great service to me and their kindness, deeply appreciated. May I have space in the Star to acknowledge my indebtedness?

William H. Vayo

CORRECTION

Due to the fact that the large advertisement of the Winchester Tool Owners' Union which appeared on Page 6 of last week's Star was not set up in this office, there was an error in it as it affects Winchester which we wish to correct.

The membership application, instead of being addressed to Philip M. Clark, at Lexington, should have read: "Treasurer, Winchester Local No. 4, Tool Owners' Union, Winchester, Mass." The temporary treasurer is Arthur W. Ellis, 19 Lockwood road, Winchester, Tel. Win. 1547-M.

All applications erroneously sent to Lexington will be transferred to Winchester. Membership contributions to Winchester Local should be sent hereafter to Mr. Ellis. Envelopes may simply be addressed Treasurer, Winchester No. 4, Tool Owners' Union, Winchester, Mass., and they will be delivered.

The Star is informed that contributing and sustaining memberships are equally as welcome as regular membership applications.

Do you know where your nearest fire alarm box is located? Probably not. A fine new fire alarm card giving all box locations and alarm signals can be had for the asking at the Star Office.

COMMITTEE OF SAFETY CHAPTER

Daughters of the American Revolution

The annual October State meeting of the Mass. Daughters of the American Revolution will be held at the New Ocean House, Swampscott on Thursday and Friday, Oct. 3 and 4.

The meeting will open at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon. A banquet will be held at 6:30 o'clock on Thursday evening. The second meeting will convene at 9:30 on Friday morning.

This meeting promises to be most interesting and colorful, with many unusual features.

The State Regent is hopeful that all members of the Committee of Safety Chapter will attend and have an opportunity to meet many of the National Officers who will be present.

It is planned to have the banquet a huge birthday party with the 32 Chapters who have had 50th anniversaries in the last three years serving as hostesses.

Mrs. Walter Page Weston, Regent of the General Israel Putnam Chapter of Danvers will extend the welcome and Mrs. Thomas McConnell, Regent of the Betty Allen Chapter of Northampton will give the response.

PLAYGROUND WORK PROGRESSES

Much of the work being done at the new playground this week was on a settling basin into which the drains running through the old junior high field empty with two new drains, one extending north from a point near Mystic avenue and the other extending north from the settling basin which is located about opposite where the bandstand used to be.

The super-structure of the bandstand has been torn down and most of the old willows along the former river banks have followed suit. Progress has been made in clearing the old bed, with two bulldozers at work.

The job is commencing to take form now and each week makes it easier to realize that when completed the new field will be a good one.

OUR NEED OF LIFTING THOUGHTS

(For The Winchester Star)
God keep us inwardly alive,
With spirits unfettered by each day's cares;
Rebuke us to those eternal verities.

From which so many men are prone to drift;
Open our eyes anew, to common life's devotion,
To the crying needs of humanity,
That we glimpse
The good things within our reach as we extend our life of Service.

NANKING

Removal of the Chinese capital from Chungking to Nanking has restored the seat of government to an ancient city whose periods of glory have alternated with temporary eclipse, notes the National Geographic Society.

Personnel, archives, and other equipment from Chungking were floated down the turbulent Yangtze River in a strange fleet of assorted craft. Nanking is about 175 miles from the river's mouth.

Headquarters of various early Chinese dynasties, Nanking was developed on a larger scale by the first Ming emperors in the 14th century. Ruins of imperial tombs testify to the splendor of that period. The Ming rulers, however, soon deserted the palaces there for Peiping (then Peking), in the belief that they could better protect their northern territories against Mongol and Tartar invasions.

Seasaw With Peiping
The capital remained at Peiping until the Chinese Republic was formed and Dr. Sun Yat-sen became president of the provisional government in 1912. Nanking was his temporary headquarters, and the seasaw continued, and the government went back to Peiping.

In 1928 Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek decided to switch it to Nanking. Nine years later the Japanese occupied the city, and eventually the government moved some 750 miles up the Yangtze to Chungking.

For the Republic officials at Nanking, government buildings of classic design were constructed against a background of medieval walls surrounded by the city's brick wall.

Nanking gradually took on a western appearance. In prewar days neon signs shone in the broad streets. New theaters and motion picture houses were similar to those in the United States; the largest picture house seated 2,000.

A blue-tiled tomb for the body of Dr. Sun Yat-sen was erected on the south slope of Purple Mountain outside the city. It is reached by 500 granite steps.

The city's 300,000 population of 25 years ago had tripled by the time of its evacuation by the Chinese government in December, 1937. Buildings had risen beyond the wall, and 3,000 automobiles and 300 buses had been added to the 15,000 rickshaws.

25 YEARS AGO

Sept. 30, 1921

The Winchester Post of the American Legion intends to hold its Lawn Carnival on Columbus Day, Oct. 12. The committee in charge plans to make it a day long to be remembered in Winchester. The attractions are to be many and varied, and will include a parade, booths, concert and dancing.

Postmaster George A. Lockman, besides making his windows attractive with new chintz curtains, is showing some very fine specimens of dahlias this week. See the new improvements while you get your mail.

Mrs. E. M. Lazzelle arrived in Winchester last week, from France. She will teach French at Miss Emerson's Private School at 219 Langley.

The "International" fishermen's race, between Halifax and Gloucester, will soon lead the sporting news. Many people are wondering just what constitutes an "international" race.

Prizes in the special bowling tournament at the Calumet Club last Saturday night were won as follows: Class A, highest three strings, won by Mr. George F. Purinton; Class B, highest three strings won by Mr. C. W. Turbell; Class C, highest three strings won by Mr. James Heat-on.

Senior talks were started Monday at the High School when Miss Hazel McKee spoke on "The Mountaineers of the Southern Mountains." Miss Betty Bird spoke Tuesday on "The Plymouth Page."

About 40 girls from the Florence Crittenton Home were entertained at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Bowen Tufts of Highland avenue last Saturday.

The traffic officers doing duty in the square during the day and evening have had new insignias placed on their sleeves in the shape of gold wheels.

A clerkman who advertised for an organist received the following reply: "Dear sir, I notice you have a vacancy for an organist and music teacher, either gentleman or lady. Having been both for several years I beg to apply for the position."

A group of young Mandolin players have organized a Musical Club for ensemble playing. Miss Mabel Wingate, the well known Winchester violinist, Mandolin teacher will be the Musical Director. The present officers and members of the Club are President, Richard Conery; Secretary and Treasurer, Marian Smith; Concert Mistress, Jeannette Smith; Librarian, Charles Hart; Marjorie Aseltine, Dorothy Nutter.

Saturday's play at the Winchester Country Club was a four ball event, one quarter added handicap. W. H. McGill and C. P. Whorf won the tournament with a score of 82-117.

Daily Philosophy
One opportunity ought to be enough for every man who knows how to take advantage of it.

Many a man who thinks he is the big bolt turns out only to find that he is but a nut.

Sunshine of humor will quickly melt the ice of sarcasm.

Blessed are they who expect little for they usually receive just that.

50 YEARS AGO

Sept. 25, 1896

For a downright disagreeable weather we have had considerable of it during the past two weeks.

The conductors and motormen on the Mystic Valley street railroad are a very gentlemanly and accommodating set of men.

Many families found themselves without water the first of the week, because of failure to pay water rates.

Hillcrest with its improvements and observatory attracted many visitors Sunday, they coming on foot and in carriage.

Mr. Edward Robinson left Wednesday for Yale divinity school, where he will study for the Congregational ministry.

Mr. C. W. Bradstreet has retired from business. May his days of leisure be long and happy.

Mr. William Assam sailed from New York Wednesday for a visit of two months at his former home in Leipzig, Germany.

The storm Saturday evening was very severe in this section, its center being apparently over this town. The lightning was very brilliant and the crashes of thunder starting to the nerves. During the storm the electric lights in the house of Mr. C. M. Thompson, Hillcrest, suddenly went out and many of the glass chimneys were smashed.

Pres. Woodward, of the numerous electric roads, was on Monday unanimously nominated for Senator at the Republican convention. His popularity is attested by the fact that he belongs to one of the smallest towns in the district.

The top season, struck the town this week.

The firm of Hartson and Sherman have dissolved partnership. G. B. Hartson will continue in business in White's Block under Y. M. C. A. Hall. His store will open about Oct. 1.

The concert given by Miss Mabel McKee in Lyceum Hall Tuesday evening was a big success, despite the disagreeable weather. The floral decorations were very pretty. Perhaps it would be a little out of place to particularize, so exceedingly well did all the contributors in their selections, but just one word must be said of Mr. Hoyt L. Conary in his readings, and that is he kept the audience in continual laughter from his droll sayings. The Euterpe, Banjo, Mandolin and Harp Club, as all who have heard these artists know, were also of excellent, as were also the singing and orchestral selections.

The Board of Fire Engineers offer a reward of $25 for the arrest and conviction of any person or persons caught tampering with the fire alarm boxes, except in cases of fire.

C. W. Pratt, late Supt. of Streets, has purchased the good will of the washing powder familiarly known as Savina, and he is doing a first rate business.

Cash laborers are again at work on the boulevard at Hillcrest. There was a false alarm sounded from upper Main street Monday evening.

K. OF C. NOTES

The Chairmen of the Five Point Program had an important meeting Wednesday night in the Committee Room.

G. K. Charles L. Haggerty headed the Winchester Delegation which attended the Testimonial Dinner to State Deputy Joseph L. Francis at the Copley Plaza on Thursday evening.

The Installation of Officers will take place at the next regular meeting on Monday, Oct. 7.

The House Committee is selecting a member to take care of the Council Rooms on a full time basis.

The annual Memorial Mass will be held on Saturday, Oct. 12. The time will be announced later.

Winchester Council should be well represented at the Annual Columbus Day Ball, Hotel Staton on Saturday evening, Oct. 12. Tickets are one dollar and fifty cents with dress optional.

Jerry McCarron is handling the sale of tickets for this affair.

PARISH PLAYERS OPEN 21ST SEASON
The Parish Players of the First Congregational Church, who observed their 20th anniversary season last year, open their 21st season Monday evening when try-outs for this year's first show will be held at the parish hall of the church. The show, another theatrical favorite, will be given Nov. 7, 8 and 9 in the Little Theatre Beneath a Spire.

There will be a box lunch at 6:30 Monday evening with coffee and dessert served. Anyone interested in having a part in the coming play or in the production end of the show is urged to attend.

SERIES TICKETS

One hundred and twenty-five letters containing World Series tickets were received in Winchester yesterday, which would look like 250 of the coveted ducks are being distributed in town.

One awful thought occurs to us. There is just an outside chance that the letters may contain returned checks for tickets on ones which could not be filled. It doesn't seem however as if they could really do that to US!

ARTS AND SKILLS WORKERS NEEDED FOR VETERANS' HOSPITAL

With veterans' hospitals filled to capacity, the need is greater than ever before for Arts and Skills workers to come in and help their returned servicemen get well faster by teaching them new ways to make leisure hours pleasant and worthwhile. Mrs. Alan Howard, Winchester's Arts and Skills Chairman, is recruiting members for the handicraft classes which start early in October to train volunteers to work at the Bedford Veterans' Hospital.

Classes planned in leatherworking and small loom and card weaving are made possible by the Massachusetts Department of Education. Classes in textile painting are given by Red Cross workers. The leather class will be taught by Mrs. Snyder, of Worcester, in four lessons starting on Oct. 14, from 10 to 12 a. m. at 328 Newbury street, Boston. New workers will be interviewed by Miss Anna Peabody, Chairman of the Arts and Skills Corps below taking part.

Mrs. Howard may be reached for further information at Win. 1339-W.

During the past year, there were 15 steady workers from Winchester. "This year we could easily use three times that number," says Mrs. Howard. The hospital shop is open from 1-3 p. m. on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Thursdays; besides the aforementioned skills, finger painting, rug hooking and stenciling are taught by the Arts and Skills workers.

1946 GRADUATES OF W. H. S. FURTHER THEIR EDUCATION

Of one hundred and thirty-nine graduates in the class of 1946 at Winchester High School, 58 have been admitted to college or junior college, 17 have entered schools other than colleges, three are in nurses' training, and 24 boys are in service.

It is very apparent that there is a definite trend for students with excellent scholastic records to choose Junior College as the most direct approach to their vocational goal.

In a year when admission to college was only a cherished hope on the part of many because of the all time high in college enrollment, Winchester High School's record certainly must be one of the best anywhere.

Following is a list of those who were admitted to college or junior college:

Jean Alley, Boston University.
Mary Armato, Massachusetts State College.
Donald Armstrong, Wesleyan.
Ellis Baylies, Green Mountain Junior College.
Richard Blackham, Harvard.
Shirley Bonnell, Lasell Junior College.

GIRL SCOUT NOTES

An important date for all Brownies is an all-Brownies, as well as for their leaders, Friday, Wednesday, when, at 3:30 P. M., all are to meet at Lyceum Hall (above the Girl Scout office) to discuss plans for the year, those who have not yet been organized into troops are particularly urged to attend this Rally as this will be their chance to form new troops or to join already existing ones if there is room.

Girl Scouts and their leaders have the same sort of Rally, at the same time, 3:30, and same place the following day, Thursday, Oct. 3. This is of special importance this year as there are many innovations to be talked over, including hospital work and possible library work for Seniors, as well as an entirely new system of advancement, and a new grade girls as PRE-Mariner, PRE-Wing Scout, etc. On Sept. 25, at the first meeting for the year of the Leaders' Association, Mrs. Forbes Norris was elected president of the Association, with Mrs. Lester Moulton chosen for secretary, as well as a new representative on the Council. It was voted to meet regularly the first Wednesday of every month, from 9:45 to 11:30 A. M.

Mrs. Clarence Roberts, Winchester Commissioner, and Mrs. Barbara Motell, executive director, attended an Area Training session in Lexington on Sept. 5. The area system is proving stimulating and Day Camp Directors are looking forward to being hosts for an all day meeting to be held on Oct. 4 at Camp Joy, Miss Lucille Rogers, our National Camp Advisor will be present. On Oct. 5, when the Girl Scouts will hostess, this time from 10 to 2:30 at the Baptist Church, Mrs. James L. Faden, Chairman of Regional Girl Scouts, has not been announced as speaker for the morning.

The Winchester Council has been asked to be a sponsor for a new camping project made possible by funds left by Mrs. James A. Sturrow. A few Councils in Massachusetts are being contacted by Mrs. Leonard L. Wright, former president of the Mass. Girl Scouts, who will explain the project at the Winchester Council meeting on Oct. 9.

CHOKED BY APPLE

Little David Mitchell, 2-year old son of Capt. and Mrs. John S. Mitchell, died in a choke call from possible strangulation Tuesday afternoon when a piece of apple he was eating lodged in his throat.

David has been living with his father's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick S. Mitchell of Winchester place, his father being at sea with the Merchant Marine. His mother, in Canada, where she was called by the death of another son, with polo.

He was seated in a little wagon in the yard of the Mitchell home Tuesday afternoon, eating an apple, when suddenly he slumped and fell from the wagon to the ground.

Fireman Harold Fitzgerald, in the Central Station washroom on the second floor happened to glance from the window as the child fell and called to the firemen on the ground floor of the station, joining them in a rush to the Mitchell home, where Mrs. Mitchell and Mrs. Edward F. Bowler, assisted by other neighbors were trying to dislodge the piece of apple from the strangling child's throat.

Mrs. Bowler had already been bitten by the struggling child and Fireman Walter Skerry was also bitten as he worked on him.

Finally little David's jaws were held open sufficiently to permit Fireman Skerry to insert his fingers and, unable to dislodge the bit of apple, he did succeed in pushing it down the child's throat.

This did the trick, although the little fellow needed the services of a physician after his ordeal, running a high temperature and being quite weak. Dr. Charles Rooney responded to an emergency call, and at the Mitchell home Wednesday morning David was reported as much better.

HAROLD S. FULLER

TESTIMONIAL DINNER TO

Oct. 24 in Town Hall

All friends of Harold S. Fuller's, including the hundreds who have worked with him in the past on Civilian Defense, Community Chest agencies, National War Fund, Father Salvage campaign and scores of other civic activities, are urged to attend a big testimonial dinner to be given in his honor on Thursday, Oct. 24 at 7 P. M. in the Town Hall.

Mr. Fuller has sold his home on Fletcher street and has established a permanent residence in Hancock, N. H. In appreciation of his many years of efficient, generous and gentlemanly public service to the Town of Winchester in many and varied capacities, the testimonial committee have arranged to give "Hal" and his family a "going away" dinner with suitable remembrance, in which all Winchester people may spontaneously join.

As the seating capacity of the Town Hall is limited to 350 at tables, subscriptions to the dinner will be limited to that number, but the balconies will be open to adults at 8 P. M. for all who wish to hear the Town's "salute" to one of its most unselfish citizens.

Banquet tickets have been kept to $2 per person, with an excellent full-course dinner (roast beef—no less!). Both ladies and gentlemen are welcome. All friends of Harold's are urged to come. Dross informal. Several hundred invitations are being delivered today to organization members who have been associated with Harold recently. The committee believes there are many others who will want to be present whose names were not on these organization lists. They are asking the Star to convey this invitation to all Winchester citizens.

Please hurry your response with remittance covering the number of tickets you want—$2 each—it's literally first come, first served. If all places are reserved, money will be returned. Also, all who can and wish to, are asked to send an extra contribution to defray the cost of a gift for Harold from the town. Send checks to George W. Franklin, Treasurer—Fairmount street, Winchester. Mr. Harold Russell is Chairman of the testimonial committee. The other members are: George I. Chatfield, George W. Franklin, Charles H. Gallagher, Alfred H. Higgins, Ralph T. Jope, James Nowell, Roland H. Parker, Sherman B. Russell, Richard W. Sheehy, M. D. and Joseph W. Worthen.

TRISTAN DE CUNHA

For this south Atlantic island of Tristan da Cunha—lonely, bleak, and desolate—war clouds had silver linings. It has just been disclosed that a British meteorological station was secretly established there in 1942, resulting in closer and more frequent connections with the outside world.

Until that time, visits from ships broke the isolation on rare occasions, says the National Geographic Society. There was no particular incentive to call at the remote group of five small volcanic islands situated midway between Argentina and the southern tip of Africa. Only two are inhabited.

Ship captains were even less interested in stopping when they learned there was no harbor, and the weather, sometimes so bad that boats cannot get through the white-capped surf to the black lava rocks along the shore.

Seven Surnames Among Residents. Consequently, the arrival of a supply ship was always an important event for Tristan da Cunha's 200 residents. These people of English, Irish, Scotch, Dutch, and Italian blood are so inter-related that a century of colonization left only seven surnames.

The island was discovered in 1506 by the Portuguese navigator, Tristan da Cunha. In 1811, Jonathan Lambert, "late of Salem, mariner and citizen thereof," took possession of the island with a dream of empire. This Massachusetts adventurer published his proclamation in the Boston Gazette and mailed copies to all European countries. But his companions quarreled and met violent deaths.

When Napoleon was imprisoned at St. Helena, 1,800 miles to the north, the British took over Tristan and garrisoned it in 1816. It has remained a British possession.

After Napoleon's death, William Glass, British artillery corporal, asked to remain on Tristan with his wife and two children. Two masons employed in the Navy also decided to stay. Castaways later joined the colony, and imported five wives from St. Helena.

At the national average of 1.75 passengers per automobile in city traffic, it takes 43 private cars to carry the 75 people who can ride comfortably on 2 Eastern Mass. buses.

To the transportation company, this sketches a picture of congestion and delay in business centers, upsetting the smooth flow of traffic so vital to the community's economic welfare.

Yes, it's nice to drive your own car, but you'll save yourself a lot of headaches if you plan, wherever possible, to park away from traffic and ride the bus the rest of the way.

WINCHESTER BETTER HOMES
GARDEN CLUB

On Wednesday, Sept. 18, the Winchester Better Homes Garden Club toured the Orchard Greenhouses of the L. Sherman Adams Co. in Wellesley. There were about 50 members and friends of the Club who enjoyed this very delightful afternoon.

The tour led through the tropical atmosphere of the jungles, where the minute seeds of the orchids were seen in the very beginning, rooting in glass bottles, in the presence of chemicals. The bottles were placed on their sides and rows of them, with a large ball of cotton inserted in the top and neck of each one. Here the seeds began to grow, and finally, after three years, to develop tiny leaves and roots. Then they were very carefully removed from the bottles with tweezers and transplanted to clay pots, several in each pot.

As the group went on through the various green houses, they saw the next process, the small single pots with the little orchids actually growing, then on to the larger plants, and at last to the final achievement, the beautiful orchid, in full flower and perfume. Seven years to reach this perfection! What patience is necessary in this business of growing orchids.

As the party broke up, each person enthusiastic with the afternoon, one could be heard saying to another, "Which flower would you choose for your corsage, the orchid shaded one with the deep purple throat, the orchid and red one, the very unusual and rare green orchid, or the lovely white one, flecked with yellow or lavender?"

Peter A. Murphy of 26 Lloyd Street has recently passed the necessary examinations and is now a registered professional engineer and land surveyor.

KURDISTAN
The Kurdish tribes of the Middle East, are described by the National Geographic Society as a fierce, virile race of mountaineers with a long-nurtured passion for freedom.
So independent that established governments have been able to exercise only nominal control over them, the Kurds are scattered throughout the mountain fastnesses and valleys of eastern Turkey, northwestern Iran, and northeastern Iraq. This general region is known as Kurdistan, but it is not a political entity and its geographical boundaries are rather indefinite.

BORNEO
Borneo is a "story book" territory lying between the Japanese homeland and the main nerve centers of the Netherlands Indies, says the National Geographic Society.

Borneo, straddled by the Equator, is the typical tropical land dreamed about by stay-at-home readers of travel stories, fictional and true. In many sections rankly growing vines lace trees together from ground to top. Rare and beautiful orchids thrive in the shadows. Spikelike thorns tear at clothing and flesh, and paths can be kept open only by continual hacking with heavy swordlike knives. The steaming heat is oppressive. Twenty-foot pythons glide along the ground and among the branches; shrieking, agile little gibbons and lumbering orangutans swing through the trees; crocodiles infest streams.

Frogs Fitted With "Parachutes"
Numerous other wild animals include tiny, foot-high mouse deer, honey bees, wild pigs, rhinos, and elephants. Among Borneo's queer creatures are the flying frogs—which are bats—and the flying frogs, which have webbed feet of extreme width that serve as parachutes when they make mighty leaps.

Borneo's air is filled with the shrill ear-piercing sounds of myriads of insects. Mate butterflies show their vivid colors against the varied greens of the jungle. Scorpions and "sting flies" make life unhappy for the island's residents, who must also face the ravages of wood-devouring termites. Many a European wife has removed a cupboard to find it had no back, or seen her beds and chairs fall apart from the hidden invasions of these ant pests.

It is estimated that Borneo has a population of around three million, of whom before the war—only about 3,500 were Europeans. Native peoples known as Dyaks make up the majority of the inhabitants, with additional groups of Javanese, Chinese, Arabs, and so-called Malays, the latter comprising not only true Malays, but those of other races professing the Mohammedan faith.

An interesting feature of native life in Borneo is the community dwelling, or "long house," built on stilts and often decorated with human skulls. Under one roof, a whole village, with dozens of families, may be accommodated. Deep in the interior, tattooed and much ornamented savages, recalling the circus advertisements of the "Wild Man of Borneo," still practice headhunting and strange rites and feasts in honor of the dead.

Jungle Surrounds Empire Centers
In dramatic contrast to the jungle that surrounds them are the little islands of empire administration where, normally, European officials and their families followed the neat and conventional customs imported from home.

Before the Japs took over, roughly two-thirds of Borneo's estimated 200,000 square miles were held by the Netherlands. The remaining portion, in the far north and northwest, was separated into three states, under British protection.

A flavor of past adventures, when Britain's seagoing merchants sailed far waters in search of trade and fortune, lingers about the name of North Borneo's government, administered by the North Borneo Company under Royal Charter granted in 1881. Tiny Brunei, nextdoor, was ruled by its Sultan and his British advisers. Sarawak, largest of the three British territories, had the unusual status of being under a "White Rajah," the heir of an English family which first obtained concessions in the region in 1841.

As a whole, Borneo falls into three fairly well defined physical areas—the marshy coastal lowlands, the intermediate hill country, and the great mountain ranges. Highest peak is Kinabalu in North Borneo, reaching a height of nearly 13,500 feet.

In Borneo, great rivers, swollen by heavy rainfall, flow to the sea, carrying quantities of silt that with well-sorted sandbars. Deep river mouths with sandbars. Deep forests cover the land, reaching high up on the mountain slopes. In its marshy lowlands and jungles, feral breed. Much prized by the Chinese are the edible nests of the swifts, one of the many species of birds that abound in Borneo ranging from peacocks to vultures, from great eagles soaring the empty skies, to the little mynas, easily taught to talk.

The island has considerable natural wealth of all sorts—valuable hard woods and other forest products: minerals, such as gold, diamonds, coal, copper, platinum, and mercury; agricultural products, including rubber, copra, and spices. It is one of the world's leading sources of petroleum, with wells on the British as well as the better known Netherlands forests cover the land, reaching
